1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This book was written by a concerned American who wanted to inform his private employer or prospective employer about the laws relating to federal and state income taxation. The intention is to educate, not to persecute or threaten either private employees or employers, and to create a good-faith, informed, trusting environment for both employers and employees to learn about what the Internal Revenue Code and the Constitution really require. Most employers we have encountered are quite surprised by the truth about the Internal Revenue Code and our Constitution, in fact. We have also created this book to keep the focus on the most important and relevant facts and law, and to eliminate the fear and superstition that comes from ignorance about the law. We want employers and employees bargaining from a position of strength and knowledge, rather than fear and ignorance.

We will try very hard in this book to focus on law, education, answers, and solutions rather than blame. This book ends in Section 21.4 with a list of possible withholding options. Forms that implement each one of these options are then found in Appendix A. Hopefully, there is something in the book that will satisfy everyone without the need to force anyone to do anything they don't want to do, violate any law, or perjure themselves on a government form.

Those employers in receipt of this document who wish to challenge its conclusions are encouraged to do so by rebutting the evidence found in Appendix B, the Test for Federal Tax Professionals, Form #03.009, and to send the rebutted version signed under penalty of perjury to the author and to the worker who gave it to you. The authors have yet to receive even one rebuttal, because there is simply no way to refute the truth, but he welcomes feedback and rebuttal so that this book can be improved over time. You can contact the author at:

The basis of good-faith dealings we want to establish with this book is full disclosure of relevant law, facts, and judicial precedent and complete accountability on both sides of the debate. Consequently, private employers, after having received this book, should respond to the worker who gave it to them officially and in a signed writing. Neither emails nor private meetings nor voice communications are adequate manifestations of intent, but only a signed statement or letter are adequate manifestation of the reaction to this document by the private employer. Everything should be out in the open and documented or there will be a tendency to encourage bad faith and underhanded tactics. No communication should be concealed or avoided and all parties should be equally accountable for what they say and do in the process of arriving at a mutually beneficial and equitable payroll tax withholding arrangement that is completely consistent with the laws on taxation. Any attempt to conceal, to refuse to do things in a signed writing, or to refuse to communicate or answer questions about any decisions made shall be interpreted as willful violation of the law by either party.

If termination of employment or termination of intent to hire a prospective worker should occur by a private employer because of the receipt of this document, then a good body of evidence will then be available to demonstrate the basis for the wrongful termination. Termination of a worker or prospective worker based on failure to implement voluntary withholding the way the private employer demands or failure to disclose a social security number is not adequate grounds for termination and in fact is a violation of civil rights and other laws that we will discuss.

If you as either a private employee or private employer find that this book is more information than you have time or interest to handle in your busy daily life, then may we recommend a considerably condensed free synopsis of this information found below:

Federal Tax Withholding, Form #04.102
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

We kindly ask all of our readers to resist the temptation to try to contact us to obtain legal advice or help in stopping withholding. Our About Us page (<http://famguardian.org/aboutus.htm>) Section 12, Item 23 says that we aren't allowed to get involved in giving legal advice or helping people start or stop withholding. Our main goal in this publication is to educate you about what the law requires to make it easier for you to follow the law and to prevent others from violating it. This document is not advertising and we don't offer any services, nor are we a business. If you want to be free and sovereign, then you are going to have to learn how to run your own life, make your own choices, and educate yourself. That approach, in fact, is precisely how and why this book was written in the first place. Sovereignty begins with personal responsibility.

1.2 Abbreviated Path to Freedom

IMPORTANT NOTE: Knowledge and preparation are the best defense you can have from unlawful enforcement actions by the government. Please ensure that you execute as many of the following steps to achieving sovereignty as you can prior to stopping withholding in order to provide the best protection possible for your rights and liberties. These steps will help to remove you and your property from government jurisdiction and minimize risk exposure:

1. Read everything in this book at least once and try your best to understand it.
2. Go over the questions in Appendix B so that you know why the answer is “Admit” to every question. You are going to use this document to confront those who are violating the law, so you better understand it.
3. Read chapters 3 through 5 of our free Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book. It will give you the excellent background you need to read and understand the law for yourselves without the need of an attorney or expert, and show you what the law says about your rights and responsibilities. Nearly all the problems and violations of law appearing in this book are a direct result of the fact that no one reads or understands the law anymore and you are going to have to be different if you want to avoid all of the consequences of this ignorance related slavery.
4. Read and send in the following two documents to the government to correct your citizenship and “taxpayer” status and restore your sovereignty:
 - 4.1. Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
 - 4.2. Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
5. Cancel your old passport and get a new passport without a Socialist Security Number using the following procedure:

Getting a USA Passport as a “State National”, Form #10.013
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
6. If you are a registered voter, you must UNREGISTER and then REREGISTER using the following form as an attachment in order to correct your citizenship and domicile records with the government:

Voter Registration Attachment, Form #06.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
7. Close all your financial accounts that have federal numbers and reopen them as a non-resident non-person without an identifying number. See Section 7 of the following article:

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
8. Resubmit all the withholding paperwork at your job according to the instructions in this book WITHOUT a federal identifying number. Provide a copy of SSA Form 521 to your private employer with the number removed proving that you quit the system if you previously gave them a federal identifying number. Warn them that any use of that number constitutes FRAUD beyond that point for which you will file a criminal complaint.

After achieving the above steps, do the following to maintain and protect the sovereignty you established above:

1. Turn off the TV and dedicate yourself to learning how to stay free and sovereign by reading the free materials in the Liberty University at the address below. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance and the main reason people get hurt is because of their own ignorance. Education is the ONLY thing they can’t take away from you in the end:
<http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>
2. Whenever asked to sign any kind of government form, ensure you attach the appropriate attachments found in section 4 of the Liberty University in order to avoid being connected to any government franchises that might destroy your rights:
<http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>
3. Whenever anyone tries to allege that any federal law imposes any kind of “duty” upon you, DEMAND that they produce either the statute and the implementing regulation published in the Federal Register OR proof that you are a federal instrumentality exempt from the requirement for implementing regulations published in the Federal Register as required by the following:

Federal Enforcement Authority Within States of the Union, Form #05.032
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. If called upon to respond to a tax collection or other government enforcement action, ensure that you carefully avoid all of the flawed arguments documented in the pamphlet below or you may be penalized or sanctioned for entertaining “frivolous” arguments:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. When asked for an identifying number, use the information found in the following pamphlet to respond to such requests:

About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The steps above are also summarized in greater detail in the following helpful resource below:

1.4 Definition: Private Employer

Throughout this document, we define the term “private employer” to mean the following:

1. Domiciled or resident in a constitutional state of the Union.
2. Not doing business within nor physically located within the “United States” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d).
3. Not engaged in federal franchises, including a “trade or business” as defined 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).
4. Not a statutory “employer”, meaning the U.S. government corporation.
5. Has no statutory “employees” per 5 U.S.C. §2105(a) or 26 U.S.C. §3401(d).
6. If compelled to obtain a government identifying number, completed the status block of Form SS-4 as “Other” and indicated “non-resident non-person nontaxpayer”.

2. Overview of the Income Taxation Process

This section provides basic background on how the income tax described in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A functions. This will help you fit the explanation contained in this memorandum into the overall taxation process. Below is a summary of the taxation process:

1. The purpose for establishing governments is mainly to protect private property. The Declaration of Independence affirms this:

*“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,
[Declaration of Independence, 1776]

2. Government protects private rights by keeping “public [government] property” and “private property” separate and never allowing them to be joined together. This is the heart of the separation of powers doctrine: separation of what is private from what is public with the goal of protecting mainly what is private. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. All property BEGINS as private property. The only way to lawfully change it to public property is through the exercise of your unalienable constitutional right to contract. All franchises qualify as a type of contract, and therefore, franchises are one of many methods to lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property. The exercise of the right to contract, in turn, is an act of consent that eliminates any possibility of a legal remedy of the donor against the donee:

He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327, 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.*

*Consensus tollit errorem.
Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.*

*Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo concentire.
It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.*

*Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145.”*
[Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

4. In law, all rights are “property”.

Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude every one else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.

The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis, TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607, 611. Term includes not only ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo., 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.

Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

By protecting your constitutional rights, the government is protecting your PRIVATE property. Your rights are private property because they came from God, not from the government. Only what the government creates can become public property. An example is corporations, which are a public franchise that makes officers of the corporation into public officers.

5. The process of taxation is the process of converting “private property” into a “public use” and a “public purpose”. Below are definitions of these terms for your enlightenment.

Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For condemnation purposes, “public use” is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of public, a “public advantage” or “public benefit” accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it; if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage, or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A “public use” for which land may be taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences, changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn. 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

“Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage, are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax, police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. “Public purpose” that will justify expenditure of public money generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time is directly related function of government. Pack v. Southwestern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 215 Tenn. 503, 387 S.W.2d. 789, 794.

The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow; the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote such public purpose or public business.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1231, Emphasis added]

6. The federal government has no power of eminent domain within states of the Union. This means that they cannot lawfully convert private property to a public use or a public purpose within the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the Union:

“The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty or compact.”
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 508-509 (1856)]

7. The Fifth Amendment prohibits converting private property to a public use or a public purpose without just compensation if the owner does not consent, and this prohibition applies to the Federal government as well as states of the Union. It was made applicable to states of the Union by the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868.

Fifth Amendment - Rights of Persons

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.
[United States Constitution, Fifth Amendment]

If the conversion of private property to public property is done without the express consent of the party affected by the conversion and without compensation, then the following violations have occurred:

7.3. Theft.

8. Because taxation involves converting private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office, then it involves eminent domain if the owner of the property did not expressly consent to the taking:

Eminent domain. The power to take private property for public use by the state, municipalities, and private persons or corporations authorized to exercise functions of public character. Housing Authority of Cherokee National of Oklahoma v. Langley, Okl., 555 P.2d. 1025, 1028. Fifth Amendment, U.S. Constitution.

*In the United States, the power of eminent domain is founded in both the federal (Fifth Amend.) and state constitutions. However, the Constitution limits the power to taking for a public purpose and prohibits the exercise of the power of eminent domain without just compensation to the owners of the property which is taken. The process of exercising the power of eminent domain is commonly referred to as “condemnation”, or, “expropriation”.

The right of eminent domain is the right of the state, through its regular organization, to reassert, either temporarily or permanently, its dominion over any portion of the soil of the state on account of public exigency and for the public good. Thus, in time of war or insurrection, the proper authorities may possess and hold any part of the territory of the state for the common safety; and in time of peace the legislature may authorize the appropriation of the same to public purposes, such as the opening of roads, construction of defenses, or providing channels for trade or travel. Eminent domain is the highest and most exact idea of property remaining in the government, or in the aggregate body of the people in their sovereign capacity. It gives a right to resume the possession of the property in the manner directed by the constitution and the laws of the state, whenever the public interest requires it.

See also Adequate compensation; Condemnation; Constructive taking; Damages; Expropriation; Fair market value; Just compensation; Larger parcel; Public use; Take.
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 470]

9. The Fifth Amendment requires that any taking of private property without the consent of the owner must involve compensation. The Constitution must be consistent with itself. The taxation clauses found in Article 1, Section 8, Clauses 1 and 3 cannot conflict with the Fifth Amendment. The Fifth Amendment contains no exception to the requirement for just compensation upon conversion of private property to a public use, even in the case of taxation. This is why all taxes must be indirect excise taxes against people who provide their consent by applying for a license to engage in the taxed activity: The application for the license constitutes constructive consent to donate the fruits of the activity to a public use, public purpose, and public office.
10. There are only ONE condition in which the conversion of private property to public property does NOT require compensation, which is when the owner donates the private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office. To wit:

"Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public "benefit"]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation."

The above rules are summarized below:

Table 1: Rules for converting private property to a public use or a public office

1	The owner of property justly acquired enjoys full and exclusive use and control over the property. This right includes the right to exclude government uses or ownership of said property.	Yes
2	He may not use the property to injure the equal rights of his neighbor. For instance, when you murder someone, the government can take your liberty and labor from you by putting you in jail or your life from you by instituting the death penalty against you. Both your life and your labor are "property". Therefore, the basis for the "taking" was violation of the equal rights of a fellow sovereign "neighbor".	No
3	He cannot be compelled or required to use it to "benefit" his neighbor. That means he cannot be compelled to donate the property to any franchise that would "benefit" his neighbor such as Social Security, Medicare, etc.	Yes
4	If he donates it to a public use, he gives the public the right to control that use.	Yes
5	Whenever the public needs require, the public may take it without his consent upon payment of due compensation. E.g. "eminent domain".	No

11. The following two methods are the ONLY methods involving consent of the owner that may be LAWFULLY employed to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property. Anything else is unlawful and THEFT:
- 11.1. DIRECT CONVERSION: Owner donates the property by conveying title or possession to the government.¹
- 11.2. INDIRECT CONVERSION: Owner assumes a PUBLIC status as a PUBLIC officer in the HOLDING of title to the property.² All such statuses and the rights that attach to it are creations and property of the government, the use of which is a privilege. The status and all PUBLIC RIGHTS that attach to it conveys a "benefit" for which the status user must pay an excise tax. The tax acts as a rental or use fee for the status, which is government property.

² An example of a PUBLIC status is statutory "taxpayer" (public office called "trade or business"), statutory "citizen", statutory "driver" (vehicle), statutory voter (registered voters are public officers).

12. You and ONLY you can authorize your private property to be donated to a public use, public purpose, and public office. No third party can lawfully convert or donate your private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office without your knowledge and express consent. If they do, they are guilty of theft and conversion, and especially if they are acting in a quasi-governmental capacity as a “withholding agent” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16).
- 12.1. A withholding agent cannot file an information return connecting your earnings to a “trade or business” without you actually occupying a “public office” in the government BEFORE you filled out any tax form.
- 12.2. A withholding agent cannot file IRS Form W-2 against your earnings if you didn’t sign an IRS Form W-4 contract and thereby consent to donate your private property to a public office in the U.S. government and therefore a “public use”.
- 12.3. That donation process is accomplished by your own voluntary self-assessment and ONLY by that method. Before such a self-assessment, you are a “nontaxpayer” and a private person. After the assessment, you become a “taxpayer” and a public officer in the government engaged in the “trade or business” franchise.
- 12.4. In order to have an income tax liability, you must complete, sign, and “file” an income tax return and thereby assess yourself:

[Flora v. U.S., 362 U.S. 145 (1960)]

By assessing yourself, you implicitly give your consent to allow the public the right to control that use of the formerly PRIVATE property donated to a public use.

- 12.5. IRS Forms W-2 and W-4 are identified as Tax Class 5: Estate and Gift Taxes. Payroll withholdings are GIFTS, not taxes.

TITLE 31 > SUBTITLE I > CHAPTER 3 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 321

(1) The Secretary of the Treasury may accept, hold, administer, and use gifts and bequests of property, both real and personal, for the purpose of aiding or facilitating the work of the Department of the Treasury. Gifts and bequests of money and the proceeds from sales of other property received as gifts or bequests shall be deposited in the Treasury in a separate fund and shall be disbursed on order of the Secretary of the Treasury. Property accepted under this paragraph, and the proceeds thereof, shall be used as nearly as possible in accordance with the terms of the gift or bequest.

(2) For purposes of the Federal income, estate, and gift taxes, property accepted under paragraph (1) shall be considered as a gift or bequest to or for the use of the United States.

They don't become “taxes” and assessments until you attach the IRS Form W-2 “gift statement” to an assessment called a IRS Form 1040 and create a liability with your own self-assessment signature. IRS has no delegated authority to convert a “gift” into a “tax”. That is why when you file the IRS Form 1040, you must attach the W-2 gift statement. See:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.8
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 12.6. The IRS cannot execute a lawful assessment without your knowledge and express consent because if they didn't have your consent, then it would be criminal conversion and theft. That is why every time they do an assessment, they have to call you into their office and present it to you to procure your consent in what is called an “examination”. If you make it clear that you don’t consent and hand them the following, they have to delete the assessment because it's only a proposal. See:

Why the Government Can't Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent,
Form #05.011
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

There is no way other than the above to lawfully create an income tax liability without violating the Fifth Amendment takings clause. If you assess yourself, you consent to become a “public officer” and thereby donate the fruits of your labor as such officer to a public use and a public purpose.

13. The IRS won't admit this, but this in fact is how the de facto unlawful system currently functions:

- 13.1. You can't unilaterally “elect” yourself into a “public office”, even if you do consent.
- 13.2. No IRS form nor any provision in the Internal Revenue Code CREATES any new public offices in the government.

- 13.3. The I.R.C. only taxes EXISTING public offices lawfully exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and in all places expressly authorized pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §72.
14. Information returns are being abused in effect as “federal election” forms.
- 14.1. Third parties in effect are nominating private persons into public offices in the government without their knowledge, without their consent, and without compensation. Thus, information returns are being used to impose the obligations of a public office upon people without compensation and thereby impose slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
- 14.2. Anyone who files a false information return connecting a person to the “trade or business”/“public office” franchise who in fact does not ALREADY lawfully occupy a public office in the U.S. government is guilty of impersonating a public officer in criminal violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
15. The IRS Form W-4 cannot and does not create an office in the U.S. government, but allows EXISTING public officers to elect to connect their private earnings to a public use, a public office, and a public purpose. The IRS abuses this form to unlawfully create public offices, and this abuse of the I.R.C. is the heart of the tax fraud: They are making a system that only applies to EXISTING public offices lawfully exercised in order to:
- 15.1. Unlawfully create new public offices in places where they are not authorized to exist.
- 15.2. Destroy the separation of powers between what is public and what is private.
- 15.3. Institute eminent domain over private labor using false third party reports. Omission in preventing such fraud accomplishes involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, 42 U.S.C. §1994, and 18 U.S.C. §1581.
- 15.4. Destroy the separation of powers between the federal and state governments. Any state employee who participates in the federal income tax is serving in TWO offices, which is a violation of most state constitutions.
- 15.5. Enslave innocent people to go to work for them without compensation, without recourse, and in violation of the thirteenth amendment prohibition against involuntary servitude. That prohibition, incidentally, applies EVERYWHERE, including on federal territory.
16. The right to control the use of private property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a franchise is enforced through the Internal Revenue Code, which is the equivalent of the employment agreement for franchisees called “taxpayers”.

The above criteria explains why:

1. You cannot be subject to either employment tax withholding or employment tax reporting without voluntarily signing an IRS Form W-4.

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE

An employee and his employer may enter into an agreement under section 3402(b) to provide for the withholding of income tax upon payments of amounts described in paragraph (b)(1) of §31.3401(a)-3, made after December 31, 1970. An agreement may be entered into under this section only with respect to amounts which are includible in the gross income of the employee under section 61, and must be applicable to all such amounts paid by the employer to the employee. The amount to be withheld pursuant to an agreement under section 3402(p) shall be determined under the rules contained in section 3402 and the regulations thereunder. See §31.3405(c)-1, Q&A-3 concerning agreements to have more than 20-percent Federal income tax withheld from eligible rollover distributions within the meaning of section 402.

(b) Form and duration of agreement

(2) An agreement under section 3402 (p) shall be effective for such period as the employer and employee mutually agree upon. However, either the employer or the employee may terminate the agreement prior to the end of such period by furnishing a signed written notice to the other. Unless the employer and employee agree to an earlier termination date, the notice shall be effective with respect to the first payment of an amount in respect of which the agreement is in effect which is made on or after the first “status determination date” (January 1, May 1, July 1, and October 1 of each year) that occurs at least 30 days after the date on which the notice is furnished. If the employee executes a new Form W-4, the request upon which an agreement under section 3402 (p) is based shall be attached to, and constitute a part of, such new Form W-4.

(a) In general.

Notwithstanding the exceptions to the definition of wages specified in section 3401(a) and the regulations thereunder, the term “wages” includes the amounts described in paragraph (b)(1) of this section with respect to which there is a voluntary withholding agreement in effect under section 3402(p). References in this chapter to the definition of wages contained in section 3401(a) shall be deemed to refer also to this section (§31.3401(a)-3).

(b) Remuneration for services.

(1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the amounts referred to in paragraph (a) of this section include any remuneration for services performed by an employee for an employer which, without regard to this section, does not constitute wages under section 3401(a). For example, remuneration for services performed by an agricultural worker or a domestic worker in a private home (amounts which are specifically excluded from the definition of wages by section 3401(a) (2) and (3), respectively) are amounts with respect to which a voluntary withholding agreement may be entered into under section 3402(p). See §§31.3401(c)-1 and 31.3401(d)-1 for the definitions of “employee” and “employer”.

2. The courts have no authority under the Declaratory Judgments Act, 28 U.S.C. §2201(a) to declare you a franchisee called a “taxpayer”. You own yourself.

Specifically, Rowen seeks a declaratory judgment against the United States of America with respect to “whether or not the plaintiff is a taxpayer pursuant to, and/or under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14).” (See Compl. at 2.) This Court lacks jurisdiction to issue a declaratory judgment “with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986,” a code section that is not at issue in the instant action. See 28 U.S.C. § 2201; see also Hughes v. United States, 953 F.2d. 531, 536-537 (9th Cir. 1991) (affirming dismissal of claim for declaratory relief under § 2201 where claim concerned question of tax liability). Accordingly, defendant’s motion to dismiss is hereby GRANTED, and the instant action is hereby DISMISSED. [Rowen v. U.S., 05-3766MMC. (N.D.Cal. 11/02/2005)]

3. The revenue laws may not be cited or enforced against a person who is not a “taxpayer”:

“The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws...”
[Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236 (1922)]

“Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [officers, employees, instrumentalities, and elected officials of the Federal Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government and who did not volunteer to participate in the federal “trade or business” franchise]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
[Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

“And by statutory definition, ‘taxpayer’ includes any person, trust or estate subject to a tax imposed by the revenue act. ...Since the statutory definition of ‘taxpayer’ is exclusive, the federal courts do not have the power to create nonstatutory taxpayers for the purpose of applying the provisions of the Revenue Acts...”
[C.I.R. v. Trustees of L. Inv. Ass’n, 100 F.2d. 18 (1939)]

All of the above requirements have in common that violating them would result in the equivalent of exercising eminent domain over the private property of the private person without their consent and without just compensation, which the U.S. Supreme Court said violates the Fifth Amendment takings clause:

To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms.

Nor is it taxation. ‘A tax,’ says Webster’s Dictionary, ‘is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.’ ‘Taxes are burdens or charges imposed by the Legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.’ Cooley, Const. Lim., 479.

Coulter, J., in Northern Liberties v. St. John's Church, 13 Pa.St. 104 says, very forcibly, 'I think the common mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11 Johns., 77; Camden v. Allen, 2 Dutch., 398; Sharpless v. Mayor, supra; Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Ia. 47; Whiting v. Fond du Lac, supra.

As a consequence of the above considerations, any government officer or employee who does any of the following is unlawfully converting private property to a public use without the consent of the owner and without consideration:

1. Assuming or "presuming" you are a "taxpayer" without producing evidence that you consented to become one. In our system of jurisprudence, a person must be presumed innocent until proven guilty with court admissible evidence. Presumptions are NOT evidence. That means they must be presumed to be a "nontaxpayer" until they are proven with admissible evidence to be a "taxpayer". See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Performing a tax assessment or re-assessment if you haven't first voluntarily assessed yourself by filing a tax return. See:

Why the Government Can't Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent, Form #05.011

3. Citing provisions of the franchise agreement against those who never consented to participate. This is an abuse of law for political purposes and an attempt to exploit the innocent and the ignorant. The legislature cannot delegate authority to the Executive Branch to convert innocent persons called "nontaxpayers" into franchisees called "taxpayers" without producing evidence of consent to become "taxpayers".

"In Calder v. Bull, which was here in 1798, Mr. Justice Chase said, that there were acts which the Federal and State legislatures could not do without exceeding their authority, and among them he mentioned a law which punished a citizen for an innocent act; a law that destroyed or impaired the lawful private [labor] contracts [and labor compensation, e.g. earnings from employment through compelled W-4 withholding] of citizens; a law that made a man judge in his own case; and a law that took the property from A [the worker], and gave it to B [the government or another citizen, such as through social welfare programs]. 'It is against all reason and justice,' he added, 'for a people to intrust a legislature with such powers, and therefore it cannot be presumed that they have done it. They may command what is right and prohibit what is wrong; but they cannot change innocence into guilt, or punish innocence as a crime, or violate the right of an antecedent lawful private [employment] contract [by compelling W-4 withholding, for instance], or the right of private property. To maintain that a Federal or State legislature possesses such powers [of THEFT!] if they had not been expressly restrained, would, in my opinion, be a political heresy altogether inadmissible in all free republican governments.' 3 Dall. 388."
[Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

4. Relying on third party information returns that are unsigned as evidence supporting the conclusion that you are a "taxpayer". These forms include IRS Forms W-2, 1042-S, 1098, and 1099 and they are NOT signed and are inadmissible as evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 802 because not signed under penalty of perjury. Furthermore, the submitters of these forms seldom have personal knowledge that you are in fact and in deed engaged in a "trade or business" as required by 26 U.S.C. §6041(a). Most people don't know, for instance, that a "trade or business" includes ONLY "the functions of a public office".

3. Nature of the Income Tax

3.1 Proof that IRC Subtitles A and C is an excise tax and franchise tax upon activities in connection with a "trade or business" and public office

The Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C is an excise tax or franchise tax upon activities in connection with a statutory franchise called a "public office". All franchises are contracts or agreements that only acquire the force of law with the consent of BOTH the GRANTOR and the GRANTEE.

1 "It is generally conceded that a franchise is the subject of a contract between the grantor and the grantee, and
2 that it does in fact constitute a contract when the requisite element of a consideration is present.³ Conversely, a
3 franchise granted without consideration is not a contract binding upon the state, franchisee, or pseudo-
4 franchisee.⁴ "
5 [36 American Jurisprudence 2d, Franchises, §6: As a Contract (1999)]

6 Furthermore, the U.S. Supreme Court has held that the national government CANNOT expand its powers within a
7 constitutional state of the Union by using any kind of contract or compact or agreement:

8 "The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent
9 domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court
10 denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty
11 or compact."
12 [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 508-509 (1856)]

13 And guess what? The ONLY thing they can tax under I.R.C. Subtitles A and C of the Internal Revenue Code is a "trade or 14 business", which they define as "the functions of a public office". 4 U.S.C. §72 requires that Congress expressly authorize 15 the public offices that implement a taxable "trade or business" in states of the Union and they never have. That, in fact, is 16 why the geographical definitions of "State" and "United States" found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C.
17 §110(d) limit themselves to federal territory not within any state. That is also why there are no internal revenue districts
18 within any state of the Union and 26 U.S.C. §7601 limits IRS Enforcement to "Internal Revenue Districts". If this limit on 19 the jurisdiction of the national government is violated, then in effect we have an unconstitutional "INVASION" in violation
20 of Article 4, Section 4 of the U.S. Constitution. That "invasion" is a commercial invasion intended to "worship" mammon
21 and filthy lucre:

22 United States Constitution
23 Section 4. Obligations of United States to States

24 The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall 25 protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the 26 Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

27 [SOURCE: <http://law.justia.com/constitution/us/article-4/28-republication-form-of-government.html>]

28 To prove the foregoing, we'll start off with a definition of "trade or business":

29 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\)

30 "The term 'trade or business' includes [is limited to] the performance of the functions of a public office."

31 The definition of "privilege", which is also called a "public right" and a "franchise" in the legal field is very revealing about

33 privilege \ 'priv-lij, 'pri-və- noun

34 [Middle English, from Anglo-French, from Latin privilegium law for or against a private person, from privus
35 private + leg-, lex law] 12th century: a right or immunity granted as a peculiar benefit, advantage, or favor:
36 prerogative especially: such a right or immunity attached specifically to a position or an office

Notice that “privileges” and therefore “public rights” and “franchises” always attach to an OFFICE. In the government that office is called a “public office”. What office is that? It’s called a STATUTORY “citizen”, “resident”, “person”, or “taxpayer”. The definition of “person” even confirms this!

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 6671

(b) Person defined

The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

We know that the IRS likes to point to the word “includes” in the above definitions of “trade or business” and “person” and state that it is an “expansive” definition that does not exclude the common meaning of the term. We must remember, however, that there is an important principle of statutory construction which states that anything not mentioned in a law, statute, code, or regulation is “excluded by implication”, which means that all things not connected to a “public office” are excluded from the definition of “trade or business” by implication:

“When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term’s ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) (“It is axiomatic that the statutory definition of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term”); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 (“As a rule, ‘a definition which declares what a term “means” . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated”); Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152, and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read “as a whole,” post at 998 [530 U.S. 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney General’s restriction -- “the child up to the head.” Its words, “substantial portion,” indicate the contrary.” [Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]

“Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.” [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

Therefore, the definition of the term “trade or business”, says what it means and means what it says. The Supreme Court has held many times that words used in a law or statute are to be given their ordinary and plain meaning and are to be restricted to the clear language found in the code itself. If you would like an exhaustive analysis of the meaning of the word “includes” within the Internal Revenue Code, please refer to the free pamphlet available on the internet at:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Judges and even government administrators are NOT legislators and cannot by fiat or presumption add ANYTHING they want to the definition of statutory terms. If they do, they are violating the separation of powers and conducting a commercial invasion of the states in violation of Article 4, Section 4 of the United States Constitution. Furthermore, according the creator of our three branch system of government, there is NO FREEDOM AT ALL and liberty is IMPOSSIBLE when the executive and LEGISLATIVE functions are united under a single person:

“When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates, there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.”

Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and oppression [sound familiar?].

There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of trying the causes of individuals.”

In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed, as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have given themselves in quality of legislators. They may plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands, every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions.”

The only time in the I.R.C. where the term “trade or business” can mean anything other than what it is defined above to mean is in places where there a regional definition that overrides the general or default definition found in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) above. Below is the only example of that within the I.R.C., which is intended to be used only in the context of “self employment”:

26 U.S.C. §1402 Definitions

(c) Trade or business

The term "trade or business", when used with reference to self-employment income or net earnings from self-employment, shall have the same meaning as when used in section 162 (relating to trade or business expenses), except that such term shall not include -

(1) the performance of the functions of a public office, other than the functions of a public office of a State or a political subdivision thereof with respect to fees received in any period in which the functions are performed in a position compensated solely on a fee basis and in which such functions are not covered under an agreement entered into by such State and the Commissioner of Social Security pursuant to section 218 of the Social Security Act;

(2) the performance of service by an individual as an employee, other than -

(A) service described in section 3121(b)(14)(B) performed by an individual who has attained the age of 18,

(B) service described in section 3121(b)(16),

(C) service described in section 3121(b)(11), (12), or (15) performed in the United States (as defined in section 3121(e)(2)) by a citizen of the United States, except service which constitutes "employment" under section 3121(y),

(D) service described in paragraph (4) of this subsection,

(E) service performed by an individual as an employee of a State or a political subdivision thereof in a position compensated solely on a fee basis with respect to fees received in any period in which such service is not covered under an agreement entered into by such State and the Commissioner of Social Security pursuant to section 218 of the Social Security Act,

(F) service described in section 3121(b) (20), and

(G) service described in section 3121(b)(8)(B);

(3) the performance of service by an individual as an employee or employee representative as defined in section 3231;

(4) the performance of service by a duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed minister of a church in the exercise of his ministry or by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by such order;

(5) the performance of service by an individual in the exercise of his profession as a Christian Science practitioner; or

(6) the performance of service by an individual during the period for which an exemption under subsection (g) is effective with respect to him. The provisions of paragraph (4) or (5) shall not apply to service (other than service performed by a member of a religious order who has taken a vow of poverty as a member of such order) performed by an individual unless an exemption under subsection (e) is effective with respect to him.

So we look up the definition in 26 U.S.C. §162 and here is what it says:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 1 > Subchapter B
Part VI-Itemized deductions for Individuals and Corporations
Sec. 162. - Trade or business expenses

(a) In general

There shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year in carrying on any trade or business, including –

(1) a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered;

So in other words, in the context of “self employment” ONLY, the term “trade or business” excludes public offices in the District of Columbia and only includes those of federal territories and possessions, which are called “States” within the I.R.C. This is because the default definition in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) includes ALL public offices everywhere within federal jurisdiction, whereas those public offices in the District of Columbia are specifically not mentioned by the above definition. When the authors of U.S. Code in the Office of Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives wants to confuse and mislead the American people, they will write the code in such a way as to use a double-negative, whereby they define what the new definition of “trade or business” excludes, and then don’t include public offices in the District of Columbia but include all other types of political offices under federal jurisdiction. Therefore, for self employment context ONLY, “trade or business” has a different meaning than the default definition in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) and has been overridden to exclude public offices in the District of Columbia but include all other types of public offices otherwise within federal jurisdiction.

3.2 Social Security Numbers (SSNs) and Taxpayer Identification Numbers (TINs) are what the FTC calls a “franchise mark”

The Federal Trade Commission (F.T.C.) has defined a commercial franchise as follows:

“... a commercial business arrangement is a “franchise” if it satisfies three definitional elements. Specifically, the franchisor must:

(1) promise to provide a trademark or other commercial symbol;

(2) promise to exercise significant control or provide significant assistance in the operation of the business; and

(3) require a minimum payment of at least $500 during the first six months of operations.”

1 In the context of the above document, the “Social Security Number” or “Taxpayer Identification Number” function essentially
2 as what the F.T.C. calls a “franchise mark”. It behaves as what we call a “de facto license” to represent Caesar as a public
3 officer:

4 "A franchise entails the right to operate a business that is "identified or associated with the franchisor's
5 trademark, or to offer, sell, or distribute goods, services, or commodities that are identified or associated with 6 the franchisor's trademark." The term "trademark" is intended to be read broadly to cover not only trademarks,
7 but any service mark, trade name, or other advertising or commercial symbol. This is generally referred to as the 8 "trademark" or "mark" element.

9 The franchisor [the government] need not own the mark itself, but at the very least must have the right to
10 license the use of the mark to others. Indeed, the right to use the franchisor's mark in the operation of the 11 business - either by selling goods or performing services identified with the mark or by using the mark, in
12 whole or in part, in the business' name - is an integral part of franchising. In fact, a supplier can avoid Rule 13 coverage of a particular distribution arrangement by expressly prohibiting the distributor from using its mark."

16 This same SSN or TIN “ franchise mark” is what the Bible calls “the mark of the beast”. It defines “the Beast” as the 17 government or civil rulers:

18 "And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who
19 sat on the horse and against His army."

20 [Rev. 19:19, Bible, NKJV]

21 "He [the government BEAST] causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark
22 on their right hand or on their foreheads, and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the 23 name of the beast, or the number of his name.

24 [Rev. 13:16-17, Bible, NKJV]

25 The “business” that is “operated” or “licensed” by THE BEAST in statutes is called a “trade or business” which is defined as 26 follows:

27 26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701\(a\)\(26\)

28 "The term 'trade or business' includes the performance of the functions of a public office."

29 Those engaged in “the trade or business” franchise activity are officers of Caesar and have fired God as their civil protector.
30 By becoming said public officers or officers of Caesar, they have violated the FIRST COMMANDMENT of the Ten
31 Commandments, because they are “serving other gods”, and the pagan god they serve is a man:

32 "You shall have no other gods [including governments or civil rulers] before Me.

33 "You shall not make for yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in
34 the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down to them nor serve them. For I,
35 the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth
36 generations of those who hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My

38 [Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKJV]

39 By “bowing down” as indicated above, the Bible means that you cannot become UNEQUAL or especially INFERIOR to any 40 government or civil ruler under the civil law. In other words, you cannot surrender your equality and be civilly governed by 41 any government or civil ruler under the Roman system of jus civile, civil law, or civil “statutes”. That is not to say that you
42 are lawless or an “anarchist” by any means, because you are still accountable under criminal law, equity, and the common
43 law in any court. All civil statutory codes make the government superior and you inferior so you can’t consent to a domicile
44 and thereby become subject to it. The word “subjection” in the following means INFERIORITY:

45 "Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.

46 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65."

1 Below are ways one becomes subject to Caesar's civil statutory "codes" and civil franchises as a "subject", and thereby
2 surrenders their equality to engage in government idolatry:

- 3 1. Domicile by choice: Choosing domicile within a specific jurisdiction.
- 4 2. Domicile by operation of law. Also called domicile of necessity:
 - 5 2.1. Representing an entity that has a domicile within a specific jurisdiction even though not domiciled oneself in said
6 jurisdiction. For instance, representing a federal corporation as a public officer of said corporation, even though
7 domiciled outside the federal zone. The authority for this type of jurisdiction is, for instance, Federal Rule of 8 Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 9 2.2. Becoming a dependent of someone else, and thereby assuming the same domicile as that of your care giver. For 10 instance, being a minor and dependent and having the same civil domicile as your parents. Another example is 11 becoming a government dependent and assuming the domicile of the government paying you the welfare check.
 - 12 2.3. Being committed to a prison as a prisoner, and thereby assuming the domicile of the government owning or 13 funding the prison.

14 Those who violate the First Commandment by doing any of the above become subject to the civil statutory franchises or 15 codes. They are thereby committing the following form of idolatry because they are nominating a King to be ABOVE them
16 rather than EQUAL to them under the common law:

17 *Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, "Look, you are
18 old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER
19 them]"*.

20 *But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
21 And the Lord said to Samuel, "Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
22 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
23 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
24 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
25 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
26 over them."*

27 *So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, "This will be the
28 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take [STEAL] your sons and appoint them for his own
29 chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his
30 thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to
31 make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take [STEAL] your daughters to be
32 perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take [STEAL] the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive
33 groves, and give them to his servants. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give
34 it to his officers and servants. And he will take [STEAL] your male servants, your female servants, your finest
35 young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work [as SLAVES]. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your
36 sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have 37 chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not hear you in that day."*

38 *Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, "No, but we will have a king over us,
39 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles."
40 [I Sam. 8:4-20, Bible, NKJV]*

41 In support of this section, the following evidence is provided for use in court which PROVES that those who use SSNs or 42 TINs are considered to be and MUST, by law, be considered to be public officers:

- 43 1. The U.S. Supreme Court has held in the case of the State Action doctrine that those receiving government "benefits"
44 are to be regarded as state actors, meaning public officers.

45 "One great object of the Constitution is to permit citizens to structure their private relations as they choose
46 subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law. [500 U.S. 614, 620]

47 To implement these principles, courts must consider from time to time where the governmental sphere [e.g.,
48 "public purpose" and "public office"] ends and the private sphere begins. Although the conduct of private
49 parties lies beyond the Constitution's scope in most instances, governmental authority may dominate an activity
50 to such an extent that its participants must be deemed to act with the authority of the government and, as a
51 result, be subject to constitutional constraints. This is the jurisprudence of state action, which explores the
52 "essential dichotomy" between the private sphere and the public sphere, with all its attendant constitutional
53 obligations. Moose Lodge, supra, at 172. "

Given that the statutory authorization for the challenges exercised in this case is clear, the remainder of our state action analysis centers around the second part of the Lugar test, whether a private litigant, in all fairness, must be deemed a government actor in the use of peremptory challenges. Although we have recognized that this aspect of the analysis is often a fact-bound inquiry, see Lugar, supra, 457 U.S. at 939, our cases disclose certain principles of general application. Our precedents establish that, in determining whether a particular action or course of conduct is governmental in character, it is relevant to examine the following: the extent to which the actor relies on governmental assistance and benefits, see Tulsa Professional Collection Services, Inc. v. Pope, 485 U.S. 478 (1988); Burton v. Wilmington Parking Authority, 365 U.S. 715 (1961); whether the actor is performing a traditional governmental function, see Terry v. Adams, 345 U.S. 461 (1953); Marsh v. Alabama, 326 U.S. 501 (1946); cf. San Francisco Arts & Athletics, Inc. v. United States Olympic [500 U.S. 614, 622] Committee, 483 U.S. 522, 544-545 (1987); and whether the injury caused is aggravated in a unique way by the incidents of governmental authority, see Shelley v. Kraemer, 334 U.S. 1 (1948). Based on our application of these three principles to the circumstances here, we hold that the exercise of peremptory challenges by the defendant in the District Court was pursuant to a course of state action. [Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Company, 500 U.S. 614 (1991)]

2. The U.S. Supreme Court has held that government identifying numbers may be mandated against those seeking to receive government “benefits”.

Appellees raise a constitutional challenge to two features of the statutory scheme here.^[4] They object to Congress' requirement that a state AFDC plan "must . . . provide (A) that, as a condition of eligibility under the plan, each applicant for or recipient of aid shall furnish to the State agency his social security account number." 42 U. S. C. § 602(a)(25) (emphasis added). They also object to Congress' requirement that "such State agency shall utilize such account numbers. . . in the administration of such plan." Ibid. (emphasis added).^[5] We analyze each of these contentions, turning to the latter contention first.

Our cases have long recognized a distinction between the freedom of individual belief, which is absolute, and the freedom of individual conduct, which is not absolute. This case implicates only the latter concern. Roy objects to the statutory requirement that state agencies "shall utilize" Social Security numbers not because it places any restriction on what he may believe or what he may do, but because he believes the use of the number may harm his daughter's spirit.

Never to our knowledge has the Court interpreted the First Amendment to require the Government itself to behave in ways that the individual believes will further his or her spiritual development or that of his or her family. The Free Exercise Clause simply cannot be understood to require the Government to conduct its own internal affairs in ways that comport with the religious beliefs of particular citizens. Just as the Government may not insist that appellees engage in [476 U.S. 693, 700] any set form of religious observance, so appellees may not demand that the Government join in their chosen religious practices by refraining from using a number to identify their daughter. "[T]he Free Exercise Clause is written in terms of what the government cannot do to the individual, not in terms of what the individual can extract from the government." Sherbert v. Verner, 374 U.S. 398, 412 (1963) (Douglas, J., concurring).

As a result, Roy may no more prevail on his religious objection to the Government's use of a Social Security number for his daughter than he could on a sincere religious objection to the size or color of the Government's filing cabinets. The Free Exercise Clause affords an individual protection from certain forms of governmental compulsion; it does not afford an individual a right to dictate the conduct of the Government's internal procedures. [Bowen v. Roy, 476 U.S. 693 (1986)]

FOOTNOTES:

^[4] They also raise a statutory argument — that the Government's denial of benefits to them constitutes illegal discrimination on the basis of religion or national origin. See 42 U. S. C. §2000d; 7 U.S.C. §2011. We find these claims to be without merit.

^[5] The Food Stamp program restrictions that appellees challenge contain restrictions virtually identical to those in the AFDC program quoted in the text. See 7 U.S.C. §2025(e).

3. The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that no one can RECEIVE government payments without actually WORKING for the government. Any abuse of the taxing power to redistribute wealth is unconstitutional.

To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery

because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms.

Nor is it taxation. 'A tax,' says Webster's Dictionary, 'is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.' 'Taxes are burdens or charges imposed by the Legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.' Cooley, Const. Lim., 479.

Coulter, J., in Northern Liberties v. St. John's Church, 13 Pa.St. 104 says, very forcibly, 'I think the common mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11 Johns., 77; Camden v. Allen, 2 Dutch., 398; Sharpless v. Mayor, supra; Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Ia, 47; Whiting v. Fond du Lac, supra."
[Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

"A tax, in the general understanding of the term and as used in the constitution, signifies an exaction for the support of the government. The word has never thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another."
[U.S. v. Butler, 297 U.S. 1 (1936)]

4. Those eligible to receive government "benefits" are identified in Title 5 of the U.S. Code as "federal personnel".

TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(13) the term "Federal personnel" means officers and employees of the Government of the United States, members of the uniformed services (including members of the Reserve Components), individuals entitled to receive immediate or deferred retirement benefits under any retirement program of the Government of the United States (including survivor benefits).

5. Those not subject to the Internal Revenue Code and a "foreign estate" are described as NOT engaged in a "trade or business", meaning a public office.

§ 7701. Definitions

(31) Foreign estate or trust

(A) Foreign estate The term "foreign estate" means an estate the income of which, from sources without the United States which is not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is not includible in gross income under subtitle A.

(B) Foreign trust The term "foreign trust" means any trust other than a trust described in subparagraph (E) of paragraph (30).

6. Those who work for the government or receive the "benefit" of any government civil statute are presumed to waive ALL of their constitutional rights and cannot invoke ANY of them in court.

"The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot be heard to question its constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis, etc., Co., v. George C. Prendergast Const. Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.

6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself of its benefits.⁵ Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot

[Ashwander v. T.V.A., 297 U.S. 288, 56 S.Ct. 466, 80 L.Ed. 688 (1936)]

“It is not open to question that one who has acquired rights of property necessarily based upon a statute may not attack that statute as unconstitutional, for he cannot both assail it and rely upon it in the same proceeding. *528
[Frost v. Corporation Commission, 278 U.S. 515, 49 S.Ct. 235 (U.S., 1929)]

Based on the preceding overwhelming evidence, the inference and conclusion that Social Security Numbers are regarded and treated as a de facto license to occupy a public office is inescapable. The taxation of the exercise of that office, in fact, is the main object of the entire Internal Revenue Code Subtitles A and C. It is de facto, because those exercising said office do so illegally and unconstitutionally in the vast majority of cases.

3.3 Government franchises generally

Government franchises and the excise taxes that implement them such as the “trade or business” franchise are commonly called by any of the following names to disguise the nature of the transaction:

1. “public right”.
2. “publici juris”.
3. “privilege”.
4. “excise taxable privilege”.
5. “public office”.
6. “Congressionally created right”.

The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed that the income tax was an excise tax indirectly when they held the following:

“The distinction between public rights and private rights has not been definitively explained in our precedents.⁶ Nor is it necessary to do so in the present cases, for it suffices to observe that a matter of public rights must at a minimum arise “between the government and others.” Ex parte Bakelite Corp., supra, at 451, 49 S.Ct., at 413.⁷ In contrast, “the liability of one individual to another under the law as defined,” Crowell v. Benson, supra, at 51, 52 S.Ct., at 292, is a matter of private rights. Our precedents clearly establish that only controversies in the former category may be removed from Art. III courts and delegated to legislative courts or administrative agencies for their determination. See Atlas Roofing Co. v. Occupational Safety and Health Review Comm’n, 430 U.S. 442, 450, n. 7, 97 S.Ct. 1261, 1266, n. 7, 51 L.Ed.2d. 464 (1977); Crowell v. Benson, supra, 285 U.S., at 50-51, 52 S.Ct., at 292. See also Katz, Federal Legislative Courts, 43 Harv.L.Rev. 894, 917-918 (1930).FN24 Private-rights disputes, on the other hand, lie at the core of the historically recognized judicial power.”

Although Crowell and Raddatz do not explicitly distinguish between rights created by Congress and other rights, such a distinction underlies in part Crowell’s and Raddatz’ recognition of a critical difference between rights created by federal statute and rights recognized by the Constitution. Moreover, such a distinction seems to us to be necessary in light of the delicate accommodations required by the principle of separation of powers reflected in Art. III. The constitutional system of checks and balances is designed to guard against “encroachment or aggrandizement” by Congress at the expense of the other branches of government. Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S., at 122, 96 S.Ct., at 683. But when Congress creates a statutory right [a “privilege” in this case, such as a “trade or business”], it clearly has the discretion, in defining that right, to create presumptions, or assign burdens of proof, or prescribe remedies; it may also provide that persons seeking to vindicate that right must do so before particularized tribunals created to perform the specialized adjudicative tasks related to that right.^{FN35} Such provisions do, in a sense, affect the exercise of judicial power, but they are also incidental to Congress' power to define the right that it has created. No comparable justification exists, however, when the right being adjudicated is not of congressional creation. In such a situation, substantial inroads into functions that have traditionally been performed by the Judiciary cannot be characterized merely as incidental extensions of Congress' power to define rights that it has created. Rather, such inroads suggest unwarranted encroachments upon the judicial power of the United States, which our Constitution reserves for Art. III courts.

⁶ Crowell v. Benson, 285 U.S. 22, 52 S.Ct. 285, 76 L.Ed. 598 (1932), attempted to catalog some of the matters that fall within the public-rights doctrine:

To give you an example of the above phenomenon, the so-called “U.S. Tax Court” is identified in 26 U.S.C. §7441 as an Article I court, and hence NOT an Article III court as described above. It is therefore what the U.S. Supreme Court identified above as a “particularized” tribunal that officiates ONLY over “Congressionally created rights”, which is a euphemism for “privileges” incident to a franchise.

§ 7441. Status

There is hereby established, under article I of the Constitution of the United States, a court of record to be known as the United States Tax Court. The members of the Tax Court shall be the chief judge and the judges of the Tax Court.

Only “public rights” exercised by “public officers” may be officiated in the U.S. Tax Court, which is a “legislative franchise court”.

“franchise court. Hist. A privately held court that (usu.) exists by virtue of a royal grant [privilege], with jurisdiction over a variety of matters, depending on the grant and whatever powers the court acquires over time. In 1274, Edward I abolished many of these feudal courts by forcing the nobility to demonstrate by what authority (quo warrant) they held court. If a lord could not produce a charter reflecting the franchise, the court was abolished. - Also termed courts of the franchise.

*Dispensing justice was profitable. Much revenue could come from the fees and dues, fines and amercements. This explains the growth of the second class of feudal courts, the Franchise Courts. They too were private courts held by feudal lords. Sometimes their claim to jurisdiction was based on old pre-Conquest grants ... But many of them were, in reality, only wrongful usurpations of private jurisdiction by powerful lords. These were put down after the famous Quo Warranto enquiry in the reign of Edward I.” W.J.V. Windeyer, Lectures on Legal History 56-57 (2d ed. 1949).”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Seventh Edition, p. 668]*

Below are the legal mechanisms involved as described by the Annotated U.S. Constitution:

The Public Rights Distinction

“That is, “public” rights are, strictly speaking, those in which the cause of action inheres in or lies against the Federal Government in its sovereign capacity, the understanding since Murray’s Lessee. However, to accommodate Crowell v. Benson, Atlas Roofing, and similar cases, seemingly private causes of action between private parties will also be deemed “public” rights, when Congress, acting for a valid legislative purpose pursuant to its Article I powers, fashions a cause of action that is analogous to a common-law claim and so closely integrates it into a public regulatory scheme that it becomes a matter appropriate for agency resolution with limited involvement by the Article III judiciary. (82)”

*[Footnote 82: Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. at 52-54. The Court reiterated that the Government need not be a party as a prerequisite to a matter being of “public right.” Id. at 54. Concurring, Justice Scalia argued that public rights historically were and should remain only those matters to which the Federal Government is a party. Id. at 65.]

So the U.S. Tax Court is really nothing more than an administrative binding arbitration board for federal statutory “employees” and public officers in resolving disputes INTERNAL to the national government and among federal instrumentalities, officers, bureaus, and agencies. All these entities are identified in 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) as the ONLY proper subject of IRS enforcement activity, which the code calls “distrain”. That, in fact, is why the INTERNAL Revenue Service begins with the word “INTERNAL”. The “private causes of action” they are referring to are the exercise of “private law”,

1 which is a fancy term for contract law, where the franchise itself codified in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C is
2 the franchise contract. The U.S. Supreme Court called income taxes a “quasi contract”, in fact.⁸

3 “Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among
4 individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that
5 part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition,

10 Private law such as the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C can only acquire the “force of law” through the consent
11 of BOTH parties to it. Contracts between private people are an example of private law. This is thoroughly established in:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003, Sections 8.8 through 9.6

12 3.4 Misunderstandings and propaganda about the income tax

13 Many people misrepresent the facts by claiming that the I.R.C. is not “law”. It IS law, but NOT for everyone. If someone 14 shoves a signed contract in front of you and you manifest actions that indicate consent to the provisions of the contract, then
15 it's as good as if you signed it. This kind of consent is called “implied” consent or “tacit procuration”. This kind of consent 16 is manifested in several forms, including:

- 17 1. Filling out “taxpayer” forms. ALL IRS forms are ONLY for consenting statutory “taxpayers”.
 - 18 1.1. IRS Mission Statement, Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 1.1.1.1 says that they can help ONLY 19 statutory “taxpayers” who consent to the franchise contract. That is the true meaning of the word “Service” in 20 their name. They are helping those who volunteer to “serve” uncle with their “donations”. 31 U.S.C. §321(d), in 21 fact, identifies all income taxes as “donations”. So whenever you see the word “tax”, it REALLY means a
22 donation paid under the authority of the federal public officer kickback program disguised to LOOK like a lawful 23 constitutional tax.
 - 24 1.2. If you want a nontaxpayer form, you will have to modify theirs to make one or make your own nontaxpayer form.
25 They don’t help and even interfere with the rights of “nontaxpayers”, which makes us wonder whether they can 26 even really be part of a government. REAL governments provide EQUAL protection to both “taxpayers” and 27 “nontaxpayers”, don’t discriminate, and are instituted to protect mainly PRIVATE rights, which means
28 constitutional rights of NONTAXPAYERS FIRST, before they can even take on the job of ALSO protecting 29 public rights of public officers. For a huge collection of “nontaxpayer forms”, see:

SEDM Forms and Publications Page

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 30 2. VOLUNTARILY signing and submitting an IRS Form W-4, which the treasury regulations identify as an “agreement”,
31 and hence contract. See 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3(a) and 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1. The upper left corner of the form
32 says “EMPLOYEE’S WITHHOLDING ALLOWANCE CERTIFICATE”:
 - 33 2.1. YOU are the one doing the “allowing”.
 - 34 2.2. What you are consenting to is to become a public officer engaged in the “trade or business”, “social insurance”
35 and SOCIALISM franchise. You are trading RIGHTS for statutory privileges by signing up.
 - 36 2.3. The IRS Form W-4 is therefore a request to become a Kelly girl on loan to a formerly private employer and to 37 send kickbacks to the mother corporation and your “parens patriae” that loans out your services as a public 38 officer.
- 39 3. Quoting any provision of the I.R.C. and thereby “purposefully availing” yourself of its “benefits” and thereby:
 - 40 3.1. Waiving sovereign immunity under 28 U.S.C. §1605(a)(2).
 - 41 3.2. Changing your status from a statutory “non-resident non-person” to that of a resident alien under 26 U.S.C.
42 §7701(b)(1)(A).
- 43 4. Claiming earned income credits under 26 U.S.C. §32, or “trade or business” deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162.
- 44 5. Petitioning U.S. Tax Court. Tax Court Rule 13(a) says that only “taxpayers” who are party to the contract can avail
45 themselves of the “benefits” of this brand of administrative rather than judicial remedy.

⁸ See Milwaukee v. White, 296 U.S. 268 (1935).

1 6. Using a "Taxpayer Identification Number", which 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b) says is only mandatory in the case of
2 those engaged in a "trade or business" and therefore a public office in the U.S. government.

3 The IRS, judges, and government prosecutors don't want you to know this stuff and carefully hide the nature of the transaction
4 to keep you in the dark. They love what we call "mushrooms", which are organisms that you keep in the dark and feed SHIT
5 to. The SHIT is:

- 6 1. Disinformation.
- 7 2. Deceptive publications that refuse to disclose accurate definitions of key words.
- 8 3. Words of art in their void for vagueness franchise "codes" that are private law.
- 9 4. Concealing of the real names of the IRS agents (they don't use their REAL names)
- 10 5. False accusations to keep you on the defensive.
- 11 6. Filtering evidence from appearing in litigation to keep the jury from learning what is in this document and thereby
12 unjustly enrich themselves at your expense. This is naked thievery.

13 Your public dis-servants play these games to disguise the consensual nature of what they are doing and let you practically
14 convict and hang yourself. They sit back and watch by doing all the above, never once telling you that your consent is 15 required, or asking you whether you want to consent, or notifying you in their publications that they will protect your right
16 to NOT consent. We call this the "Rig and bait the trap and hide the consent game". The trap is their own omission and the 17 legal ignorance they manufactured in you within the public/government school system that they use to HARVEST your labor
18 and property when you enter the work force. You live on a corporate farm and you are government livestock. See:

19 Why do they need your consent? Because the Declaration of Independence says ALL JUST AUTHORITY of any civil 20 government derives from CONSENT of the governed, and they need that consent in a LOT of ways to govern. Another
21 reason is that he who consents cannot complain of an injury accomplished during tax enforcement and in some cases entirely

23 "These general rules are well settled:

24 (1) That the United States, when it creates rights in individuals against itself [a "public right", which is a
25 euphemism for a "franchise" to help the court disguise the nature of the transaction], is under no obligation to

5 The important thing to remember, however, is that Congress is FORBIDDEN from creating franchises within states of the 6 Union. Why? Because:

- 7 1. The Declaration of Independence, which is organic law, says our constitutional rights are “unalienable”.
- 8 2. An “unalienable right” is one that you AREN'T ALLOWED BY LAW to consent to give away in relation to a real, de
9 jure government! Such a right cannot lawfully be sold, bargained away, or transferred through any commercial
10 process, INCLUDING A FRANCHISE. Hence, even if we consent, the forfeiture of such rights is unconstitutional, 11 unauthorized, and a violation of the fiduciary duty to the public officer we surrender them to.

12 “Unalienable. Inalienable; incapable of being aliened, that is, sold and transferred.”
13 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1693]

- 14 3. The only place you can lawfully give up constitutional rights is where they physically do not exist, which is among 15 those domiciled on AND physically present on federal territory not part of any state of the Union.

16 “Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform
17 to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or
18 conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every
19 state in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the
20 definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and
21 is exercised by representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the
22 territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan,
23 Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing
24 a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative
25 power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not
26 until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the
27 people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress
28 thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that
29 the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of
30 habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights.”
31 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

- 32 4. All governments are created exclusively to protect PRIVATE RIGHTS. The way you protect them is to LEAVE
33 THEM ALONE and not burden their exercise in any way. A lawful de jure government cannot and does not protect 34 your rights by making a business out of destroying, regulating, and taxing their exercise, implement the business as a
35 franchise, and hide the nature of what they are doing as a franchise and an excise. This would cause and has caused the 36 money changers to take over the charitable public trust and “civic temple” and make it into a warehouse in violation
37 of the Constitutional trust indenture. This kind of money changing in fact, is the very reason that Jesus flipped tables
38 over in the temple out of anger: Turning the bride of Christ and God's minister for justice into a WHORE. The nuns
39 are now pimped out and the church is open for business for all the statutory “taxpayer” Johns who walk in.

40 That is why the geographical definitions within the I.R.C. limit themselves to federal territory exclusively and include no part 41 of any state of the Union.

42 If you want an exhaustive analysis of how franchises such as the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C operate,

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030

44 3.5 Public offices

45 A “public office” is a type of employment or agency within the federal government that is created by contract or agreement 46 that you must implicitly or explicitly consent to.

47 Public office

“Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:

(1) Authority conferred by law,

(2) Fixed tenure of office, and

(3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.

(4) Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function”.

(5) Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are:

(a) Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature.

(b) Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position,

(c) Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority.

(d) Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and

(e) Position must have some permanency.”

[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

A person holding a “public office” has a fiduciary duty to the public as a “trustee” of the “public trust”:

“As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer. 9 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts. 10 That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves. 11 and owes a fiduciary duty to the public. 12 It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual. 13 Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy. 14”

[63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

If you aren’t engaged in a “public office”, then you can’t be the proper subject of the income tax or truthfully or lawfully be described as THE “person”, “individual”, “employee”, “employer”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “taxpayer” described anywhere in the Internal Revenue Code UNLESS you volunteer by signing an agreement in some form. Yes, you could be described by these terms in their ordinary English usage, but you would not fit the LEGAL meanings of these terms as they are defined in the Internal Revenue Code unless you in fact and in deed engage in a “public office” within the United States government through private contract or agreement that you consent to. Within this publication, we put quotes around words like those above when we wish to refer to the legally defined meaning of a term and exclude the common or ordinary definition. In that sense, the Internal Revenue Code constitutes:

1. Private law:

“Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition, regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person upon whom the obligation is incident are private individuals. See also Private bill; Special law. Compare Public Law.”

[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1196]

2. Special law:

1 “special law.” One relating to particular persons or things; one made for individual cases or for particular places
2 or districts; one operating upon a selected class, rather than upon the public generally. A private law. A law is
3 “special” when it is different from others of the same general kind or designed for a particular purpose, or limited
4 in range or confined to a prescribed field of action or operation. A “special law” relates to either particular
5 persons, places, or things or to persons, places, or things which, though not particularized, are separated by any
6 method of selection from the whole class to which the law might, but not such legislation, be applied. Utah Farm
7 Bureau Ins. Co. v. Utah Ins. Guaranty Ass’n, Utah, 564 P.2d. 751, 754. A special law applies only to an individual
8 or a number of individuals out of a single class similarly situated and affected, or to a special locality. Board of 9 County Com’rs of Lemhi County v. Swensen, Idaho, 80 Idaho 198, 327 P.2d. 361, 362. See also Private bill;
10 Private law. Compare General law; Public law.”
11 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1397-1398]

12 3. What the courts call a “franchise”, which is a “privilege” or benefit offered only to those who volunteer:

13 FRANCHISE. A special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not
14 belong to citizens of country generally of common right. Elliott v. City of Eugene, 135 Or. 108, 294 P. 358, 360.
15 In England it is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject.

16 A “franchise,” as used by Blackstone in defining quo warranto, (3 Com. 262 [4th Am. Ed.] 322), had reference
17 to a royal privilege or branch of the king’s prerogative subsisting in the hands of the subject, and must arise from 18 the king’s grant, or be held by prescription, but today we understand a franchise to be some special privilege
19 conferred by government on an individual, natural or artificial, which is not enjoyed by its citizens in general.
20 State v. Fernandez, 106 Fla. 779, 143 So. 638, 639, 86 A.L.R. 240.

21 In this country a franchise is a privilege or immunity of a public nature, which cannot be legally exercised
22 without legislative grant. To be a corporation is a franchise. The various powers conferred on corporations are 23 franchises. The execution of a policy of insurance by an insurance company [e.g. Social Insurance/Socialist
24 Security], and the issuing a bank note by an incorporated bank [such as a Federal Reserve NOTE], are 25 franchises. People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns. (N.Y.) 387, 8 Am.Dec. 243. But it does not embrace the property
26 acquired by the exercise of the franchise. Bridgeport v. New York & N. H. R. Co., 36 Conn. 255, 4 Arn.Rep. 63.
27 Nor involve interest in land acquired by grantee. Whitbeck v. Funk, 140 Or. 70, 12 P.2d. 1019, 1020 In a popular
28 sense, the political rights of subjects and citizens are franchises, such as the right of suffrage. etc. Pierce v.
29 Emery, 32 N.H. 484; State v. Black Diamond Co., 97 Ohio.St. 24, 119 N.E. 195, 199, L.R.A.1918E, 352.

31 Exclusive Franchise. See Exclusive Privilege or Franchise.

32 General and Special. The charter of a corporation is its “general” franchise, while a “special” franchise consists 33 in any rights granted by the public to use property for a public use but-with private profit. Lord v. Equitable Life
34 Assur. Soc., 194 N.Y. 212, 81 N.E. 443, 22 L.R.A. (N.S.) 420.

35 Personal Franchise. A franchise of corporate existence, or one which authorizes the formation and existence of 36 a corporation, is sometimes called a “personal” franchise. as distinguished from a “property” franchise, which 37 authorizes a corporation so formed to apply its property to some particular enterprise or exercise some special
38 privilege in its employment, as, for example, to construct and operate a railroad. See Sandham v. Nye, 9 Misc.Rep.
39 541, 30 N.Y.S. 552.

40 Secondary Franchises. The franchise of corporate existence being sometimes called the “primary” franchise of a
41 corporation, its “secondary” franchises are the special and peculiar rights, privileges, or grants which it may,
42 receive under its charter or from a municipal corporation, such as the right to use the public streets, exact tolls,
43 collect fares, etc. State v. Topeka Water Co., 61 Kan. 547, 60 P. 337; Virginia Canon Toll Road Co. v. People,
44 22 Colo. 429, 45 P. 398 37 L.R.A. 711. The franchises of a corporation are divisible into (1) corporate or general
45 franchises; and (2) “special or secondary franchises. The former is the franchise to exist as a corporation, while
46 the latter are certain rights and privileges conferred upon existing corporations. Gulf Refining Co. v. Cleveland
47 Trust Co., 166 Miss. 759, 108 So. 158, 160.

48 Special Franchisee. See Secondary Franchises, supra.
49 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, pp. 786-787]

50 4. An “excise tax” or “privilege tax” upon privileges incident to federal contracts, employment, or agency.

51 “Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon
52 licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges...the requirement to pay such taxes
53 involves the exercise of [220 U.S. 107, 152] privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand
54 is lacking...

1 ...It is therefore well settled by the decisions of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right
2 to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as an exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure
3 of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

4 Conceding the power of Congress to tax the business activities of private corporations.. the tax must be measured
5 by some standard..."
6 [Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U.S. 107 (1911)]

7 The IRS itself admitted some of the above in a letter documented below:

8 3.6 Rules for administering the franchise

9 The rules for administering the “trade or business” franchise followed universally by the IRS and the courts are as follows:

10 1. The method of conveying consent to participate in the “trade or business” franchise is any one or more of the following:

11 1.1. Signing and submitting SSA Form SS-5, the Application for Social Security. See:

Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf>

12 1.2. Signing and submitting IRS Form W-4, which is the WRONG form for persons NOT engaging in the franchise. 13 See:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers, Family Guardian Fellowship

14 1.3. Signing and submitting IRS Form 1040 and assessing yourself with a liability:

15 "... the government can collect the tax from a district court suitor by exercising its power of distraint... but we 16 cannot believe that compelling resort to this extraordinary procedure is either wise or in accord with 17 congressional intent. Our system of taxation is based upon VOLUNTARY ASSESSMENT AND PAYMENT , NOT 18 UPON DISTRAINT" [Footnote 43] If the government is forced to use these remedies(distraint) on a large scale,
19 it will affect adversely the taxpayers willingness to perform under our VOLUNTARY assessment system."

21 1.4. Failing or refusing to rebut false information returns that connect you to the franchise. 26 U.S.C. §6041(a) says 22 that information returns, such as IRS Forms W-2, 1042S, 1098, and 1099 may ONLY lawfully be filed against 23 those engaged in the “trade or business” franchise. If you don’t rebut these when they are mailed to you, then your 24 failure to rebut is an admission that they are truthful. See:

25 1.4.1. Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

27 1.4.3. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form 1098’s, Form #04.004:

28 1.4.4. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form 1099’s, Form #04.005:

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

29 1.4.5. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form W-2’s, Form #04.006:

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

30 1.5. Failing to rebut the use of federal identifying numbers on government correspondence sent to you, which constitute 31 a “prima facie” license number to participate in “public rights” and franchises. See:

Wrong Party Notice, Form #07.105

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

32 2. Those who do NOT participate in the “trade or business” franchise:

33 2.1. Cannot legally withhold on their earnings. Anyone who withholds upon them against their will is committing 34 THEFT for which they are personally liable.

35 2.2. Do not earn “wages” as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401, 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3, or 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1. 36 Therefore, any amount reported on an IRS Form W-2 MUST be ZERO, because it only reports “wages” as legally defined and not as commonly understood or used.

2.3. Have their private rights protected by the Constitution but not by most federal law. Most federal law is “foreign” in relation to them:

"The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws..."
[Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236 (1922)]

"Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [instrumentalities, officers, employees, and elected officials of the Federal Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law."
[Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

2.4. May not cite any provision of the franchise agreements codified in the I.R.C. and the Social Security Act because they are “foreign law” in relation to them and their estate is a “foreign estate” pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(31\).

2.5. If they cite any provision of the franchise agreements, imply their voluntary consent to be bound by them, which is all that is needed to enforce these provisions of “private law”/“contract law” against them.

2.6. Are called the following in the context of federal law:

2.6.1. “nontaxpayers”. See:

Who are “Taxpayers” and Who Needs a “Taxpayer Identification Number”?, Form #05.013
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2.6.2. “non-resident non-persons” if not occupying a public office.

2.6.3. “nonresident aliens not engaged in a ‘trade or business’” and defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.871-1(b)(1)(i) if occupying a public office. See:

Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2.6.4. “transient foreigners”

2.6.5. “stateless persons” in relation to the federal courts.

2.6.6. American Citizens or “citizens of the United States OF AMERICA”. See 1 Stat. 477, in which the U.S. Congress identifies those domiciled in states of the Union as both “American Citizens” and “citizens of the United States OF AMERICA”

3. Those who participate in the “trade or business” franchise:

3.1. Earn “wages” as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401 because they signed a voluntary W-4 “agreement” consenting to call such earnings “wages” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3, or 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1. Therefore, any amount reported on an IRS Form W-2 MUST include all earnings subject to the W-4 “agreement”.

3.2. If they are individuals, are called the following in the context of federal law:

3.2.1. “taxpayers”

3.2.2. “public officers”

3.2.3. “employees”

3.2.4. “employers”

3.2.5. “citizens” or “citizens of the United States” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1401 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c)-1, where “United States” means either the federal zone or the U.S. government.

3.2.6. “residents of the United States” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), , where “United States” means either the federal zone or the U.S. government.

3.3. If they are federal territories and possessions:

3.3.1. Must enter an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (ACTA) agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to:

3.3.1.1. 26 U.S.C. §6361 through 6365 (which are now repealed)

3.3.1.2. 26 C.F.R. §301.6361-1 through 301.6361-5

3.3.2. Are called “States” within federal law, which are territories and possessions of the United States pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). See also the following for further examples in state law:

California Revenue and Taxation Code
Division 2: Other Taxes
Part 10: Personal Income Tax

17018. "State" includes the District of Columbia, and the possessions of the United States.

6017. "In this State" or "in the State" means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.

- 3.4. If they are states of the Union, may not lawfully participate in the federal tax system because they do not fit the definition of "State" found in 4 U.S.C. §110(d). See:

State Income Taxes, Form #05.031
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 3.5. May have any provision of the franchise agreements codified in the Internal Revenue Code or the Social Security Act cited against them in court. See:

Why You Shouldn't Cite Federal Statutes as Authority for Protecting Your Rights, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Discrimination/CivilRights/DontCiteFederalLaw.htm>

- 3.6. Become "trustees" of the "public trust" as well as officers of the federal corporation identified in 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A).

- 3.7. Are acting in a representative capacity on behalf of the federal government pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) as "officers of a federal corporation".

4. All franchises and "public rights" RECOGNIZE AND EXTEND but cannot lawfully CREATE NEW federal agency and "public office" to one extent or another, and it is this agency that is the subject of most federal legislation. Nearly all laws passed by Congress pertain only to their own territory, possessions, offices, employees, and franchises. You must therefore become part of the government for them to lawfully regulate the exercise of the franchise.

"The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the regulator of private conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity as employer. We have recognized this in many contexts, with respect to many different constitutional guarantees. Private citizens perhaps cannot be prevented from wearing long hair, but policemen can. Kelley v. Johnson, 425 U.S. 238, 247 (1976). Private citizens cannot have their property searched without probable cause, but in many circumstances government employees can. O'Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987) (plurality opinion); id., at 732 (SCALIA, J., concurring in judgment). Private citizens cannot be punished for refusing to provide the government information that may incriminate them, but government employees can be dismissed when the incriminating information that they refuse to provide relates to the performance of their job. Gardner v. Broderick, [497 U.S. 62, 95] 392 U.S. 273, 277-278 (1968). With regard to freedom of speech in particular: Private citizens cannot be punished for speech of merely private concern, but government employees can be fired for that reason. Connick v. Myers, 461 U.S. 138, 147 (1983). Private citizens cannot be punished for partisan political activity, but federal and state employees can be dismissed and otherwise punished for that reason. Public Workers v. Mitchell, 330 U.S. 75, 101 (1947); Civil Service Comm'n v. Letter Carriers, 413 U.S. 548, 556 (1973); Broadrick v. Oklahoma, 413 U.S. 601, 616-617 (1973)."

5. All privileged activities and franchises are usually licensed by the government and cause a surrender of constitutional rights:

- 5.1. The application of the license causes a surrender of constitutional rights.

"And here a thought suggests itself. As the Meadors, subsequently to the passage of this act of July 20, 1868, applied for and obtained from the government a license or permit to deal in manufactured tobacco, snuff and cigars, I am inclined to be of the opinion that they are, by this their own voluntary act, precluded from assailing the constitutionality of this law, or otherwise controverting it. For the granting of a license or permit-the yielding of a particular privilege-and its acceptance by the Meadors, was a contract, in which it was implied that the provisions of the statute which governed, or in any way affected their business, and all other statutes previously passed, which were in pari materia with those provisions, should be recognized and obeyed by them. When the Meadors sought and accepted the privilege, the law was before them. And can they now impugn its constitutionality or refuse to obey its provisions and stipulations, and so exempt themselves from the consequences of their own acts?"
[In re Meador, 1 Abb.U.S. 317, 16 F.Cas. 1294, D.C.Ga. (1869)]

- 5.2. Those participating in the "benefits" of the franchise have implicitly surrendered the right to challenge any encroachments against their "private rights" or "constitutional rights" that result from said participation:

The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all the constitutional questions pressed upon it for decision. They are:

6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself of its benefits.^{FN7} Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 411, 412, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis Malleable Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.

6. The Social Security Number is the “de facto” license number which is used to track and control all those who voluntarily engage in public franchises and “public rights”. If you don’t want to be in a “privileged” state and suffer the legal disabilities of accepting the privilege, then you CANNOT have or use Social Security Numbers.
7. Use of a Social Security Number constitutes prima facie consent to engage in the franchise. Use of this number constitutes prima facie evidence of implied consent because:
 - 7.1. It is a crime to compel use or disclosure of Social Security Numbers. 42 U.S.C. §408.
 - 7.2. You can withdraw from the franchise lawfully at anytime if you don’t want to participate. See SSA Form 521. See:

Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf>
 - 7.3. If the government uses the SSN trustee licenses number to communicate with you and you don’t object or correct them, then you once again consented to their jurisdiction to administer the program. See:

Wrong Party Notice, Form #07.105
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
8. The Social Security Number is property of the government and NOT the person using it. 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d).
 - 8.1. The Social Security card confirms this, which says: “Property of the Social Security Administration and must be returned upon request.
 - 8.2. Anything the Social Security Number is attached to becomes “private property” voluntarily donated to a “public use” to procure the benefits of the “public right” or franchise. Only “public officers” on official business may have public property in their possession such as the Social Security Number.

4. Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status Options

"Dolus versatur generalibus. A deceiver deals in generals. 2 Co. 34."

"Fraus latet in generalibus. Fraud lies hid in general expressions."

Generale nihil certum implicat. A general expression implies nothing certain. 2 Co. 34.

Ubi quid generaliter conceditur, in est haec exceptio, si non aliquid sit contra jus fasque. Where a thing is concealed generally, this exception arises, that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right. 10 Co. 78.
[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856)]

1 “General expressions”, and especially those relating to geographical terms, franchise statuses, or citizenship, are the biggest
2 source of FRAUD in courtrooms across the country. By “general expressions”, we mean those which:

- 3 1. The speaker is either not accountable or REFUSES to be accountable for the accuracy or truthfulness or definition of 4 the word or expression.
- 5 2. Fail to recognize that there are multiple contexts in which the word could be used.
6 2.1. CONSTITUTIONAL (States of the Union).
7 2.2. STATUTORY (federal territory).
- 8 3. Are susceptible to two or more CONTEXTS or interpretations, one of which the government representative
9 interpreting the context stands to benefit from handsomely. Thus, “equivocation” is undertaken, in which they TELL
10 you they mean the CONSTITUTIONAL interpretation but after receiving your form or pleading, interpret it to mean 11 the STATUTORY context.

- 29 4. PRESUME that all contexts are equivalent, meaning that CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY are equivalent.
- 30 5. Fail to identify the specific context implied on the form.
- 31 6. Fail to provide an actionable definition for the term that is useful as evidence in court.
- 32 7. Government representatives actively interfere with or even penalize efforts by the applicant to define the context of the 33 terms so that they can protect their right to make injurious presumptions about their meaning.
- 34 8. The Bible calls people who engage in equivocation or who try to create confusion “double minded”. They are also 35 equated with “hypocrites”. Here is what God says about double minded people:

36 “I hate the double-minded, But I love Your law.”

40 Pictures really are worth a THOUSAND words. There is no better place we know of to use a picture to describe relationship
41 than in the context of citizenship, domicile, and residency. Below is a table summarizing citizenship status v. Tax status.
42 After that, we show a graphical diagram that makes the relationships perfectly clear. Finally, after the graphical diagram,
43 we present a text summary for all the legal rules that govern transitioning between the various citizenship and domicile
44 conditions described. The content of this entire section is available in a single convenient form that you can use at

4.1 The Four "United States"

It is very important to understand that there are THREE separate and distinct GEOGRAPHICAL CONTEXTS in which the term "United States" can be used, and each has a mutually exclusive and different meaning. These three definitions of "United States" were described by the U.S. Supreme Court in Hoooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945):

Table 1: Geographical terms used throughout this page

Term	# in diagrams	Meaning
United States*	1	The country "United States" in the family of nations throughout the world.
United States	2	The "federal zone".
United States	3	Collective states of the Union mentioned throughout the Constitution.

In addition to the above GEOGRAPHICAL context, there is also a legal, non-geographical context in which the term "United States" can be used, which is the GOVERNMENT as a legal entity. Throughout this page and this website, we identify THIS context as "United States*" or "United States⁴". The only types of "persons" within THIS context are public offices within the national and not state government. It is THIS context in which "sources within the United States" is used for the purposes of "income" and "gross income" within the Internal Revenue Code, as proven by:

Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020, Section 5.6

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/NonresidentNonPersonPosition.pdf>

The reason these contexts are not expressly distinguished in the statutes by the Legislative Branch or on government forms crafted by the Executive Branch is that they are the KEY mechanism by which:

1. Federal jurisdiction is unlawfully enlarged by abusing presumption, which is a violation of due process of law. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Presumption.pdf>

2. The separation of powers between the states and the national government is destroyed, in violation of the legislative intent of the Constitution. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. A "society of law" is transformed into a "society of men" in violation of Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137 (1803):

"The government of the United States has been emphatically termed a government of laws, and not of men. It will certainly cease to deserve this high appellation, if the laws furnish no remedy for the violation of a vested legal right."

[Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137, 163 (1803)]

4. Exclusively PRIVATE rights are transformed into public rights in a process we call "invisible eminent domain using presumption and words of art".
5. Judges are unconstitutionally delegated undue discretion and "arbitrary power" to unlawfully enlarge federal jurisdiction. See:

Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.018

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/FederalJurisdiction.pdf>

The way a corrupted Executive Branch or judge accomplish the above is to unconstitutionally:

1. PRESUME that ALL of the four contexts for "United States" are equivalent.
2. PRESUME that POLITICAL citizens* and CIVIL citizens+D are EQUIVALENT under federal law. They are NOT. A POLITICAL citizen is a "non-resident " under federal civil law. See:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/WhyANational.pdf>

3. PRESUME that "nationality" and "domicile" are equivalent. They are NOT. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. Use the word "citizenship" in place of "nationality" OR "domicile", and refuse to disclose WHICH of the two they mean in EVERY context.

5. Confuse the POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL meaning of words with the civil STATUTORY context. For instance, asking on government forms whether you are a POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL citizen and then FALSELY PRESUMING that you are a CIVIL citizen+D under 8 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30).

6. Confuse the words "domicile" and "residence" or impute either to you without satisfying the burden of proving that you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to it and thereby illegally kidnap your civil legal identity against your will. One can have only one "domicile" but many "residences" and BOTH require your consent. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

7. Add things or classes of things to the meaning of statutory terms that do not EXPRESSLY appear in their definitions, in violation of the rules of statutory construction. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/LegalDecPropFraud.pdf>

8. PRESUME that STATUTORY diversity of citizenship under 28 U.S.C. §1332 and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity of citizenship under Article III, Section 2 of the United States Constitution are equivalent.

8.1. STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity are NOT equal and in fact are mutually exclusive.

8.2. The STATUTORY definition of "State" in 28 U.S.C. §1332(e) is a federal territory. The definition of "State" in the CONSTITUTION is a State of the Union and NOT federal territory.

8.3. They try to increase this confusion by dismissing diversity cases where only diversity of RESIDENCE (domicile) is implied, instead insisting on "diversity of CITIZENSHIP" and yet REFUSING to define whether they mean DOMICILE or NATIONALITY when the term "CITIZENSHIP" is invoked. See Lamm v. Bekins Van Lines, Co, 139 F.Supp.2d. 1300, 1314 (M.D. Ala. 2001) ("To invoke removal jurisdiction on the basis of diversity, a notice of removal must distinctly and affirmatively allege each party's citizenship.", "[a]llegations of residence are wholly insufficient for purposes of removal.", "[a]lthough 'citizenship' and 'residence' may be interchangeable terms in common parlance, the existence of citizenship cannot be inferred from allegations of residence alone.").

9. Refuse to allow the jury to read the definitions in the law and then give them a definition that is in conflict with the statutory definition. This substitutes the JUDGES will for what the law expressly says and thereby substitutes PUBLIC POLICY for the written law.

10. Publish deceptive government publications that are in deliberate conflict with what the statutes define "United States" as and then tell the public that they CANNOT rely on the publication. The IRS does this with ALL of their publications and it is FRAUD. See:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007

The above types of abuse are what is referred to as "equivocation":

equivocation

This kind of arbitrary discretion is PROHIBITED by the Constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

"When we consider the nature and the theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they are supposed to rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do not mean to leave room for the play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power."

Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, precisely predicted the above abuses when he said:

"It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression,... that the germ of dissolution of our Federal Government is in the constitution of the Federal Judiciary--an irresponsible body (for impeachment is scarcely a scare-crow), working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the States and the government be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed."

[Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:331]

"Contrary to all correct example, [the Federal judiciary] are in the habit of going out of the question before them, to throw an anchor ahead and grapple further hold for future advances of power. They are then in fact the corps of sappers and miners, steadily working to undermine the independent rights of the States and to consolidate all power in the hands of that government in which they have so important a freehold estate."

[Thomas Jefferson: Autobiography, 1821. ME 1:121]

"The judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric. They are construing our Constitution from a co-ordination of a general and special government to a general and supreme one alone. This will lay all things at their feet, and they are too well versed in English law to forget the maxim, 'boni judicis est ampliare jurisdictionem.'"

[Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Ritchie, 1820. ME 15:297]

"When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."

[Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:332]

"What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculating, plundering, office-building ["trade or business" scam] and office-hunting would be produced by an assumption [PRESUMPTION] of all the State powers into the hands of the General Government!"

[Thomas Jefferson to Gideon Granger, 1800. ME 10:168]

4.2 Civil/Statutory v. Political/Constitutional Contexts

It is very important to understand that there are TWO separate, distinct, and mutually exclusive contexts in which geographical "words of art" can be used at the federal or national level:

1. Political/Constitutional.
 - 1.1. This is connected with NATIONALITY.
 - 1.2. We call these "Citizens*" on our website.
2. Civil/Statutory.
 - 2.1. This is connected with DOMICILE.
 - 2.2. We call these "Citizens+D" on our website.

The purpose of providing a civil statutory definition of a legal "term" is to supersede and not enlarge the ordinary, common law, constitutional, or common meaning of a term. Geographical words of art include:

1. "State"
2. "United States"
3. "alien"
4. "citizen"
5. "resident"
6. "U.S. person"

The terms "State" and "United States" within the Constitution implies the constitutional states of the Union and excludes federal territory, civil/statutory "States" (federal territories), or the civil/statutory "United States" (the collection of all federal territory). This is an outcome of the separation of powers doctrine. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The U.S. Constitution creates a public trust which is the delegation of authority order that the U.S. Government uses to manage federal territory and property. That property includes franchises, such as the "trade or business" franchise. All statutory civil law it creates can and does regulate only THAT property and not the constitutional States, which are foreign, sovereign, and statutory "non-resident non-persons" (Form #05.020) for the purposes of federal legislative jurisdiction.

It is very important to realize the consequences of this constitutional separation of powers between the states and national government. Some of these consequences include the following:

1. Statutory "States" as indicated in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and "States" in nearly all federal statutes are in fact federal territories and the definition does NOT include constitutional states of the Union.
2. The statutory "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) includes federal territory and excludes any land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union.
3. Terms on government forms assume the statutory context and NOT the constitutional context.
4. Domicile is the origin of civil legislative jurisdiction over human beings. This jurisdiction is called "in personam jurisdiction".
5. Since the separation of powers doctrine creates two separate jurisdictions that are legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other, then there are TWO types of political communities, two types of "citizens", and two types of jurisdictions exercised by the national government.

"It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?"
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

6. A human being domiciled in a Constitutional state and born or naturalized anywhere in the Union. These are:
 - 6.1. A national pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).

- 6.2. A "national of the United States" pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101\(a\)\(22\).
- 6.3. A CIVIL "non-resident non-person" if exclusively PRIVATE and not engaged in a public office.
- 6.4. A CIVIL "nonresident alien" (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government if they lawfully serve in a public office.
7. You can be a CIVIL "nonresident alien" pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) and a constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment "Citizen" AT THE SAME TIME. Why? Because the Supreme Court ruled in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945), that there are THREE different and mutually exclusive "United States", and therefore THREE types of "citizens of the United States". Here is an example:

"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the United States[] except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District of Columbia or in the territories [STATUTORY citizens], though within the United States[], were not [CONSTITUTIONAL] citizens."*
[Slaughter-House Cases, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 36, 21 L.Ed. 394 (1873)]

The "citizen of the United States" mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is a constitutional "citizen of the United States", and the term "United States" in that context includes states of the Union and excludes federal territory. Hence, you would NOT be a CIVIL "citizen of the United States" within any federal statute, because all such statutes define "United States" to mean federal territory and EXCLUDE states of the Union. For more details, see:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. Your job, if you say you are a "citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" on a government form (a VERY DANGEROUS undertaking!) is to understand that all government forms presume the statutory and not constitutional context, and to ensure that you define precisely WHICH one of the three "United States" you are a "citizen" of, and do so in a way that excludes you from the civil jurisdiction of the national government because domiciled in a "foreign state". Both foreign countries and states of the Union are legislatively "foreign" and therefore "foreign states" in relation to the national government of the United States. The following form does that very carefully:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9. Even the IRS says you CANNOT trust or rely on any of their forms and publications. We cover this in our Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007. Hence, if you are compelled to fill out a government form, you have an OBLIGATION to ensure that you define all "words of art" used on the form in such a way that there is no room for presumption, no judicial or government discretion to "interpret" the form to their benefit, and no injury to your rights or status by filling out the government form. This includes attaching the following forms to all tax forms you submit:

- 9.1. Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 9.2. Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

We started off this document with maxims of law proving that "a deceiver deals in generals". Anyone who refuses to identify the precise context, civil/statutory or political/constitutional, for EVERY "term of art" they are using in the legal field ABSOLUTELY IS A DECEIVER.

4.3 Civil/Domiciled v. Political/Constitutional Citizens

*"When words lose their meaning [or their CONTEXT WHICH ESTABLISHES THEIR MEANING], people lose their freedom."
[Confucius (551 BCE - 479 BCE) Chinese thinker and social philosopher]*

CIVIL/statutory citizenship is a legal status that designates a person's domicile while POLITICAL/constitutional citizenship is a political status that designates a person's nationality. Understanding the distinction between nationality and domicile is absolutely critical.

1. Nationality:

- 1.1. Is a political status.
- 1.2. Is NONGEOGRAPHICAL. You can have ALLEGIANCE ANYWHERE you physically are.
- 1.3. Is not necessarily consensual or discretionary. For instance, acquiring nationality by birth in a specific place was not a matter of choice whereas acquiring it by naturalization is.
- 1.4. Is defined by the Constitution, which is a political document.
- 1.5. Is ALSO defined by Title 8 of the U.S. Code, which mixes both political law and civil law for territories and possessions.
- 1.6. Is synonymous with being a “national” within statutory law.
- 1.7. Is associated with a specific COUNTRY.
- 1.8. Is called a “political citizen” or a “citizen of the United States in a political sense” by the courts to distinguish it from a STATUTORY citizen. See Powe v. United States, 109 F.2d. 147 (1940).

2. Domicile:

- 2.1. Is a civil status.
- 2.2. Is ALWAYS GEOGRAPHICAL. You can't have a domicile that is NOT tied to a specific physical geographical place. It is ALWAYS tied to definitions relating to the GEOGRAPHICAL context for the word used. For instance "U.S. person" in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\).
- 2.3. Always requires your consent and therefore is discretionary. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 2.4. Is not even addressed in the constitution.
- 2.5. Is defined by civil statutory law RATHER than the constitution.
- 2.6. Is in NO WAY connected with one’s nationality.
- 2.7. Is usually connected with the word “person”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” in statutory law.
- 2.8. Is associated with a specific COUNTY and a STATE rather than a COUNTRY.
- 2.9. Implies one is a “SUBJECT” of a SPECIFIC MUNICIPAL but not NATIONAL government.

Nationality and domicile, TOGETHER determine the political/CONSTITUTIONAL AND civil/STATUTORY status of a human being respectively. These important distinctions are recognized in Black’s Law Dictionary:

“nationality – That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state. Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while domicile determines his civil [statutory] status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary (6th ed. 1990), p. 1025]

President Barack Obama affirmed our assertions that there are TWO components to your citizenship status at the end of his State of the Union address given on 2/12/2013:

President Obama Recognizes separate POLITICAL and LEGAL components of citizenship, Exhibit #01.013

The U.S. Supreme Court also confirmed the above when they held the following. Note the key phrase “political jurisdiction”, which is NOT the same as civil/legislative/statutory jurisdiction. One can have a political status of “citizen” under the constitution while NOT being a “citizen” under federal statutory law because not domiciled on federal territory. To have the status of “citizen” under federal statutory law, one must have a domicile on federal territory:

“This section contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,-birth and naturalization. The persons declared to be citizens are 'all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.' The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”

“This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized

citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects, his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
Fong Yue Ting v. United States, [149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

Notice in the last quote above that they referred to a foreign national born in another country as a “citizen” of THIS country. THIS is the REAL “citizen” (a domiciled foreign national) that judges and even tax withholding documents are really talking about, rather than the “national” or “citizen” described in the constitution of the United States of America.

POLITICAL citizens* (26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c)) and CIVIL citizens+D (26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a) and (b)) are the ONLY type of “citizens” mentioned in the entire Internal Revenue Code.

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART I—INCOME TAXES
Normal Taxes and Surtaxes
§ 1.1-1 Income tax on individuals.

(a) General rule.

(1) Section 1 of the Code imposes an income tax on the income of every individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States and, to the extent provided by section 871(b) or 877(b), on the income of a nonresident alien individual.

(c) Who is a citizen.

Every person [“person” as used in 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343, which both collectively are officers or employees of a corporation or a partnership with the United States government] born or naturalized in the United States and subject to its jurisdiction is a citizen. For other rules governing the acquisition of citizenship, see chapters 1 and 2 of title III of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1401–1459). For rules governing loss of citizenship, see sections 349 to 357, inclusive, of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1481–1489), Schneider v. Rusk, (1964) 377 U.S. 163, and Rev. Rul. 70–506, C.B. 1970–2, 1. For rules pertaining to persons who are nationals but not citizens at birth, e.g., a person born in American Samoa, see section 308 of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1408). For special rules applicable to certain expatriates who have lost citizenship with a principal purpose of avoiding certain taxes, see section 877. A foreigner who has filed his declaration of intention of becoming a citizen but who has not yet been admitted to citizenship by a final order of a naturalization court is an alien.

The CIVIL/DOMICILE/STATUTORY citizen+D described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a) and (b) can include any American national described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). Anyone who claims an American national, also called a POLITICAL citizen*, is equivalent to a CIVIL/STATUTORY “U.S.[] citizen[*]” subject to the income tax is engaging in criminal identity theft as documented in the following. They are also criminally impersonating a “U.S. citizen” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §911:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Domicile and NOT nationality is what imputes a civil status under the tax code and a liability for tax. Tax liability is a civil liability that attaches to civil statutory law, which in turn attaches to the person through their choice of domicile. When you CHOOSE a domicile, you elect or nominate a protector, which in turn gives rise to an obligation to pay for the civil protection demanded. The method of providing that protection is the civil laws of the municipal (as in COUNTY) jurisdiction that you chose a domicile within.

“domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a “domicile” therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges.”
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

Later versions of Black's Law Dictionary attempt to cloud this important distinction between nationality and domicile in order to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand federal power into the states of the Union and to give federal judges unnecessary and unwarranted discretion to kidnap people into their jurisdiction using false presumptions. They do this by trying to make you believe that domicile and nationality are equivalent, when they are EMPHATICALLY NOT. Here is an example:

"nationality – The relationship between a citizen of a nation and the nation itself, customarily involving allegiance by the citizen and protection by the state; membership in a nation. This term is often used synonymously with citizenship."
[Black's Law Dictionary (8th ed. 2004)]

Federal courts regard the term "citizenship" as equivalent to domicile, meaning domicile on federal territory.

"The words "citizen" and citizenship," however, usually include the idea of domicile, Delaware, L.&W.R.Co. v. Petrowsky, C.C.A.N.Y., 250 F. 554, 557;"
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 310]

Hence:

1. The term "citizenship" is being stealthily used by government officials as a magic word that allows them to hide their presumptions about your status. Sometimes they use it to mean NATIONALITY, and sometimes they use it to mean DOMICILE.
2. The use of the word "citizenship" should therefore be AVOIDED when dealing with the government because its meaning is unclear and leaves too much discretion to judges and prosecutors.
3. When someone from any government uses the word "citizenship", you should:
 - 3.1. Tell them NOT to use the word, and instead to use "nationality" or "domicile".
 - 3.2. Ask them whether they mean "nationality" or "domicile".
 - 3.3. Ask them WHICH political subdivision they imply a domicile within: federal territory or a constitutional state of the Union.

A failure to either understand or apply the above concepts can literally mean the difference between being a government pet in a legal cage called a franchise, and being a free and sovereign man or woman.

4.4 Citizenship Status v. Tax Status

The table beginning on the next page in landscape format summarizes all the known citizenship and domicile options within American jurisprudence.

NOTES:

1. Domicile is a prerequisite to having any civil status per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17. One therefore cannot be a statutory "alien" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) without a domicile on federal territory. Without such a domicile, you are a transient foreigner and neither an "alien" nor a "nonresident alien".
2. "United States" is described in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38), (a)(36) and 8 C.F.R. §215.1(f) is the POLITICAL "United States", meaning the entire country.
3. A "nonresident alien individual" who has made an election under 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) to be treated as a "resident alien" is treated as a "nonresident alien" for the purposes of withholding under I.R.C. Subtitle C but retains their status as a "resident alien" under I.R.C. Subtitle A. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) for the definition of "individual", which means "alien".
4. A "non-person" is really just a transient foreigner who is not "purposefully availing themselves" of commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the United States on federal territory under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97. The real transition from a "NON-person" to an "individual" occurs when one:
 - 4.1. "Purposefully avails himself" of commerce on federal territory and thus waives sovereign immunity. Examples of such purposeful availment are the next three items.
 - 4.2. Lawfully and consensually occupying a public office in the U.S. government and thereby being an "officer and individual" as identified in 5 U.S.C. §2105(a). Otherwise, you are PRIVATE and therefore beyond the civil legislative jurisdiction of the national government.
 - 4.3. Voluntarily files an IRS Form 1040 as a citizen or resident abroad and takes the foreign tax deduction under 26 U.S.C. §911. This too is essentially an act of "purposeful availment". Nonresidents are not mentioned in section 911. The upper left corner of the form identifies the filer as a "U.S. individual". You cannot be an "U.S. individual" without ALSO being an "individual". All the "trade or business" deductions on the form presume the applicant is a public

- 1 officer, and therefore the "individual" on the form is REALLY a public officer in the government and would be committing FRAUD if he or she was NOT.
- 2 4.4. VOLUNTARILY fills out an IRS Form W-7 ITIN Application (IRS identifies the applicant as an "individual") AND only uses the assigned number in
- 3 connection with their compensation as an elected or appointed public officer. Using it in connection with PRIVATE earnings is FRAUD.
- 4 5. What turns a “non-resident NON-person” into a “nonresident alien individual” is meeting one or more of the following two criteria:
- 5 5.1. Residence/domicile in a foreign country under the residence article of an income tax treaty and 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7(a)(1).
- 6 5.2. Residence/domicile as an alien in Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as
- 7 determined under 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-1(d).

4.5 Five Types of American Nationals

There are five types of American nationals recognized under federal law:

1. STATUTORY CIVIL “U.S. citizen++D”

- 1.1. A CIVIL status that is geographical.
- 1.2. Consensually domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress.
- 1.3. Subject to the civil laws of Congress under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17.
- 1.4. Could consist of a human being or an office or civil status created by Congress and therefore PROPERTY of Congress. For example, a civil statutory “U.S. person” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30).
- 1.5. If the citizen+D it is a legislatively created fiction or OFFICE or CIVIL STATUS the OFFICER can act as a “RESIDENT AGENT” for the office and have a domicile INDEPENDENT of and not the same as the office. See, for instance, 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-2. For instance, states of the Union in registering corporations and LLCs with the Secretary of State permit the resident agent to be physically within the state but domiciled OUTSIDE the county that is the situs of the entity. We know of no cases, however, where the resident agent can reside physically outside the entire state. This is because they would be in a foreign state and outside the venue of the states courts. They would not be susceptible to service of process under the circumstances.

2. STATUTORY political “nationals and citizens of the United States at birth” (statutory “U.S.* citizen”)

- 2.1. A POLITICAL status not tied to a geographical place. Allegiance can exist independent of geography.
- 2.2. A status defined and found in 8 U.S.C. §1401 and 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A), in the implementing regulations of the Internal Revenue Code at 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c), and in most other federal statutes.
- 2.3. Born anywhere in the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the Union or abroad.
- 2.4. Also called “political U.S.* citizens” throughout this document.

3. STATUTORY political “nationals but not citizens of the United States at birth” (where “United States” or “U.S.” means the federal United States)

- 3.1. A POLITICAL status not tied to a geographical place. Allegiance can exist independent of geography.
- 3.2. Defined in 8 U.S.C. §1408, 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B) and 8 U.S.C. §1452.
- 3.3. Born anywhere American Samoa or Swains Island.
- 3.4. May not participate politically in federal elections or as federal jurists.
- 3.5. Owe allegiance to the GOVERNMENT of the United States and NOT the PEOPLE of the States of the Union, who are called United States.

4. STATUTORY political “national of the United States”

- 4.1. A POLITICAL status not tied to a geographical place. Allegiance can exist independent of geography.
- 4.2. Defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22).
- 4.3. Includes POLITICAL “citizens of the United States” defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A).
- 4.4. Includes “a person who, though not a citizen of the United States[], owes permanent allegiance to the United States[]” defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B).

5. CONSTITUTIONAL “nationals of the United States”, “State nationals”, or “nationals of the United States of America”

- 5.1. A POLITICAL status not tied to a geographical place. Allegiance can exist independent of geography.
- 5.2. Defined under federal law pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21), under Law of Nations, under state laws, and under U.S.A. Constitution.
- 5.3. Is equivalent to the term “state citizen”.
- 5.4. In general, born in any one of the several states of the Union but not in a federal territory, possession, or the District of Columbia. Not domiciled in the federal zone.
- 5.5. Not subject to the “police power” of the federal government or most “Acts of Congress”.
- 5.6. Owes allegiance to the sovereign people, collectively and individually, within the body politic of the constitutional state residing in.
- 5.7. May serve as a state jurist or grand jurist involving only parties with his same citizenship and domicile status.
- 5.8. May vote in state elections.
- 5.9. At this time, all “state Nationals” are also a “USA National”. But not all “USA Nationals” are a “state National” (for example, a USA national not residing nor domiciled in a state of the Union).
- 5.10. Is a man or woman whose unalienable natural rights are recognized, secured, and protected by his state constitution against state actions and against federal intrusion by the Constitution for the United States of America.

5.11. Includes state nationals, because you cannot get a USA passport without this status per 22 U.S.C. §212 and 22 C.F.R. §51.2.

POLITICAL citizens* under 8 U.S.C. §1401(a) are synonymous with Fourteenth Amendment “citizens of the United States*”. Political citizens* 8 U.S.C. §1401 OTHER than 8 U.S.C. §1401(a) are privileged and may have their citizen status taken away by Congress.

We have prepared a Venn diagram showing all of the various types of citizens so that you can properly distinguish them. The important thing to notice about this diagram is that there are multiple types of “citizens of the United States” and “nationals of the United States” because there are multiple definitions of “United States” according to the Supreme Court in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt:

"The term 'United States' may be used in any one of several senses. It may be merely the name of a sovereign occupying the position analogous to that of other sovereigns in the family of nations. It may designate the territory over which the sovereignty of the United States extends, or it may be the collective name of the states which are united by and under the Constitution."

The three definitions of the term “United States” are abbreviated or symbolized using the conventions below:

Table 3: Meanings assigned to "United States" by the U.S. Supreme Court in Hooven & Allison v. Evatt

#	U.S. Supreme Court Definition of "United States" in Hooven	Context in which usually used	Referred to in this article as	Interpretation
1	"It may be merely the name of a sovereign occupying the position analogous to that of other sovereigns in the family of nations."	International law	"United States"	"These united States ," when traveling abroad, you come under the jurisdiction of the President through his agents in the U.S. State Department, where "U.S." refers to the sovereign society. You are a "Citizen of the United States" like someone is a Citizen of France, or England. We identify this version of "United States" with a single asterisk after its name: "United States*" throughout this article.
2	"It may designate the territory over which the sovereignty of the United States extends, or"	Federal law Federal forms	"United States"	"The United States (the District of Columbia, possessions and territories)". Here Congress has exclusive legislative jurisdiction. In this sense, the term "United States" is a singular noun. You are a person residing in the District of Columbia, one of its Territories or Federal areas (enclaves). Hence, even a person living in the one of the sovereign States could still be a member of the Federal area and therefore a "citizen of the United States." This is the definition used in most "Acts of Congress" and federal statutes. We identify this version of "United States" with two asterisks after its name: "United States" throughout this article. This definition is also synonymous with the "United States" corporation found in 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A).
3	"...as the collective name for the states which are united by and under the Constitution."	Constitution of the United States	"United States*"	"The several States which is the united States of America ." Referring to the 50 sovereign States , which are united under the Constitution of the United States of America . The federal areas within these states are not included in this definition because the Congress does not have exclusive legislative authority over any of the 50 sovereign States within the Union of States . Rights are retained by the States in the 9th and 10th Amendments, and you are a " Citizen of these united States ." This is the definition used in the Constitution for the United States of America. We identify this version of "United States" with a three asterisks after its name: "United States" throughout this article.

Below is a Venn diagram showing the various types of citizens there are in our country based on the above, and the statutes where they are described :

NOTES:

1. “United States” is defined as federal territory within 26 U.S.C. §§7701\(a\)\(9\) and \(a\)\(10\), 7701\(a\)\(39\), and 7408\(d\), and 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). It includes a constitutional state of the union, but ONLY among those who have made a CIVIL “U.S. person” election under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\). Otherwise, constitutional states are legislatively foreign among American nationals by default, who are “nonresident aliens” WITHOUT the election.
2. The “District of Columbia” is defined as a federal corporation but not a physical place, a “body politic”, or a de jure “government” within the District of Columbia Act of 1871, 16 Stat. 419, 426, Sec. 34. See: Corporatization and Privatization of the Government, Form #05.024; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.
3. “nationals” of the United States of America who are domiciled outside of federal jurisdiction, either in a state of the Union or a foreign country, are “nationals” but not “citizens” under federal law. They also qualify as “nonresident aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) if and only if they are engaged in a public office. See sections 4.11.2 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for details.

4. Temporary domicile in the middle column on the right must meet the requirements of the “Presence test” documented in IRS publications.
5. “FEDERAL ZONE”=District of Columbia and territories of the United States in the above table

NOTES:

1. The LEGAL separation between the LEFT and RIGHT sides is described in:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
<https://sedm.org/LibertyU/SeparatingPublicPrivate.pdf>
2. People on the LEFT side of the diagram can ONLY be connected to a status on the right side by CONSENT, whether overt or covert, as described in:

<https://sedm.org/Forms/08-PolicyDocs/HowYouVolForIncomeTax.pdf>
3. The RIGHT side of the above diagram labeled “DOMESTIC” is synonymous with:
 - 3.1. PUBLIC.
 - 3.2. Defined, created and ABSOLUTELY OWNED by Congress as PUBLIC PROPERTY in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(4).
 - 3.3. Created and organized by ONLY by a pagan civil ruler (man) and his idolatrous law that worships false idols.
 - 3.4. Protected ONLY by the civil statutory franchise Code called the Internal Revenue Code and NOT the constitutional or the common law.
 - 3.5. A CIVIL franchise status that you must VOLUNTEER for. The process of volunteering makes you SURETY for an office in the U.S. government without pay, and literally makes you a slave and a peon to pay off an endlessly growing mountain of public debt that will never be paid off. Be an obedient lemming and jump off that cliff, will you?
 - 3.6. A fiction of law engineered by Congress to offer FRANCHISE services in a Constitutional state that the Constitution DOES NOT expressly authorize and which are therefore UNCONSTITUTIONAL.
 - 3.7. Since it relates to being INTERNAL to the United States* federal corporation, this is why:
 - 3.7.1. The IRS is called the INTERNAL Revenue Service.
 - 3.7.2. The franchise code implementing it is called the INTERNAL Revenue Code.
4. The left side labeled FOREIGN is synonymous with:
 - 4.1. PRIVATE.
 - 4.2. Defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(5), but only in the context of corporations. They can’t legislate for humans until they JOIN privileged corporations and become DOMESTIC.
 - 4.3. Created and organized by ONLY GOD and His law ONLY.
 - 4.4. Protected by the common law and the criminal law and the constitution but not subject to the CIVIL provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.
 - 4.5. Outside the United States* federal corporation as a physical man or woman.
 - 4.6. A status MANDATED by the First Amendment and your Right to NOT contract so you actually have a CHOICE to leave Babylon and retain your liberty.
5. Changing CIVIL FRANCHISE status from “foreign” on the left to “domestic” on the right can occur EITHER by:
 - 5.1. Physically moving within the COUNTRY United States* for aliens under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b).
 - 5.2. Making a voluntary “election” to become THE privileged “citizen* of the United States” office within the Department of the Treasury as documented in:

6. An act of “election” is an act of CONSENT that converts either YOU or your PROPERTY from PRIVATE to PUBLIC, and thus DONATES either YOU or your PROPERTY to the government FOR FREE. Don’t EVER do that!. For a catalog of all such acts of consent, see:

Catalog of Elections and Entity Types in the Internal Revenue Code, FTSIG
<https://ftsig.org/catalog-of-elections-in-the-internal-revenue-code/>
7. The “citizen* of the United States” corporation on the right:
 - 7.1. Is the POLITICAL/TERRITORIAL Citizen* defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) called a “citizen*”.
 - 7.2. PLUS “of the United States” in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a), where this is the LEGAL/CORPORATE United States* and not the GEOGRAPHICAL “United States*”.The above tactic is REPEATED in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) using the same DECEPTIVE EQUIVOCATION of “United States” that is used in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a).
8. The reason the “citizen* of the United States” (corporation) in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a) and 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) had to be engineered as two separate parts that way is explained by the following description of FRANCHISE in the legal encyclopedia. Note that it says a franchise is a special privilege BEYOND that of an ordinary POLITICAL Citizen*, meaning a “national of the United States*” or an American National described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c).

"In a legal or narrower sense, the term "franchise" is more often used to designate a right or privilege conferred by law,¹⁵ and the view taken in a number of cases is that to be a franchise, the right possessed must be such as cannot be exercised without the express permission of the sovereign power¹⁶ —that is, a privilege or immunity of a public nature which cannot be legally exercised without legislative grant.¹⁷ It is a privilege conferred by government on an individual or a corporation to do that "which does not belong to the citizens [NATIONALS or "nationals of the United States" who are nonresident aliens] of the country generally by common right."¹⁸ For example, a right to lay rail or pipes, or to string wires or poles along a public street, is not an ordinary use which everyone may make of the streets, but is a special privilege, or franchise, to be granted for the accomplishment of public objects¹⁹ which,

except for the grant, would be a trespass.²⁰ In this connection, the term "franchise" has sometimes been construed as meaning a grant of a right to use public property, or at least the property over which the granting authority has control.²¹

9. Because the "citizen* of the United States*" under 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a) is a FRANCHISE office and a PUBLIC office in the United States, those who VOLUNTEER for it become "officers of a corporation" subject to criminal enforcement and civil penalties. They would NOT be subject to either of these if they had not volunteered. These definitions are as follows. Be an obedient, cheap, FREE government whore servicing the "Babylon corporation" and BEND over, because no one in the government is going to EVER explain this to you and thereby let you UNVOLUNTEER! 26 U.S.C. §873(b)(3), which is chasing privileged deductions, is another way of becoming such a WHORE:

26 U.S. Code §6671 - Rules for application of assessable penalties

(b) Person defined

The term "person", as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

26 U.S. Code §7343 - Definition of term "person"

The term "person" as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

More sophistry like the above and LIES to keep you in servitude about the word "person" are described below. SCUM BAGS!

10. The RESULT of "electing" to partake in the above franchise is that you nominate the government to be your SUBSTITUTE King and replace God as a "parens patriae" and NEW lawgiver. Hence "created or organized" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(4). You thus FIRED God as your protector and lawgiver in the process and committed religious idolatry in violation of the first four commandments of the Ten Commandments in Exodus 20. Because you have the King's property "in your hand" you nominated him as king above you in violation of the Bible. A "franchise", after all, is defined as "a privilege IN THE HANDS of a subject" and you NOMINATED yourself to BE that subject by asking for the King's PUBLIC property:

"The proposition is that the United States, as the grantor of the franchises of the company [a corporation, in this case], the author of its charter, and the donor of lands, rights, and privileges of immense value, and as parens patriae, is a trustee, invested with power to enforce the proper use of the property and franchises granted for the benefit of the public."
 [U.S. v. Union Pac. R. Co., 98 U.S. 569 (1878)]

11. The result of ELECTING yourself into a franchise office by pursuing the king's property is the following BIBLICAL curse:

Curses of Disobedience [to God's Laws]

²¹ Young v. Morehead, 314 Ky. 4, 233 S.W.2d. 978, holding that a contract to sell and deliver gas to a city into its distribution system at its corporate limits was not a franchise within the meaning of a constitutional provision requiring municipalities to advertise the sale of franchises and sell them to the highest bidder.

A contract between a county and a private corporation to construct a water transmission line to supply water to a county park, and giving the corporation the power to distribute water on its own lands, does not constitute a franchise. Brandon v. County of Pinellas (Fla App), 141 So.2d. 278.

“The alien [Washington, D.C. is legislatively “alien” in relation to states of the Union] who is among you shall rise higher and higher above you, and you shall come down lower and lower [malicious destruction of EQUAL PROTECTION and EQUAL TREATMENT by abusing FRANCHISES]. He shall lend to you [Federal Reserve counterfeiting franchise], but you shall not lend to him; he shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

“Moreover all these curses shall come upon you and pursue and overtake you, until you are destroyed, because you did not obey the voice of the Lord your God, to keep His commandments and His statutes which He commanded you. And they shall be upon you for a sign and a wonder, and on your descendants forever.

“Because you did not serve [ONLY] the Lord your God with joy and gladness of heart, for the abundance of everything, therefore you shall serve your [covetous thieving lawyer] enemies, whom the Lord will send against you, in hunger, in thirst, in nakedness, and in need of everything; and He will put a yoke of iron [franchise codes] on your neck until He has destroyed you. The Lord will bring a nation against you from afar [the District of CRIMINALS], from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flies [the American Eagle], a nation whose language [LEGALESE] you will not understand, a nation of fierce [coercive and fascist] countenance, which does not respect the elderly [assassinates them by denying them healthcare through bureaucratic delays on an Obamacare waiting list] nor show favor to the young [destroying their ability to learn in the public FOOL system]. And they shall eat the increase of your livestock and the produce of your land [with “trade or business” franchise taxes], until you [and all your property] are destroyed [or STOLEN/CONFISCATED]; they shall not leave you grain or new wine or oil, or the increase of your cattle or the offspring of your flocks, until they have destroyed you. 13. The STATUS of the Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number under 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(g)(1) at any given time ALWAYS reflects WHICH side of the above diagram a particular “taxpayer” is.
14. The STATUS of the Social Security Number and Taxpayer Identification Number can change on an ANNUAL basis simply based on HOW the “taxpayer” files their tax return. They can file FOREIGN one year and DOMESTIC the next. The SSN/TIN is the “franchise mark” that acts as a license to use or consume GOVERNMENT/PUBLIC property. See:

Social Security Administration “franchise” is the license number, FTSIG
<https://ftsig.org/history/ssa-franchise-is-the-license-number/>

15. At the beginning of each year, the IRS PRESUMES the DEFAULT status of DOMESTIC for every number. This PREJUDICIAL presumption is a violation of due process of law and results in IDENTITY THEFT as described in:

Identity Theft Affidavit, Form #14.020
https://sedm.org/Forms/14-PropProtection/Identity_Theft_Affidavit-fl4039.pdf

16. CIVIL STATUTORY FRANCHISE statuses on the right side of the diagram are civil franchises granted by Congress that are NOT authorized by the Constitution and therefore UNCONSTITUTIONAL. They represent an UNCONSTITUTIONAL COMMERCIAL INVASION of the states in violation of Article 4, Section 4 of the Constitution. As such, they are public offices within the national government. They are also sometimes called “legal statuses” or “tax statuses” or “civil statuses” by the courts. Those not seeking office and not wishing to commit Biblical idolatry in doing so should not claim any of these statuses. See:

18. The sophistry and deception described in the above diagram to convert YOUR status from PRIVATE to PUBLIC without your knowledge is ALSO applied to convert your PROPERTY from PRIVATE to PUBLIC to fool you into donating it to the government. That PROPERTY SCAM is described in:

4.8 Statutory Rules for Converting Between Various Domicile and Citizenship Options Under Federal Law

The rules depicted above are also described in text form using the list below, if you would like to investigate the above diagram further:

1. “non-resident non-person”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone. Also called a “nonresident”, “stateless person”, or “transient foreigner”. They are exclusively PRIVATE and beyond the reach of the civil statutory law because:
 - 1.1. They are not a “person” or “individual” because not engaged in an elected or appointed office.
 - 1.2. They have not waived sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97.
 - 1.3. They have not “purposefully” or “consensually” availed themselves of commerce within the exclusive or general jurisdiction of the national government within federal territory.
 - 1.4. They waived the “benefit” of any and all licenses or permits in the context of a specific transaction or agreement.
 - 1.5. In the context of a specific business dealing, they have not invoked any statutory status under federal civil law that might connect them with a government franchise, such as “U.S. citizen”, “U.S. resident”, “person”, “individual”, “taxpayer”, etc.
 - 1.6. If they are demanded to produce an identifying number, they say they don’t consent and attach the following form to every application or withholding document:

Why It is Illegal for Me to Request or Use a “Taxpayer Identification Number”, Form #04.205
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. “Aliens” or “alien individuals”: Those born in a foreign country and not within any state of the Union or within any federal territory.
 - 2.1. “Alien” is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) as a person who is neither a citizen nor a national.
 - 2.2. “Alien individual” is defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).
 - 2.3. An alien is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) as a person who is neither a statutory “U.S. citizen” per 8 U.S.C. §1401 nor a “national of the United States” per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22).
 - 2.4. An alien with no domicile in the “United States” is presumed to be a “nonresident alien” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(b).
3. “Residents” or “resident aliens”: An “alien” or “alien individual” with a legal domicile on federal territory.
 - 3.1. “Resident aliens” are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
 - 3.2. A “resident alien” is an alien as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) who has a legal domicile on federal territory that is no part of the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union.
 - 3.3. An “alien” becomes a “resident alien” by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(c)(ii) and thereby electing to have a domicile on federal territory.
4. “Nonresident aliens”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone. They serve in a public office in the national but not state government.
 - 4.1. Defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B).
 - 4.2. A “nonresident alien” is defined as a person who is neither a statutory “citizen” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) nor a statutory “resident” pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
 - 4.3. A person who is a “non-citizen national” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1452 and 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B) is a “nonresident alien”, but only if they are lawfully engaged in a public office of the national government.
5. “Nonresident alien individuals”: Those who are aliens and who do not have a domicile on federal territory.
 - 5.1. Status is indicated in block 3 of the IRS Form W-8BEN under the term “Individual”.
 - 5.2. Includes only nonresidents not domiciled on federal territory but serving in public offices of the national government. “person” and “individual” are synonymous with said office in 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343.
6. Convertibility between “aliens”, “resident aliens”, and “nonresident aliens”, and “nonresident alien individuals”:
 - 6.1. A “nonresident alien” is not the legal equivalent of an “alien” in law nor is it a subset of “alien”.
 - 6.2. IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3 has no block to check for those who are “non-resident non-persons” but not “nonresident aliens” or “nonresident alien individuals”. Thus, the submitter of this form who is a statutory “non-resident non-person” but not a “nonresident alien” or “nonresident alien individual” is effectively compelled to make an illegal and fraudulent election to become an alien and an “individual” if they do not add a block for “transient foreigner” or “Union State Citizen” to the form. See section 5.3 of the following:

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 6.3. 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) and 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(4)(B) authorize a “nonresident alien” who is married to a statutory “U.S. citizen” as defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) to make an “election” to become a “resident alien”.
- 6.4. It is unlawful for an unmarried “state national” pursuant to either 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) to become a “resident alien”. This can only happen by either fraud or mistake.
- 6.5. An alien may overcome the presumption that he is a “nonresident alien” and change his status to that of a “resident alien” by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(c)(ii) while he is in the “United States”.
- 6.6. The term “residence” can only lawfully be used to describe the domicile of an “alien”. Nowhere is this term used to describe the domicile of a “state national” or a “nonresident alien”. See 26 C.F.R. §1.871-2.
- 6.7. The only way a statutory “alien” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) can become both a “state national” and a “nonresident alien” at the same time is to be naturalized pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1421 and to have a domicile in either a U.S. possession or a state of the Union.

7. Sources of confusion on these issues:

- 7.1. One can be a “non-resident non-person” without being an “individual” or a “nonresident alien individual” under the Internal Revenue Code. An example would be a human being born within the exclusive jurisdiction of a state of the Union who is therefore a “state national” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) who does not participate in Social Security or use a Taxpayer Identification Number.
- 7.2. The term “United States” is defined in the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).
- 7.3. The term “United States” for the purposes of citizenship is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38).
- 7.4. Any “U.S. Person” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) who is not found in the “United States” (District of Columbia pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10)) shall be treated as having an effective domicile within the District of Columbia pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d).
- 7.5. The term “United States” for the purposes of political “citizens” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) means the country “United States*”. It is NOT equivalent to CIVIL “citizens+D” as used in the Internal Revenue Code and in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a) or (b).
- 7.6. The term “United States” as used in the Constitution of the United States is NOT equivalent to the statutory definition of the term used in:
- 7.6.1. 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).
- 7.6.2. 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38).
- The “United States” as used in the Constitution means the states of the Union and excludes federal territory, while the term “United States” as used in federal statutory law means federal territory and excludes states of the Union.
- 7.7. A constitutional “citizen of the United States” as mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is equivalent to a statutory “national and citizen of the United States at birth” as used in 8 U.S.C. §1401(a). See:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 7.8. In the case of jurisdiction over CONSTITUTIONAL aliens only (meaning foreign NATIONALS), the term “United States” implies all 50 states and the federal zone, and is not restricted only to the federal zone. See:
- 7.8.1. Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020
- 7.8.2. Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753 \(1972\)

In accord with ancient principles of the international law of nation-states, the Court in The Chinese Exclusion Case, 130 U.S. 581, 609 (1889), and in Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893), held broadly, as the Government describes it, Brief for Appellants 20, that the power to exclude aliens is "inherent in sovereignty, necessary for maintaining normal international relations and defending the country against foreign encroachments and dangers - a power to be exercised exclusively by the political branches of government" Since that time, the Court's general reaffirmations of this principle have [408 U.S. 753, 766] been legion. 6 The Court without exception has sustained Congress' "plenary power to make rules for the admission of aliens and to exclude those who possess those characteristics which Congress has forbidden." Boutilier v. Immigration and Naturalization Service, 387 U.S. 118, 123 (1967). "[O]ver no conceivable subject is the legislative power of Congress more complete than it is over" the admission of aliens. Oceanic Navigation Co. v. Stranahan, 214 U.S. 320, 339 (1909). [Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753 (1972)]

While under our constitution and form of government the great mass of local matters is controlled by local authorities, the United States, in their relation to foreign countries and their subjects or citizens, are one nation, invested with powers which belong to independent nations, the exercise of which can be invoked for the maintenance of its absolute independence and security throughout its entire territory. The powers to declare war, make treaties, suppress insurrection, repel invasion, regulate foreign commerce, secure republican governments to the states, and admit subjects of other nations to citizenship, are all sovereign powers, restricted in their exercise only by the constitution itself and considerations of public policy and justice which control, more or less, the conduct of all civilized nations. As said by this court in the case of Cohens v. Virginia, 6 Wheat. 264, 413, speaking by the same great chief justice: "That the United States form, for many, and for most important purposes, a single nation, has not yet been denied. In war, we are one people. In making peace, we are one people. In all commercial regulations, we are one and the same people. In many other respects, the American people are one; and the government which is alone capable of controlling and managing their interests in all these respects is the government of the Union. It is their government, and in that character they have no other. America has chosen to [130 U.S. 581, 605] be in many respects, and to many purposes, a nation; and for all these purposes her government is complete; to all these objects, it is competent. The people have declared that in the exercise of all powers given for these objects it is supreme. It can, then, in effecting these objects, legitimately control all individuals or governments within the American territory."

"The power of exclusion of foreigners being an incident of sovereignty belonging to the government of the United States as a part of those sovereign powers delegated by the constitution, the right to its exercise at any time when, in the judgment of the government, the interests of the country require it, cannot be granted away or restrained on behalf of any one. The powers of government are delegated in trust to the United States, and are incapable of transfer to any other parties. They cannot be abandoned or surrendered. Nor can their exercise be hampered, when needed for the public good, by any considerations of private interest. The exercise of these public trusts is not the subject of barter or contract."

[Chae Chan Ping v. U.S., 130 U.S. 581 (1889)]

4.9 Effect of Federal Franchises and Offices Upon Your Citizenship and Standing in Court

Another important element of citizenship is that artificial entities like corporations are statutory but not Constitutional citizens in the context of civil litigation.

"A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was created, and of that state or country only."

[19 Corpus Juris Secundum, Corporations, §886]

"A corporation is not a citizen within the meaning of that provision of the Constitution, which declares that the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several States."

Likewise, all governments are "corporations" as well.

"Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst. 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal government, by the amendments to the constitution."

TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE

PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS

CHAPTER 176 - FEDERAL DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURE

SUBCHAPTER A - DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 3002. Definitions

(15) "United States" means -

(A) a Federal corporation;

(B) an agency, department, commission, board, or other entity of the United States; or

(C) an instrumentality of the United States.

"A federal corporation operating within a state is considered a domestic corporation rather than a foreign corporation. The United States government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state."

Those who are acting in a representative capacity on behalf of the national government as “public officers” therefore assume the same status as their employer pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). To wit:

IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.

Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

The capacity of an individual, other than one acting in a representative capacity, to sue or be sued shall be determined by the law of the individual's domicile. The capacity of a corporation [the “United States”, in this case, or its officers on official duty representing the corporation] to sue or be sued shall be determined by the law under which it was organized [laws of the District of Columbia]. In all other cases capacity to sue or be sued shall be determined by the law of the state in which the district court is held, except (1) that a partnership or other unincorporated association, which has no such capacity by the law of such state, may sue or be sued in its common name for the purpose of enforcing for or against it a substantive right existing under the Constitution or laws of the United States, and (2) that the capacity of a receiver appointed by a court of the United States to sue or be sued in a court of the United States is governed by Title 28, U.S.C., §§ 754 and 959(a). [SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

Persons acting in the capacity as “public officers” of the national government are therefore acting as “officers of a corporation” as described in 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 and become “persons” within the meaning of federal statutory law.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 6671
§ 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

(b) Person defined

The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > § 7343
§7343. Definition of term “person”

The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

Because all corporations are “citizens”, then “public officers” also take on the character of “U.S. citizens” in the capacity of their official duties, regardless of what they are as private individuals. It is also interesting to note that IRS correspondence very conspicuously warns the recipient right underneath the return address the following, confirming that they are corresponding with a “public officer” and not a private individual:

Note that all “taxpayers” are “public officers” of the national government, and they are referred to in the Internal Revenue Code as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. The term “trade or business” is defined as “the functions of a public office”:

26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701(a)(26)

For details on this scam, see:

The U.S. Supreme Court has also said it is "repugnant to the constitution" for the government to regulate private conduct. The only way you can lawfully become subject to the government's jurisdiction or the tax laws is to engage in "public conduct" as a "public officer" of the national government.

"The power to "legislate generally upon" life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the "power to provide modes of redress" against offensive state action, was "repugnant" to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S. 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see, e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745 (1966), their treatment of Congress' §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been questioned."

Note also that ordinary "employees" are NOT "public officers":

Treatise on the Law of Public Offices and Officers

Chapter I: Definitions and Divisions

§2 How Office Differs from Employment.-A public office differs in material particulars from a public employment, for, as was said by Chief Justice MARSHALL, "although an office is an employment, it does not follow that every employment is an office. A man may certainly be employed under a contract, express or implied, to perform a service without becoming an officer."

"We apprehend that the term 'office,'" said the judges of the supreme court of Maine, "implies a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power to, and the possession of it by, the person filling the office; and the exercise of such power within legal limits constitutes the correct discharge of the duties of such office. The power thus delegated and possessed may be a portion belonging sometimes to one of the three great departments and sometimes to another; still it is a legal power which may be rightfully exercised, and in its effects it will bind the rights of others and be subject to revision and correction only according to the standing laws of the state. An employment merely has none of these distinguishing features. A public agent acts only on behalf of his principal, the public, whose sanction is generally considered as necessary to give the acts performed the authority and power of a public act or law. And if the act be such as not to require subsequent sanction, still it is only a species of service performed under the public authority and for the public good, but not in the exercise of any standing laws which are considered as roles of action and guardians of rights."

"The officer is distinguished from the employee," says Judge COOLEY, "in the greater importance, dignity and independence of his position; in being required to take an official oath, and perhaps to give an official bond; in the liability to be called to account as a public offender for misfeasance or non-feasance in office, and usually, though not necessarily, in the tenure of his position. In particular cases, other distinctions will appear which are not general."

The ruse described in this section of making corporations into "citizens" and those who work for them into "public officers" of the government and "taxpayers" started just after the Civil War. Congress has always been limited to taxing things that it creates, which means it has never been able to tax anything but federal and not state corporations. The Supreme Court has confirmed, for instance, that the income tax is and always has been a franchise or privilege tax upon profit of federal corporations.

"Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges...the requirement to pay such taxes involves the exercise of [220 U.S. 107, 152] privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand is lacking..."

...It is therefore well settled by the decisions of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as an exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

Conceding the power of Congress to tax the business activities of private corporations.. the tax must be measured by some standard..."
[Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U.S. 107 \(1911\)]

"The Sixteenth Amendment declares that Congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes on income, "from [271 U.S. 174] whatever source derived," without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration. It was not the purpose or effect of that amendment to bring any new subject within the taxing power. Congress already had power to tax all incomes. But taxes on incomes from some sources had been held to be "direct taxes" within the meaning of the constitutional requirement as to apportionment. Art. 1, § 2, cl. 3, § 9, cl. 4; Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 158 U.S. 601. The Amendment relieved from that requirement, and obliterated the distinction in that respect between taxes on income that are direct taxes and those that are not, and so put on the same basis all incomes "from whatever source derived." Brushaber v. Union P. R. Co., 240 U.S. 1, 17. "Income" has been taken to mean the same thing as used in the Corporation Excise Tax Act of 1909, in the Sixteenth Amendment, and in the various revenue acts subsequently passed. Southern Pacific Co. v. Lowe, 247 U.S. 330, 335; Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, 255 U.S. 509, 219. After full consideration, this Court declared that income may be defined as gain derived from capital, from labor, or from both combined, including profit gained through sale or conversion of capital. Stratton's Independence v. Howbert, 231 U.S. 399, 415; Doyle v. Mitchell Brothers Co., 247 U.S. 179, 185; Eisner v. Macomber, 252 U.S. 189, 207. And that definition has been adhered to and applied repeatedly. See, e.g., Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, supra; 518; Goodrich v. Edwards, 255 U.S. 527, 535; United States v. Phellis, 257 U.S. 156, 169; Miles v. Safe Deposit Co., 259 U.S. 247, 252-253; United States v. Supplee-Biddle Co., 265 U.S. 189, 194; Irwin v. Gavit, 268 U.S. 161, 167; Edwards v. Cuba Railroad, 268 U.S. 628, 633. In determining what constitutes income, substance rather than form is to be given controlling weight. Eisner v. Macomber, supra, 206. [271 U.S. 175]"
Bowers v. Kerbaugh-Empire Co., [271 U.S. 170, 174, (1926)]

"As repeatedly pointed out by this court, the Corporation Tax Law of 1909. imposed an excise or privilege tax, and not in any sense, a tax upon property or upon income merely as income. It was enacted in view of the decision of Pollock v. Farmer's Loan & T. Co., 157 U.S. 429, 29 L.Ed. 759, 15 Sup.St.Rep. 673, 158 U.S. 601, 39 L.Ed. 1108, 15 Sup. Ct. Rep. 912, which held the income tax provisions of a previous law to be unconstitutional because amounting in effect to a direct tax upon property within the meaning of the Constitution, and because not apportioned in the manner required by that instrument."

To create and expand a national income tax, the federal government therefore had to make the municipal government of the District of Columbia into a federal corporation in 1871 and then impose an income tax upon the officers of the corporation ("public officers") by making all of their earnings from the office into "profit" and "gross income" subject to excise tax upon the franchise they participate in. Below is the history of this transformation. You can find more in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Chapter 6:

1. The first American Income Tax was passed in 1862. See:
<http://memory.loc.gov/cgi-bin/ampage?collId=llsl&fileName=012/llsl012.db&recNum=463>
2. The License Tax Cases was heard in 1866 by the Supreme Court, in which the Supreme Court held that Congress could license but could not authorize a trade or business in a state in order to tax it, referring to the civil war tax enacted in 1862. See:
<http://caselaw.lp.findlaw.com/scripts/getcase.pl?navby=case&court=us&vol=72&page=462>
3. The Fourteenth Amendment was ratified in 1868. This Amendment uses the phrase "citizens of the United States" in order to confuse it with statutory "citizens of the United States" domiciled on federal territory in the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress.
4. The civil war income tax was repealed in 1871. See:
 - 4.1. 17 Stat. 401
 - 4.2. Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 6.5.20.
5. Congress incorporated the District of Columbia in 1871. The incorporation of the District of Columbia was done to expand the income tax by taxing the government's own "public officers" as a federal corporation. See the following:

3 We have prepared a Venn diagram showing all of the various types of citizens so that you can properly distinguish them. The
4 important thing to notice about this diagram is that there are multiple types of “citizens of the United States” and “nationals
5 of the United States” because there are multiple definitions of “United States” according to the Supreme Court.

4.11.2 How to describe your citizenship on government forms²²

This section provides some pointers on how to describe your citizenship status on government forms in order to avoid being confused with a someone who has a domicile on federal territory and therefore no Constitutional rights. Below is a summary of how we recommend protecting yourself from the prejudicial presumptions of others about your citizenship status:

1. Keep in mind the following facts about all government forms:
 - 1.1. Government forms ALWAYS imply the LEGAL/CIVIL rather than POLITICAL status of the party in the context of all franchises, including income taxes and social security.
 - 1.2. "Alien" on government forms always means a person born or naturalized in a foreign country.
 - 1.3. The Internal Revenue Code does NOT define the term "nonresident alien". The closest thing to a definition is that found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B), which defines what it ISN'T, but NOT what it IS. If you look on IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3, you can see that there are many different types of entities that can be nonresident aliens, none of which are EXPRESSLY included in the definition at 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B). It is therefore IMPOSSIBLE to conclude based on any vague definition in the Internal Revenue Code that a specific person IS or IS NOT a "nonresident alien."
 - 1.4. On tax forms, the term "nonresident alien" is NOT a subset of the term "alien", but rather a SUPERSET. It includes both FOREIGN nationals domiciled in a foreign country and also persons in Constitutional states of the Union, both of whom must be engaged in a public office. A "national of the United States*", for instance, although NOT an "alien" under Title 8 of the U.S. Code, is a "non-resident non-person" under Title 26 of the U.S. Code if not engaged in a public office and a "nonresident alien" if engaged in a public office. Therefore, a "nonresident alien" is a "word of art" designed to confuse people, and the fact that uses the word "alien" doesn't mean it IS an "alien". This is covered in:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 9.3.3
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Anyone who PRESUMES any of the following should promptly be DEMANDED to prove the presumption with legally admissible evidence from the law. ALL of these presumptions are FALSE and cannot be proven:
 - 2.1. That you can trust ANYTHING that either a government form OR a government employee says. The courts say not only that you CANNOT, but that you can be PENALIZED for doing so. See:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 2.2. That nationality and domicile are synonymous.
 - 2.3. That "nonresident aliens" are a SUBSET of "aliens" within the Internal Revenue Code.
 - 2.4. That the term "United States" has the SAME meaning in Title 8 of the U.S. Code as it has in Title 26.
 - 2.5. That you can be a statutory "taxpayer" or civil "citizen" of any kind WITHOUT your consent. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. The safest way to describe oneself is to check "Other" for citizenship or add an "Other" box if the form doesn't have one and then do one of the following:
 - 3.1. Write in the "Other" box

"See attached mandatory Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001" and then attach the following completed form:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 3.2. If you don't want to include an attachment, add the following mandatory language to the form that you are a:
 - 3.2.1. POLITICAL "Citizen and national of _____ (statename)"
 - 3.2.2. POLITICAL "national and citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" per 8 U.S.C. §1401
 - 3.2.3. A constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment Citizen.

4. If the recipient of the form says they won't accept attachments or won't allow you to write explanatory information on the form needed to prevent perjury, then send them an update via certified mail AFTER they accept your submission so that you have legal evidence that they tried to tamper with a federal witness and conspired to commit perjury on the form.

5. For detailed instructions on how to fill out the Department of State Form I-9, See:

I-9 Form Amended, Form #06.028

6. For detailed instructions on how to participate in E-Verify for the purposes of PRIVATE employment, see:

About E-Verify, Form #04.107

7. To undo the damage you have done over the years to your status by incorrectly describing your status, send in the following form and submit according to the instructions provided. This form says that all future government forms submitted shall have this form included or attached by reference.

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. Quit using Taxpayer Identifying Numbers (TINs). 20 C.F.R. §422.104 says that only statutory “U.S. citizens” and “permanent residents” can lawfully apply for Social Security Numbers, both of which share in common a domicile on federal territory such as statutory “U.S. citizens” and “residents” (aliens), can lawfully use such a number. 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b) also indicates that “U.S. persons”, meaning persons with a domicile on federal territory, are required to furnish such a number if they file tax forms. “Foreign persons” are also mentioned in 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b), but these parties also elect to have an effective domicile on federal territory and thereby become “persons” by engaging in federal franchises. See:

9. If you are completing any kind of government form or application to any kind of financial institution other than a tax form and you are asked for your citizenship status, TIN, or Social Security Number, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

11. If you are submitting a voter registration, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

12. If you are applying for a USA passport, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

USA Passport Application Attachment, Form #06.007
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13. If you are submitting a complaint, response, pleading, or motion to a federal court, you should attach the following form:

Federal Pleading/Motion/Petition Attachment, Litigation Tool #01.002
<http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>

14. Use as many of the free forms as you can from the page below. They are very well thought out to avoid traps set by the predators who run the American government:

SEDM Forms Page
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

15. When engaging in correspondence with anyone in the government, legal, or financial profession about your status that occurs on other than a standard government form, use the following guidelines:

15.1. In the return address for the correspondence, place the phrase “(NOT A DOMICILE OR RESIDENCE)”.

15.2. Entirely avoid the use of the words “citizen”, “citizenship”, “resident”, “inhabitant”. Instead, prefer the term “non-resident”, and “transient foreigner”.

15.3. Never describe yourself as an “individual” or “person”. 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(2) says that this entity is a government employee who is a statutory “U.S. citizen” or “resident” (alien). Instead, refer to yourself as a “transient foreigner” and a “nonresident”. Some forms such as IRS form W-8BEN Block 3 have no block for “transient foreigner” or “non-resident NON-person”, in which case modify the form to add that option. See the following for details:

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 15.4. Entirely avoid the use of the phrase “United States”, because it has so many different and mutually exclusive meanings in the U.S. code and state law. Instead, replace this phrase with the name of the state you either are physically present within or with “USA” and then define that “USA” includes the states of the Union and excludes federal territory. For instance, you could say “Citizen of California Republic” and then put an asterisk next to it and at the bottom of the page explain the asterisk as follows:

 NOT a citizen of the STATE of California, which is a corporate extension of the federal government, but instead a sovereign Citizen of the California Republic*

California Revenue and Taxation Code, §6017 defines “State of” as follows:

“6017. ‘In this State’ or ‘in the State’ means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.”

- 15.5. Never use the word “residence”, “permanent address”, or “domicile” in connection with either the term “United States”, or the name of the state you are in.
- 15.6. If someone else refers to you improperly, vociferously correct them so that they are prevented from making presumptions that would injure your rights.
- 15.7. Avoid words that are undefined in statutes that relate to citizenship. Always use words that are statutorily defined and if you can’t find the definition, define it yourself on the form or correspondence you are sending. Use of undefined words encourages false presumptions that will eventually injure your rights and give judges and administrators discretion that they undoubtedly will abuse to their benefit. There isn’t even a common definition of “citizen of the United States” or “U.S. citizen” in the standard dictionary, then the definition of “U.S. citizen” in all the state statutes and on all government forms is up to us! Therefore, once again, whenever you fill out any kind of form that specifies either “U.S. citizen” or “citizen of the United States”, you should be very careful to clarify that it means “national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) and 8 U.S.C. §1452 or you will be “presumed” to be a federal citizen and a “citizen of the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1401, and this is one of the biggest injuries to your rights that you could ever inflict. Watch out folks! Here is the definition we recommend that you use on any government form that uses these terms that makes the meaning perfectly clear and unambiguous:

“U.S.* citizen” or “citizen of the United States”: A “National” defined in either 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) or 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B) and 8 U.S.C. §1452 who owes their permanent allegiance to the confederation of states called the “United States”. Someone who was not born in the federal “United States” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38) and who is NOT a “citizen of the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1401.

16. Citizenship status in Social Security NUMIDENT record:

- 16.1. The NUMIDENT record derives from what was filled out on the SS-5 Form, Block 5. See:

<http://www.ssa.gov/online/ss-5.pdf>

- 16.2. One’s citizenship status is encoded within the NUMIDENT record using the “CSP code” within the Numident record. This code is called the “citizenship code” by the Social Security administration.
- 16.3. Like all government forms, the terms used on the SS-5 Form use the STATUTORY context, not the CONSTITUTIONAL context for all citizenship words. Hence, block 5 of the SS-5 Form should be filled out with “Legal Alien Authorized to Work”, which means you are a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL alien. This is consistent with the definition of “individual” found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3), which defines the term to include ONLY STATUTORY “aliens”.
- 16.4. Those who are not POLITICAL “nationals and citizens of the United States” at birth per 8 U.S.C. §1401 or 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) have a “CSP code” of B in their NUMIDENT record, which corresponds with a CSP code of “B”. The comment field of the NUMIDENT record should also be annotated with the following to ensure that it is not changed during an audit because of confusion on the part of the SSA employee:

“CSP Code B not designated in error-- applicant is an American national with a domicile and residence in a foreign state for the purposes of the Social Security Act.”

16.5. The local SSA office cannot provide a copy of the NUMIDENT record. Only the central SSA headquarters can provide it by submitting a Privacy Act request rather than a FOIA using the following resource:

16.6. Information in the NUMIDENT record is shared with:

4.12 How Human Beings Become “Individuals” and “Persons” Under the Revenue Statutes

It might surprise most people to learn that human beings most often are NEITHER “individuals” nor “persons” under ordinary acts of Congress, and especially revenue acts. The reasons for this are many and include the following:

1. All civil statutes are law exclusively for government and not private humans:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Civil statutes cannot impair PRIVATE property or PRIVATE rights.

"Under basic rules of construction, statutory laws enacted by legislative bodies cannot impair rights given under a constitution. 194 B.R. at 925. "

[In re Young, 235 B.R. 666 (Bankr.M.D.Fla., 1999)]

3. Civil statutes are privileges and franchises created by the government which convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property. They cannot lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property without the express consent of the owner. See:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. You have an inalienable PRIVATE right to choose your civil status, including “person”.

Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. All civil statuses, including “person” or “individual” are a product of a VOLUNTARY choice of domicile protected by the First Amendment right of freedom from compelled association. If you don’t volunteer and choose to be a nonresident or transient foreigner, then you cannot be punished for that choice and cannot have a civil status. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6. As the absolute owner of your private property, you have the absolute right of depriving any and all others, INCLUDING governments, of the use or benefit of that property, including your body and all of your property. The main method of exercising that control is to control the civil and legal status of the property, who protects it, and HOW it is protected.

“In all domestic concerns each state of the Union is to be deemed an independent sovereignty. As such, it is its province and its duty to forbid interference by another state as well as by any foreign power with the status of its own citizens. Unless at least one of the spouses is a resident thereof in good faith, the courts of such sister state or of such foreign power cannot acquire jurisdiction to dissolve the marriage of those who have an established domicile in the state which resents such interference with matters which disturb its social serenity or affect the morals of its inhabitants.”

3 4.12.1 How alien nonresidents visiting the geographical United States become statutory “individuals” whether
4 or not they consent

5 The U.S. Supreme Court defined how alien nonresidents visiting the United States become statutory “individuals” below:

6 The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are
7 found' were stated as follows: 'When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are “nations” under
8 the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling
9 indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade,
10 it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual 11 infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and
12 local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have 13 any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him,
14 nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons
15 of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring 16 it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7
17 Cranch, 144.

18 In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction
19 of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed
20 by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own
21 consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial
22 jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory
23 with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under 24 which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants,
25 for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the 26 jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S. (1872) 16 Wall. 147, 155; Radich
28 (1889) 130 U.S. 581, 603, 604, 9 Sup.Ct. 623.

30 Therefore, alien nonresidents visiting or doing business within a country are presumed to be party to an “implied license”
31 while there. All licenses are franchises, and all give rise to a public civil franchise status. In the case of nonresident aliens,
32 that status is “individual” and it is a public office in the government, just like every other franchise status. We prove this in:

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

33 All “aliens” are presumed to be “nonresident aliens” but this may be overcome upon presentation of proof:

34 Title 26: Internal Revenue
35 PART I—INCOME TAXES
36 nonresident alien individuals
37 § 1.871-4 Proof of residence of aliens.

38 (a) Rules of evidence. The following rules of evidence shall govern in determining whether or not an alien within 39 the United States has acquired residence therein for purposes of the income tax.

40 (b) Nonresidence presumed. An alien by reason of his alienage, is presumed to be a nonresident alien.

41 (c) Presumption rebutted—

42 (1) Departing alien.

43 In the case of an alien who presents himself for determination of tax liability before departure from the United
44 States, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof--

45 Aliens, while physically in the United States, are presumed to be “resident” there, REGARDLESS OF THEIR CONSENT
46 or INTENT. “residence” is the word used to characterize an alien as being subject to the CIVIL and/or TAXING franchise 47 codes of the place he or she is in:

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.

(a) General.

The term nonresident alien individual means an individual whose residence is not within the United States, and who is not a citizen of the United States. The term includes a nonresident alien fiduciary. For such purpose the term fiduciary shall have the meaning assigned to it by section 7701(a)(6) and the regulations in part 301 of this chapter (Regulations on Procedure and Administration). For presumption as to an alien's nonresidence, see paragraph (b) of §1.871-4.

(b) Residence defined.

An alien actually present in the United States who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with regard to the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another country is not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention as to his stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may be promptly accomplished is a transient; but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States, he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

Once aliens seek the privilege of permanent resident status, then they cease to be nonresident aliens and become “resident aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A):

26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\) Resident alien

(b) Definition of resident alien and nonresident alien

(1) In general

For purposes of this title (other than subtitle B) -

(A) Resident alien

An alien individual shall be treated as a resident of the United States with respect to any calendar year if (and only if) such individual meets the requirements of clause (i), (ii), or (iii):

(i) Lawfully admitted for permanent residence

Such individual is a lawful permanent resident of the United States at any time during such calendar year.

(ii) Substantial presence test

Such individual meets the substantial presence test of paragraph (3).

(iii) First year election

Such individual makes the election provided in paragraph (4).

“Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the country. Being bound to the society by reason of their dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizens. They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children.”

Therefore, once aliens apply for and receive “permanent resident” status, they get the same exemption from income taxation as citizens and thereby CEASE to be civil “persons” under the Internal Revenue Code as described in the following sections. In that sense, their “implied license” is revoked and they thereby cease to be civil “persons”. The license returns if they abandon their “permanent resident” civil status:

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§1.871-5 Loss of residence by an alien.

An alien who has acquired residence in the United States retains his status as a resident until he abandons the same and actually departs from the United States. An intention to change his residence does not change his status as a resident alien to that of a nonresident alien. Thus, an alien who has acquired a residence in the United States is taxable as a resident for the remainder of his stay in the United States.

We should also point out that:

1. There are literally BILLIONS of aliens throughout the world.
2. Unless and until an alien either physically sets foot within our country or conducts commerce or business with a foreign state such as the United States, they:
 - 2.1. Would NOT be classified as civil STATUTORY “persons” or “individuals”, but rather “transient foreigners” or “stateless persons”. Domicile in a place is MANDATORY in order for the civil statutes to be enforceable per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17, and they have a foreign domicile while temporarily here.
 - 2.2. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the Constitution. The constitution attaches to and protects LAND, and not the status of people ON the land.
 - 2.3. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the CRIMINAL law.
 - 2.4. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the common law and equity.
3. If the alien then physically comes to the United States (federal zone or STATUTORY “United States”), then they:
 - 3.1. Would NOT become “persons” under the Constitution, because the constitution does not attach to federal territory.
 - 3.2. Would become “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of Congress, because the criminal law attaches to physical territory.
 - 3.3. Would become “persons” under the common law and equity of the national government and not the states, because common law attaches to physical land.
4. If the alien then physically moves to a constitutional state, then their status would change as follows:
 - 4.1. Would become “persons” under the Constitution, because the constitution attaches to land within constitutional states.
 - 4.2. Would become “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of states of the Union, because the criminal law attaches to physical territory.
 - 4.3. Would cease to be “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of Congress, because they are not on federal territory.
 - 4.4. Would become “persons” under the common law and equity of the state they visited and not the national government, because common law attaches to physical land.
5. If the aliens are statutory “citizens” of their state of origin, they are “agents of the state” they came from. If they do not consent to be statutory “citizens” and do not have a domicile in the state of their birth, then they are “non-residents” in relation to their state of birth. The STATUTORY “citizen” is the agent of the state, not the human being filling the public office of “citizen”.

"Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent [PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social, political, and moral obligations. It is in this acceptation only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of the Constitution, can be received and understood. When distributing the judicial power, that article extends it to controversies between 'citizens' of different states. This must mean the natural physical beings composing those separate communities, and can by no violence of interpretation be made to signify artificial, incorporeal, theoretical, and invisible creations. A corporation, therefore, being not a natural person, but a mere creature of the mind, invisible and intangible, cannot be a citizen of a state, or of the United States, and cannot fall within the terms or the power of the above mentioned article, and can therefore neither plead nor be impleaded in the courts of the United States."

6. When aliens are POLITICAL citizens of the country of their birth and origin who are doing business in the United States as a “foreign state”, they are treated as AGENTS and OFFICERS of the country they are from, hence they are “state actors”.

The Law of Nations, Book II: Of a Nation Considered in Her Relation to Other States

§ 81. The property of the citizens is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

Even the property of the individuals is, in the aggregate, to be considered as the property of the nation, with respect to other states. It, in some sort, really belongs to her, from the right she has over the property of her citizens, because it constitutes a part of the sum total of her riches, and augments her power. She is interested in that property by her obligation to protect all her members. In short, it cannot be otherwise, since nations act and

1 treat together as bodies in their quality of political societies, and are considered as so many moral persons. All
2 those who form a society, a nation being considered by foreign nations as constituting only one whole, one single
3 person, — all their wealth together can only be considered as the wealth of that same person. And this is to true,
4 that each political society may, if it pleases, establish within itself a community of goods, as Campanella did in
5 his republic of the sun. Others will not inquire what it does in this respect: its domestic regulations make no
6 change in its rights with respect to foreigners nor in the manner in which they ought to consider the aggregate of 7 its property, in what way soever it is possessed.

11 7. As agents of the state they were born within and are domiciled within while they are here, aliens visiting the United 12 States are part of a “foreign state” in relation to the United States.

14 Title 28 › Part IV › Chapter 97 › § 1605

15 28 U.S. Code § 1605 - General exceptions to the jurisdictional immunity of a foreign state

16 (a) A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of courts of the United States or of the States in any
17 case—

18 (1) in which the foreign state has waived its immunity either explicitly or by implication, notwithstanding any 19 withdrawal of the waiver which the foreign state may purport to effect except in accordance with the terms of the 20 waiver;

21 (2) in which the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States by the foreign state;
22 or upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state
23 elsewhere; or upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of 24 the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States;

25 (3) in which rights in property taken in violation of international law are in issue and that property or any
26 property exchanged for such property is present in the United States in connection with a commercial activity
27 carried on in the United States by the foreign state; or that property or any property exchanged for such 28 property is owned or operated by an agency or instrumentality of the foreign state and that agency or 29 instrumentality is engaged in a commercial activity in the United States;

30 (4) in which rights in property in the United States acquired by succession or gift or rights in immovable property
31 situated in the United States are in issue;

32 (5) not otherwise encompassed in paragraph (2) above, in which money damages are sought against a foreign
33 state for personal injury or death, or damage to or loss of property, occurring in the United States and caused by 34 the tortious act or omission of that foreign state or of any official or employee of that foreign state while acting 35 within the scope of his office or employment; except this paragraph shall not apply to—

36 (A) any claim based upon the exercise or performance or the failure to exercise or perform a discretionary 37 function regardless of whether the discretion be abused, or

38 (B) any claim arising out of malicious prosecution, abuse of process, libel, slander, misrepresentation, deceit, or 39 interference with contract rights; or

40 (6) in which the action is brought, either to enforce an agreement made by the foreign state with or for the benefit
41 of a private party to submit to arbitration all or any differences which have arisen or which may arise between
42 the parties with respect to a defined legal relationship, whether contractual or not, concerning a subject matter
43 capable of settlement by arbitration under the laws of the United States, or to confirm an award made pursuant 44 to such an agreement to arbitrate, if (A) the arbitration takes place or is intended to take place in the United
45 States, (B) the agreement or award is or may be governed by a treaty or other international agreement in force
46 for the United States calling for the recognition and enforcement of arbitral awards, (C) the underlying claim,
47 save for the agreement to arbitrate, could have been brought in a United States court under this section or section
48 1607, or (D) paragraph (1) of this subsection is otherwise applicable.

49 Lastly, we also wish to emphasize that those who are physically in the country they were born in are NOT under any such
50 “implied license” and therefore, unlike aliens, are not AUTOMATICALLY “individuals” or “persons” and cannot consent
51 to become “individuals” or “persons” under any revenue statute. These people would be called “nationals of the United 52 States OF AMERICA”. Their rights are UNALIENABLE and therefore they cannot lawfully consent to give them away
53 by agreeing to ANY civil status, including “person” or “individual”.

4.12.2 “U.S. Persons”

The statutory definition of CIVIL “U.S. person” within the Internal Revenue Code is as follows:

Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(30) United States person

The term “United States^[] person” means -

(A) [a citizen or resident of the United States^{\[\]}](#),

(B) a domestic partnership,

(C) a domestic corporation,

(D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

(E) any trust if -

(i) a court within the United States^[] is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust, and

(ii) one or more United States^[] persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(9) United States

The term “United States^[]” when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

[TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. \[Internal Revenue Code\]](#)
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(10) State

The term “State” shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

NOTICE the following important fact: The definition of “person” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) does NOT include “U.S. person”, and therefore indicating this status on a withholding form does not make you a STATUTORY “person” within the Internal Revenue Code!

§ 7701. Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(1) Person

The term “person” shall be construed to mean and include an individual, a trust, estate, partnership, association, company or corporation.

There is some overlap between CIVIL “U.S. Persons” and CIVIL “persons” in the I.R.C., but only in the case of estates and trusts, and partnerships. NOWHERE in the case of individuals is there overlap.

There is also no tax imposed directly on a U.S. Person anywhere in the internal revenue code. All taxes relating to humans are imposed upon “persons” and “individuals” rather than “U.S. Persons”. Nowhere in the definition of “U.S. person” is included “individuals”, and you must be an “individual” to be a “person” as a human being under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1). Furthermore, nowhere are “citizens or residents of the United States” mentioned in the definition of “U.S. Person” defined to be “individuals”. Hence, they can only be fictions of law and NOT humans. To be more precise, they are not only “fictions of law” but public offices in the government. See:

Proof That There Is a “Straw Man”, Form #05.042

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

There is a natural tendency to PRESUME that a statutory “U.S. person” is a “person”, but in fact it is not. That tendency begins with the use of “person” in the NAME “U.S. person”. However, the rules for interpreting the Internal Revenue Code forbid such a presumption:

U.S. Code › Title 26 › Subtitle F › Chapter 80 › Subchapter A › § 7806
26 U.S. Code § 7806 - Construction of title

(b)Arrangement and classification

No inference, implication, or presumption of legislative construction shall be drawn or made by reason of the location or grouping of any particular section or provision or portion of this title, nor shall any table of contents, table of cross references, or similar outline, analysis, or descriptive matter relating to the contents of this title be given any legal effect. The preceding sentence also applies to the sidenotes and ancillary tables contained in the various prints of this Act before its enactment into law.

Portions of a specific section, such as 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) is a “grouping” as referred to above. The following case also affirms this concept:

[Railroad Trainmen v. B. & O.R. Co. 331 U.S. 519 (1947)]

Therefore, we must discern the meaning of “U.S. person” from what is included UNDER the heading, and not within the heading “U.S. Person”. The following subsections will attempt to do this.

4.12.3 The Three Types of “Persons”

The meaning of “person” depends entirely upon the context in which it is used. There are three main contexts, defined by the system of law in which they may be invoked:

1. CONSTITUTIONAL “person”: Means a human being and excludes artificial entities or corporations or even governments.

“Citizens of the United States within the meaning of this Amendment must be natural and not artificial persons; a corporate body is not a citizen of the United States.”¹⁴

¹⁴ Insurance Co. v. New Orleans, 13 Fed.Cas. 67 (C.C.D.La. 1870). Not being citizens of the United States, corporations accordingly have been declared unable “to claim the protection of that clause of the Fourteenth Amendment which secures the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States against abridgment or impairment by the law of a State.” Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557, 561 (1869). This conclusion was in harmony with the earlier holding in Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. (8 Wall.) 168 (1869), to the effect that corporations were not within the scope of the privileges and immunities clause of state citizenship set out in Article IV, Sect. 2. See also Selover, Bates & Co. v. Walsh, 226 U.S. 112, 126 (1912); Berea College v. Kentucky, 211 U.S. 45 (1908); Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Tobacco Growers, 276 U.S. 71, 89 (1928); *Grosjean v. - 1 2. CIVIL “person”: Depends entirely upon the definition within the statutes and EXCLUDES CONSTITUTIONAL
2 “persons”. This would NOT INCLUDE STATUTORY “U.S. Persons”.
3 3. COMMON LAW “person”: A private human who is litigating in equity under the common law in defense of his 4 absolutely owned private property.

5 The above systems of law are described in:

Four Law Systems Course, Form #12.039
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6 Which of the above statuses you have depends on the law system you voluntarily invoke when dealing with the government.
7 That law system determines what is called the “choice of law” in your interactions with the government. For more on “choice
8 of law” rules, see:

Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.018, Section 3
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9 If you invoke a specific choice of law in the action you file in court, and the judge or government changes it to one of the 10 others, then they are engaged in CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

11 Identity theft can also be attempted by the government by deceiving or confusing you with legal “words of art”:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014

12 4.12.4 Why a “U.S. Person” who is a “citizen” is NOT a statutory “person” or “individual” in the Internal 13 Revenue Code

14 The definition of person is found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) as follows:

15 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
16 §7701. Definitions

17 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
18 thereof—

19 (1) Person

20 The term “person” shall be construed to mean and include an individual, a trust, estate, partnership, association,
21 company or corporation.

22 The term “individual” is then defined as:

23 26 C.F.R. 1.1441-1 Requirement for the deduction and withholding of tax on payments to foreign persons.

24 (c) Definitions

25 (3) Individual.

26 (i) Alien individual.

27 The term alien individual means an individual who is not a citizen or a national of the United States. See Sec.

29 (ii) Nonresident alien individual.

The term nonresident alien individual means persons described in section 7701(b)(1)(B), alien individuals who are treated as nonresident aliens pursuant to § 301.7701(b)-7 of this chapter for purposes of computing their U.S. tax liability, or an alien individual who is a resident of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as determined under § 301.7701(b)-1(d) of this chapter. An alien individual who has made an election under section 6013(g) or (h) to be treated as a resident of the United States is nevertheless treated as a nonresident alien individual for purposes of withholding under chapter 3 of the Code and the regulations thereunder.

Did you also notice that the definitions were not qualified to only apply to a specific chapter or section? That means that they apply generally throughout the Internal Revenue Code and implementing regulations. Therefore, we must conclude that the REAL “individual” in the phrase “U.S. Individual Income Tax Return” (IRS Form 1040) that Congress and the IRS are referring to can only mean “nonresident alien INDIVIDUALS” and “alien INDIVIDUALS”. That is why they don’t just come out and say “U.S. Citizen Tax Return” on the 1040 form. If you aren’t a STATUTORY “individual”, then obviously you are filing the WRONG form to file the 1040, which is a RESIDENT form for those DOMICILED on federal territory. This is covered in the following:

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Therefore, all CIVIL “individuals” are STATUTORY “aliens”. Hence, the ONLY people under Title 26 of the U.S. Code who are BOTH “persons” and “individuals” are ALIENS. Under the rules of statutory construction “citizens” of every description are EXCLUDED from being STATUTORY “persons”.

*"It is apparent that a constitutional prohibition cannot be transgressed indirectly by the creation of a statutory presumption any more than it can be violated by direct enactment. The power to create presumptions is not a means of escape from constitutional restrictions."
[Bailey v. Alabama, 219 U.S. 219 (1911)]*

*"Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]*

*"When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term's ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) ("It is axiomatic that the statutory definition of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term"); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 ("As a rule, 'a definition which declares what a term 'means' . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated"); Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152, and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read "as a whole," post at 998 [530 U.S. 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney General's restriction -- "the child up to the head." Its words, "substantial portion," indicate the contrary."
[Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]*

Who might these CIVIL “persons” be who are also “individuals”? They must meet all the following conditions simultaneously to be “taxpayers” and “persons”:

1. CIVIL “U.S. citizens” or CIVIL U.S. residents” domiciled in the geographical “United States” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and/or 4 U.S.C. §110(d).
2. Temporarily abroad on travel under 26 U.S.C. §911.
3. Availing themselves of a tax treaty benefit (franchises) and therefore liable to PAY for said “benefit”.
4. Interface to the Internal Revenue Code as “aliens” in relation to the foreign country they are physically in but not domiciled in at the time.
5. Called a “qualified individual” in 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1).

Some older versions of the code call the confluence of conditions above a “nonresident citizen”. The above are confirmed by the words of Jesus Himself!

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects]"

1 or from strangers statutory "[aliens", which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude
2 "citizens"?]"

3 Peter said to Him, "From strangers statutory "[aliens"/"residents" ONLY. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1\(a\)\(2\)\(ii\) and
4 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1\(c\)\(3\)]."

5 Jesus said to him, "Then the sons of the King, Constitutional but not statutory "[citizens" of the Republic, who
6 are all sovereign "nationals" and "non-resident non-persons"] are free [sovereign over their own person and
7 labor. e.g. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY]. "
8 [Matt. 17:24-27, Bible, NKJV]

9 Note some other very important things that distinguish CIVIL "U.S. Persons" from CIVIL "persons":

- 10 1. The CIVIL term "U.S.*" in the phrase "U.S. Person" as used in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) is never defined anywhere
11 in the Internal Revenue Code, and therefore does NOT mean the same as "United States" in its geographical sense as 12 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10). It is a violation of due process to PRESUME that the two are equivalent.
- 13 2. The definition of CIVIL "person" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) does not include CIVIL "citizens" or "residents".
- 14 3. The definition of a CIVIL "U.S.* person" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) does not include CIVIL "individuals".
- 15 4. Nowhere in the code are CIVIL "individuals" ever expressly defined to include CIVIL "citizens" or "residents".
16 Hence, under the rules of statutory construction, they are purposefully excluded.
- 17 5. Based on the previous items, there is no overlap between the definitions of CIVIL "person" and CIVIL "U.S. Person"
18 in the case of human beings who are ALSO CIVIL "citizens" or "residents".
- 19 6. The only occasion when a human being can ALSO be a CIVIL "person" is when they are neither a CIVIL "citizen" nor 20 a CIVIL "resident" and are a CIVIL "individual".
- 21 7. The only CIVIL "person" who is neither a CIVIL "citizen" nor a CIVIL "resident" and is ALSO a CIVIL "individual"
22 is a "nonresident alien individual":

23 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(B\) Nonresident alien

24 An individual is a nonresident alien if such individual is neither a citizen of the United States nor a resident of 25 the United States (within the meaning of subparagraph (A)).

- 26 8. The previous item explains why nonresident aliens are the ONLY type of CIVIL "individual" subject to tax
27 withholding in 26 U.S.C. Subtitle A, Chapter 3, Subchapter A and who can earn taxable income under the I.R.C.: The 28 only "individuals" listed are "nonresident aliens":

29 26 U.S. Code Subchapter A - Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Corporations

30 § 1441 - Withholding of tax on nonresident aliens

31 § 1442 - Withholding of tax on foreign corporations

32 § 1443 - Foreign tax-exempt organizations

33 § 1444 - Withholding on Virgin Islands source income

34 § 1445 - Withholding of tax on dispositions of United States real property interests

35 § 1446 - Withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income

- 36 9. There is overlap between CIVIL "U.S. Person" and CIVIL "person" in the case of trusts, corporations, and estates, but 37 NOT "individuals". All such entities are artificial and fictions of law. Even they can in some cases be "citizens" or 38 "residents" and therefore nontaxpayers:

39 "A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was
40 created, and of that state or country only."

41 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

- 42 10. Corporations can also be individuals instead of merely and only corporations:

At common law, a "corporation" was an "artificial perso[n] endowed with the legal capacity of perpetual succession" consisting either of a single individual (termed a "corporation sole") or of a collection of several individuals (a "corporation aggregate"). 3 H. Stephen, Commentaries on the Laws of England 166, 168 (1st Am. ed. 1845). The sovereign was considered a corporation. See id., at 170; see also 1 W. Blackstone, Commentaries *467. Under the definitions supplied by contemporary law dictionaries, Territories would have been classified as "corporations" (and hence as "persons") at the time that 1983 was enacted and the Dictionary Act recodified. See W. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 261 (1893) ("All corporations were originally modeled upon a state or nation"); 1 J. Bouvier, A Law Dictionary Adapted to the Constitution and Laws of the United States of America 318-319 (11th ed. 1866) ("In this extensive sense the United States may be termed a corporation"); Van Brocklin v. Tennessee, 117 U.S. 151, 154 (1886) ("The United States is a . . . great corporation . . . ordained and established by the American people") (quoting United States v. Maurice, 26 F. Cas. 1211, 1216 (No. 15,747) (CC Va. 1823) (Marshall, C. J.)); Cotton v. United States, 11 How. 229, 231 (1851) (United States is "a corporation"). See generally Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. 518, 561-562 (1819) (explaining history of term "corporation"). [Ngiraingas v. Sanchez, 495 U.S. 182 (1990)]

We have therefore come full circle in forcefully concluding that CIVIL "persons" and CIVIL "U.S. persons" are not equivalent and non-overlapping in the case of CIVIL "citizens" and "residents", and that the only type of entity a human being can be if they are a CIVIL "citizen" or "resident" is a CIVIL "U.S. person" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) and NOT a CIVIL "person" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).

None of the following could therefore TRUTHFULLY be said about a CIVIL "U.S. Person" who are human beings that are CIVIL "citizens" or CIVIL "residents":

1. They are CIVIL "individuals" as described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).
2. That they are a SUBSET of all CIVIL "persons" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).
3. That they are ALSO CIVIL "persons" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).

Lastly, we wish to emphasize that it constitutes a CRIME and perjury for someone who is in fact and in deed a CIVIL "citizen" to misrepresent themselves as a STATUTORY "individual" (alien) by performing any of the following acts:

1. Declaring yourself to be a "payee" by submitting an IRS Form W-8 or W-9 to an alleged "withholding agent" while physically located in the statutory "United States*" (federal zone) or in a state of the Union. All human being "payees" are "persons" and therefore "individuals". "U.S. persons" who are not aliens are NOT "persons". Statutory citizens or residents must be ABROAD to be a "payee" because only then can they be both "individuals" and "qualified individuals" under 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1).

[. . .] "a payee is the person to whom a payment is made, regardless of whether such person is the beneficial owner of the amount (as defined in paragraph (c)(6) of this section)."

2. Filing an IRS Form 1040. The form in the upper left corner says "U.S. Individual" and "citizens" are NOT STATUTORY "individuals". See:

The ONLY provision within the Internal Revenue Code that permits those who are CIVIL “citizens” to claim the status of either CIVIL “individual” or CIVIL “alien” is found in 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1), in which the citizen is physically abroad in a foreign country, in which case he or she is called a “qualified individual”.

U.S. Code › Title 26 › Subtitle A › Chapter 1 › Subchapter N › Part III › Subpart B › § 911

26 U.S. Code § 911 - Citizens or residents of the United States living abroad

(d) DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES

For purposes of this section—

(1) QUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL

The term “qualified individual” means an individual whose tax home is in a foreign country and who is—

(A) a citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona fide resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year, or

(B) a citizen or resident of the United States and who, during any period of 12 consecutive months, is present in a foreign country or countries during at least 330 full days in such period.

The above provisions SUPERSEDE the definitions within 26 U.S.C. §7701 only within section 911 for the specific case of citizens when abroad ONLY. Those who are not physically “abroad” or in a foreign country CANNOT truthfully claim to be “individuals” and would be committing perjury under penalty of perjury if they signed any tax form, INCLUDING a 1040 form, identifying themselves as either an “individual” or a “U.S. individual” as it says in the upper left corner of the 1040 form. If this limitation of the income tax ALONE were observed, then most of the fraud and crime that plagues the system would instantly cease to exist.

4.12.5 “U.S. Persons” who are ALSO “persons”

26 C.F.R. §1.1441(c)(8) identifies “U.S. Persons” who are also “persons” under the Internal Revenue Code:

(8)Person.

For purposes of the regulations under chapter 3 of the Code, the term person shall mean a person described in section 7701(a)(1) and the regulations under that section and a U.S. branch to the extent treated as a U.S. person under paragraph \(b\)\(2\)\(iv\) of this section. For purposes of the regulations under chapter 3 of the Code, the term person does not include a wholly-owned entity that is disregarded for federal tax purposes under § 301.7701-2\(c\)\(2\) of this chapter as an entity separate from its owner. See paragraph \(b\)\(2\)\(iii\) of this section for procedures applicable to payments to such entities.
[26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(8)]

The ONLY way that a human being who is a CIVIL “U.S. person” physically located within the statutory geographical “United States” (federal zone) or states of the Union can become a STATUTORY “person” is to:

1. Be treated wrongfully AS IF they are a “payee” by an ignorant “withholding agent” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441.
2. Be falsely PRESUMED to be a CIVIL “individual” or CIVIL “person”. All such conclusive presumptions which impair constitutional rights are unconstitutional and impermissible as we prove in the following:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

All such presumption should be FORCEFULLY CHALLENGED. Anyone making such a presumption should be DEMANDED to satisfy their burden of proof and produce a statutory definition that expressly includes those who are either CIVIL “citizens” or CIVIL “residents”. In the absence of such a presumption, you as the victim of such an unconstitutional presumption must be presumed to be innocent until proven guilty, which means a “non-person” and a “non-taxpayer” unless and until proven otherwise WITH COURT ADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE SIGNED UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY BY THE MOVING PARTY, which is the withholding agent.

3. Volunteer to fill out an unmodified or not amended IRS Form W-8 or W-9. Both forms PRESUPPOSE that the submitter is a “payee” and therefore a “person” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(b)(2)(i). A withholding agent asserting usually falsely that you have to fill out this form MUST make a false presumption that you are a CIVIL “person” but he CANNOT make that determination without forcing you to contract or associate in violation of law. ONLY YOU as the submitter can lawfully do that. If you say under penalty of perjury that you are NOT a CIVIL “person” or “individual”, then he has to take your word for it and NOT enforce the provisions of 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1 against you. If he refuses you this right, he is committing criminal witness tampering, since the form is signed under penalty of perjury and he compelling a specific type of testimony from you. See:

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. Fill out an IRS Form W-8. Block 1 for the name of the submitter calls the submitter an “individual”. You are NOT a CIVIL “individual” since individuals are aliens as required by 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). Only STATUTORY “U.S. citizens” abroad can be “individuals” and you aren’t abroad if you are either on federal territory or within a constitutional state.

The result of ALL of the above is CRIMINAL IDENTIFY THEFT at worst as described in Form #05.046, and impersonating a public officer called a “person” and “individual” at best in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912 as described in Form #05.008.

There is also much overlap between the definition of “person” and “U.S. person”. The main LACK of overlap occurs with “individuals”. The main reason for this difference in overlap is the fact that HUMAN BEINGS have constitutional rights while artificial entities DO NOT. Below is a table comparing the two, keeping in mind that the above regulation refers to the items listed that both say “Yes”, but not to “individuals”:

Table 6: Comparison of "person" to "U.S. Person"

#	Type of entity	“person”? 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1)	“U.S. Person” 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30)
1	Individual	Yes	No (replaced with “citizen or resident of the United States”)
2	Trust	Yes	Yes
3	Estate	Yes	Yes
4	Partnership	Yes	Yes
5	Association	Yes	Not listed
6	Company	Yes	Not listed
7	Corporation	Yes (federal corporation domiciled on federal territory only)	Yes (all corporations, including state corporations)

We believe that the “citizen or resident of the United States” listed in item 1 above and in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30)(A) is PRIVILEGED fictional office in the national government domiciled in the District of Columbia. Those domiciled in states of the Union would be NEITHER, and therefore would NOT be classified as CIVIL “individuals”, even if they otherwise satisfied the definition of CIVIL “individual” found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). This results from the geographical definition of “United States” found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10). Below is an example of why we believe this:

26 C.F.R. §31.3121(e)-1 State, United States, and citizen

(b)...The term 'citizen of the United States' includes a citizen of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, and, effective January 1, 1961, a citizen of Guam or American Samoa.

[Mish, F. C. (2003). Preface. Merriam-Websters collegiate dictionary. (Eleventh ed.). Springfield, MA: Merriam-Webster, Inc.]

2. Domicile is a PRIVILEGE. See:

Lawrence v. State Tax Commission, 286 U.S. 276 (1932)
https://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=10241277000101996613

3. The income tax is upon the DOMICILE of the "taxpayer" and NEVER on the NATIONALITY of the officer.

4. Domicile is always GEOGRAPHICAL and never VIRTUAL.

5. The OFFICE and the OFFICER can have domiciles completely independently of each other. This is shown in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17.

6. The domicile of the United States federal corporation under 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A) is the District of Columbia per 4 U.S.C. §72 and Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution.

7. While you are representing the United States Inc. federal corporation as an officer of that corporation, your effective domicile is that of the corporation you work for under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17.

8. A CIVIL "qualified individual" under 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1) is a CIVIL STATUTORY U.S. citizen or U.S. resident whose "tax home" is situated in a "foreign country" as defined in 26 C.F.R. §301.7701\(b\)-2(b) AND who is:

8.1. A CIVIL citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona fide resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year, or

8.2. A CIVIL citizen or resident of the United States and who, during any period of 12 consecutive months, is present in a foreign country or countries during at least 330 full days in such period.

9. A "tax home" simply means that they have declared privileged "trade or business" deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162.

9.1. That is what it says in 26 C.F.R. §301.7701\(b\)-2(c). Thus, they are engaging in a privilege and thus an OFFICE that has a domicile in the District of Columbia.

9.2. In that scenario, they are in effect "resident agents" situated abroad representing an office in the District of Columbia. As "resident agents".

9.3. In the absence of "trade or business" deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162, the "tax home" becomes the abode of the OFFICER rather than the OFFICE under 26 C.F.R. §301.7701\(b\)-2(c).

10. 26 C.F.R. §301.7701\(b\)-2(c):

10.1. Defines a "tax home" as the place where you engage in a privileged "trade or business" under 26 U.S.C. §162 as an officer of the United States. That office is VIRTUAL and not PHYSICAL, but it is domiciled in the location of its corporate parent. Thus, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), the OFFICE is domiciled where the United States Inc. is domiciled, which is the District of Columbia under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 and 4 U.S.C. §72.

10.2. Also says that if there is NO privileged "trade or business" activity, the "tax home" devolves to that of the OFFICER rather than the OFFICE, which is usually in a "foreign country".

11. 26 C.F.R. §301.7701\(b\)-2(b):

11.1. Defines "foreign country" as anything OTHER than the statutory geographical United States in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

11.2. Establishes the states of the Union, territories, and even possessions are all foreign countries and identifies "individuals" in these places foreign and thus a "nonresident alien" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) instead of a "U.S. person" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30).

12. A "national", Fourteenth Amendment citizen, or STATUTORY "citizen" under 8 U.S.C. §1401 or 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) are NEVER subject to the Substantial Presence Test in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(3).

4.13 Four Withholding and Reporting Statuses Compared

Albert Einstein is famous for saying:

"The essence of genius is simplicity".

This section tries to simplify most of what you need to know about withholding and reporting forms and statuses into the shortest possible tabular list that we can think of.

First we will start off by comparing the four different withholding and reporting statuses in tabular form. For each, we will compare the withholding, reporting, and SSN/TIN requirements and where those requirements appear in the code or regulations. For details on how the statuses described relate, refer earlier to section 4.12.

Jesus summarized the withholding and reporting requirements in the holy bible, and he was ABSOLUTELY RIGHT! Here is what He said they are:

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects] or from strangers ["aliens", which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude "citizens"]?"

Peter said to Him, "From strangers ["aliens"/"residents" ONLY. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)]."

Jesus said to him, "Then the sons ["citizens" of the Republic, who are all sovereign "nationals" and "non-resident non-persons" under federal law] are free [sovereign over their own person and labor. e.g. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY]. "
[Matt. 17:24-27, Bible, NKJV]

The table in the following pages PROVES He was absolutely right. To put it simply, the only people who don't have rights are those whose rights are "alienated" because they are privileged "aliens" or what Jesus called "strangers". For details on why all "aliens" are privileged and subject to taxation and regulation, see section 4.12.1 earlier.

An online version of the subsequent table with activated hotlinks can be found in:

NOTES:

- All CIVIL "individuals" are aliens under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). They hid this deep in the regulations instead of the code, hoping you wouldn't notice it. For more information on who are "persons" and "individuals" under the Internal Revenue Code, see section 4.12 earlier.
- You CANNOT be a "nonresident alien" as a human being under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) WITHOUT also being a statutory "individual", meaning an ALIEN under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).
- "Civil status" means any status under any civil statute, such as "individual", "person", "taxpayer", "spouse", "driver", etc.
- One CANNOT have a civil status under the civil statutes of a place without EITHER:
 - A consensual physical domicile in that geographical place.
 - A consensual CONTRACT with the government of that place.
 For proof of the above, see: Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>. The U.S. Supreme Court has admitted as much:

"All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made with [private] individuals."
[Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

- Any attempt to associate or enforce a NON-CONSENSUAL civil status or obligation against a human being protected by the Constitution because physically situated in a Constitutional state is an act of criminal identity theft, as described in:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- The civil status of "taxpayer" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) PRESUMES the party is also a CIVIL "person" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).
- "Reportable payments" earned by "foreign persons" under 26 U.S.C. §3406 are those which satisfy ALL of the following requirements:
 - Connected with a "trade or business" and public office under 26 U.S.C. §6041(a).
 - Satisfy the requirements found in 26 U.S.C. §3406.
 - Earned by a statutory "employee" under 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(c)-1, meaning an elected or appointed public officer of the United States government. Note that 26 U.S.C. §3406 is in Subtitle C, which is "employment taxes" and within 26 U.S.C. Chapter 24, which is "collection of income tax at source of wages". Private humans don't earn statutory "wages".
- Backup withholding under 26 U.S.C. §3406 is only applicable to "foreign persons" who are ALSO statutory "employees" and earning "trade or business" or public office earnings on "reportable payments". It is NOT applicable to those who are ANY of the following:
 - Not an elected or appointed public officer.
 - Not engaged in a "trade or business" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) and therefore not receiving "reportable payments" under 26 U.S.C. §6041(a).
- Payments supplied without documentation are presumed to be made to a "U.S. person" under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(b)(3)(iii).
- You are allowed to make your own Substitute Form W-9 per 26 C.F.R. §31.3406(h)-3(c)(2). The form must include the payees name, address, and TIN (if they have one). The form is still valid even if they DO NOT have an identifying number. See FORM 9 in Form #09.001, Section 25.9.
- IRS hides the exempt status on the Form W-9 identified in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(d)(1) and TD8734 \(62 F.R. 53391, SEDM Exhibit #09.038\).

1 "As a general matter, a withholding agent (whether U.S. or foreign) must ascertain whether the payee is a U.S. or a foreign person. If the payee is a U.S. person, the
2 withholding provisions under chapter 3 of the Code do not apply; however, information reporting under chapter 61 of the Code may apply; further, if a TIN is not furnished
3 in the manner required under section 3406, backup withholding may also apply. If the payee is a foreign person, however, the withholding provisions under chapter 3 of the 4 Code apply instead. To the extent withholding is required under chapter 3 of the Code, or is excused based on documentation that must be provided, none of the 5 information reporting provisions under chapter 61 of the Code apply, nor do the provisions under section 3406."
6 [Treasury Decision 8734, 62 F.R. 53391, (October 14, 1997); SEDM Exhibit #09.038]

- 7 It appeared on the Form W-9 up to year 2011 and mysteriously disappeared from the form after that. It still applies, but invoking it is more complicated. You have 8 to check "Other" on the current Form W-9 and cite 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(d)(1) and TD8734 \(62 F.R. 53391, SEDM Exhibit #09.038\) in the write-in block next to it.
- 9 12. Those who only want to learn the "code" and who are attorneys worried about being disbarred by a judge in cases against the government prefer the "U.S. person"
10 position, even in the case of state nationals. It's a way of criminally bribing the judge to buy his favor and make the case easier for him, even though technically it 11 doesn't apply to state nationals.
- 12 13. "U.S. person" should be avoided because of the following liabilities associated with such a status:
13 13.1. Must provide SSN/TIN pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b)(1).
14 13.2. Must report foreign bank accounts.
15 13.3. Subject to FATCA foreign account limitations because a "taxpayer". See:
16 <https://www.irs.gov/businesses/corporations/foreign-account-tax-compliance-act-fatca>
- 17 14. The ONLY civil status you can have that carries NO OBLIGATION of any kind is that of a "non-resident non-person". It is the most desirable but the most 18 difficult to explain and document to payors. The IRS is NEVER going to make it easy to document that you are "not subject" but not statutorily "exempt" and 19 therefore not a "taxpayer". This is explained in Form #09.001, Section 19.7.
- 20 15. Form numbers such as "FORM XX" where "XX" is the number and which are listed above derive from: Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private
21 Employers, Form #09.001, Section 25
- 22 16. Statutory "wages" are defined in:

NOTES:

- The term “wherever resident” used in 26 U.S.C. §1 means wherever the entity referred to has the CIVIL STATUS of “resident” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1). It DOES NOT mean wherever the entity is physically located. The civil status “resident” and “resident alien”, in turn, are synonymous. PRESUMING that “wherever resident” is a physical presence is an abuse of equivocation to engage in criminal identity theft of “nontaxpayers”. See:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 9.4.5
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- “United States” as used in the Internal Revenue Code is defined as follows:

 Sec. 7701. - Definitions*

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

²⁸ See About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

(9) United States

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

(10) State

The term "State" shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

TITLE 4 - FLAG AND SEAL, SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, AND THE STATES

CHAPTER 4 - THE STATES

Sec. 110. Same; definitions

(d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

3. Limitations on Geographical definitions:

3.1. It is a violation of the rules of statutory construction and interpretation and a violation of the separation of powers for any judge or government worker to ADD anything to the above geographical definitions.

"Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

"When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term's ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) ("It is axiomatic that the statutory definition of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term"); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 ("As a rule, 'a definition which declares what a term 'means'. . . excludes any meaning that is not stated"); Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152, and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read "as a whole," post at 998 [530 U.S. 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney General's restriction -- "the child up to the head." Its words, "substantial portion," indicate the contrary."*
[Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 \(2000\)].

3.2. Comity or consent of either states of the Union or people in them to consent to "include" constitutional states of the Union within the geographical definitions is NOT ALLOWED, per the Declaration of Independence, which is organic law enacted into law on the first page of the Statutes At Large.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --"
[Declaration of Independence]

"Unalienable. Inalienable; incapable of being aliened, that is, sold and transferred."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1693]

3.3. Here is what the designer of our three branch system of government said about allowing judges to become legislators in the process of ADDING things not in the statutes to the meaning of any term used in the statutes:

1 "When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates, there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may
2 arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.

3 Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject
4 would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and
5 oppression [sound familiar?].

6 There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting
7 laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of trying the causes of individuals."

8 [...]

9 In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed, as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have
10 given themselves in quality of legislators. They may plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands,
11 every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions."

3 through agents, and can command only by laws. It is necessary, therefore, for such a defendant, in order to complete his defense, to produce a law of the state which

11 8. You can’t simultaneously be a “taxpayer” who is “subject” to the Internal Revenue Code AND someone who is protected by the Constitution and especially the Bill
13 forfeited:

14 8.1. Standing on a place not protected by the Constitution, such as federal territory or abroad.

15 8.2. Invoking the “benefits”, “privileges”, or “immunities” offered by any statute. The cite below is called the Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine of the U.S.

17 The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all
18 the constitutional questions pressed upon it for decision. They are:

26 9. Constitutional protections such as the Bill of Rights attach to LAND, and NOT to the civil status of the people ON the land. The protections of the Bill of Rights
27 do not attach to you because you are a statutory “person”, “individual”, or “taxpayer”, but because of the PLACE YOU ARE STANDING at the time you receive 28 an injury from a transgressing government agent.

29 “It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure, and not the status of the people who live in it.”

4.15 Income Taxation is a Proprietorial Power Limited to Federal Property

Legislative power to institute income taxation under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code originates from Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution:

U.S. Constitution, Article IV § 3 (2).

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States []

*[I] The power of Congress, in the imposition of taxes and providing for the collection thereof in the possessions of the United States, is not restricted by constitutional provision (section 8, article 1), which may limit its general power of taxation as to uniformity and apportionment when legislating for the mainland or United States proper, for it acts in the premises under the authority of clause 2, section 3, article 4, of the Constitution, which clothes Congress with power to make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States. Binns v. United States, 194 U.S. 486, 24 Sup.Ct. 816, 48 L.Ed. 1087; Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 21 Sup.Ct. 770, 45 L.Ed. 1088. [Lawrence v. Wardell, Collector. 273 F. 405 (1921). Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals]*

The “property” of the national government subject to income taxation is the OFFICES it creates and owns. That office is legislatively created in 5 U.S.C. §2105. The creator of a thing is always the ABSOLUTE OWNER.²⁹ The income tax therefore functions as a user fee for the use of that federal property. Uncle is in the property rental business! All franchises are implemented with loans of government property with legal strings or conditions attached.

FRANCHISE. A special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not belong to citizens of country generally of common right. Elliott v. City of Eugene, 135 Or. 108, 294 P. 358, 360. In England it is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject.

*A "franchise," as used by Blackstone in defining quo warranto, (3 Com. 262 [4th Am. Ed.] 322), had reference to a royal privilege or branch of the king's prerogative subsisting in the hands of the subject, and must arise from the king's grant, or be held by prescription, but today we understand a franchise to be some special privilege conferred by government on an individual, natural or artificial, which is not enjoyed by its citizens in general. State v. Fernandez, 106 Fla. 779, 143 So. 638, 639, 86 A.L.R. 240.*

In this country a franchise is a privilege or immunity of a public nature, which cannot be legally exercised without legislative grant. To be a corporation is a franchise. The various powers conferred on corporations are franchises. The execution of a policy of insurance by an insurance company [e.g. Social Insurance/Socialist Security], and the issuing a bank note by an incorporated bank [such as a Federal Reserve NOTE], are franchises. People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns. (N.Y.) 387, 8 Am.Dec. 243. But it does not embrace the property acquired by the exercise of the franchise. Bridgeport v. New York & N.H. R. Co., 36 Conn. 255, 4 Am.Rep. 63. Nor involve interest in land acquired by grantee. Whitbeck v. Funk, 140 Or. 70, 12 P.2d. 1019, 1020. In a popular sense, the political rights of subjects and citizens are franchises, such as the right of suffrage, etc. Pierce v. Emery, 32 N.H. 484; State v. Black Diamond Co., 97 Ohio.St. 24, 119 N.E. 195, 199, L.R.A.1918E, 352.

Elective Franchise. The right of suffrage: the right or privilege of voting in public elections.

Exclusive Franchise. See Exclusive Privilege or Franchise.

*General and Special. The charter of a corporation is its "general" franchise, while a "special" franchise consists in any rights granted by the public to use property for a public use but-with private profit. Lord v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 194 N.Y. 212, 87 N.E. 443, 22 L.R.A. (N.S.) 420.*

*Personal Franchise. A franchise of corporate existence, or one which authorizes the formation and existence of a corporation, is sometimes called a "personal" franchise, as distinguished from a "property" franchise, which authorizes a corporation so formed to apply its property to some particular enterprise or exercise some special privilege in its employment, as, for example, to construct and operate a railroad. See Sandham v. Nye, 9 Misc.Rep. 541, 30 N.Y.S. 552.*

²⁹ See Hierarchy of Sovereignty: The Power to Create is the Power to Tax, Family Guardian Fellowship; <https://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/PowerToCreate.htm>.

Secondary Franchises. The franchise of corporate existence being sometimes called the "primary" franchise of a corporation, its "secondary" franchises are the special and peculiar rights, privileges, or grants which it may, receive under its charter or from a municipal corporation, such as the right to use the public streets, exact tolls, collect fares, etc. State v. Topeka Water Co., 61 Kan. 547, 60 P. 337; Virginia Canon Toll Road Co. v. People, 22 Colo. 429, 45 P. 398 37 L.R.A. 711. The franchises of a corporation are divisible into (1) corporate or general franchises; and (2) "special or secondary franchises. The former is the franchise to exist as a corporation, while the latter are certain rights and privileges conferred upon existing corporations. Gulf Refining Co. v. Cleveland Trust Co., 166 Miss. 759, 108 So. 158, 160.

Special Franchisee. See Secondary Franchises, supra.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, pp. 786-787]

All franchises create or recognize an "office". In the case of the Internal Revenue Code, that office is called "person" or "taxpayer".

privilege \ 'priv-lij, 'pri-və- \ noun

[Middle English, from Anglo-French, from Latin privilegium law for or against a private person, from privus private + leg-, lex law] 12th century: a right or immunity granted as a peculiar benefit, advantage, or favor: prerogative especially: such a right or immunity attached specifically to a position or an office
[Mish, F. C. (2003). Preface. Merriam-Websters collegiate dictionary. (Eleventh ed.). Springfield, MA: Merriam-Webster, Inc.]

A "public officer" is merely someone in charge of THE PROPERTY of the grantor of the franchise:

"Public office. The right, authority, and duty created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either fixed by law or enduring at the pleasure of the creating power, an individual is invested with some portion of the sovereign functions of government for the benefit of the public. Walker v. Rich, 79 Cal.App. 139, 249 P. 56, 58. An agency for the state, the duties of which involve in their performance the exercise of some portion of the sovereign power, either great or small. Yaselli v. Goff, C.C.A., 12 F.2d. 396, 403, 56 A.L.R. 1239; Lacey v. State, 13 Ala.App. 212, 68 So. 706, 710; Curtin v. State, 61 Cal.App. 377, 214 P. 1030, 1035; Shelmadine v. City of Elkhart, 75 Ind.App. 493, 129 N.E. 878. State ex rel. Colorado River Commission v. Frohmiller, 46 Ariz. 413, 52 P.2d. 483, 486. Where, by virtue of law, a person is clothed, not as an incidental or transient authority, but for such time as de- notes duration and continuance, with Independent power to control the property of the public, or with public functions to be exercised in the supposed interest of the people, the service to be compensated by a stated yearly salary, and the occupant having a designation or title, the position so created is a public office. State v. Brennan, 49 Ohio.St. 33, 29 N.E. 593.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1235]

The I.R.C. Subtitles A and C therefore constitute the terms of the loan of the "public office" (government property) to an otherwise private human:

"In a legal or narrower sense, the term "franchise" is more often used to designate a right or privilege conferred by law,³⁰ and the view taken in a number of cases is that to be a franchise, the right possessed must be such as cannot be exercised without the express permission of the sovereign power³¹ —that is, a privilege or immunity of a public nature which cannot be legally exercised without legislative grant.³² It is a privilege conferred by government on an individual or a corporation to do that "which does not belong to the citizens of the country generally by common right."³³ For example, a right to lay rail or pipes, or to string wires or poles along a public

Anyone in receipt, custody, or control of government property MUST be a public officer under the control of the person who lent it to them. It is a crime to use government property for PERSONAL gain.

The fact that the government continues to be the ABSOLUTE OWNER of the thing being loaned even after you receive it and possess it means they can take it back ANY TIME THEY WANT without your consent or permission or punish you for the misuse of the property. Below are the people subject to such punishment, ALL of whom are either officers of a federal corporation or in partnership with the government:

1. Definition of "person" for the purposes of "assessable penalties" within the Internal Revenue Code means an officer or employee of a corporation or partnership within the federal United States:

A franchise represents the right and privilege of doing that which does not belong to citizens generally, irrespective of whether net profit accruing from the exercise of the right and privilege is retained by the franchise holder or is passed on to a state school or to political subdivisions of the state. State ex rel. Williamson v. Garrison (Okla), 348 P.2d. 859.

Where all persons, including corporations, are prohibited from transacting a banking business unless authorized by law, the claim of a banking corporation to exercise the right to do a banking business is a claim to a franchise. The right of banking under such a restraining act is a privilege or immunity by grant of the legislature, and the exercise of the right is the assertion of a grant from the legislature to exercise that privilege, and consequently it is the usurpation of a franchise unless it can be shown that the privilege has been granted by the legislature. ³⁶ Young v. Morehead, 314 Ky. 4, 233 S.W.2d. 978, holding that a contract to sell and deliver gas to a city into its distribution system at its corporate limits was not a franchise within the meaning of a constitutional provision requiring municipalities to advertise the sale of franchises and sell them to the highest bidder.

A contract between a county and a private corporation to construct a water transmission line to supply water to a county park, and giving the corporation the power to distribute water on its own lands, does not constitute a franchise. Brandon v. County of Pinellas (Fla App), 141 So.2d. 278.

The term "person", as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs

2. Definition of "person" for the purposes of "miscellaneous forfeiture and penalty provisions" of the Internal Revenue Code means an officer or employer of a corporation or partnership within the federal United States:

Sec. 7343 - Definition of term "person"

The term "person" as used in this chapter [Chapter 75] includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs

Note that the government cannot regulate or tax contracts where all parties are PRIVATE. The ability to regulate or tax PRIVATE property is repugnant to the Constitution. Therefore the only type of "partnership" they can be talking about in the above definitions are partnerships between an otherwise PRIVATE party and the government.

Constitutional states of the Union are not "Territory or other Property" of the United States, and therefore are not property LOANED or rented to the inhabitants therein.

Corpus Juris Secundum Legal Encyclopedia
"§1. Definitions, Nature, and Distinctions

"The word 'territory,' when used to designate a political organization has a distinctive, fixed, and legal meaning under the political institutions of the United States, and does not necessarily include all the territorial possessions of the United States, but may include only the portions thereof which are organized and exercise governmental functions under act of congress."

"While the term 'territory' is often loosely used, and has even been construed to include municipal subdivisions of a territory, and 'territories of the' United States is sometimes used to refer to the entire domain over which the United States exercises dominion, the word 'territory,' when used to designate a political organization, has a distinctive, fixed, and legal meaning under the political institutions of the United States, and the term 'territory' or 'territories' does not necessarily include only a portion or the portions thereof which are organized and exercise government functions under acts of congress. The term 'territories' has been defined to be political subdivisions of the outlying dominion of the United States, and in this sense the term 'territory' is not a description of a definite area of land but of a political unit governing and being governed as such. The question whether a particular subdivision or entity is a territory is not determined by the particular form of government with which it is, more or less temporarily, invested.

"Territories' or 'territory' as including 'state' or 'states.'" While the term 'territories of the' United States may, under certain circumstances, include the states of the Union, as used in the federal Constitution and in ordinary acts of congress "territory" does not include a foreign state.

"As used in this title, the term 'territories' generally refers to the political subdivisions created by congress, and not within the boundaries of any of the several states."
[86 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Territories, §1 (2003)]

Because federal enclaves within the constitutional states are government property, they are subject to income taxation as an excise among those consensually domiciled therein.

16 For an explanation why excise taxable public offices do not lawfully exist in constitutional statutes outside of federal enclaves

19 Income taxation is based on domicile. See District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941). As such, anyone domiciled
20 OUTSIDE the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government is a "nonresident" in respect to the income tax. They cannot 21 have a "civil status" such as "person" or "taxpayer" in relation to the civil statutory laws regulating these areas WITHOUT 22 one or more of the following circumstances:

- 23 1. A physical presence in that place. The status would be under the COMMON law.
24 2. CONSENSUALLY doing business in that place. The status would be under the common law.
25 3. A domicile in that place. This would be a status under the civil statutes of that place.
26 4. CONSENSUALLY representing an artificial entity (a legal fiction) that has a domicile in that place. This would be a 27 status under the civil statutes of that place.

28 Those who do not fit any of the above 4 classifications are statutory "non-resident non-persons" and cannot be subject to 29 federal income taxation. More on "civil status" can be found at:

31 4.16 Rebuttal of Those Who Fraudulently Challenge or Try to Expand the Statutory Definitions in This
32 Document

33 The main purpose of law is to limit government power. The foundation of what it means to have a "society of law and not 34 men" is law that limits government powers. We cover this in Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014, Section
35 7. Government cannot have limited powers without DEFINITIONS in the written law that are limiting and which define and 36 declare ALL THINGS that are included and implicitly exclude all things not expressly identified. The rules of statutory 37 construction and interpretation recognize this critical function of law with the following maxims:

1 *"Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one
2 thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles,*

45 4. Produces the following consequences when it IS exercised by a judge or government prosecutor or administrative 46 agency. The statement below was written by the man who DESIGNED our three branch system of government. He 47 also described in his design how it can be subverted, and corrupt government actors have implemented his 48 techniques for subversion to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand their power:

49 "When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates,
50 there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact
51 tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.

52 Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it*
53 joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge

would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and oppression [sound familiar?].

There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of trying the causes of individuals."

In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed, as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have given themselves in quality of legislators. They may plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands, every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions."

Any judge, prosecutor, or clerk in an administrative agency who tries to EXPAND or ADD to statutory definitions is violating all the above. Likewise, anyone who tries to QUOTE a judicial opinion that adds to a statutory definition is violating the separation of powers, usurping authority, and STEALING your property and rights. It is absolutely POINTLESS and an act of ANARCHY, lawlessness, and a usurpation to try to add to statutory definitions.

The most prevalent means to UNLAWFULLY and UNCONSTITUTIONALLY add to statutory definitions is through the abuse of the words "includes" or "including". That tactic is thoroughly described and rebutted in:

Government falsely accuses sovereignty advocates of practicing anarchy, but THEY, by trying to unlawfully expand statutory definitions through either the abuse of the word "includes" or through PRESUMPTION, are the REAL anarchists. That anarchy is described in Disclaimer, section 4 as follows:

SEDM Disclaimer

Section 4: Meaning of Words

4.21. Anarchy

The term "anarchy" implies any one or more of the following, and especially as regards so-called "governments". An important goal of this site is to eliminate all such "anarchy":

1. Are superior in any way to the people they govern UNDER THE LAW.
2. Are not directly accountable to the people or the law. They prohibit the PEOPLE from criminally prosecuting their own crimes, reserving the right to prosecute to their own fellow criminals. Who polices the police? THE CRIMINALS.
3. Enact laws that exempt themselves. This is a violation of the Constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment and constitutes an unconstitutional Title of Nobility in violation of Article I, Section 9, Clause 8 of the United States Constitution.
4. Only enforce the law against others and NOT themselves, as a way to protect their own criminal activities by persecuting dissidents. This is called "selective enforcement". In the legal field it is also called "professional courtesy". Never kill the goose that lays the STOLEN golden eggs.
5. Break the laws with impunity. This happens most frequently when corrupt people in government engage in "selective enforcement", whereby they refuse to prosecute or interfere with the prosecution of anyone in government. The Department of Justice (D.O.J.) or the District Attorney are the most frequent perpetrators of this type of crime.
6. Are able to choose which laws they want to be subject to, and thus refuse to enforce laws against themselves. The most frequent method for this type of abuse is to assert sovereign, official, or judicial immunity as a defense in order to protect the wrongdoers in government when they are acting outside their delegated authority, or outside what the definitions in the statutes EXPRESSLY allow.

7. Impute to themselves more rights or methods of acquiring rights than the people themselves have. In other words, who are the object of PAGAN IDOL WORSHIP because they possess "supernatural" powers. By "supernatural", we mean that which is superior to the "natural", which is ordinary human beings.
8. Claim and protect their own sovereign immunity, but refuse to recognize the same EQUAL immunity of the people from whom that power was delegated to begin with. Hypocrites.
9. Abuse sovereign immunity to exclude either the government or anyone working in the government from being subject to the laws they pass to regulate everyone ELSE'S behavior. In other words, they can choose WHEN they want to be a statutory "person" who is subject, and when they aren't. Anyone who has this kind of choice will ALWAYS corruptly exclude themselves and include everyone else, and thereby enforce and implement an unconstitutional "Title of Nobility" towards itself. On this subject, the U.S. Supreme Court has held the following:

"No man in this country [including legislators of the government as a legal person] is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our system of government, and every man who by accepting office participates in its functions is only the more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which it imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives," 106 U.S., at 220. "Shall it be said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the Citizen has been deprived of his property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any lawful authority, without any process of law, and without any compensation, because the president has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the law of this country, it sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other government which has a just claim to well-regulated liberty and the protection of personal rights," 106 U.S., at 220, 221.

10. Have a monopoly on anything, INCLUDING "protection", and who turn that monopoly into a mechanism to force EVERYONE illegally to be treated as uncompensated public officers in exchange for the "privilege" of being able to even exist or earn a living to support oneself.
11. Can tax and spend any amount or percentage of the people's earnings over the OBJECTIONS of the people.
12. Can print, meaning illegally counterfeit, as much money as they want to fund their criminal enterprise, and thus to be completely free from accountability to the people.
13. Deceive and/or lie to the public with impunity by telling you that you can't trust anything they say, but force YOU to sign everything under penalty of perjury when you want to talk to them. 26 U.S.C. §6065.

4.17.2 Geographical definitions

A very frequent point of confusion and misunderstanding even within the legal profession is the definition of geographical terms in the various contexts in which they are used. The table below is provided to clear up this confusion in order that people do not misinterpret geographical terms by applying them outside their intended context. Using this page is VERY important for those who will be reading and researching state and federal law. The differences in meaning within the various contexts are primarily a consequence of the Separation of Powers Doctrine.

What the above table clearly shows is that the word "State" in the GENERAL context of MOST federal statutes and regulations means (not includes!) federal States only under Title 48 of the U.S. Code^[4], and these areas do not include any of the 50 Union States. This is true in most cases and especially in the Internal Revenue Code. There are four exceptions to this rule that we are aware of, and these subject matters include (are limited to):

SOURCES OF EXTRATERRITORIAL JURISDICTION

- A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1). This includes:
 - Making or executing war. This is the Department of Defense \(DOD\), Title 50 of the U.S. Code, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice \(U.C.M.J.\), 10 U.S.C. Chapter 47.
 - Regulating aliens within the country. The presence test at 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\) implements the tax aspect of this.
 - Protecting VOLUNTARY CIVIL citizens+D (not POLITICAL citizens*) abroad. This is done through passports, 26 U.S.C. §911 which pays for the protection, the Department of State \(DOS\), and the military.
 - International commerce with foreign nations. This is done through the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act \(FSIA\), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97, U.S.C.I.S., Department of Homeland Security \(DHS\), and the foreign affairs supervision of the federal courts.
 - Economic sanctions on foreign countries and political rulers imposed by the Department of the Treasury.
- A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2). Note that:
 - "Taxes" do NOT fall in the category of "public property, loans, grants, or benefits", but the U.S. supreme court identified them as a "quasi-contract" in Milwaukee v. White, 296 U.S. 268 \(1935\).
 - In the case of "agency management or personnel", they are talking about public officers serving within the national government as EXPRESSLY GEOGRAPHICALLY authorized by 4 U.S.C. §72 and NOT elsewhere. We'll give you a HINT, there IS no "express legislative authorization" for "taxpayer" offices to be exercised outside the District of Columbia as required, so all those serving in such an office extraterritorially are DE FACTO officers \(Form #05.043\). The income tax is an excise tax upon the "trade or business" franchise, which is defined in in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as "the functions of a public office", but those offices may not lawfully be exercised outside the District of Columbia. That is why the statutory geographical "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) is defined as the District of Columbia and NOWHERE expressly extended outside the District of Columbia or the Federal statutory "State" defined in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\).
 - Civil statutory statuses such as "taxpayer", "citizen", "resident", and "person" AND the PUBLIC RIGHTS and privileged that attach to them are PROPERTY legislatively created and therefore owned by the national government. Those claiming these statuses are in receipt, custody, or "benefit" of federal privileges no matter where they physically are, and thus are subject to Congress power to "make all needful rules respecting the Territory and other property" granted by Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution.
- Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\).
- EXPRESS and INFORMED consent or comity in some form. Note that NO ONE can consent FOR YOU. YOU have to consent YOURSELF. Presently, "comity" is legally defined as "willingness to grant a privilege". It USED to be defined as MUTUAL consent or agreement of both parties. This has the INSIDIOUS effect that it is OK for a judge to consent FOR YOU, or you to consent sub silentio or by acquiescence. The RESULT is that you are treated AS IF you are a privileged agent or officer of the state, which we call a "straw man", often without compensation. This is CRIMINAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING and CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT \(Form #05.046\) if you didn't KNOWINGLY consent. The purpose of this SOPHISTRY is to procure your consent INVISIBLY, so they don't have to recognize or respect your sovereignty or autonomy. After all, they think they know better than you about what is good for you. See:

The above four items collectively are referred to as "extraterritorial jurisdiction". Extraterritorial jurisdiction is defined as SUBJECT MATTER jurisdiction over PUBLIC property \(Form #12.025\) physically situated OUTSIDE of the EXCLUSIVE jurisdiction of the national government under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution. Congress has jurisdiction over its property and the offices it creates no matter WHERE they physically reside or are lawfully exercised, INCLUDING within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state as confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court in Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 \(1857\), which ironically was about SLAVES. Those who CONSENT to be statutory "taxpayers" would fall in this same category of "slave" and are treated literally as CHATTEL of the national government. HOWEVER, the Constitution confers NO EXPRESS authorization for Congress to use TACIT and PERSONAL BRIBES or GRANTS of its physical or chattel PUBLIC property or "benefits" to CREATE NEW public offices or appoint new officers to de facto offices that are NOT created by an EXPRESS lawful oath or appointment. Any attempts to do so are CRIMINAL OFFENSES under 18 U.S.C. §§201, 210, 211. More about public offices and officers in:

For the purposes of this discussion, Sovereign States of the Union are NOT "territory" of the national government. Also, the Sixteenth Amendment did NOT confer EXTRATERRITORIAL jurisdiction to levy an UNAPPORTIONED direct tax upon labor as property within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union either. In fact, the U.S. Supreme Court declared that it "conferred NO NEW power of taxation" in Stanton v. Baltic Mining, 240 U.S. 103 \(1916\). Thus, the income tax HAS ALWAYS been a tax upon officers of the national government called statutory "taxpayer", "citizens", and "persons". This is ENTIRELY consistent with the legislative intent of the proposed sixteenth amendment proposed to Congress by President Taft himself:

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD - SENATE - JUNE 16, 1909
[From Pages 3344 – 3345]

The Secretary read as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is the constitutional duty of the President from time to time to recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures, as he shall judge necessary and expedient. In my inaugural address, immediately preceding this present extraordinary session of Congress, I invited attention to the necessity for a revision of the tariff at this session, and stated the principles upon which I thought the revision should be affected. I referred to the then rapidly increasing deficit and pointed out the obligation on the part of the framers of the tariff bill to arrange the duty so as to secure an adequate income, and suggested that if it was not possible to do so by import duties, new kinds of taxation must be adopted, and among them I recommended a graduated inheritance tax as correct in principle and as certain and easy of collection.

The House of Representatives has adopted the suggestion, and has provided in the bill it passed for the collection of such a tax. In the Senate the action of its Finance Committee and the course of the debate indicate that it may not agree to this provision, and it is now proposed to make up the deficit by the imposition of a general income tax, in form and substance of almost exactly the same character as, that which in the case of Pollock v. Farmer's Loan and Trust Company (157 U.S., 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to impose unless apportioned among the several States according to population. [Emphasis added] This new proposal, which I did not discuss in my inaugural address or in my message at the opening of the present session, makes it appropriate for me to submit to the Congress certain additional recommendations.

Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the Treasury to meet the present deficiency. The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases deprived the National Government of a power which, by reason of previous decisions of the court, it was generally supposed that government had. It is undoubtedly a power the National Government ought to have. It might be indispensable to the Nation's life in great crises. Although I have not considered a constitutional amendment as necessary to the exercise of certain phases of this power, a mature consideration has satisfied me that an amendment is the only proper course for its establishment to its full extent.

I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government without apportionment among the States in proportion to population.

This course is much to be preferred to the one proposed of reenacting a law once judicially declared to be unconstitutional. For the Congress to assume that the court will reverse itself, and to enact legislation on such an assumption, will not strengthen popular confidence in the stability of judicial construction of the Constitution. It is much wiser policy to accept the decision and remedy the defect by amendment in due and regular course.

Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the Treasury to meet the present deficiency, but by putting on the statute book a law already there and never repealed will simply be suggesting to the executive officers of the Government their possible duty to invoke litigation.

If the court should maintain its former view, no tax would be collected at all. If it should ultimately reverse itself, still no taxes would have been collected until after protracted delay.

It is said the difficulty and delay in securing the approval of three-fourths of the States will destroy all chance of adopting the amendment. Of course, no one can speak with certainty upon this point, but I have become convinced that a great majority of the people of this country are in favor of investing the National Government with power to levy an income tax, and that they will secure the adoption of the amendment in the States, if proposed to them.

Second, the decision in the Pollock case left power in the National Government to levy an excise tax, which accomplishes the same purpose as a corporation income tax and is free from certain objections urged to the proposed income tax measure.

I therefore recommend an amendment to the tariff bill Imposing upon all corporations and joint stock companies for profit, except national banks (otherwise taxed), savings banks, and building and loan associations, an excise tax measured by 2 per cent on the net income of such corporations. This is an excise tax upon the privilege of doing business as an artificial entity and of freedom from a general partnership liability enjoyed by those who own the stock. [Emphasis added] I am informed that a 2 per cent tax of this character would bring into the Treasury of the United States not less than $25,000,000.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Spreckels Sugar Refining Company against McClain (192 U.S., 397), seems clearly to establish the principle that such a tax as this is an excise tax upon privilege and not a direct tax on property, and is within the federal power without apportionment according to population. The tax on net income is preferable to one proportionate to a percentage of the gross receipts, because it is a tax upon success and not failure. It imposes a burden at the source of the income at a time when the corporation is well able to pay and when collection is easy.

Another merit of this tax is the federal supervision, which must be exercised in order to make the law effective over the annual accounts and business transactions of all corporations. While the faculty of assuming a corporate form has been of the utmost utility in the business world, it is also true that substantially all of the abuses and all of the evils which have aroused the public to the necessity of reform were made possible by the use of this very faculty. If now, by a perfectly legitimate and effective system of taxation, we are incidentally able to possess the Government and the stockholders and the public of the knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains and profits of every corporation in the country, we have made a long step toward that supervisory control of corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power.

I recommend, then, first, the adoption of a joint resolution by two-thirds of both Houses, proposing to the States an amendment to the Constitution granting to the Federal Government the right to levy and collect an income tax without apportionment among the several States according to population; and, second, the enactment, as part of the pending revenue measure, either as a substitute for, or in addition to, the inheritance tax, of an excise tax upon all corporations, measured by 2 percent of their net income.

Wm. H. Taft

Some people have asserted that it is deceptive to claim that the phrase above "shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government" implies it is a tax upon the government. In retort, the following proves we are not only correct, but that the only real DECEPTIVE one was Taft Himself:

1. Taft could have said "shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring upon the national government the power to levy an income tax" but DID NOT state it more correctly this way.
2. The legislative implementation of what he proposed he described as an excise and a privilege tax ONLY upon corporations, which even after the Sixteenth Amendment was ratified, is EXACTLY and ONLY what the Sixteenth Amendment currently authorizes. These corporations are NATIONAL corporations, not STATE corporations, by the way.

"Income" has been taken to mean the same thing as used in the Corporation Excise Tax Act of 1909, in the Sixteenth Amendment, and in the various revenue acts subsequently passed. Southern Pacific Co. v. Lowe, 247 U.S. 330, 335; Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, 255 U.S. 509, 219. After full consideration, this Court declared that income may be defined as gain derived from capital, from labor, or from both combined, including profit gained through sale or conversion of capital. Stratton's Independence v. Howbert, 231 U.S. 399, 415; Doyle v. Mitchell Brothers Co., 247 U.S. 179, 185; Eisner v. Macomber, 252 U.S. 189, 207. And that definition has been adhered to and applied repeatedly. See, e.g., Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, supra; 518; Goodrich v. Edwards, 255 U.S. 527, 535; United States v. Phellis, 257 U.S. 156, 169; Miles v. Safe Deposit Co., 259 U.S. 247, 252-253; United States v. Supplee-Biddle Co., 265 U.S. 189, 194; Irwin v. Gavit, 268 U.S. 161, 167; Edwards v. Cuba Railroad, 268 U.S. 628, 633. In determining what constitutes income, substance rather than form is to be given controlling weight. Eisner v. Macomber, supra, 206. [271 U.S. 175]"

3. The U.S. Supreme Court in Downes v. Bidwell agreed that the income tax extends wherever the GOVERNMENT extends, rather than where the GEOGRAPHY extends. Notice it says "without limitation as to place" and "places over which the GOVERNMENT extends".

"Loughborough v. Blake, 18 U.S. 317, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass (or, as appears by the original record, replevin) brought in the Circuit Court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. 216, c. 60, Fed. 17, 1815. It was insisted that Congress could act in a double capacity: in [32] one as legislating [*260] for the States; in the other as a local legislature for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could not legislate for the District under Art. I, sec. 8, giving to Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes, imposts and excises," which "shall be uniform throughout the [CONSTITUTIONAL] United States[]." inasmuch as the District was no part of the [CONSTITUTIONAL] United States[]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that Art. I, sec. 20, declares that "representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States . . . according to their respective numbers," furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned; but not to exempt any part of the country from their operation. "The words used do not mean, that direct taxes shall be imposed on States only which are [33] represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to States, shall be apportioned to numbers." That Art. I, sec. 9, P4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, "and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective States. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to." It was further held that the words of the ninth section did not "in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the second section require that it shall be extended to all the [777] States. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be taxed without imposing the necessity of taxing them."

[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 \(1901\)]

4. The fact that when former President and then Chief Justice Taft heard the FIRST case in the Supreme court after ratification, he stated that the liability for an income tax had NOTHING TO DO with one's nationality or domicile! Cook, American national abroad in Mexico and domiciled there was outside the statutory geographical "United States". Recall that the U.S. Supreme Court in Lawrence v. State Tax Commission, 286 U.S. 276 \(1932\) held that domicile was the SOLE basis for income tax so Cook technically could NOT owe an income tax. But his litigation related to a 1040 return he previously filed in which he INCORRECTLY declared his status as that of a "U.S individual". Thus, he made an ELECTION (consent) to be treated as a statutory "U.S. person" and thus ELECTED himself into a voluntary "taxpayer" office to procure protection of the national government while abroad. Notice he calls "protection" a BENEFIT, and thus a VOLUNTARY EXCISE TAXABLE FRANCHISE! Notice he says the SOLE BASIS in this case was the STATUTORY STATUS under the Internal Revenue Code of "citizen", and not "domicile". That civil statutory status and NOT Constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment status, we prove in How American Nationals Volunteer to Pay Income Tax, Form #08.024, is an OFFICE within the Department of Treasury who works for the Secretary of the Treasury.

"The contention was rejected that a citizen's property without the limits of the United States derives no benefit from the United States. The contention, it was said, came from the confusion of thought in "mistaking the scope and extent of the sovereign power of the United States as a nation and its relations to its citizens and their relations to it." And that power in its scope and extent, it was decided, is based on the presumption that government by its very nature benefits the citizen and his property wherever found, and that opposition to it holds on to citizenship while it "belittles and destroys its advantages and blessings by denying the possession by government of an essential power required to make citizenship completely beneficial." In other words, the principle was declared that the government, by its very nature, benefits the citizen and his property wherever found and, therefore, has the power to make the benefit complete. Or to express it another way, the basis of the power to tax was not and cannot be made dependent upon the situs of the property in all cases, it being in or out of the United States, and was not and cannot be made dependent upon the domicile of the citizen, that being in or out of the United States, but upon his relation as citizen to the United States and the relation of the latter to him as citizen. The consequence of the relations is that the native citizen who is taxed may have domicile, and the property from which his income is derived may have situs, in a foreign country and the tax be legal — the government having power to impose the tax."
[Cook v. Tait, 265 U.S. 47 \(1924\)]

5. The definition of "person" in 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 for the purposes of penalty and criminal enforcement purposes limits itself to government employees and instrumentalities of the government. The rules of statutory construction and interpretation forbid adding anything to these definitions not expressly provided, such as PRIVATE constitutionally protected men and women. Thus, anyone who doesn't fall within the ambit of these definitions is, by definition, a VOLUNTEER because not a proper target of enforcement.

7. The fact that "United States" is geographically defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) as the District of Columbia and the CONSTITUTIONAL states of the Union are never mentioned. That place is synonymous with the GOVERNMENT in 4 U.S.C. §72 and not any geography.
8. The fact that the ACTIVITY that is subject to excise taxation within the Internal Revenue Code is legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as "the functions of a public office", meaning an office WITHIN the national and not state government. For exhaustive details on this subject, see:
- The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001

9. The fact that the Federal Register Act and the Administrative Procedures act both limit the TARGET of direct STATUTORY enforcement to the following groups, none of which include most people in states of the Union and which primarily consist of government employees only:
- 9.1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(1\).
- 9.2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or

11. The idea that governments are created to PROTECT private property, not steal it, and that taxation involves the institutionalized process of converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property without the express consent of the owner. Thus, the process of PAYING for government protection involves the OPPOSITE purpose for which governments are created—converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property, often without the consent of the owner, for the purposes of delivering the OPPOSITE, which is PREVENTING PRIVATE property from being converted to PUBLIC property! The Declaration of Independence declares that all just powers derive from the consent of the governed, and yet we make an EXCEPTION to that requirement when it comes to taxation? Absurd. So they HAVE to procure your consent to occupy a civil statutory office BEFORE they can enforce against you or else they are violating the Thirteenth Amendment and engaging in criminal human trafficking. EVEN in the case of item 2 of the extraterritorial jurisdiction list entitled "A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts" above, legislative control over property is limited to public offices, and NOT to private state nationals. A "public officer", after all, is legally defined in Black's Law Dictionary as someone in charge of the PROPERTY of the public. We have never seen any case hold that merely possessing physical property of the national government while physically present within a constitutional state confers DIRECT, PERSONAL legislative jurisdiction over the person whose hands that property is physically in.

The lower case word "state" in the context of federal statutes and regulations means one of the 50 union states, which are "foreign states", and "foreign countries" with respect to the federal government as clearly explained in section 5.2.11 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 (OFFSITE LINK) book. In the context of the above, a "Union State" means one of the 50 Union states of the United States* (the country, not the federal United States) mentioned in the Constitution for the United States of America.

4.17.3 Capitalization within Statutes and Regulations

Whenever you are reading a particular law, including the U.S. Constitution, or a statute, the Sovereign referenced in that law, who is usually the author of the law, is referenced in the law with the first letter of its name capitalized. For instance, in the U.S. Constitution the phrase "We the People", "State", and "Citizen" are all capitalized, because these were the sovereign entities who were writing the document residing in the States. This document formed the federal government and gave it its authority. Subsequently, the federal government wrote statutes to implement the intent of the Constitution, and it became the Sovereign, but only in the context of those territories and lands ceded to it by the union states. When that federal government then refers in statutes to federal "States", for instance in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(10) or 4 U.S.C. §110(d), then these federal "States" are Sovereigns because they are part of the territory controlled by the Sovereign who wrote the statute, so they are capitalized. Foreign states referenced in the federal statutes then must be in lower case. The sovereign 50 union states, for example, must be in lower case in federal statutes because of this convention because they are foreign states. Capitalization is therefore always relative to who is writing the document, which is usually the Sovereign and is therefore capitalized. The exact same convention is used in the Bible, where all appellations of God are capitalized because they are sovereigns: "Jesus", "God", "Him", "His", "Father". These words aren't capitalized because they are proper names, but because the entity described is a sovereign or an agent or part of the sovereign. The only exception to this capitalization rule is in state revenue laws, where the state legislators use the same capitalization as the Internal Revenue Code for "State" in referring to federal enclaves within their territory because they want to scam money out of you. In state revenue laws, for instance in the California Revenue and Taxation Code (R&TC) sections 17018 and 6017, "State" means a federal State within the boundaries of California and described as part of the Buck Act of 1940 found in 4 U.S.C. §§105-113.

4.17.4 Legal Status of Federal Enclaves within the States

SOURCE: State Income Taxes, Form #05.031, Section 4.4; <https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StateIncomeTax.pdf>.

1. Federal enclaves are land subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government within the exterior limits of a Constitutional state of the Union.
2. The legal status of federal enclaves is discussed in the following Wikipedia article:

Wikipedia: Federal Enclave
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Federal_enclave
3. Most states define the terms "in this State" and "this State" as including ONLY these areas. See:

State Income Taxes, Form #05.031, Section 13.6
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StateIncomeTax.pdf>
4. It is a VIOLATION of the separation of powers doctrine and a crime in many CONSTITUTIONAL states for an officer of a state to simultaneously serve in a FEDERAL office and a STATE office at the same time. This is because it creates a conflict of interest. The I.R.C. Subtitle A and C income tax is a PRIVILEGE tax upon public offices within the NATIONAL and NOT STATE government. See:

The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/TradeOrBusScam.pdf>
5. Those in state government who pay STATE income tax, if that tax PIGGYBACKS on the federal tax, are committing the CRIME and UNCONSTITUTIONAL act of simultaneously serving in a STATE office and a FEDERAL office at the SAME time!
6. The Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §§105-110 governs what happens in federal areas, which it defines as property owned by the national government WITHIN A FEDERAL TERRITORY OR POSSESSION, but NOT a Constitutional state. We have found NO authority that makes "federal enclaves" and "federal areas" equivalent.
7. Application of the Bill of Rights to federal enclaves is discussed in:

Catalog of U.S. Supreme Court Doctrines, Litigation Tool #10.020, Section 5.5
<https://sedm.org/Litigation/10-PracticeGuides/SCDoctrines.pdf>
8. Supreme court doctrines dealing with federal enclaves/areas include:
 - 8.1. Friction not Fiction Doctrine, Howard v. Commissioners, 344 U.S. 624, 626, 73 S.Ct. 465, 97 L.Ed. 617 (1953).
9. Howard v. Commissioners, 344 U.S. 624, 626, 73 S.Ct. 465, 97 L.Ed. 617 (1953) is what authorized state income tax within federal enclaves.
 - 9.1. There is no actual LAW that allows this. Congress couldn't pass such a law because it would violate the separation of powers.
 - 9.2. The U.S. Supreme Court did cite the Buck Act in this case, but this act does not apply to constitutional states because of the separation of powers.
 - 9.3. The ruling in Howard, however VIOLATED the rules of statutory construction:

"Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be

1 inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects
2 of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded."
3 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

4 "When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term's
5 ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) ("It is axiomatic that the statutory definition
6 of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term"); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 ("As a
7 rule, "a definition which declares what a term "means" . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated"); Western
8 Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96
9 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152,
10 and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read "as a whole," post at 998 [530 U.S.
11 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney
12 General's restriction -- "the child up to the head." Its words, "substantial portion," indicate the contrary."
13 [Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]

- 14 9.4. By violating the rules of statutory construction in this case, the U.S. Supreme Court in effect "legislated from the 15 bench" by adding things to the definition of "State" in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) that do not expressly appear, and thus
16 CONFLATED "federal enclaves" with "federal areas" mentioned in the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §§105-110. Thus, it 17 violated the separation of powers by in effect "legislating from the bench", and in so doing, also violated the 18 separation of powers between the states and the national government. THE SUPREME COURT COMMITTED

27 However, I understand your concern regarding the interpretation of the term "State" in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and the 28 potential implications of the Court's ruling in Howard v. Commissioners. In general, when courts interpret
29 statutes, they aim to give effect to the intent of the legislature and consider the context and purpose of the law.

30 While it is possible to argue that the Court's interpretation in Howard v. Commissioners involved a broadening
31 of the term "State" beyond its explicit statutory definition, it is ultimately the role of the judiciary to interpret laws
32 and resolve legal disputes. Judicial interpretation can sometimes involve filling gaps or making inferences to 33 ensure the law is applied appropriately in specific cases.

38 Do you think a LEGAL EXPERT they recommend above whose livelihood and his next meal and Mercedes
39 payment comes from MISREPRESENTING the law to expand his client base is going to be any less duplicitous
40 than the U.S. Supreme court on this issue? NOT! It has NEVER been the proper role of ANY de jure judiciary to
42 #05.043\) because of what it did in this case.

- 43 10. For more on the "separation of powers doctrine", see:

45 important, because:

- 46 1. This ruling is the basis of ALL state income taxation!
47 2. Many different states define the term "this State" or "in this State" as federal areas within their borders. For a list of 48 them, see:

State Income Taxes , Form #05.031, Section 13.6

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StateIncomeTax.pdf>

3. The U.S. Supreme Court in Lawrence v. State Tax Commission, 286 U.S. 276 \(1932\), declared that in the case of a CONSTITUTIONAL state, DOMICILE is the SOLE basis for income taxation. See:

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

4. You can only have ONE domicile at a SINGLE geographical place at a time.

5. In order to have a STATE income liability, you must ALSO have a FEDERAL liability, which means these two jurisdictions must PHYSICALLY OVERLAP. Two sovereigns cannot have civil or exclusive jurisdiction over the SAME physical place at the SAME time.

6. That GEOGRAPHICAL overlap is FORBIDDEN by the separation of powers. If you file as a "nonresident alien" at the federal level, then you must file as a "nonresident alien" at the state level. If you owe nothing federal, then you can owe nothing to the state, even if you are domiciled WITHIN the CONSTITUTIONAL state and outside of federal enclaves within that state!

So we have a LYING, DE FACTO government \(Form #05.043\), thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court in this case, which made itself into a LEGISLATOR by EXPANDING the definition of "State" in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). AND they did it because of the love of money. CRIMINALS! Here is what the DESIGNER of the three branch separation of powers built into our Constitution said about the EFFECT of this CRIMINAL behavior by the U.S. Supreme Court:

"When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates, there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner."

Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and oppression [sound familiar?]."

There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of trying the causes of individuals."

In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed, as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have given themselves in quality of legislators. They may plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands, every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions."

Nationality, Citizenship, and Tax Status – How They Differ

The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two distinct legal states or conditions, -one by virtue of which he becomes the subject of some particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status; another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as such is possessed of certain particular rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status. . . He evidently used the word "citizen," not as equivalent to [political] "subject," but rather to "inhabitant" [of a civil jurisdiction].

United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 656 - 57 (1898) (emphasis added)

- The U.S. person status is United States government pro-interest (USPI) that imposes privileges and obligations, and which is seated in the District of Columbia. The U.S. person status falls within the domestic subject matter jurisdiction of the Federal government. A "citizen" with that status is regarded as a "citizen" of the United States^G – a civil character manifest through the federal preemption afforded to USPI. A foreign national who is (i) lawfully admitted for permanent residence; (ii) meets the criteria of the substantial presence test; or (iii) makes a first-year election, is regarded as a resident of the United States.^G The United States^G is regarded as the applicable domestic locality for both classes of U.S. person because of federal preemption over the taxation of USPI and alien individuals. A "citizen" of the United States^G under IRC sec. 7701(a)(30)(A) and 26 C.F.R. §§ 1.1-1(a) and (b) is a civil subclass of the "citizen" of the United States^G under 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1(c).
- The nonresident alien status embraces everyone and everything that is neither a "citizen" of the United States^G nor a resident of the United States^G. The status embraces American and foreign nationals alike. Electing or not electing a U.S. person status is a political question and a First Amendment-protected right. Misapprehension of tax statuses generally occurs through misapprehension of the United States in its political and geographical senses and how, when, and why each sense applies to a given context within the IRC.

5. Private v. Public

A very important subject is the division of legal authority between PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights. On this subject the U.S. Supreme Court held:

"A private person cannot make constitutions or laws, nor can he with authority construe them, nor can he administer or execute them."
[United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 1 S.Ct. 601, 27 L.Ed. 290 (1883)]

If you can't "execute" them, then you ALSO can't enforce them against ANYONE else. Some people might be tempted to say that we all construe them against the private person daily, but in fact we can't do that WITHOUT being a public officer WITHIN the government.

"The reason why States are "bodies politic and corporate" is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can act only through its agents, "[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can command only by laws." Poindexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black's Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) ("[B]ody politic or corporate": "A social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good"). As a "body politic and corporate," a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act's definition of a "person."
[Will v. Michigan Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 109 S.Ct. 2304 (U.S.Mich.,1989)]

If we do enforce the law as a private nonresident human, we are criminally impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912. Other U.S. Supreme Court cites also confirm why this must be:

1 “All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
2 carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
3 with [private] individuals.”

6 “...we are of the opinion that there is a clear distinction in this particular between an [PRIVATE] individual
7 and a [PUBLIC] corporation, and that the latter has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an
8 examination at the suit of the state. The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is
9 entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty to
10 the state or to his neighbors to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may
11 tend to criminate him. He owes no such duty to the state, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the
12 protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the 13 organization of the state, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the
14 Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his
15 property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he
16 does not trespass upon their rights.

17 “Upon the other hand, the [PUBLIC] corporation is a creature of the state. It is presumed to be incorporated
18 for the benefit of the public. It receives certain special privileges and franchises, and holds them subject to the
19 laws of the state and the limitations of its charter. Its powers are limited by law. It can make no contract not
20 authorized by its charter. Its rights to [201 U.S. 43, 75] act as a corporation are only preserved to it so long
21 as it obeys the laws of its creation. There is a reserved right in the legislature to investigate its contracts and
22 find out whether it has exceeded its powers. It would be a strange anomaly to hold that a state, having chartered
23 a corporation to make use of certain franchises, could not, in the exercise of its sovereignty, inquire how these
24 franchises had been employed, and whether they had been abused, and demand the production of the corporate
25 books and papers for that purpose. The defense amounts to this: That an officer of a corporation which is charged
26 with a criminal violation of the statute, may plead the criminality of such corporation as a refusal to produce its
27 books. To state this proposition is to answer it. While an individual may lawfully refuse to answer incriminating
28 questions unless protected by an immunity statute, it does not follow that a corporation, vested with special
29 privileges and franchises, may refuse to show its hand when charged with an abuse of such privileges. “
30 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906)]

31 You MUST therefore be an agent of the government and therefore a PUBLIC officer in order to “make constitutions or laws
32 or administer, execute, or ENFORCE EITHER”. Here is more proof:

33 “A defendant sued as a wrong-doer, who seeks to substitute the state in his place, or to justify by the authority of 34 the state, or to defend on the ground that the state has adopted his act and exonerated him, cannot rest on the 35 bare assertion of his defense. He is bound to establish it. The state is a political corporate body, can act only
36 through agents, and can command only by laws. It is necessary, therefore, for such a defendant, in order to 37 complete his defense, to produce a law of the state which constitutes his commission as its agent, and a warrant 38 for his act.”
39 [Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270 (1885)]

40 By “act” above, they implicitly also include “enforce”. If you aren’t an agent of the state, they can’t enforce against you.
41 Examples of “agents” or “public officers” of the government include all the following:

- 42 1. “person” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1)).
- 43 2. “individual” (26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)).
- 44 3. “taxpayer” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14)).
- 45 4. “withholding agent” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16)).

46 “The government thus lays a tax, through the [GOVERNMENT] instrumentality [PUBLIC OFFICE] of the 47 company [a FEDERAL and not STATE corporation], upon the income of a non-resident alien over whom it
48 cannot justly exercise any control, nor upon whom it can justly lay any burden.”
49 [United States v. Erie R. Co., 106 U.S. 327 (1882)]

50 So how do you “OBEY” a law without “EXECUTING” it? We’ll give you a hint: It CAN’T BE DONE!

51 Likewise, if ONLY public officers can “administer, execute, or enforce” the law, then the following additional requirements
52 of the law are unavoidable and also implied:

- 53 1. Congress cannot impose DUTIES against private persons through the civil law. Otherwise the Thirteenth Amendment 54 would be violated and the party executing said duties would be criminally impersonating an agent or officer of the 55 government in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.

- 1 2. Congress can only impose DUTIES upon public officers through the civil statutory law.
2 3. The civil statutory law is law for GOVERNMENT, and not PRIVATE persons. See:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3 4. Those who enforce any civil statutory duties against you are PRESUMING that you occupy a public office.
4 5. You cannot unilaterally “elect” yourself into a public office in the government by filling out a government form, even 5 if you consent to volunteer.
6 6. Even if you ARE a public officer, you can only execute the office in a place EXPRESSLY authorized by Congress per 7 4 U.S.C. §72, which means ONLY the District of Columbia and “not elsewhere”.

8 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72
9 § 72. Public offices; at seat of Government

10 All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere,
11 except as otherwise expressly provided by law.

- 12 7. If you are “construing, administering, or executing” the laws, then you are doing so as a public officer and:
13 7.1. You are bound and constrained in all your actions by the constitution like every OTHER public officer while on 14 official business interacting with PRIVATE humans.
15 7.2. The Public Records exception to the Hearsay Exceptions Rule, Federal Rule of Evidence 803(8) applies.
16 EVERYTHING you produce in the process of “construing, administering, or executing” the laws is instantly
17 admissible and cannot be excluded from the record by any judge. If a judge interferes with the admission of such 18 evidence, he is:
19 7.2.1. Interfering with the duties of a coordinate branch of the government in violation of the Separation of 20 Powers.
21 7.2.2. Criminally obstructing justice.

36 5.1 Introduction

37 In order to fully understand and comprehend the nature of franchises, it is essential to thoroughly understand the distinctions
38 between PUBLIC and PRIVATE property. The following subsections will deal with this important subject extensively. In 39 the following subsections, we will establish the following facts:

- 40 1. There are TWO types of property:
41 1.1. Public property. This type of property is protected by the CIVIL law.
42 1.2. Private property. This type of property is protected by the COMMON law.
43 2. Specific legal rights attach to EACH of the two types of property. These “rights” in turn, are ALSO property as legally 44 defined.

45 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict
46 *legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. *Fulton Light, Heat

right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.

The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong. [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

3. Human beings can simultaneously be in possession of BOTH PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights. This gives rise to TWO legal "persons": PUBLIC and PRIVATE.
 - 3.1. The CIVIL law attaches to the PUBLIC person.
 - 3.2. The COMMON law and the Constitution attach to and protect the PRIVATE person.This is consistent with the following maxim of law.

Quando duo juro concurrunt in und personâ, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.

When two rights [public right v. private right] concur in one person, it is the same as if they were two separate persons. 4 Co. 118.

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);

SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

4. That the purpose of the Constitution and the establishment of government itself is to protect EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these [EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE, God-given] rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, -"

[Declaration of Independence, 1776]

The VERY FIRST step in protecting PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property is to prevent such property from being converted to PUBLIC property or PUBLIC rights without the consent of the owner. In other words, the VERY FIRST step in protecting PRIVATE rights is to protect you from the GOVERNMENT'S OWN theft. Obviously, if a government becomes corrupted and refuses to protect PRIVATE rights or recognize them, there is absolutely no reason you can or should want to hire them to protect you from ANYONE ELSE.

5. The main method for protecting PRIVATE rights is to impose the following burden of proof and presumption upon any entity or person claiming to be "government":

"All rights and property are PRESUMED to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and beyond the control of government or the CIVIL law unless and until the government meets the burden of proving, WITH EVIDENCE, on the record of the proceeding that:

1. A SPECIFIC formerly PRIVATE owner consented IN WRITING to convert said property to PUBLIC property.
2. The owner was either abroad, domiciled on, or at least PRESENT on federal territory NOT protected by the Constitution and therefore had the legal capacity to ALIENATE a Constitutional right or relieve a public servant of the fiduciary obligation to respect and protect the right. Those physically present but not necessarily domiciled in a constitutional but not statutory state protected by the constitution cannot lawfully alienate rights to a real, de jure government, even WITH their consent.
3. If the government refuses to meet the above burden of proof, it shall be CONCLUSIVELY PRESUMED to be operating in a PRIVATE, corporate capacity on an EQUAL footing with every other private corporation and which is therefore NOT protected by official, judicial, or sovereign immunity.

6. That the ability to regulate EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE conduct is repugnant to the constitution and therefore such conduct cannot lawfully become the subject of any civil statutory law.

"Under basic rules of construction, statutory laws enacted by legislative bodies cannot impair rights given under a constitution. 194 B.R. at 925. "
[In re Young, 235 B.R. 666 (Bankr.M.D.Fla., 1999)]

7. That the terms "person", "persons", "individual", "individuals" as used within the civil statutory law by default imply PUBLIC "persons" and therefore public offices within the government and not PRIVATE human beings. All such offices are creations and franchises of the government and therefore property of the government subject to its exclusive control.
8. That if the government wants to call you a statutory "person" or "individual" under the civil law, then:
 - 8.1. You must volunteer or consent at some point to occupy a public office in the government while situated physically in a place not protected by the USA Constitution and the Bill of Rights....namely, federal territory. In some cases, that public office is also called a "citizen" or "resident".
 - 8.2. If you don't volunteer, they are essentially exercising unconstitutional "eminent domain" over your PRIVATE property. Keep in mind that rights protected by the Constitution are PRIVATE PROPERTY.
9. That there are VERY SPECIFIC and well defined rules for converting PRIVATE property into PUBLIC PROPERTY and OFFICES, and that all such rules require your express consent except when a crime is involved.
10. That if a corrupted judge or public servant imposes upon you any civil statutory status, including that of "person" or "individual" without PROVING with evidence that you consented to the status AND had the CAPACITY to lawfully consent at the time you consented, they are:
 - 10.1. Violating due process of law.
 - 10.2. Imposing involuntary servitude.
 - 10.3. STEALING property from you. We call this "theft by presumption".
 - 10.4. Kidnapping your identity and moving it to federal territory.
 - 10.5. Instituting eminent domain over EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property.
11. That within the common law, the main mechanism for PREVENTING the conversion of PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property through government franchises are the following maxims of law. These maxims of law MANDATE that all governments must protect your right NOT to participate in franchises or be held accountable for the consequences of receiving a "benefit" you did not consent to receive and/or regarded as an INJURY rather than a "benefit":

Invito beneficium non datur.

No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

Quilibet potest renunciare juri pro se inducto.

Any one may renounce a law introduced for his own benefit. To this rule there are some exceptions. See 1 Bouv.

Inst. n. 83.

For an example of how this phenomenon works in the case of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C "trade or business" franchise, see:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

As an example of why an understanding of this subject is EXTREMELY important, consider the following dialog at an IRS audit in which the FIRST question out of the mouth of the agent is ALWAYS "What is YOUR Social Security Number?":

IRS AGENT: What is YOUR Social Security Number?

YOU: 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) says SSNs belong to the government. The only way it could be MY number is if I am appearing here today as a federal employee or officer on official business. If that is the case, no, I am here as a private human being and not a government statutory "employee" in possession or use of "public property" such as a number. Therefore, I don't HAVE a Social Security Number. Furthermore, I am not lawfully eligible and never have been eligible to participate in Social Security and any records you have to the contrary are FALSE and FRAUDULENT and should be DESTROYED.

1 IRS AGENT: That's ridiculous. Everyone HAS an SSN.

3 YOU: Well then EVERYONE is a STUPID whore for acting as a federal employee or agent without compensation THEY
4 and not YOU determine. The charge for my services to act as a federal "employee" or officer or trustee in possession
5 of public property such as an SSN is ALL the tax and penalty liability that might result PLUS $1,000 per hour. Will
6 you agree in writing pay the compensation I demand to act essentially as your federal coworker, because if you
7 don't, then it's not MY number?

9 IRS AGENT: It's YOUR number, not the government's.

10
11 YOU: Well why do the regulations at 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) say it belongs to the Social Security Administration instead of 12 me? I am not appearing as a Social Security employee at this meeting and its unreasonable and prejudicial for you
13 to assume that I am. I am also not appearing here as "federal personnel" as defined in 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(13\). I
14 don't even qualify for Social Security and never have, and what you are asking me to do by providing an INVALID
15 and knowingly FALSE number is to VIOLATE THE LAW and commit fraud by providing that which I am not 16 legally entitled to and thereby fraudulently procure the benefits of a federal franchise. Is that your intention?

17
18 IRS AGENT: Don't play word games with me. It's YOUR number.

19
20 YOU: Well good. Then if it's MY number and MY property, then I have EXCLUSIVE control and use over it. That is what
21 the word "property" implies. That means I, and not you, may penalize people for abusing MY property. The penalty
22 for wrongful use or possession of MY property is all the tax and penalty liability that might result from using said
23 number for tax collection plus $1,000 per hour for educating you about your lawful duties because you obviously
24 don't know what they are. If it's MY property, then your job is to protect me from abuses of MY property. If you
25 can penalize me for misusing YOUR procedures and forms, which are YOUR property, then I am EQUALLY
26 entitled to penalize you for misusing MY property. Are you willing to sign an agreement in writing to pay for the 27 ABUSE of what you call MY property, because if you aren't, you are depriving me of exclusive use and control
28 over MY property and depriving me of the equal right to prevent abuses of my property??

30 IRS AGENT: OK, well it's OUR number. Sorry for deceiving you. Can you give us OUR number that WE assigned to 31 you?

33 YOU: You DIDN'T assign it to ME as a private person, which is what I am appearing here today as. You can't lawfully
34 issue public property such as an SSN to a private person. That's criminal embezzlement. The only way it could 35 have been assigned to me is if I'm acting as a "public officer" or federal employee at this moment, and I am NOT.
36 I am here as a private person and not a public employee. Therefore, it couldn't have been lawfully issued to me.
37 Keep this up, and I'm going to file a criminal complaint with the U.S. Attorney for embezzlement in violation of 18 U.S.C. §641
38 and impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912. I'm not here as a public officer and 39 you are asking me to act like one without compensation and without legal authority. Where is the compensation
40 that I demand to act as a fiduciary and trustee over your STINKING number, which is public property? I remind
41 you that the very purpose why governments are created is to PROTECT and maintain the separation between "public 42 property" and "private property" in order to preserve my inalienable constitutional rights that you took an oath to 43 support and defend. Why do you continue to insist on co-mingling and confusing them in order to STEAL my labor,
44 property, and money without compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment takings clause?

46 Usually, after the above interchange, the IRS agent will realize he is digging a DEEP hole for himself and will abruptly end
47 that sort of inquiry, and many times will also end his collection efforts.

48 5.2 What is "Property"?

49 Property is legally defined as follows:

50 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict
51 *legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. *Fulton Light, Heat
52 & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
53 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
54 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.

1 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
2 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
3 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
4 way depends on another man's courtesy.

5 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
6 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
7 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
8 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
9 one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332
10 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

11 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
12 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only
13 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
14 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.

15 Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing,
16 as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230
17 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.

18 Goodwill is property. Howell v. Bowden, TexCiv. App., 368 S.W.2d. 842, &18; as is an insurance policy and 19 rights incident thereto, including a right to the proceeds, Harris v. Harris, 83 N.M. 441,493 P.2d. 407, 408.

20 Criminal code. "Property" means anything of value. including real estate, tangible and intangible personal
21 property, contract rights, choses-in-action and other interests in or claims to wealth, admission or transportation
22 tickets, captured or domestic animals, food and drink, electric or other power. Model Penal Code. Q 223.0. See
23 also Property of another, infra. Dusts. Under definition in Restatement, Second, Trusts, Q 2(c), it denotes interest
24 in things and not the things themselves.
25 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

26 Keep in mind the following critical facts about "property" as legally defined:

- 27 1. The essence of the "property" right, also called "ownership", is the RIGHT TO EXCLUDE others from using or 28 benefitting from the use of the property.

29 "We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, 'the right to exclude [others
30 is] 'one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.' "
31 Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 433 (1982), quoting Kaiser Aetna v. United 32 States, 444 U.S. 164, 176 (1979). "
33 [Nollan v. California Coastal Comm'n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987)]

35 "In this case, we hold that the "right to exclude," so universally held to be a fundamental element of the 36 property right,^[11] falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without 37 compensation."
38 [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

39 [11] See, e. g., United States v. Pueblo of San Ildefonso, 206 Ct.Cl. 649, 669-670, 513 F.2d. 1383, 1394 (1975);
40 United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, "[a]n essential element
41 of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it." International News Service v.
42 Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

- 43 2. It's NOT your property if you can't exclude EVERYONE, including the GOVERNMENT from using, benefitting from 44 the use, or taxing the specific property.
45 3. All constitutional rights and statutory privileges are property.
46 4. Anything that conveys a right or privilege is property.
47 5. Contracts convey rights or privileges and are therefore property.
48 6. All franchises are contracts between the grantor and the grantee and therefore property.

49 5.3 "Public" v. "Private" property ownership

50 Next, we would like to compare the two types of property: Public v. Private. There are two types of ownership of "property":
51 Absolute and Qualified. The following definition describes and compares these two types of ownership:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers

Copyright Family Guardian Fellowship , <http://famguardian.org/>
Ver. 2.12

Ownership. Collection of rights to use and enjoy property, including right to transmit it to others. Trustees of Phillips Exeter Academy v. Exeter, 92 N.H. 473, 33 A.2d. 665, 673. The complete dominion, title, or proprietary right in a thing or claim. The entirety of the powers of use and disposal allowed by law.

The right of one or more persons to possess and use a thing to the exclusion of others. The right by which a thing belongs to someone in particular, to the exclusion of all other persons. The exclusive right of possession, enjoyment, and disposal; involving as an essential attribute the right to control, handle, and dispose.

Ownership of property is either absolute or qualified. The ownership of property is absolute when a single person has the absolute dominion over it, and may use it or dispose of it according to his pleasure, subject only to general laws. The ownership is qualified when it is shared with one or more persons, when the time of enjoyment is deferred or limited, or when the use is restricted. Calif. Civil Code, §§678-680.

There may be ownership of all inanimate things which are capable of appropriation or of manual delivery; of all domestic animals; of all obligations; of such products of labor or skill as the composition of an author, the goodwill of a business, trademarks and signs, and of rights created or granted by statute. Calif. Civil Code, §655.

In connection with burglary, "ownership" means any possession which is rightful as against the burglar.

Participation in franchises causes PRIVATE property to transmute into PUBLIC property. Below is a table comparing these two great classes of property and the legal aspects of their status.

Table 9: Public v. Private Property

#	Characteristic	Public	Private

Private and Public property MUST, at all times, remain completely separate from each other. If in fact rights are UNALIENABLE as declared in the Declaration of Independence, then you aren't allowed legally to consent to donate them to any government. Hence, they must remain private. You can't delegate that authority to anyone else either, because you can't delegate what you don't have:

*"Derativa potestas non potest esse major primitiva.
The power which is derived cannot be greater than that from which it is derived."*

*"Nemo plus juris ad alienum transfere potest, quam ispe habent.
One cannot transfer to another a right which he has not. Dig. 50, 17, 54; 10 Pet. 161, 175."

For a fascinating and powerful presentation showing why private and public are separate, how to keep them that way, and how governments illegally try to convert PRIVATE to PUBLIC in order to STEAL from you, see:

5.4 The purpose and foundation of de jure government: Protection of EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights

The main purpose for which all governments are established is the protection of EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights and property. This purpose is the foundation of all the just authority of any government as held by the Declaration of Independence:

*"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, -"
[Declaration of Independence, 1776]*

The fiduciary duty that a public officer who works for the government has is founded upon the requirement to protect PRIVATE property.

*"As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer."³⁸
Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts.³⁹ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves.⁴⁰ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.⁴¹ It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.⁴² Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁴³

The VERY FIRST step that any lawful de jure government must take in protecting PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights is to protect it from being converted to PUBLIC/GOVERNMENT property. After all: If the people you hire to protect you won't even do the job of protecting you from THEM, why should you hire them to protect you from ANYONE ELSE?

The U.S. Supreme Court has also affirmed that the protection of PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property is "the foundation of the government" when it held the following. The case below was a challenge to the constitutionality of the first national income tax, and the U.S. government rightfully lost that challenge:

"Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that they go down to the very foundations of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution can be set aside by an act of Congress, where is the course of usurpation to end?"

The present assault upon capital [THEFT! and WEALTH TRANSFER by unconstitutional CONVERSION of PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property] is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger and more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing intensity and bitterness."
[Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895), hearing the case against the first income tax passed by Congress that included people in states of the Union. They declared that first income tax UNCONSTITUTIONAL, by the way]

In the above landmark case, the lawyer for the petitioner, Mr. Choate, even referred to the income tax as COMMUNISM, and he was obviously right! Why? Because communism like socialism operates upon the following political premises:

1. All property is PUBLIC property and there IS no PRIVATE property.
2. The government owns and/or controls all property and said property is LOANED to the people.
3. The government and/or the collective has rights superior to those of the individual. There is and can be NO equality or equal protection under the law without the right of PRIVATE property. In that sense, the government or the "state" is a pagan idol with "supernatural powers" because human beings are "natural" and they are inferior to the collective.
4. Control is synonymous with ownership. If the government CONTROLS the property but the citizen "owns" it, then:
 - 4.1. The REAL owner is the government.
 - 4.2. The ownership of the property is QUALIFIED rather than ABSOLUTE.
 - 4.3. The person holding the property is a mere CUSTODIAN over GOVERNMENT property and has EQUITABLE rather than LEGAL ownership. Hence, their name in combination with the Social Security Number constitutes a PUBLIC office synonymous with the government itself.
5. Everyone in temporary use of said property is an officer and agent of the state. A "public officer", after all, is someone who is in charge of the PROPERTY of the public. It is otherwise a crime to use public property for a PRIVATE use or benefit. That crime is called theft or conversion:

"Public office. The right, authority, and duty created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either fixed by law or enduring at the pleasure of the creating power, an individual is invested with some portion of the sovereign functions of government for the benefit of the public. Walker v. Rich, 79 Cal.App. 139, 249 P. 56, 58. An agency for the state, the duties of which involve in their performance the exercise of some portion of the sovereign power, either great or small. Look at some of the planks of the Communist Manifesto, Karl Marx and confirm the above for yourself:

1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.
 2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.

The legal definition of "property" confirms that one who OWNS a thing has the EXCLUSIVE right to use and dispose of and CONTROL the use of his or her or its property and ALL the fruits and "benefits" associated with the use of such property . The implication is that you as the PRIVATE owner have a right to EXCLUDE ALL OTHERS including all governments from using, benefitting from, or controlling your property. Governments, after all, are simply legal “persons” and the constitution guarantees that ALL “persons” are equal. If your neighbor can’t benefit from your property without your consent, then neither can any so-called “government”.

*Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.

*The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

*Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership. or whether beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo., 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.*

*Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.*

[Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

In a lawful de jure government under our constitution:

1. All “persons” are absolutely equal under the law. No government can have any more rights than a single human being, no matter how many people make up that government. If your neighbor can’t take your property without your consent, then neither can the government. The only exception to this requirement of equality is that artificial persons do not have constitutional rights, but only such “privileges” as statutory law grants them. See:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. All property is CONCLUSIVELY presumed to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE until the GOVERNMENT meets the burden of proof on the record of the legal proceeding that you EXPRESSLY consented IN WRITING to donate the property or use of the property to the PUBLIC:

“Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, - 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;' and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public “benefit”]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation.”

3. You have to knowingly and intentionally DONATE your PRIVATE property to a public use and a PUBLIC purpose before the government can lawfully REGULATE its use. In other words, you have to at least SHARE your ownership of otherwise private property with the government and become an EQUITABLE rather than ABSOLUTE owner of the property before they can acquire the right to regulate its use or impose obligations or duties upon its original owner.
4. That donation ordinarily occurs by applying for and/or using a license in connection with the use of SPECIFIC otherwise PRIVATE property.

- 1 5. The process of applying for or using a license and thereby converting PRIVATE into PUBLIC cannot be compelled. If 2 it is, the constitutional violation is called “eminent domain” without compensation or STEALING, in violation of the 3 Fifth Amendment takings clause.
- 4 6. You have a PUBLIC persona (office) and a PRIVATE persona (human) at all times.
- 5 6.1. That which you VOLUNTARILY attach a government license number to, such as a Social Security Number or 6 Taxpayer Identification Number, becomes PRIVATE property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a
7 PUBLIC franchise. That property, in turn, is effectively OWNED by the government grantor of your public 8 persona and the public office it represents.
- 9 6.2. If you were compelled to use a government license number, such as an SSN or TIN, then a theft and taking 10 without compensation has occurred, because all property associated with such numbers was unlawfully converted
11 and STOLEN.
- 12 7. If the right to contract of the parties conducting any business transaction has any meaning at all, it implies the right to 13 EXCLUDE the government from participation in their relationship.
- 14 7.1. You can write the contract such that neither party may use or invoke a license number, or complain to a licensing
15 board, about the transaction, and thus the government is CONTRACTED OUT of the otherwise PRIVATE 16 relationship. Consequently, the transaction becomes EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and government may not tax or 17 regulate or arbitrate the relationship in any way under the terms of the license franchise.
- 18 7.2. Every consumer of your services has a right to do business with those who are unlicensed. This right is a natural
19 consequence of the right to CONTRACT and NOT CONTRACT. The thing they are NOT contracting with is the 20 GOVERNMENT, and the thing they are not contracting FOR is STATUTORY/FRANCHISE “protection”.
21 Therefore, even those who have applied for government license numbers are NOT obligated to use them in 22 connection with any specific transaction and may not have their licenses suspended or revoked for failure or 23 refusal to use them for a specific transaction.
- 24 8. If the government invades the commercial relationship between you and those you do business with by forcing either 25 party to use or invoke the license number or pursue remedies or “benefits” under the license, they are:
- 26 8.1. Interfering with your UNALIENABLE right to contract.
- 27 8.2. Compelling you to donate EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property to a PUBLIC use.
- 28 8.3. Exercising unconstitutional eminent domain over your otherwise PRIVATE property.
- 29 8.4. Compelling you to accept a public “benefit”, where the “protection” afforded by the license is the “benefit”.

30 The above requirements of the USA Constitution are circumvented with nothing more than the simple PRESUMPTION,
31 usually on the part of the IRS and corrupted judges who want to STEAL from you, that the GOVERNMENT owns it and that
32 you have to prove that they CONSENTED to let you keep the fruits of it. They can’t and never have proven that they have 33 such a right, and all such presumptions are a violation of due process of law.

34 (1) [8:4993] Conclusive presumptions affecting protected interests:

35 A conclusive presumption may be defeated where its application would impair a party's constitutionally-protected
36 liberty or property interests. In such cases, conclusive presumptions have been held to violate a party's due
37 process and equal protection rights. [Vlandis v. Kline (1973) 412 U.S. 441, 449, 93 S.Ct. 2230, 2235; Cleveland
38 Bed. of Ed. v. LaFleur (1974) 414 U.S. 632, 639-640, 94 S.Ct. 1208, 1215-presumption under Illinois law that 39 unmarried fathers are unfit violates process]
40 [Federal Civil Trials and Evidence, Rutter Group, 2006, paragraph 8:4993, p. 8K-34]

41 In order to unconstitutionally and TREASONOUSLY circumvent the above limitation on their right to presume, corrupt
42 governments and government actors will play “word games” with citizenship and key definitions in the ENCRYPTED “code”
43 in order to KIDNAP your legal identity and place it OUTSIDE the above protections of the constitution by:

- 44 11. PRESUMING that you are a public officer and therefore, that everything held in your name is PUBLIC property of the 45 GOVERNMENT and not YOUR PRIVATE PROPERTY. See:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a “Public Officer” for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008

- 46 12. Abusing fraudulent information returns to criminally and unlawfully “elect” you into public offices in the government:

13. PRESUMING that because you did not rebut evidence connecting you to a public office, then you CONSENT to occupy the office.
14. PRESUMING that ALL of the four contexts for "United States" are equivalent.
15. PRESUME that CONSTITUTIONAL citizens and STATUTORY citizens are EQUIVALENT under federal law. They are NOT. A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen is a "non-resident " under federal civil law and NOT a STATUTORY "national and citizen of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401. See the document below:

16. PRESUMING that "nationality" and "domicile" are equivalent. They are NOT. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

17. Using the word "citizenship" in place of "nationality" OR "domicile", and refusing to disclose WHICH of the two they mean in EVERY context.
18. Confusing the POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL meaning of words with the civil STATUTORY context. For instance, asking on government forms whether you are a POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL citizen and then FALSELY PRESUMING that you are a STATUTORY citizen under 8 U.S.C. §1401.
19. Confusing the words "domicile" and "residence" or impute either to you without satisfying the burden of proving that you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to it and thereby illegally kidnap your civil legal identity against your will. One can have only one "domicile" but many "residences" and BOTH require your consent. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

20. Adding things or classes of things to the meaning of statutory terms that do not EXPRESSLY appear in their definitions, in violation of the rules of statutory construction. See:

FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

21. Refusing to allow the jury to read the definitions in the law and then give them a definition that is in conflict with the statutory definition. This substitutes the JUDGES will for what the law expressly says and thereby substitutes PUBLIC POLICY for the written law.
22. Publishing deceptive government publications that are in deliberate conflict with what the statutes define "United States" as and then tell the public that they CANNOT rely on the publication. The IRS does this with ALL of their publications and it is FRAUD. See:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007

This kind of arbitrary discretion is PROHIBITED by the Constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

"When we consider the nature and the theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they are supposed to rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do not mean to leave room for the play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power."

Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, precisely predicted the above abuses when he astutely said:

"It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression,... that the germ of dissolution of our Federal Government is in the constitution of the Federal Judiciary--an irresponsible body (for impeachment is scarcely a scare-crow), working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the States and the government be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed."

[Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:331]

"Contrary to all correct example, [the Federal judiciary] are in the habit of going out of the question before them, to throw an anchor ahead and grapple further hold for future advances of power. They are then in fact the corps of sappers and miners, steadily working to undermine the independent rights of the States and to consolidate all power in the hands of that government in which they have so important a freehold estate."

[Thomas Jefferson: Autobiography, 1821. ME 1:121]

"The judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric. They are construing our Constitution from a co-ordination of a general and special government to a general and supreme one alone. This will lay all things at their feet, and they are too well versed in English law to forget the maxim, 'boni judicis est ampliare jurisdictionem.'"
[Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Ritchie, 1820. ME 15:297]

"When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."
[Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:332]

"What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculating, plundering, office-building ["trade or business" scam] and office-hunting would be produced by an assumption [PRESUMPTION] of all the State powers into the hands of the General Government!"
[Thomas Jefferson to Gideon Granger, 1800. ME 10:168]

The key to preventing the unconstitutional abuse of presumption by the corrupted judiciary and IRS to STEAL from people is to completely understand the content of the following memorandum of law and consistently apply it in every interaction with the government:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

It ought to be very obvious to the reader that:

1. The rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property ought to be consistently, completely, clearly, and unambiguously defined by every government officer you come in contact with, and ESPECIALLY in court. These rules ought to be DEMANDED to be declared EVEN BEFORE you enter a plea in a criminal case.
2. If the government asserts any right over your PRIVATE property, they are PRESUMING they are the LEGAL owner and relegating you to EQUITABLE ownership. This presumption should be forcefully challenged.
3. If they won't expressly define the rules, or try to cloud the rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property, then they are:
 - 3.1. Defeating the very purpose for which they were established as a "government". Hence, they are not a true "government" but a de facto private corporation PRETENDING to be a "government", which is a CRIME under 18 U.S.C. §912.
 - 3.2. Exercising unconstitutional eminent domain over private property without the consent of the owner and without compensation.
 - 3.3. Trying to STEAL from you.
 - 3.4. Violating their fiduciary duty to the public.

5.5 The Right to be left alone

The purpose of the Constitution of the United States of America is to confer the "right to be left alone", which is the essence of being sovereign:

"The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized men."
[Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting) ; see also Washington v. Harper, 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

The legal definition of "justice" confirms that its purpose is to protect your right to be "left alone":

PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

"Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual

1 life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or
2 the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise
3 to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights,
4 to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the 5 neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own
6 life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and
7 permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right."
8 [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

9 The Bible also states the foundation of justice by saying:

10 "Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
11 [Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

12 And finally, Thomas Jefferson agreed with the above by defining "justice" as follows in his First Inaugural Address:

13 "With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing
14 more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall 15 leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from 16 the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close
17 the circle of our felicities."
18 [Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

19 Therefore, the word "injustice" means interference with the equal rights of others absent their consent and which constitutes 20 an injury NOT as any law defines it, but as the PERSON who is injured defines it. Under this conception of "justice",
21 anything done with your consent cannot be classified as "injustice" or an injury.

22 Those who are "private persons" fit in the category of people who must be left alone as a matter of law:

23 "There is a clear distinction in this particular case between an individual and a corporation, and that the latter
24 has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an examination at the suit of the State. The individual
25 may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private business in his own
26 way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no such duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom,
27 beyond the protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long
28 antecedent to the organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in 29 accordance with the constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of 30 himself and his property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public
31 so long as he does not trespass upon their rights."
32 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43, 74 (1906)]

34 Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 (09-30-2004)
35 Payroll Deduction Agreements

36 2. Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction
37 agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements
38 before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.
39 [SOURCE: <http://sedm.org/Exhibits/EX05.043.pdf>]

40 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that the ability to regulate what it calls "private conduct" is repugnant to the 41 constitution. It is the differentiation between PRIVATE rights and PUBLIC rights, in fact, that forms the basis for enforcing 42 your right to be left alone:

43 "The power to "legislate generally upon" life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the "power to provide modes
44 of redress" against offensive state action, was "repugnant" to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States
45 v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S.
46 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see,
47 e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745
48 (1966), their treatment of Congress' §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been 49 questioned."
50 [City of Boerne v. Flores, Archbishop of San Antonio, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

51 Only by taking on a "public character" or engaging in "public conduct" rather than a "private" character may our actions
52 become the proper or lawful subject of federal or state legislation or regulation.

1 "One great object of the Constitution is to permit citizens to structure their private relations as they choose
2 subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law. [500 U.S. 614, 620]

3 To implement these principles, courts must consider from time to time where the governmental sphere [e.g.,
4 "public purpose" and "public office"] ends and the private sphere begins. Although the conduct of private
5 parties lies beyond the Constitution's scope in most instances, governmental authority may dominate an activity
6 to such an extent that its participants must be deemed to act with the authority of the government and, as a
7 result, be subject to constitutional constraints. This is the jurisprudence of state action, which explores the
8 "essential dichotomy" between the private sphere and the public sphere, with all its attendant constitutional

10 [. . .]

11 Given that the statutory authorization for the challenges exercised in this case is clear, the remainder of our state
12 action analysis centers around the second part of the Lugar test, whether a private litigant, in all fairness, must 13 be deemed a government actor in the use of peremptory challenges. Although we have recognized that this aspect
14 of the analysis is often a fact-bound inquiry, see Lugar, supra, 457 U.S. at 939, our cases disclose certain 15 principles of general application. Our precedents establish that, in determining whether a particular action or 16 course of conduct is governmental in character, it is relevant to examine the following: the extent to which the 17 actor relies on governmental assistance and benefits, see Tulsa Professional Collection Services, Inc. v. Pope,
18 485 U.S. 478 (1988); Burton v. Wilmington Parking Authority, 365 U.S. 715 (1961); whether the actor is 19 performing a traditional governmental function, see Terry v. Adams, 345 U.S. 461 (1953); Marsh v. Alabama,
20 326 U.S. 501 (1946); cf. San Francisco Arts & Athletics, Inc. v. United States Olympic [500 U.S. 614, 622]
21 Committee, 483 U.S. 522, 544 -545 (1987); and whether the injury caused is aggravated in a unique way by the 22 incidents of governmental authority, see Shelley v. Kraemer, 334 U.S. 1 (1948). Based on our application of these
23 three principles to the circumstances here, we hold that the exercise of peremptory challenges by the defendant
24 in the District Court was pursuant to a course of state action.
25 [Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Company, 500 U.S. 614 (1991)]

26 The phrase "subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law" refers ONLY to statutes or court decisions that 27 pertain to licensed or privileged activities or franchises, all of which:

- 28 1. Cause the licensee or franchisee to represent a "public office" and work for the government.
- 29 2. Cause the licensee or franchisee to act in a representative capacity as an officer of the government, which is a federal 30 corporation and therefore he or she becomes an "officer or employee of a corporation" acting in a representative capacity.
31 See 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7434, which both define a "person" within the I.R.C. criminal and penalty
32 provisions as an officer or employee of a corporation.
- 33 3. Change the effective domicile of the "office" or "public office" of the licensee or franchisee to federal territory pursuant 34 to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39), and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d).

35 IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.

36 (b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

37 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

38 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

39 (2) for a corporation [or the officers or "public officers" of the corporation], by the law under which it was 40 organized; and

41 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

42 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or 43 be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or 44 laws; and

45 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or 46 be sued in a United States court.

- 47 4. Create a "res" or "office" which is the subject of federal legislation and a "person" or "individual" within federal statutes.
48 For instance, the definition of "individual" within 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(2) reveals that it is a government employee with a
49 domicile in the statutory "United States", which is federal territory. Notice that the statute below is in Title 5, which is
50 "Government Organization and Employees", and that "citizens and residents of the United States" share in common a
51 legal domicile on federal territory. An "individual" is an officer of the government, and not a natural man or woman.
52 The office is the "individual", and not the man or woman who fills it:

53 TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
54 § 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(2) the term “individual” means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence;

If you don’t maintain a domicile on federal territory, which is called the “United States” in the U.S. Code, or you don’t work for the government by participating in its franchises, then the government has NO AUTHORITY to even keep records on you under the authority of the Privacy Act and you would be committing perjury under penalty of perjury to call yourself an “individual” on a government form. Why? Because you are the sovereign and the sovereign is not the subject of the law, but the author of the law!

“Since in common usage, the term person does not include the sovereign, statutes not employing the phrase are ordinarily construed to exclude it.”
[United States v. Cooper Corporation, 312 U.S. 600 (1941)]

“There is no such thing as a power of inherent Sovereignty in the government of the United States. In this country sovereignty resides in the People, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution entrusted to it: All else is withheld.”
[Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

“Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law for it is the author and source of law;”
[Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

“Under our form of government, the legislature is NOT supreme. It is only one of the organs of that ABSOLUTE SOVEREIGNTY which resides in the whole body of the PEOPLE; like other bodies of the government, it can only exercise such powers as have been delegated to it, and when it steps beyond that boundary, its acts.. are utterly VOID.”
[Billings v. Hall, 7 CA. 1]

“In Europe, the executive is synonymous with the sovereign power of a state...where it is too commonly acquired by force or fraud, or both...In America, however the case is widely different. Our government is founded upon compact. Sovereignty was, and is, in the people.”
[The Betsy, 3 Dall 6]

In summary, the only way the government can control you through civil law is to connect you to public conduct or a “public office” within the government executed on federal territory. If they are asserting jurisdiction that you believe they don’t have, it is probably because:

1. You misrepresented your domicile as being on federal territory within the “United States” or the “State of___” by declaring yourself to be either a statutory “U.S. citizen” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1401 or a statutory “resident” (alien) pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A). This made you subject to their laws and put you into a privileged state.
2. You filled out a government application for a franchise, which includes government benefits, professional licenses, driver’s licenses, marriage licenses, etc.
3. Someone else filed a document with the government which connected you to a franchise, even though you never consented to participate in the franchise. For instance, IRS information returns such as W-2, 1042S, 1098, and 1099 presumptively connect you to a “trade or business” in the U.S. government pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §6041. A “trade or business” is then defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as “the functions of a public office”. The only way to prevent this evidence from creating a liability under the franchise agreement provisions is to rebut it promptly. See:

5.6 The PUBLIC You (straw man) vs. the PRIVATE You (human)

It is extremely important to know the difference between PRIVATE and PUBLIC “persons”, because we all have private and public identities. This division of our identities is recognized in the following maxim of law:

Quando duo juro concurrunt in und personâ, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.
When two rights [public right v. private right] concur in one person, it is the same as if they were two separate persons. 4 Co. 118.
[Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

1 The U.S. Supreme Court also recognizes the division of PUBLIC v. PRIVATE:

2 “A private person cannot make constitutions or laws, nor can he with authority construe them, nor can he
3 administer or execute them.”
4 [United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 1 S.Ct. 601, 27 L.Ed. 290 (1883)]

5 “All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
6 carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
7 with [private] individuals.”
8 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824); In the headnotes. Not in the ruling]

10 “...we are of the opinion that there is a clear distinction in this particular between an [PRIVATE] individual
11 and a [PUBLIC] corporation, and that the latter has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an
12 examination at the suit of the state. The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is
13 entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty to
14 the state or to his neighbors to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may
15 tend to criminate him. He owes no such duty to the state, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the
16 protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the
17 organization of the state, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the
18 Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his
19 property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he
20 does not trespass upon their rights.

21 “Upon the other hand, the [PUBLIC] corporation is a creature of the state. It is presumed to be incorporated
22 for the benefit of the public. It receives certain special privileges and franchises, and holds them subject to the
23 laws of the state and the limitations of its charter. Its powers are limited by law. It can make no contract not
24 authorized by its charter. Its rights to [201 U.S. 43, 75] act as a corporation are only preserved to it so long
25 as it obeys the laws of its creation. There is a reserved right in the legislature to investigate its contracts and
26 find out whether it has exceeded its powers. It would be a strange anomaly to hold that a state, having chartered
27 a corporation to make use of certain franchises, could not, in the exercise of its sovereignty, inquire how these
28 franchises had been employed, and whether they had been abused, and demand the production of the corporate
29 books and papers for that purpose. The defense amounts to this: That an officer of a corporation which is charged
30 with a criminal violation of the statute, may plead the criminality of such corporation as a refusal to produce its
31 books. To state this proposition is to answer it. While an individual may lawfully refuse to answer incriminating
32 questions unless protected by an immunity statute, it does not follow that a corporation, vested with special
33 privileges and franchises, may refuse to show its hand when charged with an abuse of such privileges.”
34 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906)]

35 The next time you are in court as a PRIVATE person, here are some questions for the next jury, judge, or government
36 prosecutor trying to enforce a civil obligation upon you as a PRESUMED public officer called a “citizen”, “resident”,
37 “person”, or “taxpayer”:

- 38 1. How do you, a PRIVATE human, “OBEY” a law without “EXECUTING” it? We’ll give you a hint: It CAN’T BE 39 DONE!
- 40 2. What “public office” or franchise does the government claim to have “created” and therefore have the right to control
41 in the context of my otherwise exclusively PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights under the Constitution?
- 42 3. Who is the “customer” in the context of the IRS: The STATUTORY “taxpayer” public office or the PRIVATE human 43 filling the office?
- 44 4. Who gets to define what a “benefit” is in the context of “customers”? Isn’t it the human volunteering to be surety for 45 the “taxpayer” office and not the government grantor of the public office franchise?
- 46 5. What if I as the human compelled to become surety for the office define that compulsion as an INJURY rather than a 47 BENEFIT? Does that “end the privilege” and the jurisdiction to tax and regulate?
- 48 6. Isn’t a judge compelling you to violate your religious beliefs by compelling you to serve in a public office or accept the 49 DUTES of the office? Isn’t this a violation of the First Commandment NOT to serve “other gods”, which can and does 50 mean civil rulers or governments?

51 But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
52 And the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
53 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
54 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
55 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
56 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
57 over them.”
58 [1 Sam. 8:6-9, Bible, NKJV]

7. How can one UNILATERALLY ELECT themselves into public office by filling out a government form? The form isn't even signed by anyone in the government, such as a tax form or social security application, and therefore couldn't POSSIBLY be a valid contract anyway? Isn't this a FRAUD upon the United States and criminal bribery, using illegal "withholdings" to bribe someone to TREAT you as a public officer? See 18 U.S.C. §211.
8. How can a judge enforce civil statutory law that only applies to public officers without requiring proof on the record that you are CONSENSUALLY and LAWFULLY engaged in a public office? In other words, that you waived sovereign immunity by entering into a contract with the government.

"It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact to be answerable to the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of office, he would unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But because one man, by his own act [CONSENT], renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man, who has not incurred a similar obligation, be implicated? If, in other words, it is sufficient to vest a jurisdiction in this court, that a Federal Officer is concerned; if it is a sufficient proof of a case arising under a law of the United States to affect other persons, that such officer is bound, by law, to discharge his duty with fidelity; a source of jurisdiction is opened, which must inevitably overflow and destroy all the barriers between the judicial authorities of the State and the general government. Anything which can prevent a Federal Officer from the punctual, as well as from an impartial, performance of his duty; an assault and battery; or the recovery of a debt, as well as the offer of a bribe, may be made a foundation of the jurisdiction of this court; and, considering the constant disposition of power to extend the sphere of its influence, fictions will be resorted to, when real cases cease to occur. A mere fiction, that the defendant is in the custody of the marshal, has rendered the jurisdiction of the King's Bench universal in all personal actions."

9. Isn't this involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment to serve in a public office if you DON'T consent and they won't let you TALK about the ABSENCE of your consent?
10. Isn't it a violation of due process of law to PRESUME that you are public officer WITHOUT EVIDENCE on the record from an unbiased witness who has no financial interest in the outcome?

"A presumption is an assumption of fact that the law requires to be made from another fact or group of facts found or otherwise established in the action. A presumption is not evidence."

[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1185]

"If any question of fact or liability be conclusively be presumed [rather than proven] against him, this is not due process of law. [...] the presumption of innocence under which guilt must be proven by legally obtained evidence and the verdict must be supported by the evidence presented; rights at the earliest stage of the criminal process; and the guarantee that an individual will not be tried more than once for the same offence (double jeopardy).

[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 500]

*"A presumption is neither evidence nor a substitute for evidence."*⁴⁴

[American Jurisprudence 2d, Evidence, §181 (1999)]

11. If the judge won't enforce the requirement that the government as moving party has the burden of proving WITH EVIDENCE that you were LAWFULLY "appointed or elected" to a public office, aren't you therefore PRESUMED to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and therefore beyond the reach of the civil statutory law?
12. Isn't the judge criminally obstructing justice to interfere with requiring evidence on the record that you lawfully occupy a public office? See 18 U.S.C. §1503, whereby the judge is criminally "influencing" the PUBLIC you.
13. Isn't an unsupported presumption that prejudices a PRIVATE right a violation of the Constitution and doesn't the rights that UNCONSTITUTIONAL presumption prejudicially conveys to the government constitute a taking of rights without just compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?
14. Don't the rights that UNCONSTITUTIONAL presumptions prejudicially convey to the government constitute a taking of rights without just compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?
15. By what authority does the judge impose federal civil law within a constitutional state of the Union because:

⁴⁴ Levasseur v. Field (Me), 332 A.2d. 765; Hinds v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A.2d. 721, 85 A.L.R.2d. 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v. R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A.2d. 1113); Connizzo v. General American Life Ins. Co. (Mo App), 520 S.W.2d. 661.

15.1. Constitutional states are legislatively but not constitutionally foreign jurisdiction.

15.2. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) requires that those with a domicile outside of federal territory cannot be sued under federal law.

15.3. The Rules of Decision Act, 28 U.S.C. §1652 dictates that state rather than federal law applies.

16. Even if we ARE lawfully serving in a public office, don't we have the right to:

16.1. Be off duty?

16.2. Choose WHEN we want to be off duty?

16.3. Choose WHAT financial transactions we want to connect to the office?

16.4. Be protected in NOT volunteering to connect a specific activity to the public office? Governments LIE by calling something "voluntary" and yet refusing to protect those who do NOT consent to "volunteer", don't they?

16.5. Not be coerced to sign up for OTHER, unrelated public offices when we sign up for a single office? For instance, do we have a right not become a FEDERAL officer when we sign up for a STATE "driver license" and "public office" that ALSO requires us to have a Social Security Number to get the license, and therefore to ALSO become a FEDERAL officer at the same time.

If the answer to all the above is NO, then there ARE no PRIVATE rights or PRIVATE property and there IS no "government" because governments only protect PRIVATE rights and private property!

We'd love to hear a jury, judge, or prosecutor address this subject before they hall him away in a straight jacket to the nuthouse because of a completely irrational and maybe even criminal answer.

The next time you end up in front of a judge or government attorney enforcing a civil statute against you, you might want to insist on proof in the record during the process of challenging jurisdiction as a defendant or respondent:

1. WHICH of the two "persons" they are addressing or enforcing against.
2. How the two statuses, PUBLIC v. PRIVATE, became connected.
3. What specific act of EXPRESS consent connected the two. PRESUMPTION alone on the part of government can't. A presumption that the two became connected WITHOUT consent is an unconstitutional eminent domain in violation of the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause.

In a criminal trial, such a question would be called a "bill of particulars".

We can handle private and public affairs from the private, but we cannot handle private affairs from the public. The latter is one of the biggest mistakes many people make when trying to handle their commercial and lawful (private) or legal (public) affairs. Those who use PUBLIC property for PRIVATE gain in fact are STEALING and such stealing has always been a crime.

In law, all rights attach to LAND, and all privileges attach to one's STATUS under voluntary civil franchises. An example of privileged statuses include "taxpayer" (under the tax code), "person", "individual", "driver" (under the vehicle code), "spouse" (under the family code). Rights are PRIVATE, PRIVILEGES are PUBLIC.

In our society, the PRIVATE "straw man" was created by the application for the birth certificate. It is a legal person under contract law and under the Uniform Commercial Code (U.C.C.), with capacity to sue or be sued under the common law. It is PRIVATE PROPERTY of the human being described in the birth certificate.

The PUBLIC officer "straw man" (e.g. statutory "taxpayer") was created by the SSA Form SS-5, Application for the Social Security Card. It is a privileged STATUS under an unconstitutional national franchise of the de facto government. It is PROPERTY of the national government. The PUBLIC "straw man" is thoroughly described in:

Proof That There Is a "Straw Man", Form #05.042
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The PRIVATE "John Doe" is a statutory "non-resident non-person" not engaged in the "trade or business"/PUBLIC OFFICER franchise in relation to the PUBLIC. He exists in the republic and is a free inhabitant under the Articles of Confederation. He has inalienable rights and unlimited liabilities. Those unlimited liabilities are described in

The Unlimited Liability Universe
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Spirituality/Articles/UnlimitedLiabilityUniverse.htm>

1 The PUBLIC "JOHN DOE" is a public office in the government corporation and statutory "U.S. citizen" per 8 U.S.C. §1401,
2 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). He exists in the privileged socialist democracy. He has "benefits", franchises,
3 obligations, immunities, and limited liability.

4 In the PRIVATE, money is an ASSET and always in the form of something that has intrinsic value, i.e. gold or silver. Payment
5 for anything is in the form of commercial set off.

6 In the PUBLIC, money is a LIABILITY or debt and normally takes the form of a promissory note, i.e. a Federal Reserve
7 Note (FRN), a check, bond or note. Payment is in the form of discharge in the future.

8 The PRIVATE realm is the basis for all contract and commerce under the Uniform Commercial Code (U.C.C.). The PUBLIC
9 realm was created by the bankruptcy of the PRIVATE entity. Generally, creditors can operate from the PRIVATE. PUBLIC
10 entities are all debtors (or slaves). The exercise of the right to contract by the PRIVATE straw man makes human beings into 11 SURETY for the PUBLIC straw man.

12 Your judicious exercise of your right to contract and the requirement for consent that protects it is the main thing that keeps 13 the PUBLIC separate from the PRIVATE. See:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

14 Be careful how you use your right to contract! It is the most DANGEROUS right you have because it can destroy ALL
15 of your PRIVATE rights by converting them to PUBLIC rights and offices.

16 "These general rules are well settled:

17 (1) That the United States, when it creates rights in individuals against itself [a "public right", which is a
18 euphemism for a "franchise" to help the court disguise the nature of the transaction], is under no obligation
19 to provide a remedy through the courts. United States ex rel. Dunlap v. Black, 128 U.S. 40, 9 Sup.Ct. 12, 32

27 remedy expressly given excludes a right of review by the Court of Claims, where the decision of the special 28 tribunal involved no disputed question of fact and the denial of compensation was rested wholly upon the franchise granted without consideration is not a contract binding upon the state, franchisee, or pseudo-franchisee.⁴⁶ “

[36 American Jurisprudence 2d, Franchises, §6: As a Contract (1999)]

Franchises include Social Security, income taxation (“trade or business”/public office franchise), unemployment insurance, driver licensing (“driver” franchise), and marriage licensing (“spouse” franchise).

“You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a “resident” or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you.”
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

Governments become corrupt by:

1. Refusing to recognize the PRIVATE.
2. Undermining or interfering with the invocation of the common law in courts of justice.
3. Allowing false information returns to be abused to convert the PRIVATE into the PUBLIC without the consent of the owner.
4. Destroying or undermining remedies for the protection of PRIVATE rights.
5. Replacing CONSTITUTIONAL courts with LEGISLATIVE FRANCHISE courts.
6. Making judges into statutory franchisees such as “taxpayers”, through which they are compelled to have a conflict of interest that ultimately destroys or undermines all private rights. This is a crime and a civil offense in violation of 18 U.S.C. §208, 28 U.S.C. §144, and 28 U.S.C. §455.
7. Offering or enforcing government franchises to people not domiciled on federal territory. This breaks down the separation of powers and enforces franchise law extraterritorially.
8. Abusing “words of art” to blur or confuse the separation between the PUBLIC and the PRIVATE. (deception)
9. Removing the domicile prerequisite for participation in government franchises through policy and not law, thus converting them into essentially PRIVATE business ventures that operate entirely through the right to contract.
10. Abusing sovereign immunity to protect PRIVATE government business ventures, thus destroying competition and implementing a state-sponsored monopoly.
11. Refusing to criminally prosecute those who compel participation in government franchises.
12. Turning citizenship into a statutory franchise, and thus causing people who claim citizen status to unwittingly become PUBLIC officers.
13. Allowing presumption to be used as a substitute for evidence in any proceeding to enforce government franchises against an otherwise PRIVATE party. This violates due process of law, unfairly advantages the government, and imputes to the government supernatural powers as an object of religious worship.

Therefore, it is important to learn how to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and a CREDITOR in all of our affairs. Freedom is possible in the PRIVATE; it is not even a valid fantasy in the realm of the PUBLIC.

5.7 The Ability to Regulate Private Rights and Private Conduct is Repugnant to the Constitution

The following cite establishes that private rights and private property are entirely beyond the control of the government:

*When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain. "A body politic," as aptly defined in the preamble of the Constitution of Massachusetts, "is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good." This does not confer power upon the whole people to control rights which are purely and exclusively private, Thorpe v. R. & B. Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 143; but it does authorize the establishment of laws requiring each citizen to so conduct himself, and so use his own property, as not unnecessarily to injure another. This is the very essence of government, and 125*125 has found expression in the maxim sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas. From this source come the police powers, which, as was said by Mr. Chief Justice Taney in the License Cases, 5 How. 583, "are nothing more or less than the powers of government inherent in every sovereignty. . . that is to say, . . . the power to govern men and things." Under these powers the government regulates the conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner in which each shall use his own property, when such regulation becomes necessary for the public good. In their exercise it has been customary in England from time immemorial, and in this country from its first colonization, to regulate ferries, common carriers, hackmen, bakers, millers, wharfingers, innkeepers, &c., and in so doing to fix a maximum of charge to be made for services rendered, accommodations furnished, and articles sold. To this day, statutes are to be found in many of the States upon some or all these subjects; and we think it has never yet been successfully contended that such legislation came within any of the constitutional prohibitions against interference with private property. With the Fifth Amendment in force, Congress, in 1820, conferred power upon the city of Washington "to regulate . . . the rates of wharfage at private wharves, . . . the sweeping of chimneys, and to fix the rates of fees therefor, . . . and the weight and quality of bread," 3 Stat. 587, sect. 7; and, in 1848, "to make all necessary regulations respecting hackney carriages and the rates of fare of the same, and the rates of hauling by cartmen, wagoners, carmen, and draymen, and the rates of commission of auctioneers," 9 id. 224, sect. 2. [Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876), SOURCE: http://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=6419197193322400931]*

Notice that they say that the ONLY basis to regulate private rights is to prevent injury of one man to another by the use of said property. They say that this authority is the origin of the "police powers" of the state. What they hide, however, is that these same POLICE POWERS involve the CRIMINAL laws and EXCLUDE the CIVIL laws or even franchises. You can TELL they are trying to hide something because around this subject they invoke the Latin language that is unknown to most Americans to conceal the nature of what they are doing. Whenever anyone invokes Latin in a legal setting, a red flag ought to go up because you KNOW they are trying to hide a KEY fact. Here is the Latin they invoked:

"sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas"

The other phrase to notice in the Munn case above is the use of the word "social compact". A compact is legally defined as a contract.

"Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their

1 distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right
2 that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause;
3 Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty."
4 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

5 Therefore, one cannot exercise their First Amendment right to legally associate with or contract with a SOCIETY and thereby
6 become a party to the "social compact/contract" without ALSO becoming a STATUTORY "citizen". By statutory citizen,
7 we really mean a domiciliary of a SPECIFIC municipal jurisdiction, and not someone who was born or naturalized in that 8 place. Hence, by STATUTORY citizen we mean a person who:

- 9 1. Has voluntarily chosen a civil domicile within a specific municipal jurisdiction and thereby become a "citizen" or 10 "resident" of said jurisdiction. "citizens" or "residents" collectively are called "inhabitants".
- 11 2. Has indicated their choice of domicile on government forms in the block called "residence" or "permanent address".
- 12 3. CONSENTS to be protected by the regional civil laws of a SPECIFIC municipal government.

13 A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen, on the other hand, is someone who cannot consent to choose the place of their birth. These
14 people in federal statutes are called "non-residents". Neither BEING BORN nor being PHYSICALLY PRESENT in a place
15 is an express exercise of one's discretion or an act of CONSENT, and therefore cannot make one a government contractor
16 called a statutory "U.S. citizen". That is why birth or naturalization determines nationality but not their status under the 17 CIVIL laws. All civil jurisdiction is based on "consent of the governed", as the Declaration of Independence indicates. Those 18 who do NOT consent to the civil laws that implement the social compact of the municipal government they are 19 PHYSICALLY situated within are called "free inhabitants", "nonresidents", "transient foreigners", or "foreign sovereigns".
20 These "free inhabitants" are mentioned in the Articles of Confederation, which continue to this day and they are NOT the 21 same and mutually exclusive to a statutory "U.S. citizen". These "free inhabitants" instead are CIVILLY governed by the 22 common law RATHER than the civil law.

23 Police men are NOT allowed to involve themselves in CIVIL disputes and may ONLY intervene or arrest anyone when a
24 CRIME has been committed. They CANNOT arrest for an "infraction", which is a word designed to hide the fact that the 25 statute being enforced is a CIVIL or FRANCHISE statute not involving the CRIMINAL "police powers". Hence, civil 26 jurisdiction over PRIVATE rights is NOT authorized among those who HAVE such rights. Only those who know those 27 rights and claim and enforce them, not through attorneys but in their proper person, have such rights. Nor can those PRIVATE 28 rights lawfully be surrendered to a REAL, de jure government, even WITH consent, if they are, in fact UNALIENABLE as 29 the Declaration of Independence indicates.

30 "Unalienable. Inalienable; incapable of being aliened, that is, sold and transferred."
31 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1693]

32 The only people who can consent to give away a right are those who HAVE no rights because domiciled on federal territory
33 not protected by the Constitution or the Bill of Rights:

34 "Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform
35 to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or
36 conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every
37 state in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the
38 definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and
39 is exercised by representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the
40 territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan,
41 Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing
42 a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative
43 power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not
44 until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the
45 people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress
46 thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that
47 the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of
48 habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights."
49 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

50 To apply these concepts, the police enforce the "vehicle code", but most of the vehicle code is a civil franchise that they may 51 NOT enforce without ABUSING the police powers of the state. In recognition of these concepts, the civil provisions of the 52 vehicle code are called "infractions" rather than "crimes". AND, before the civil provisions of the vehicle code may lawfully 53 be enforced against those using the public roadways, one must be a "resident" with a domicile not within the state, but on federal territory where rights don't exist. All civil law attaches to SPECIFIC territory. That is why by applying for a driver's license, most state vehicle codes require that the person must be a "resident" of the state, meaning a person with a domicile within the statutory but not Constitutional "United States", meaning federal territory.

So what the vehicle codes in most states do is mix CRIMINAL and CIVIL and even PRIVATE franchise law all into one title of code, call it the "Vehicle code", and make it extremely difficult for even the most law abiding "citizen" to distinguish which provisions are CIVIL/FRANCHISES and which are CRIMINAL, because they want to put the police force to an UNLAWFUL use enforcing CIVIL rather than CRIMINAL law. This has the practical effect of making the "CODE" not only a deception, but void for vagueness on its face, because it fails to give reasonable notice to the public at large, WHICH specific provisions pertain to EACH subset of the population. That in fact, is why they have to call it "the code", rather than simply "law": Because the truth is encrypted and hidden in order to unlawfully expand their otherwise extremely limited civil jurisdiction. The two subsets of the population who they want to confuse and mix together in order to undermine your sovereignty are:

1. Those who consent to the "social compact" by choosing a domicile or residence within a specific municipal jurisdiction. These people are identified by the following statutory terms:
 - 1.1. Individuals.
 - 1.2. Residents.
 - 1.3. Citizens.
 - 1.4. Inhabitants.
 - 1.5. PUBLIC officers serving as an instrumentality of the government.
2. Those who do NOT consent to the "social compact" and who therefore are called:
 - 2.1. Free inhabitants.
 - 2.2. Nonresidents.
 - 2.3. Transient foreigners.
 - 2.4. Sojourners.
 - 2.5. EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE human beings beyond the reach of the civil statutes implementing the social compact.

So how can they reach those in constitutional states with the vehicle code who are neither domiciled on federal territory nor representing a public office that is domiciled there? The way they get around the problem of only being able to enforce the CIVIL provisions of the vehicle code against domiciliaries of the federal zone is to:

1. Force those who apply for driver licenses to misrepresent their status so they appear as either statutory citizens or public officers on official business. This is done using the "permanent address" block and requiring a Social Security Number to get a license.
2. Confuse CONSTITUTIONAL "citizens" with STATUTORY "citizens", to make them appear the same even though they are NOT.
3. Arrest people domiciled in constitutional states for driving WITHOUT a license, even though technically these provisions can only be enforceable against those who are acting as a public officer WHILE driving AND who are STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL "citizens". This creates the false appearance that EVERYONE must have a license, rather than only those domiciled on federal territory or representing an office domiciled there.

The act of "governing" WITHOUT consent therefore implies CRIMINAL governing, not CIVIL governing. To procure CIVIL jurisdiction over a private right requires the CONSENT of the owner of the right. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court states in Munn the following:

"When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain."
SOURCE: http://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=6419197193322400931/]

Therefore, if one DOES NOT consent to join a "society" as a statutory citizen, he RETAINS those SOVEREIGN rights that would otherwise be lost through the enforcement of the civil law. Here is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes this requirement of law:

1 "Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, - 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;' and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
2 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations:

4 [1] First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must 5 use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and 6 every other public "benefit"];

7 [2] second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and

8 [3] third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation."
9 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

10 A PRIVATE right that is unalienable cannot be given away, even WITH consent. Hence, the only people that any government
11 may CIVILLY govern are those without unalienable rights, all of whom MUST therefore be domiciled on federal territory
12 where CONSTITUTIONAL rights do not exist. Obviously, Congress may by legislation IRREVOCABLY extend the 13 protections of the Constitution to federal territory, but all federal territory is presumed to not be within the protections of the 14 Constitution unless and until Congress permits it.

15 Notice that when they are talking about "regulating" conduct using CIVIL law, all of a sudden they mention "citizens" instead
16 of ALL PEOPLE. These "citizens" are those with a DOMICILE within federal territory not protected by the Constitution:

17 "Under these powers the government regulates the conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner
18 in which each shall use his own property, when such regulation becomes necessary for the public good."

19 All statutory "citizens" that they can regulate therefore must be WITHIN the government and be acting as public officers.
20 Otherwise, they would continue to be PRIVATE parties beyond the CIVIL control of any government. Hence, in a 21 Republican Form of Government where the People are sovereign:

- 22 1. The only "subjects" under the civil law are public officers in the government.
- 23 2. The government is counted as a STATUTORY "citizen" but not a CONSTITUTIONAL "citizen". All 24 CONSTITUTIONAL citizens are human beings and CANNOT be artificial entities. All STATUTORY citizens, on the 25 other hand, are artificial entities and franchises and NOT CONSTITUTIONAL citizens.

26 "A corporation [the U.S. government, and all those who represent it as public officers, is a federal corporation
27 per 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A)] is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of 28 which it was created, and of that state or country only."

- 44 3. The only statutory "citizens" are public offices in the government.
- 45 4. By serving in a public office, one becomes the same type of "citizen" as the GOVERNMENT is.

These observations are consistent with the very word roots that form the word "republic". The following video says the word origin comes from "res publica", which means a collection of PUBLIC rights shared by the public. You must therefore JOIN "the public" and become a public officer before you can partake of said PUBLIC right.

Overview of America, SEDM Liberty University, Section 2.3
<http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>

This gives a WHOLE NEW MEANING to Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, in which he refers to American government as:

"A government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

You gotta volunteer as an uncompensated public officer for the government to CIVILLY govern you. Hence, the only thing they can CIVILLY GOVERN, is the GOVERNMENT! Pretty sneaky, huh? Here is a whole memorandum of law on this subject proving such a conclusion:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>

The other important point we wish to emphasize is that those who are EXCLUSIVELY private and therefore beyond the reach of the civil law are:

1. Free inhabitants.
2. Not a statutory "person" under the civil law or franchise statute in question.
3. Not "individuals" under the CIVIL law if they are human beings. All statutory "individuals", in fact, are identified as "employees" under 5 U.S.C. §2105(a). This is the ONLY statute that describes HOW one becomes a statutory "individual" that we have been able to find.
4. "foreign", a "transient foreigner", and sovereign in respect to government CIVIL but not CRIMINAL jurisdiction.
5. NOT "subject to" but also not necessarily statutorily "exempt" under the civil or franchise statute in question.

For a VERY interesting background on the subject of this section, we recommend reading the following case:

Mugler v. Kansas, 123 U.S. 623 (1887)
SOURCE: http://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=12658364258779560123

5.8 "Public" v. "Private" employment: You Will Be ILLEGALLY Treated as a Public Officer if you Apply for or Receive Government "Benefits"

"All systems either of preference or of restraint, therefore, being thus completely taken away, the obvious and simple system of natural liberty establishes itself of its own accord. Every man, as long as he does not violate the laws of justice, is left perfectly free to pursue his own interest his own way, and to bring both his industry and capital into competition with those of any other man or order of men. The sovereign is completely discharged from a duty, in the attempting to perform which he must always be exposed to innumerable delusions, and for the proper performance of which no human wisdom or knowledge could ever be sufficient: the duty of superintending the industry of private people."
[Adam Smith, An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations (1776)]

The U.S. Supreme Court has held many times that the ONLY purpose for lawful, constitutional taxation is to collect revenues to support ONLY the machinery and operations of the government and its "employees". This purpose, it calls a "public use" or "public purpose":

*"The power to tax is, therefore, the strongest, the most pervading of all powers of government, reaching directly or indirectly to all classes of the people. It was said by Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of McCulloch v. Md., 4 Wheat. 431, that the power to tax is the power to destroy. A striking instance of the truth of the proposition is seen in the fact that the existing tax of ten per cent, imposed by the United States on the circulation of all other banks than the National Banks, drove out of existence every state bank of circulation within a year or two after its passage. This power can be readily employed against one class of individuals and in favor of another, so as to ruin the one class and give unlimited wealth and prosperity to the other, if there is no implied limitation of the uses for which the power may be exercised."

To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms.

Nor is it taxation. 'A tax,' says Webster's Dictionary, 'is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.' 'Taxes are burdens or charges imposed by the Legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.' Cooley, Const. Lim., 479.

Coulter, J., in Northern Liberties v. St. John's Church, 13 Pa.St. 104 says, very forcibly, 'I think the common mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11 Johns., 77; Camden v. Allen, 2 Dutch., 398; Sharpless v. Mayor, supra; Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Ia. 47; Whiting v. Fond du Lac, supra."
[Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

"A tax, in the general understanding of the term and as used in the constitution, signifies an exaction for the support of the government. The word has never thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another."
[U.S. v. Butler, 297 U.S. 1 (1936)]

Black's Law Dictionary defines the word "public purpose" as follows:

"Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage, are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax, police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. "Public purpose" that will justify expenditure of public money generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time is directly related function of government. Pack v. Southwestern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 215 Tenn. 503, 387 S.W.2d. 789, 794.

The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow; the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote such public purpose or public business."

A related word defined in Black's Law Dictionary is "public use":

Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For condemnation purposes, "public use" is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of public, a "public advantage" or "public benefit" accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it; if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage, or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A "public use" for which land may be taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences, changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn. 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

Black's Law Dictionary also defines the word "tax" as follows:

"Tax: A charge by the government on the income of an individual, corporation, or trust, as well as the value of an estate or gift. The objective in assessing the tax is to generate revenue to be used for the needs of the public.

A pecuniary [relating to money] burden laid upon individuals or property to support the government, and is a payment exacted by legislative authority. In re Mytinger, D.C.Tex. 31 F.Supp. 977,978,979. Essential characteristics of a tax are that it is NOT A VOLUNTARY PAYMENT OR DONATION, BUT AN ENFORCED CONTRIBUTION, EXACTED PURSUANT TO LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY. Michigan Employment Sec. Commission v. Patt, 4 Mich.App. 228, 144 N.W.2d. 663, 665. ..."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1457]

So in order to be legitimately called a "tax" or "taxation", the money we pay to the government must fit all of the following criteria:

1. The money must be used ONLY for the support of government. It cannot go to a private person, or even to those who THINK they are private but aren't.
2. The subject of the tax must be "liable", and responsible to pay for the support of government under the force of law.
3. The money must go toward a "public purpose" rather than a "private purpose".
4. The monies paid cannot be described as wealth transfer between two people or classes of PRIVATE people within society.
5. The monies paid cannot aid one group of private individuals in society at the expense of another group, because this violates the concept of equal protection of law for all citizens found in Fourteenth Amendment, Section 1.

If the monies demanded by government do not fit all of the above requirements, then they are being used for a "private" purpose and cannot be called "taxes" or "taxation", according to the U.S. Supreme Court. Actions by the government to enforce the payment of any monies that do not meet all the above requirements can therefore only be described as:

1. Theft and robbery by the government in the guise of "taxation"
2. Government by decree rather than by law
3. Extortion under the color of law in violation 18 U.S.C. §872.
4. Tyranny
5. Socialism
6. Mob rule and a tyranny by the "have-nots" against the "haves"
7. 18 U.S.C. §241: Conspiracy against rights. The IRS shares tax return information with states of the union, so that both of them can conspire to deprive you of your property.
8. 18 U.S.C. §242: Deprivation of rights under the color of law. The Fifth Amendment says that people in states of the Union cannot be deprived of their property without due process of law or a court hearing. Yet, the IRS tries to make it appear like they have the authority to just STEAL these people's property for a fabricated tax debt that they aren't even legally liable for.
9. 18 U.S.C. §247: Damage to religious property; obstruction of persons in the free exercise of religious beliefs
10. 18 U.S.C. §872: Extortion by officers or employees of the United States.
11. 18 U.S.C. §876: Mailing threatening communications. This includes all the threatening notices regarding levies, liens, and idiotic IRS letters that refuse to justify why government thinks we are "liable".
12. 18 U.S.C. §880: Receiving the proceeds of extortion. Any money collected from Americans through illegal enforcement actions and for which the contributors are not "liable" under the law is extorted money, and the IRS is in receipt of the proceeds of illegal extortion.
13. 18 U.S.C. §1581: Peonage, obstructing enforcement. IRS is obstructing the proper administration of the Internal Revenue Code and the Constitution, which require that they respect those who choose NOT to volunteer to participate in the federal donation program identified under subtitle A of the I.R.C.
14. 18 U.S.C. §1583: Enticement into slavery. IRS tries to enlist "nontaxpayers" to rejoin the ranks of other peons who pay taxes they aren't demonstrably liable for, which amount to slavery.
15. 18 U.S.C. §1589: Forced labor. Being forced to expend one's personal time responding to frivolous IRS notices and pay taxes on my labor that I am not liable for.

The U.S. Supreme Court has further characterized all efforts to abuse the tax system in order to accomplish “wealth transfer” as “political heresy” that is a denial of republican principles that form the foundation of our Constitution, when it issued the following strong words of rebuke. Incidentally, the case below also forms the backbone of reasons why the Internal Revenue Code can never be anything more than private law that only applies to those who volunteer into it:

*“The Legislature may enjoin, permit, forbid, and punish; they may declare new crimes; and establish rules of conduct for all its citizens in future cases; they may command what is right, and prohibit what is wrong; but they [the government] cannot change innocence [a “nontaxpayer”] into guilt [a “taxpayer”]; or punish innocence as a crime [criminally prosecute a “nontaxpayer” for violation of the tax laws]; or violate the right of an antecedent lawful private contract; or the right of private property. To maintain that our Federal, or State, Legislature possesses such powers [of THEFT and FRAUD], if they had not been expressly restrained; would, 389 in my opinion, be a political heresy, altogether inadmissible in our free republican governments.”
[Calder v. Bull, 3 U.S. 386 (1798)]

We also cannot assume or suppose that our government has the authority to make “gifts” of monies collected through its taxation powers, and especially not when paid to private individuals or foreign countries because:

1. The Constitution DOES NOT authorize the government to “gift” money to anyone within states of the Union or in foreign countries, and therefore, this is not a Constitutional use of public funds, nor does unauthorized expenditure of such funds produce a tangible public benefit, but rather an injury, by forcing those who do not approve of the gift to subsidize it and yet not derive any personal benefit whatsoever for it.
2. The Supreme Court identifies such abuse of taxing powers as “robbery in the name of taxation” above.

Based on the foregoing analysis, we are then forced to divide the monies collected by the government through its taxing powers into only two distinct classes. We also emphasize that every tax collected and every expenditure originating from the tax paid MUST fit into one of the two categories below:

Table 11: Two methods for taxation

#	Characteristic	Public use/purpose	Private use/purpose
1	Authority for tax	U.S. Constitution	Legislative fiat, tyranny
2	Monies collected described by Supreme Court as	Legitimate taxation	“Robbery in the name of taxation” (see Loan Assoc. v. Topeka , above)
3	Money paid only to following parties	Federal “employees”, contractors, and agents	Private parties with no contractual relationship or agency with the government
4	Government that practices this form of taxation is	A righteous government	A THIEF
5	This type of expenditure of revenues collected is:	Constitutional	Unconstitutional
6	Lawful means of collection	Apportioned direct or indirect taxation	Voluntary donation (cannot be lawfully implemented as a “tax”)
7	Tax system based on this approach is	A lawful means of running a government	A charity and welfare state for private interests, thieves, and criminals
8	Government which identifies payment of such monies as mandatory and enforceable is	A righteous government	A lying, thieving government that is deceiving the people.
9	When enforced, this type of tax leads to	Limited government that sticks to its corporate charter, the Constitution	Socialism Communism Mafia protection racket Organized extortion
10	Lawful subjects of Constitutional, federal taxation	Taxes on imports into states of the Union coming from foreign countries. See Constitution, Article 1, Section 8, Clause 3 (external) taxation.	No subjects of lawful taxation. Whatever unconstitutional judicial fiat and a deceived electorate will tolerate is what will be imposed and enforced at the point of a gun

#	Characteristic	Public use/purpose	Private use/purpose
11	Tax system based on	Private property VOLUNTARILY donated to a public use by its exclusive owner	All property owned by the state, which is FALSELY PRESUMED TO BE EVERYTHING. Tax becomes a means of “renting” what amounts to state property to private individuals for temporary use.

The U.S. Supreme Court also helped to clarify how to distinguish the two above categories when it said:

“It is undoubtedly the duty of the legislature which imposes or authorizes municipalities to impose a tax to see that it is not to be used for purposes of private interest instead of a public use, and the courts can only be justified in interposing when a violation of this principle is clear and the [87 U.S. 665] reason for interference cogent. And in deciding whether, in the given case, the object for which the taxes are assessed falls upon the one side or the other of this line, they must be governed mainly by the course and usage of the government, the objects for which taxes have been customarily and by long course of legislation levied, what objects or purposes have been considered necessary to the support and for the proper use of the government, whether state or municipal. Whatever lawfully pertains to this and is sanctioned by time and the acquiescence of the people may well be held to belong to the public use, and proper for the maintenance of good government, though this may not be the only criterion of rightful taxation.”

If we give our government the benefit of the doubt by “assuming” or “presuming” that it is operating lawfully and consistent with the model on the left above, then we have no choice but to conclude that everyone who lawfully receives any kind of federal payment MUST be either a federal “employee” or “federal contractor” on official duty, and that the compensation received must be directly connected to the performance of a sovereign or Constitutionally authorized function of government. Any other conclusion or characterization of a lawful tax other than this is irrational, inconsistent with the rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court on this subject, and an attempt to deceive the public about the role of limited Constitutional government based on Republican principles. This means that you cannot participate in any of the following federal social insurance programs WITHOUT being a federal “employee”, and if you refuse to identify yourself as a federal employee, then you are admitting that your government is a thief and a robber that is abusing its taxing powers:

1. Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. I.R.C. (26 U.S.C.) sections 1, 32, and 162 all confer privileged financial benefits to the participant which constitute federal “employment” compensation.
2. Social Security.
3. Unemployment compensation.
4. Medicare.

An examination of the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(13\), in fact, identifies all those who participate in the above programs as “federal personnel”, which means federal “employees”. To wit:

TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§ 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(13) the term “Federal personnel” means officers and employees of the Government of the United States, members of the uniformed services (including members of the Reserve Components), individuals entitled to receive immediate or deferred retirement benefits under any retirement program of the Government of the United States (including survivor benefits).

The “individual” they are talking about above is further defined in 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(2\) as follows:

TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§ 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(2) the term “individual” means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence;

1 The “citizen of the United States” they are talking above is based on the STATUTORY rather than CONSTITUTIONAL
2 definition of the “United States”, which means it refers to “national and citizen of the United States at birth” under 8 U.S.C.
3 §1401 rather than a CONSTITUTIONAL or Fourteenth Amendment “Citizen” or “citizen of the United States respectively
4 born in and domiciled in states of the Union. We cover this in:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5 Also, note that both of the two preceding definitions are found within Title 5 of the U.S. Code, which is entitled “Government
6 Organization and Employees”. Therefore, it refers ONLY to government “employees” and excludes private employees.
7 There is no definition of the term “individual” anywhere in Title 26 (I.R.C.) of the U.S. Code or any other title that refers to 8 private natural humans, because Congress cannot legislate for them. Notice the use of the phrase “private business” in the 9 U.S. Supreme Court ruling below:

10 *“The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private
11 business in his own way [unregulated by the government]. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty
12 to the State or to his neighbor to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may

17 *from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public [including so-called

19 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43, 74 (1906)]

20 The purpose of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights instead is to REMOVE authority of the Congress to legislate for private 21 persons and thereby protect their sovereignty and dignity. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the following:

22 “The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They
23 recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a

30 QUESTIONS FOR DOUBTERS: If you aren’t a federal “employee” as a person participating in Social Security and the 31 Internal Revenue Code, then why are all of the Social Security Regulations located in Title 20 of the Code of Federal 32 Regulations under parts 400-499, entitled “Employee Benefits”? See for yourself:

33 http://law.justia.com/cfr/title20/20cfrv2_02.html

34 Another very important point to make here is that the purpose of nearly all federal law is to regulate “public conduct” rather 35 than “private conduct”. Congress must write laws to regulate and control every aspect of the behavior of its employees so 36 that they do not adversely affect the rights of private individuals like you, who they exist exclusively to serve and protect.
37 Most federal statutes, in fact, are exclusively for use by those working in government and simply do not apply to private 38 citizens in the conduct of their private lives. This fact is exhaustively proven with evidence in:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

39 Franchises of the National (not federal but national) government cannot apply to the private people at large because the 40 Thirteenth Amendment says that involuntary servitude has been abolished. If involuntary servitude is abolished, then they 41 can’t use, or in this case “abuse” the authority of law to impose ANY kind of duty against any private people except possibly 42 the responsibility to avoid hurting their neighbor and thereby depriving him of the equal rights he enjoys.

43 For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery,” “You shall not murder,” “You shall not steal,” “You
44 shall not bear false witness,” “You shall not covet,” and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up
45 in this saying, namely, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of [the ONLY requirement of] the law [which is to avoid hurting your neighbor and thereby love him].
[Romans 13:9-10, Bible, NKJV]

"Do not strive with a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
[Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, summed up this singular duty of government to LEAVE PEOPLE ALONE and only interfere or impose a "duty" using the authority of law when and only when they are hurting each other in order to protect them and prevent the harm when he said.

"With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities."
[Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this view, when it ruled:

"The power to "legislate generally upon" life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the "power to provide modes of redress" against offensive state action, was "repugnant" to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S. 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see, e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745 (1966), their treatment of Congress' §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been questioned."

What the U.S. Supreme Court is saying above is that the government has no authority to tell you how to run your private life. This is contrary to the whole idea of the Internal Revenue Code, whose main purpose is to monitor and control every aspect of those who are subject to it. In fact, it has become the chief means for Congress to implement what we call "social engineering". Just by the deductions they offer, people are incentivized into all kinds of crazy behaviors in pursuit of reductions in a liability that they in fact do not even have. Therefore, the only reasonable thing to conclude is that Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A which would "appear" to regulate the private conduct of all human beings in states of the Union, in fact:

1. Only applies to "public employees", "public offices", and federal instrumentalities in the official conduct of their duties on behalf of the municipal corporation located in the District of Columbia, which 4 U.S.C. §72 makes the "seat of government".
2. Does not CREATE any new public offices or instrumentalities within the national government, but only regulates the exercise of EXISTING public offices lawfully created through Title 5 of the U.S. Code. The IRS abuses its forms to unlawfully CREATE public offices within the federal government. In payroll terminology, this is called "creating fictitious employees", and it is not only quite common, but highly illegal and can get private workers FIRED on the spot if discovered.
3. Regulates PUBLIC and not PRIVATE conduct and therefore does not pertain to private human beings.
4. Constitutes a franchise and a "benefit" within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. §552a. Tax "refunds" and "deductions", in fact, are the "benefit", and 26 U.S.C. §162 says that all those who take deductions MUST, in fact, be engaged in a public office within the government, which is called a "trade or business":

TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§ 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(12) the term "Federal benefit program" means any program administered or funded by the Federal Government, or by any agent or State on behalf of the Federal Government, providing cash or in-kind assistance in the form of payments, grants, loans, or loan guarantees to individuals: . . .

5. Has the job of concealing all the above facts in thousands of pages and hundreds of thousands of words so that the average American is not aware of it. That is why they call it the "code" instead of simply "law": Because it is private law you have to volunteer for and an “encryption” and concealment device for the truth. Now we know why former Treasury Secretary Paul O’Neil called the Internal Revenue Code “9500 pages of gibberish” before he quit his job in disgust and went on a campaign to criticize government.

The I.R.C. therefore essentially amounts to a part of the job responsibility and the “employment contract” of EXISTING “public employees”, “public officers”, and federal instrumentalities. This was also confirmed by the House of Representatives, who said that only those who take an oath of “public office” are subject to the requirements of the personal income tax. See:

<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/PublicOrPrivate-Tax-Return.pdf>

The total lack of authority of the government to regulate or tax private conduct explains why, for instance:

1. The vehicle code in your state cannot be enforced on PRIVATE property. It only applies on PUBLIC roads owned by the government
2. The family court in your state cannot regulate the exercise of unlicensed and therefore PRIVATE CONTRACT marriage. Marriage licenses are a franchise that make those applying into public officers. Family court is a franchise court and the equivalent of binding arbitration that only applies to fellow statutory government “employees”.
3. City conduct ordinances such as those prohibiting drinking by underage minors only apply to institutions who are licensed, and therefore PUBLIC institutions acting as public officers of the government.

Within the Internal Revenue Code, those legal “persons” who work for the government are identified as engaging in a “public office”. A “public office” within the Internal Revenue Code is called a “trade or business”, which is defined below. We emphasize that engaging in a privileged “trade or business” is the main excise taxable activity that in fact and in deed is what REALLY makes a person a “taxpayer” subject to the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A:

26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701(a)(26)

"The term 'trade or business' includes the performance of the functions of a public office."

Below is the definition of “public office”:

Public office

“Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:

- (1) Authority conferred by law,*
- (2) Fixed tenure of office, and*
- (3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.*
- (4) Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function”.*
- (5) Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are:*
 - (a) Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature.*
 - (b) Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position,*
 - (c) Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority.*
 - (d) Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and*
 - (e) Position must have some permanency.”*

[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

Those who are fulfilling the “functions of a public office” are under a legal, fiduciary duty as “trustees” of the “public trust”, while working as “volunteers” for the “charitable trust” called the “United States Government Corporation”, which we affectionately call “U.S. Inc.”:

“As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.”⁴⁷
Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain

⁴⁷ State ex rel. Nagle v. Sullivan, 98 Mont. 425, 40 P.2d. 995, 99 A.L.R. 321; Jersey City v. Hague, 18 N.J. 584, 115 A.2d. 8.

1 from a discharge of their trusts.⁴⁸ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political
2 entity on whose behalf he or she serves.⁴⁹ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.⁵⁰ It has been said that the
3 fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.⁵¹ Furthermore,
4 it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence
5 and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁵²
6 [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

7 “U.S. Inc.” is a federal corporation, as defined below:

8 “Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by 9 usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but 10 whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of 11 power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the 12 instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is 13 a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all 14 persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst.
15 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing
16 of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of 17 individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a 18 principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal 19 government, by the amendments to the constitution.”

31 Those who are acting as “public officers” for “U.S. Inc.” have essentially donated their formerly private property to a “public

25 The reason governments are created, according to the Declaration of Independence, is exclusively to protect PRIVATE rights.
26 The only thing MENTIONED in the Declaration, in fact, as the object of protection is HUMANS, not GOVERNMENTS.
27 Government did not CREATE these PRIVATE, UNALIENABLE rights and therefore, they do not OWN them. They can
28 only tax or regulate that which the CREATE, and the place they do the creating is in the definition section of franchise
29 agreements. See:

Hierarchy of Sovereignty: The Power to Create is the Power to Tax, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/PowerToCreate.htm>

30 The VERY first step in protecting PRIVATE rights held exclusively by HUMANS is to prevent them from being converted
31 to PUBLIC rights or franchises without the EXPRESS written VOLUNTARY consent of those who have the legal capacity
32 to consent. Governments should not be using word games, equivocation, or other forms of legal treachery to compel the 33 conversion from PRIVATE to PUBLIC. If you would like to know the legal boundaries for this separation between PRIVATE 34 and PUBLIC and how it is illegally circumvented by covetous public servants, see:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

35 Now some rules for how PUBLIC and PRIVATE must be kept separated or else the government has violated its fiduciary 36 duty to protect PRIVATE property. These rules derive from the above document:

- 37 1. The PRIVATE constitutional rights of human beings are UNALIENABLE according to the Declaration of 38 Independence.
 - 39 1.1. Hence, you aren't even allowed to give them away, even WITH your consent.
 - 40 1.2. The only place that consent can lawfully be given is on federal territory where private or constitutional or 41 unalienable rights DO NOT exist in the first place.
 - 42 1.3. The rights created by the consent can be enforced on federal territory not within a state of the Union. All law is 43 prima facie territorial. That is why all public offices are REQUIRED by 4 U.S.C. §72 to be exercised IN the 44 "District of Columbia" and "NOT elsewhere".
- 45 2. Statutory "persons" are PUBLIC fictions of law, agents, and/or offices created in civil statutes by government as a civil 46 franchise. All civil franchises are contracts between the government grantor and the participant. Hence PRIVATE 47 human beings whose rights are unalienable are UNABLE to consent to a franchise contract if standing on land protected by the Constitution and must do so on federal territory AT THE TIME consent is given.

3. A civil or statutory or legal "person", whether it be a natural person, a corporation, or a trust, may ADD to its duties or join specific franchises through consent. HOWEVER:
 - 3.1. Licensing and franchises may not be used to CREATE new public offices.
 - 3.2. If licensing or franchises are abused to create NEW public offices, then those who engage in said offices outside the place "expressly authorized" to do so by Congress are criminally impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
 - 3.3. A subset of those engaging in a "public office" are federal "employees", but the term "public office" or "trade or business" encompass more than just government "employees". Corporations, for instance, are public offices and instrumentalities of the government grantor.
4. In law, when a human being volunteers to accept the legal duties of a "public office", it therefore becomes a "trustee", an agent, and fiduciary (as defined in 26 U.S.C. §6903) acting on behalf of the federal government by the operation of private contract/franchise law. It becomes essentially a "franchisee" of the federal government carrying out the provisions of the franchise agreement, which is found in:
 - 4.1. Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A , in the case of the federal income tax.
 - 4.2. The Social Security Act , which is found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

The IRS Form 1042-S Instructions confirm that all those who use Social Security Numbers are engaged in the "trade or business" franchise:

Box 14, Recipient's U.S. Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

You must obtain and enter a U.S. taxpayer identification number (TIN) for:

- Any recipient whose income is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

[IRS Form 1042-S Instructions, p. 14]

Engaging in a "trade or business" therefore implies a "public office". All those who USE "Taxpayer Identification Numbers" are therefore treated, USUALLY ILLEGALLY IF THEY ARE OTHERWISE PRIVATE, as public officers in the national government. All property associated with the number then is treated effectively as "private property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a government franchise". At that point, the person in control of said property is treated as a de facto manager and trustee over public property created by that donation process. That public property includes his/her formerly private time and services. The "employment agreement" for managing this newly, and in most cases ILLEGALLY created public property is the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A and the Social Security Act found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

The Social Security Number is therefore the equivalent of a "de facto license number" to act as a "public officer" for the federal government, who is a fiduciary or trustee subject to the plenary legislative jurisdiction of the federal government pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39), 26 U.S.C. §7408(c), and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 17(b), regardless of where he might be found geographically, including within a state of the Union. The franchise agreement governs "choice of law" and where it's terms may be litigated, which is the District of Columbia, based on the agreement itself.

The invisible process of essentially consenting to become a public officer of the national and not state government is a FRAUD because:

1. They don't protect your right to NOT volunteer.
2. They refuse to prosecute the fraud once discovered and respond with silence to criminal complaints directed at stopping it. Remember: It is a maximum of law that such gross negligence is in essence and substance, FRAUD itself.
3. They don't recognize even the EXISTENCE of a "non-resident non-person", who is someone who DID NOT volunteer. To do so would mean a surrender of their "plausible deniability" in front of a legally ignorant jury.
4. They call those who insist that the withholdings and/or reportings associated with the fraudulently created public office "frivolous", and yet refuse to address the content of this section or to address specifically how your property was LAWFULLY converted from PRIVATE to PUBLIC WITHOUT your consent. Even the taxation process requires, as a bare minimum, CONSENT to become a public officer.

Now let's apply what we have learned to your employment situation. God said you cannot work for two companies at once. You can only serve one company, and that company is the federal government if you are receiving federal benefits:

"No one can serve two masters [two employers, for instance]; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon [government]."
[Luke 16:13, Bible, NKJV. Written by a tax collector]

Everything you make while working for your slave master, the federal government, is their property over which you are a fiduciary and "public officer".

"THE" + "IRS" = "THEIRS"

A federal "public officer" has no rights in relation to their master, the federal government:

"The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the regulator of private conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity as employer. We have recognized this in many contexts, with respect to many different constitutional guarantees. Private citizens perhaps cannot be prevented from wearing long hair, but policemen can. Kelley v. Johnson, 425 U.S. 238, 247 (1976). Private citizens cannot have their property searched without probable cause, but in many circumstances government employees can. O'Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987) (plurality opinion); id., at 732 (SCALIA, J., concurring in judgment). Private citizens cannot be punished for refusing to provide the government information that may incriminate them, but government employees can be dismissed when the incriminating information that they refuse to provide relates to the performance of their job. Gardner v. Broderick, [497 U.S. 62, 95] 392 U.S. 273, 277-278 (1968). With regard to freedom of speech in particular: Private citizens cannot be punished for speech of merely private concern, but government employees can be fired for that reason. Connick v. Myers, 461 U.S. 138, 147 (1983). Private citizens cannot be punished for partisan political activity, but federal and state employees can be dismissed and otherwise punished for that reason. Public Workers v. Mitchell, 330 U.S. 75, 101 (1947); Civil Service Comm'n v. Letter Carriers, 413 U.S. 548, 556 (1973); Broadrick v. Oklahoma, 413 U.S. 601, 616-617 (1973)."
[Rutan v. Republican Party of Illinois, 497 U.S. 62 (1990)]

Your existence and your earnings as a federal "public officer" and "trustee" and "fiduciary" are entirely subject to the whim and pleasure of corrupted lawyers and politicians, and you must beg and grovel if you expect to retain anything:

"In the general course of human nature, A POWER OVER A MAN'S SUBSISTENCE AMOUNTS TO A POWER OVER HIS WILL."
[Alexander Hamilton, Federalist Paper No. 79]

You will need an "exemption" from your new slave master specifically spelled out in law to justify anything you want to keep while working on the federal plantation. The 1040 return is a profit and loss statement for a federal business corporation called the "United States". You are in partnership with your slave master and they decide what scraps they want to throw to you in your legal "cage" AFTER they figure out whatever is left in financing their favorite pork barrel project and paying off interest on an ever-expanding and endless national debt. Do you really want to reward this type of irresponsibility and surety?

The W-4 therefore essentially is being deceptively and illegally MISUSED as a federal employment application. It is your badge of dishonor and a tacit admission that you can't or won't trust God and yourself to provide for yourself. Instead, you need a corrupted "protector" to steal money from your neighbor or counterfeit (print) it to help you pay your bills and run your life. Furthermore, if your private employer forced you to fill out the W-4 against your will or instituted any duress to get you to fill it out, such as threatening to fire or not hire you unless you fill it out, then he/she is:

1. Engaging in criminal identity theft. See:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Acting as an employment recruiter for the federal government.

3. Recruiting you into federal slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, and 42 U.S.C. §1994.

4. Involved in a conspiracy to commit grand theft by stealing money from you to pay for services and protection you don't want and don't need.

5. Involved in racketeering and extortion in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1951.

6. Involved in money laundering for the federal government, by sending in money stolen from you to them, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1956.

The higher ups at the IRS probably know the above, and they certainly aren't going to tell private employers or their underlings the truth, because they aren't going to look a gift horse in the mouth and don't want to surrender their defense of "plausible deniability". They will NEVER tell a thief who is stealing for them that they are stealing, especially if they don't have to assume liability for the consequences of the theft. No one who practices this kind of slavery, deceit, and evil can rightly claim that they are loving their neighbor and once they know they are involved in such deceit, they have a duty to correct it or become an "accessory after the fact" in violation of 18 U.S.C. §3. This form of deceit is also the sin most hated by God in the Bible. Below is a famous Bible commentary on Prov. 11:1:

"As religion towards God is a branch of universal righteousness (he is not an honest man that is not devout), so righteousness towards men is a branch of true religion, for he is not a godly man that is not honest, nor can he expect that his devotion should be accepted; for, 1. Nothing is more offensive to God than deceit in commerce. A false balance is here put for all manner of unjust and fraudulent practices [of our public dis-servants] in dealing with any person [within the public], which are all an abomination to the Lord, and render those abominable [hated] to him that allow themselves in the use of such accursed arts of thriving. It is an affront to justice, which God is the patron of, as well as a wrong to our neighbour, whom God is the protector of. Men [in the IRS and the Congress] make light of such frauds, and think there is no sin in that which there is money to be got by, and, while it passes undiscovered, they cannot blame themselves for it; a blot is no blot till it is hit, Hos. 12:7, 8. But they are not the less an abomination to God, who will be the avenger of those that are defrauded by their brethren. 2. Nothing is more pleasing to God than fair and honest dealing, nor more necessary to make us and our devotions acceptable to him: A just weight is his delight. He himself goes by a just weight, and holds the scale of judgment with an even hand, and therefore is pleased with those that are herein followers of him. A balance cheats, under pretence of doing right most exactly, and therefore is the greater abomination to God."

[Matthew Henry's Commentary on the Whole Bible; Henry, M., 1996, c1991, under Prov. 11:1]

The Bible also says that those who participate in this kind of "commerce" with the government are practicing harlotry and idolatry. The Bible book of Revelation describes a woman called "Babylon the Great Harlot".

"And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns. The woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls, having in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the filthiness of her fornication. And on her forehead a name was written:

MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

I saw the woman, drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. And when I saw her, I marveled with great amazement."
[\[Rev. 17:3-6, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

This despicable harlot is described below as the "woman who sits on many waters".

"Come, I will show you the judgment of the great harlot [Babylon the Great Harlot] who sits on many waters, with whom the kings of the earth [politicians and rulers] committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth were made drunk [indulged] with the wine of her fornication."
[\[Rev. 17:1-2, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

These waters are simply symbolic of a democracy controlled by mobs of atheistic people who are fornicating with the Beast and who have made it their false, man-made god and idol:

1 "The waters which you saw, where the harlot sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues."
2 [Rev. 17:15, Bible, NKJV]

3 The Beast is then defined in Rev. 19:19 as "the kings of the earth", which today would be our political rulers:

4 "And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who
5 sat on the horse and against His army."
6 [Rev. 19:19, Bible, NKJV]

7 Babylon the Great Harlot is "fornicating" with the government by engaging in commerce with it. Black's Law Dictionary
8 defines "commerce" as "intercourse":

9 "Commerce. ...Intercourse by way of trade and traffic between different peoples or states and the citizens or 10 inhabitants thereof, including not only the purchase, sale, and exchange of commodities, but also the 11 instrumentalities [governments] and agencies by which it is promoted and the means and appliances by which it 12 is carried on..."
13 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 269]

14 If you want your rights back people, you can't pursue government employment in the context of your private job. If you do,
15 the Bible, not us, says you are a harlot and that you are CONDEMNED to hell!

16 And I heard another voice from heaven saying, "Come out of her, my people, lest you share in her sins, and lest
17 you receive of her plagues. For her sins have reached to heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities. Render 18 to her just as she rendered to you, and repay her double according to her works; in the cup which she has mixed,
19 mix double for her. In the measure that she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, in the same measure give her
20 torment and sorrow; for she says in her heart, 'I sit as queen, and am no widow, and will not see sorrow.'
21 Therefore her plagues will come in one day—death and mourning and famine. And she will be utterly burned
22 with fire, for strong is the Lord God who judges her.
23 [Rev. 18:4-8, Bible, NKJV]

24 In summary, it ought to be very clear from reading this section then, that:

- 25 1. It is an abuse of the government's taxing power, according to the U.S. Supreme Court, to pay public monies to private 26 persons or to use the government's taxing power to transfer wealth between groups of private individuals.
- 27 2. Because of these straight jacket constraints of the use of "public funds" by the government, the government can only 28 lawfully make payments or pay "benefits" to persons who have contracted with them to render specific services that are 29 authorized by the Constitution to be rendered.
- 30 3. The government had to create an intermediary called the "straw man" that is a public office or agent within the 31 government and therefore part of the government that they could pay the "benefit" to in order to circumvent the 32 restrictions upon the government from abusing its powers to transfer wealth between private individuals. That "straw 33 man" is exhaustively described in :

Proof That There Is a "Straw Man", Form #05.042
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 34 4. The straw man is a "public office" within the U.S. government. It is a creation of Congress and an agent and fiduciary 35 of the government subject to the statutory control of Congress. It is therefore a public entity and not a private entity 36 which the government can therefore lawfully pay public funds to without abusing its taxing powers.
- 37 5. Those who sign up for government contracts, benefits, franchises, or employment agree to become surety for the straw 38 man or public office and agree to act in a representative capacity on behalf of a federal corporation in the context of all 39 the duties of the office pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
- 40 6. Because the straw man is a public office, you can't be compelled to occupy the office. You and not the government set
41 the compensation or amount of money you are willing to work for in order to consensually occupy the office. If you 42 don't think the compensation is adequate, you have the right to refuse to occupy the office by refusing to connect your
43 assets to the office using the de facto license number for the office called the Taxpayer Identification Number.

44 If you would like to know more about why Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code only applies to federal instrumentalities
45 and payments to or from the federal government, we refer you to the free memorandum of law below:

5.9 “Political (PUBLIC) law” v. “civil (PRIVATE/COMMON) law”

Within our republican government, the founding fathers recognized three classes of law:

1. Criminal law. Protects both PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights.
2. Civil law. Protects exclusively PRIVATE rights. In effect, it implements ONLY the common law and does not regulate the government at all.
3. Political law. Protects exclusively PUBLIC rights of public officers and offices within the government.

The above three types of law were identified in the following document upon which the founding fathers wrote the constitution and based the design of our republican form of government:

The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, 1758
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol.htm>

The Spirit of Laws book is where the founding fathers got the idea of separation of powers and three branches of government: Executive, Legislative, and Judicial. Montesquieu defines “political law” and “political liberty” as follows:

1. A general Idea.

I make a distinction between the laws that establish political liberty, as it relates to the constitution, and those by which it is established, as it relates to the citizen. The former shall be the subject of this book; the latter I shall examine in the next.

[The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, Book XI, Section 1, 1758;
SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol_11.htm#001]

The Constitution in turn is a POLITICAL document which represents law EXCLUSIVELY for public officers within the government. It does not obligate or abrogate any PRIVATE right. It defines what the courts call “public rights”, meaning rights possessed and owned exclusively by the government ONLY.

“And the Constitution itself is in every real sense a law-the lawmakers being the people themselves, in whom under our system all political power and sovereignty primarily resides, and through whom such power and sovereignty primarily speaks. It is by that law, and not otherwise, that the legislative, executive, and judicial agencies which it created exercise such political authority as they have been permitted to possess. The Constitution speaks for itself in terms so plain that to misunderstand their import is not rationally possible. ‘We the People of the United States,’ it says, ‘do ordain and establish this Constitution.’ Ordain and establish! These are definite words of enactment, and without more would stamp what follows with the dignity and character of law. The framers of the Constitution, however, were not content to let the matter rest here, but provided explicitly-‘This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; ... shall be the supreme Law of the Land.’ (Const. art. 6, cl. 2.) The supremacy of the Constitution as law is thus declared without qualification. That supremacy is absolute; the supremacy of a statute enacted by Congress is not absolute but conditioned upon its being made in pursuance of the Constitution. And a judicial tribunal, clothed by that instrument with complete judicial power, and, therefore, by the very nature of the power, required to ascertain and apply the law to the facts in every case or proceeding properly brought for adjudication, must apply the supreme law and reject the inferior stat- [298 U.S. 238, 297] ute whenever the two conflict. In the discharge of that duty, the opinion of the lawmakers that a statute passed by them is valid must be given great weight, Adkins v. Children’s Hospital, 261 U.S. 525, 544, 43 S.Ct. 394, 24 A.L.R. 1238; but their opinion, or the court’s opinion, that the statute will prove greatly or generally beneficial is wholly irrelevant to the inquiry. Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States, 295 U.S. 495, 549, 550 S., 55 S.Ct. 837, 97 A.L.R. 947. “

The vast majority of laws passed by Congress are what Montesquieu calls “political law” that is intended exclusively for the government and not the private citizen. The authority for implementing such political law is Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution. To wit:

Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Tax franchise codes such as the Internal Revenue Code, for instance, are what Montesquieu calls “political law” exclusively for the government or public officer and not the private (CONSTITUTIONAL) citizen. Why? Because:

1. The U.S. Supreme Court identified taxes as a “political matter”. “Political law”, “political questions”, and “political matters” cannot be heard by true constitutional courts and may ONLY be heard in legislative franchise courts officiated by the Executive and not Judicial branch:

"Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."

2. The U.S. Tax Court:

- 2.1. Is an Article I Court in the EXECUTIVE and not JUDICIAL branch, and hence, can only officiate over matters INTERNAL to the government. See 26 U.S.C. §7441.
 - 2.2. Is a POLITICAL court in the POLITICAL branch of the government. Namely, the Executive branch.
 - 2.3. Is limited to the District of Columbia because all public offices are limited to serve there per 4 U.S.C. §72. It travels all over the country, but this is done ILLEGALLY and in violation of the separation of powers.
3. The activity subject to excise taxation is limited exclusively to “public offices” in the government, which is what a “trade or business” is statutorily defined as in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).

26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701\(a\)\(26\)

"The term 'trade or business' includes the performance of the functions of a public office."

In Book XXVI, Section 15 of the Spirit of Laws, Montesquieu says that POLITICAL laws should not be allowed to regulate CIVIL conduct, meaning that POLITICAL laws limited exclusively to the government should not be enforced upon the PRIVATE citizen or made to “appear” as though they are “civil law” that applies to everyone:

The Spirit of Laws, Book XXVI, Section 15

15. That we should not regulate by the Principles of political Law those Things which depend on the Principles of civil Law.

As men have given up their natural independence to live under political laws, they have given up the natural community of goods to live under civil laws.

By the first, they acquired [PUBLIC] liberty; by the second, [PRIVATE] property. We should not decide by the laws of [PUBLIC] liberty, which, as we have already said, is only the government of the community, what ought to be decided by the laws concerning [PRIVATE] property. It is a parallogism to say that the good of the individual should give way to that of the public; this can never take place, except when the government of the community, or, in other words, the liberty of the subject is concerned; this does not affect such cases as relate to private property, because the public good consists in every one's having his property, which was given him by the civil laws, invariably preserved.

Cicero maintains that the Agrarian laws were unjust; because the community was established with no other view than that every one might be able to preserve his property.

Let us, therefore, lay down a certain maxim, that whenever the public good happens to be the matter in question, it is not for the advantage of the public to deprive an individual of his property, or even to retrench the least part of it by a law, or a political regulation. In this case we should follow the rigour of the civil law, which is the Palladium of [PRIVATE] property.

Thus when the public has occasion for the estate of an individual, it ought never to act by the rigour of political law; it is here that the civil law ought to triumph, which, with the eyes of a mother, regards every individual as the whole community.

1 If the political magistrate would erect a public edifice, or make a new road, he must indemnify those who are
2 injured by it; the public is in this respect like an individual who treats with an individual. It is fully enough that
3 it can oblige a citizen to sell his inheritance, and that it can strip him of this great privilege which he holds from 4 the civil law, the not being forced to alienate his possessions.

5 After the nations which subverted the Roman empire had abused their very conquests, the spirit of liberty called
6 them back to that of equity. They exercised the most barbarous laws with moderation: and if any one should doubt
7 the truth of this, he need only read Beaumanoir's admirable work on jurisprudence, written in the twelfth century.

8 They mended the highways in his time as we do at present. He says, that when a highway could not be repaired,
9 they made a new one as near the old as possible; but indemnified the proprietors at the expense of those who
10 reaped any advantage from the road.⁴³ They determined at that time by the civil law; in our days, we determine 11 by the law of politics.

12 [The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, Book XXVI, Section 15, 1758;
13 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol_11.htm#001]

14 What Montesquieu is implying is what we have been saying all along, and he said it in 1758, which was even before the 15 Declaration of Independence was written:

- 16 1. The purpose of establishing government is exclusively to protect PRIVATE rights.
17 2. PRIVATE rights are protected by the CIVIL law. The civil law, in turn is based in EQUITY rather than PRIVILEGE:

18 “Thus when the public has occasion for the estate of an individual, it ought never to act by the rigour of
19 political law; it is here that the civil law ought to triumph, which, with the eyes of a mother, regards every 20 individual as the whole community.”

- 21 3. PUBLIC or government rights are protected by the PUBLIC or POLITICAL or GOVERNMENT law and NOT the 22 CIVIL law.
23 4. The first and most important role of government is to prevent the POLITICAL or GOVERNMENT law from being 24 used or especially ABUSED as an excuse to confiscate or jeopardize PRIVATE property.

25 Unfortunately, it is precisely the above type of corruption that Montesquieu describes that is the foundation of the present de
26 facto government, tax system, and money system. ALL of them treat every human being as a PUBLIC officer against their 27 consent, and impose what he calls the “rigors of the political law” upon them, in what amounts to a THEFT and 28 CONFISCATION of otherwise PRIVATE property by enforcing PUBLIC law against PRIVATE people.

29 The implications of Montesquieu’s position are that the only areas where POLITICAL law and CIVIL law should therefore 30 overlap is in the exercise of the political rights to vote and serve on jury duty. Why? Because jurists are regarded as public
31 officers in 18 U.S.C. §201(a)(1):

32 TITLE 18 > PART I > CHAPTER 11 > § 201
33 § 201. Bribery of public officials and witnesses

34 (a) For the purpose of this section—

35 (1) the term “public official” means Member of Congress, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner, either before or 36 after such official has qualified, or an officer or employee or person acting for or on behalf of the United States,
37 or any department, agency or branch of Government thereof, including the District of Columbia, in any official
38 function, under or by authority of any such department, agency, or branch of Government, or a juror;

39 However, it has also repeatedly been held by the courts that poll taxes are unconstitutional. Hence, voters technically are 40 NOT to be regarded as public officers or franchisees for any purpose OTHER than their role as a voter. Recall that all 41 statutory “Taxpayers” are public officers in the government.

42 In the days since Montesquieu, the purpose and definition of what he has called the CIVIL law has since been purposefully
43 and maliciously corrupted so that it no longer protects exclusively PRIVATE rights or implements the COMMON law, but 44 rather protects mainly PUBLIC rights and POLITICAL officers in the government. In other words, society has become 45 corrupted by the following means that he warned would happen:

- 46 1. What Montesquieu calls CIVIL law has become the POLITICAL law.

2. There is not CIVIL (common) law anymore as he defines it, because the courts interfere with the enforcement of the common law and the protection of PRIVATE rights.
3. The purpose of government has transformed from protecting mainly PRIVATE rights using the common law to that of protecting PUBLIC rights using the STATUTE law, which in turn has become exclusively POLITICAL law.
4. All those who insist on remaining exclusively private cannot utilize any government service, because the present government forms refuse to recognize such a status or provide services to those with such status.
5. Everyone who wants to call themselves a “citizen” is no longer PRIVATE, but PUBLIC. “citizen” has become a public officer in the government rather than a private human being.
6. All “citizens” are STATUTORY rather than CONSTITUTIONAL in nature.
 - 6.1. There are no longer any CONSTITUTIONAL citizens because the courts refuse to recognize or protect them.
 - 6.2. People are forced to accept the duties of a statutory “citizen” and public officer to get any remedy at all in court or in any government agency.

The above transformations are documented in the following memorandum of law on our site:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.043

5.10 Lawful methods for converting PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property

Next, we must carefully consider all the rules by which EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property is lawfully converted into PUBLIC property subject to government control or civil regulation. These rules are important, because the status of a particular type of property as either PRIVATE or PUBLIC determines whether either COMMON LAW or STATUTORY LAW apply respectively.

In general, only by either accepting physical property from the government or voluntarily applying for and claiming a status or right under a government franchise can one procure a PUBLIC status and be subject to STATUTORY civil law. If one wishes to be governed ONLY by the common law, then they must make their status very clear in every interaction with the government and on EVERY government form they fill out so as to avoid connecting them to any statutory franchise. Below is an example from a U.S. Department of Justice guide for prosecuting “sovereign citizens” that proves WHY this is the case:

“What evidence refutes a good faith defense will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. It is often helpful to focus on evidence that shows the defendant knew the law but disregarded it or was simply defying it. For instance, evidence that the defendant received proper advice from a CPA or tax preparer, or that the defendant failed to consult legitimate sources about his or her understanding of the tax laws can be helpful. To refute claims that wages are not income, that the defendant did not understand the meaning of “wages,” or that the defendant is a state citizen but not a citizen of the United States, look for loan applications during the prosecution period. Tax defiers and sovereign citizens never seem to have a problem understanding the definition of income on a loan application. They also do not hesitate to check the “yes” box to the question “are you a U.S. citizen.” Any evidence that the defendant accepted Government benefits, such as unemployment, Medicare, social security, or the Alaska Permanent Fund Dividend will also be helpful to refute the defendant’s claims that he or she is not a citizen subject to federal laws.”

The bottom line is that if you accept a government benefit, they PRESUME the right to rape and pillage absolutely ANYTHING you own. Our Path to Freedom, Form #09.015 process, by the way, makes the use of the above OFFENSE by the government in prosecuting you IMPOSSIBLE. The exhaustive list of attachment forms we provide which define the terms on all government forms they could use as evidence to prove the above also defeat the above tactic by U.S. Attorneys. Also keep in mind that the above tactic is useful against the GOVERNMENT as an offensive weapon. If your property is private, you can loan it to THEM with FRANCHISE conditions found in Form #06.027. If they argue that you can’t do it to them, indirectly they are destroying the main source of THEIR jurisdiction as well. Let them shoot themselves in the foot in front of the jury!

Below is a detailed list of the rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property:

1. The purpose for establishing governments is mainly to protect private property. The Declaration of Independence affirms this:

1 "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
2 with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
3 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,
4 -"
5 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

- 6 2. Government protects private rights by keeping "public [government] property" and "private property" separate and never 7 allowing them to be joined together. This is the heart of the separation of powers doctrine: separation of what is private 8 from what is public with the goal of protecting mainly what is private. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 9 3. All property BEGINS as private property. The only way to lawfully change it to public property is through the exercise
10 of your unalienable constitutional right to contract. All franchises qualify as a type of contract, and therefore, franchises
11 are one of many methods to lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property. The exercise of the right to 12 contract, in turn, is an act of consent that eliminates any possibility of a legal remedy of the donor against the donee:

13 "Voluntati non fit injuria.
14 He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

15 Consensus tollit errorem.
16 Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

17 Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.
18 It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

19 Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
20 One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145."
21 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
22 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

- 23 4. In law, all rights are "property".

24 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal
25 sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat &
26 Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
27 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
28 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.
29 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
30 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
31 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
32 way depends on another man's courtesy.

33 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
34 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
35 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
36 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
37 one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332
38 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

39 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
40 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only
41 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
42 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.

43 Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical
44 thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission,
45 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.
46 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

47 By protecting your constitutional rights, the government is protecting your PRIVATE property. Your rights are private
48 property because they came from God, not from the government. Only what the government creates can become public
49 property. An example is corporations, which are a public franchise that makes officers of the corporation into public
50 officers.

5. The process of taxation is the process of converting “private property” into a “public use” and a “public purpose”. Below are definitions of these terms for your enlightenment.

Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For condemnation purposes, “public use” is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of public, a “public advantage” or “public benefit” accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it; if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage, or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A “public use” for which land may be taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences, changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn. 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

“Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage, are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax, police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. “Public purpose” that will justify expenditure of public money generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time is directly related function of government. Pack v. Southwestern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 215 Tenn. 503, 387 S.W.2d. 789, 794 .

The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow; the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote such public purpose or public business.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1231, Emphasis added]

6. The federal government has no power of eminent domain within states of the Union. This means that they cannot lawfully convert private property to a public use or a public purpose within the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the Union:

“The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty or compact.”
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 508-509 (1856)]

7. The Fifth Amendment prohibits converting private property to a public use or a public purpose without just compensation if the owner does not consent, and this prohibition applies to the Federal government as well as states of the Union. It was made applicable to states of the Union by the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868.

Fifth Amendment - Rights of Persons

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual

1 service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in
2 jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be
3 deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public
4 use, without just compensation.
5 [United States Constitution, Fifth Amendment]

6 If the conversion of private property to public property is done without the express consent of the party affected by the
7 conversion and without compensation, then the following violations have occurred:

8 7.1. Violation of the Fifth Amendment “takings clause” above.

9 7.2. “Conversion” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §654.

10 7.3. Theft.

- 11 8. Because taxation involves converting private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office, then it involves 12 eminent domain if the owner of the property did not expressly consent to the taking:

13 Eminent domain. The power to take private property for public use by the state, municipalities, and private
14 persons or corporations authorized to exercise functions of public character. Housing Authority of Cherokee
15 National of Oklahoma v. Langley, Okl., 555 P.2d. 1025, 1028. Fifth Amendment, U.S. Constitution.

16 In the United States, the power of eminent domain is founded in both the federal (Fifth Amend.) and state
17 *constitutions. However, the Constitution limits the power to taking for a public purpose and prohibits the 18 exercise of the power of eminent domain without just compensation to the owners of the property which is 19 taken. The process of exercising the power of eminent domain is commonly referred to as “condemnation”, 20 or, “expropriation”.

21 The right of eminent domain is the right of the state, through its regular organization, to reassert, either
22 temporarily or permanently, its dominion over any portion of the soil of the state on account of public exigency
23 and for the public good. Thus, in time of war or insurrection, the proper authorities may possess and hold any 24 part of the territory of the state for the common safety; and in time of peace the legislature may authorize the
25 appropriation of the same to public purposes, such as the opening of roads, construction of defenses, or providing 26 channels for trade or travel. Eminent domain is the highest and most exact idea of property remaining in the 27 government, or in the aggregate body of the people in their sovereign capacity. It gives a right to resume the 28 possession of the property in the manner directed by the constitution and the laws of the state, whenever the public 29 interest requires it.

30 See also Adequate compensation; Condemnation; Constructive taking; Damages; Expropriation; Fair market
31 value; Just compensation; Larger parcel; Public use; Take.
32 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 470]

- 33 9. The Fifth Amendment requires that any taking of private property without the consent of the owner must involve
34 compensation. The Constitution must be consistent with itself. The taxation clauses found in Article 1, Section 8,
35 Clauses 1 and 3 cannot conflict with the Fifth Amendment. The Fifth Amendment contains no exception to the 36 requirement for just compensation upon conversion of private property to a public use, even in the case of taxation. This 37 is why all taxes must be indirect excise taxes against people who provide their consent by applying for a license to engage
38 in the taxed activity: The application for the license constitutes constructive consent to donate the fruits of the activity
39 to a public use, public purpose, and public office.

- 40 10. There is only ONE condition in which the conversion of private property to public property does NOT require 41 compensation, which is when the owner donates the private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office.
42 To wit:

43 “Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -‘life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;’
44 *and to ‘secure,’ not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
45 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
46 to his neighbor’s injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor’s benefit [e.g. SOCIAL
47 SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public “benefit”]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives 48 to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take 49 it upon payment of due compensation.”*
50 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

51 The above rules are summarized below:
52

Table 12: Rules for converting private property to a public use or a public office

1	The owner of property justly acquired enjoys full and exclusive use and control over the property. This right includes the right to exclude government uses or ownership of said property.	Yes
2	He may not use the property to injure the equal rights of his neighbor. For instance, when you murder someone, the government can take your liberty and labor from you by putting you in jail or your life from you by instituting the death penalty against you. Both your life and your labor are “property”. Therefore, the basis for the “taking” was violation of the equal rights of a fellow sovereign “neighbor”.	No
3	He cannot be compelled or required to use it to “benefit” his neighbor. That means he cannot be compelled to donate the property to any franchise that would “benefit” his neighbor such as Social Security, Medicare, etc.	Yes
4	If he donates it to a public use, he gives the public the right to control that use.	Yes
5	Whenever the public needs require, the public may take it without his consent upon payment of due compensation. E.g. “eminent domain”.	No

11. The following two methods are the ONLY methods involving consent of the owner that may be LAWFULLY employed to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property. Anything else is unlawful and THEFT:

11.1. DIRECT CONVERSION: Owner donates the property by conveying title or possession to the government.⁵³

11.2. INDIRECT CONVERSION: Owner assumes a PUBLIC status as a PUBLIC officer in the HOLDING of title to the property.⁵⁴ All such statuses and the rights that attach to it are creations and property of the government, the use of which is a privilege. The status and all PUBLIC RIGHTS that attach to it conveys a “benefit” for which the status user must pay an excise tax. The tax acts as a rental or use fee for the status, which is government property.

12. You and ONLY you can authorize your private property to be donated to a public use, public purpose, and public office. No third party can lawfully convert or donate your private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office without your knowledge and express consent. If they do, they are guilty of theft and conversion, and especially if they are acting in a quasi-governmental capacity as a “withholding agent” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16).

12.1. A withholding agent cannot file an information return connecting your earnings to a “trade or business” without you actually occupying a “public office” in the government BEFORE you filled out any tax form.

12.2. A withholding agent cannot file IRS Form W-2 against your earnings if you didn’t sign an IRS Form W-4 contract and thereby consent to donate your private property to a public office in the U.S. government and therefore a “public use”.

12.3. That donation process is accomplished by your own voluntary self-assessment and ONLY by that method. Before such a self-assessment, you are a “nontaxpayer” and a private person. After the assessment, you become a “taxpayer” and a public officer in the government engaged in the “trade or business” franchise.

12.4. In order to have an income tax liability, you must complete, sign, and “file” an income tax return and thereby assess yourself:

*“Our system of taxation is based upon voluntary assessment and payment, not distraint.”
[Flora v. U.S., 362 U.S. 145 (1960)]*

By assessing yourself, you implicitly give your consent to allow the public the right to control that use of the formerly PRIVATE property donated to a public use.

⁵³ An example of direct conversion would be the process of “registering” a vehicle with the Department of Motor Vehicles in your state. The act of registration constitutes consent by original ABSOLUTE owner to change the ownership of the property from ABSOLUTE to QUALIFIED and to convey legal title to the state and qualified title to himself.

⁵⁴ An example of a PUBLIC status is statutory “taxpayer” (public office called “trade or business”), statutory “citizen”, statutory “driver” (vehicle), statutory voter (registered voters are public officers).

1 A THEFT of property has occurred on behalf of the government if it attempts to do any of the following:

- 2 1. Circumvents any of the above rules.
- 3 2. Blurs, confuses, or obfuscates the distinction between PRIVATE property and PUBLIC property.
- 4 3. Refuses to identify EXACTLY which of the mechanisms identified in item 10 above was employed in EACH specific
- 5 case where it:
- 6 3.1. Asserts a right to regulate the use of private property.
- 7 3.2. Asserts a right to convert the character of property from PRIVATE to PUBLIC.
- 8 3.3. Asserts a right to TAX what you THOUGHT was PRIVATE property.

9 The next time someone from the government asserts a tax obligation, you might want to ask them the following very insightful
10 questions based on the content of this section:

- 11 1. Please describe at EXACTLY what point in the taxation process my earnings were LAWFULLY
12 converted from EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE to PUBLIC and thereby became SUBJECT to civil 13 statutory law and government jurisdiction. Check one or more. If none are checked, it shall 14 CONCLUSIVELY be PRESUMED that no tax is owed:
 - 15 a. ☐ There is no private property. EVERYTHING belongs to us and we just “RENT”
16 it to you through taxes. Hence, we are NOT a “government” because there is not 17 private property to protect. Everything is PUBLIC property by default.
 - 18 b. ☐ When I was born?
 - 19 c. ☐ When I became a CONSTITUTIONAL citizen?
 - 20 d. ☐ When I changed my domicile to a CONSTITUTIONAL and not STATUTORY 21 “State”.
 - 22 e. ☐ When I indicated “U.S. citizen” or “U.S. resident” on a government form, and the 23 agent accepting it FALSELY PRESUMED that meant I was a STATUTORY “national 24 and citizen of the United States” per 8 U.S.C. §1401 rather than a CONSTITUTIONAL 25 “citizen of the United States”.
 - 26 f. ☐ When I disclosed and used a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification
27 Number to my otherwise PRIVATE employer?
 - 28 g. ☐ When I submitted my withholding documents, such as IRS Forms W-4 or W-8?
 - 29 h. ☐ When the information return was filed against my otherwise PRIVATE earnings
30 that connected my otherwise PRIVATE earnings to a PUBLIC office in the national 31 government?
 - 32 i. ☐ When I FAILED to rebut the false information return connecting my otherwise 33 PRIVATE earnings to a PUBLIC office in the national government?
 - 34 j. ☐ When I filed a “taxpayer” form, such as IRS Forms 1040 or 1040NR?
 - 35 k. ☐ When the IRS or state did an assessment under the authority of 26 U.S.C.
36 §6020(b).
 - 37 l. ☐ When I failed to rebut a collection notice from the IRS?
 - 38 m. ☐ When the IRS levied monies from my EXCLUSIVELY private account, which 39 must be held by a PUBLIC OFFICER per 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) before it can lawfully be 40 levied?
 - 41 n. ☐ When the government decided they wanted to STEAL my money and simply 42 TOOK it, and were protected from the THEFT by a complicit United States Department
43 of Justice, who split the proceeds with them?
 - 44 o. ☐ When I demonstrated legal ignorance of the law to the government sufficient to 45 overlook or not recognize that it is impossible to convert PRIVATE to PUBLIC without 46 my consent, as the Declaration of Independence requires.
- 47 2. How can the conversion from PRIVATE to PUBLIC occur without my consent and without 48 violating the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?
- 49 3. If you won’t answer the previous questions, how the HELL am I supposed to receive 50 constitutionally mandated “reasonable notice” of the following:
 - 51 a. EXACTLY what property I exclusively own and therefore what property is NOT 52 subject to government taxation or regulation?
 - 53 b. EXACTLY what conduct is expected of me by the law?

4. EXACTLY where in your publications is the first question answered and why should I believe it if even you refuse to take responsibility for the accuracy of said publications?
5. EXACTLY where in the statutes and regulations is the first question answered?
6. How can you refuse to answer the above questions if your own mission statement says you are required to help people obey the law and comply with the law?

5.11 Unlawful methods abused by government to convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property

There are a LOT more ways to UNLAWFULLY convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property than there are ways to do it lawfully. This section will address the most prevalent methods abused by state actors so that you will immediately recognize them when you are victimized by them. For the purposes of this section CONTROL and OWNERSHIP are synonymous. Hence, if the TITLE of the property remains in your name but there is any aspect of control over the USE of said property that does not demonstrably injure others, then the property ceases to be absolutely owned and therefore is owned by the government.

Based on the previous section, there is ONLY one condition in which PRIVATE property can be converted to PUBLIC property without the consent of the owner, which is when it is used to INJURE the rights of others. Any other type of conversion is THEFT. The U.S. Supreme Court describes that process of illegally CONVERTING property from PRIVATE to PUBLIC as follows. Notice that they only reference the “citizen” as being the object of regulation, which implies that those who are “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners” are beyond the control of those governments in whose territory they have not chosen a civil domicile:

“The doctrine that each one must so use his own as not to injure his neighbor — sic utere tuo ut alienum non lædas — is the rule by which every member of society must possess and enjoy his property; and all legislation essential to secure this common and equal enjoyment is a legitimate exercise of State authority. Except in cases where property may be destroyed to arrest a conflagration or the ravages of pestilence, or be taken under the pressure of an immediate and overwhelming necessity to prevent a public calamity, the power of the State over the property of the citizen [NOT EVERYONE, but only those consent to become citizens by choosing a domicile] does not extend beyond such limits.”
[Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876)]

Below is a list of the more prevalent means abused by corrupt and covetous governments to illegally convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC PROPERTY without the express consent of the owner. Many of these techniques are unrecognizable to the average American and therefore surreptitious, which is why they continue to be abused so regularly and chronically by public dis-servants:

1. Deceptively label statutory PRIVILEGES as RIGHTS.
2. Confuse STATUTORY citizenship with CONSTITUTIONAL citizenship.
3. Refuse to admit that the court you are litigating in is a FRANCHISE court that has no jurisdiction over non-franchisees or people who do not consent to the franchise.
4. Abuse the words “includes” and “including” to add anything they want to the definition of “person” or “individual” within the franchise. All such “persons” are public officers and not private human beings. See:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. Refuse to impose the burden of proof upon the government to show that you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property BEFORE they can claim jurisdiction over it.
6. Silently PRESUME that the property in question is PUBLIC property connected with the “trade or business” (public office per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26)) franchise and force you to prove that it ISN’T by CHALLENGING false information returns filed against it, such as IRS Forms W-2, 1098, 1099, and K-1. See:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

7. Presume that the STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL contexts for geographical words are the same. They are NOT, and in fact are mutually exclusive.
8. Presume that because you submitted an application for a franchise, that you:
 - 8.1. CONSENTED to the franchise and were not under duress.
 - 8.2. Were requesting a “benefit” and therefore agreed to the obligations associated with the “benefit”.

CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE
DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS

PART 2. CONTRACTS
CHAPTER 3. CONSENT
Section 1589

1589. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to the person accepting.

8.3. Agree to accept the obligations associated with the status described on the application, such as “taxpayer”, “driver”, “spouse”.

If you want to prevent the above, reserve all your rights on the application, indicate duress, and define all terms on the form as NOT connected with any government or statutory law.

9. PRESUME that the OWNER has a civil statutory status that he or she did not consent to, such as:

9.1. “spouse” under the family code of your state, which is a franchise.

9.2. “driver” under the vehicle code of your state, which is a franchise.

9.3. “taxpayer” under the tax code of your state, which is a franchise.

10. PRESUME in the case of physical PROPERTY that it was situated on federal territory to which the general and exclusive jurisdiction of the national government applies, even though it is not. This is primarily done by playing word games with geographical “words of art” such as “State” and “United States”.

11. Refuse to satisfy the burden of proving that the owner of the property expressly consented in a manner that he/she prescribed to change the status of either himself or the property over which they claim a public interest.

12. Judges will interfere with attempts to introduce evidence in the proceeding that challenges any of the above presumptions.

13. Unlawfully compel the use of Social Security Numbers or Taxpayer Identification Numbers in violation of 42 U.S.C. §408(a)(8) in connection with specific property as a precondition of rendering a usually essential service. It will be illegally compelled because:

13.1. The party against whom it was compelled was not a statutory “Taxpayer” or “person” or “individual” or to whom a duty to furnish said number lawfully applies.

13.2. The property was not located on territory subject to the territorial jurisdiction of that national government.

14. Use one franchise as a way to recruit franchisees under OTHER franchises that are completely unrelated. For instance, they will enact a vehicle code statute that allows for confiscation of REGISTERED vehicles only that are being operated by UNLICENSED drivers. That way, everyone who wants to protect their vehicle also indirectly has to ALSO become a statutory “driver” using the public road ways for commercial activity and thus subject to regulation by the state, even though they in fact ARE NOT intending to do so.

15. Issue a license and then refuse to recognize the authority and ability in court of those possessing said license to act in an EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE capacity. For instance:

15.1. They may have a contractor’s license but they are NOT allowed to operate as OTHER than a licensed contractor...OR are NOT allowed to operate in an exclusively PRIVATE capacity.

15.2. They may have a vehicle registration but are NOT allowed to remove it or NOT use it during times when they are NOT using the public roadways for hire, which is most of the time. In other words, the vehicle is the equivalent to “off duty” at some times. They allow police officers, who are PUBLIC officers, to be off duty, but not anyone who DOESN’T work for the government.

16. Issue or demand GOVERNMENT ID and then presume that the applicant is a statutory “resident” for ALL purposes, rather than JUST the specific reason the ID was issued. Since a “resident” is a public officer, in effect they are PRESUMING that you are a public officer 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and that you HAVE to assume this capacity without pay or “benefit” and without the ability to quit. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 13.6
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

What all of the above government abuses have in common is that they do one or more of the following:

1. Involve PRESUMPTIONS which violate due process of law and are therefore UNCONSTITUTIONAL. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Refuse to RECOGNIZE the existence of PRIVATE property or PRIVATE rights.

3. Violate the very purpose of establishing government to begin with, which is to PROTECT PRIVATE property by LEAVING IT ALONE and not regulating or benefitting from its use or abuse until AFTER it has been used to injure the equal rights of anyone OTHER than the original owner.

4. Violate the Unconstitutional Conditions Doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court.

5. Needlessly interfere with the ownership or control of otherwise PRIVATE property.
6. Often act upon property BEFORE it is used to institute an injury, instead of AFTER. Whenever the law acts to PREVENT future harm rather than CORRECT past harm, it requires the consent of the owner. The common law itself only provides remedies for PAST harm and cannot act on future conduct, except in the case of injunctions where PAST harm is already demonstrated.
7. Institute involuntary servitude against the owner in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
8. Represent an eminent domain over PRIVATE property in violation of the state constitution in most states.
9. Violate the takings clauses of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution.
10. Violate the maxim of law that the government has a duty to protect your right to NOT receive a “benefit” and NOT pay for “benefits” that you don’t want or don’t need.

Invito beneficium non datur.

No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

Quilibet potest renunciare juri pro se inducto.

Any one may renounce a law introduced for his own benefit. To this rule there are some exceptions. See 1 Bouv. Inst. n. 83.

It ought to be obvious to the reader that the basis for Socialism is public ownership of ALL property.

“socialism n (1839) 1: any of various economic and political theories advocating collective or governmental ownership and administration of the means of production and distribution of goods 2 a: a system of society or group living in which there is no private property b: a system or condition of society in which the means of production are owned and controlled by the state 3: a stage of society in Marxist theory transitional between capitalism and communism and distinguished by unequal distribution of goods and pay according to work done.”

Any system of law that recognizes no absolute and inviolable constitutional boundary between PRIVATE property and PUBLIC property, or which regards ALL property as being subject to government taxation and/or regulation is a socialist or collectivist system. That socialist system is exhaustively described in the following:

Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876)

The question presented, therefore, is one of the greatest importance, — whether it is within the competency of a State to fix the compensation which an individual may receive for the use of his own property in his private business, and for his services in connection with it.

139*139 The validity of the legislation was, among other grounds, assailed in the State court as being in conflict with that provision of the State Constitution which declares that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, and with that provision of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution which imposes a similar restriction upon the action of the State. The State court held, in substance, that the constitutional provision was not violated so long as the owner was not deprived of the title and possession of his property; and that it did not deny to the legislature the power to make all needful rules and regulations respecting the use and enjoyment of the property, referring, in support of the position, to instances of its action in prescribing the interest on money, in establishing and regulating public ferries and public mills, and fixing the compensation in the shape of tolls, and in delegating power to municipal bodies to regulate the charges of hackmen and draymen, and the weight and price of bread. In this court the legislation was also assailed on the same ground, our jurisdiction arising upon the clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, ordaining that no State shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. But it would seem from its opinion that the court holds that property loses something of its private character when employed in such a way as to be generally useful. The doctrine declared is that property "becomes clothed with a public interest when used in a manner to make it of public consequence, and affect the community at large;" and from such clothing the right of the legislature is deduced to control the use of the property, and to determine the compensation which the owner may receive for it. When Sir Matthew Hale, and the sages of the law in his day, spoke of property as affected by a public interest, and ceasing from that cause to be juris privati solely, that is, ceasing to be held merely in private right, they referred to property dedicated by the owner to public uses, or to property the use of which was granted by the government, or in connection with which special privileges were conferred. Unless the property was thus dedicated, or some right bestowed by the government was held with the property, either by specific grant or by prescription of so long a time as 140*140 to imply a grant originally, the property was not affected by any public interest so as to be taken out of the category of property held in private right. But it is not in any such sense that the terms "clothing property with a public interest" are used in this case. From the nature of the business under consideration — the storage of grain — which, in any sense in which the words can be used, is a private business, in which the public are interested only as they are interested in the storage of other products of the soil, or in articles of manufacture, it is clear that the court intended to declare that, whenever one devotes his property to a business which is useful to the public, — "affects the community at large," — the legislature can regulate the compensation which the owner may receive for its use, and for his own services in connection with it. "When, therefore," says the court, "one devotes his property to a use in which the public has an interest, he, in effect, grants to the public an interest in that use, and must submit to be controlled by the public for the common good, to the extent of the interest he has thus created. He may withdraw his grant by discontinuing the use; but, so long as he maintains the use, he must submit to the control." The building used by the defendants was for the storage of grain: in such storage, says the court, the public has an interest; therefore the defendants, by devoting the building to that storage, have granted the public an interest in that use, and must submit to have their compensation regulated by the legislature.

If this be sound law, if there be no protection, either in the principles upon which our republican government is founded, or in the prohibitions of the Constitution against such invasion of private rights, all property and all business in the State are held at the mercy of a majority of its legislature. The public has no greater interest in the use of buildings for the storage of grain than it has in the use of buildings for the residences of families, nor, indeed, anything like so great an interest; and, according to the doctrine announced, the legislature may fix the rent of all tenements used for residences, without reference to the cost of their erection. If the owner does not like the rates prescribed, he may cease renting his houses. He has granted to the public, says the court, an interest in the use of the 141*141 buildings, and "he may withdraw his grant by discontinuing the use; but, so long as he maintains the use, he must submit to the control." The public is interested in the manufacture of cotton, woollen, and silken fabrics, in the construction of machinery, in the printing and publication of books and periodicals, and in the making of utensils of every variety, useful and ornamental; indeed, there is hardly an enterprise or business engaging the attention and labor of any considerable portion of the community, in which the public has not an interest in the sense in which that term is used by the court in its opinion; and the doctrine which allows the legislature to interfere with and regulate the charges which the owners of property thus employed shall make for its use, that is, the rates at which all these different kinds of business shall be carried on, has never before been asserted, so far as I am aware, by any judicial tribunal in the United States.

The doctrine of the State court, that no one is deprived of his property, within the meaning of the constitutional inhibition, so long as he retains its title and possession, and the doctrine of this court, that, whenever one's property is used in such a manner as to affect the community at large, it becomes by that fact clothed with a public interest, and ceases to be juris privati only, appear to me to destroy, for all useful purposes, the efficacy of the constitutional guaranty. All that is beneficial in property arises from its use, and the fruits of that use; and whatever deprives a person of them deprives him of all that is desirable or valuable in the title and possession. If the constitutional guaranty extends no further than to prevent a deprivation of title and possession, and allows a deprivation of use, and the fruits of that use, it does not merit the encomiums it has received. Unless I have misread the history of the provision now incorporated into all our State constitutions, and by the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments into our Federal Constitution, and have misunderstood the interpretation it has received, it is not thus limited in its scope, and thus impotent for good. It has a much more extended operation than either court, State, or Federal has given to it. The provision, it is to be observed, places property under the same protection as life and liberty. Except by due process of law, no State can 142*142 deprive any person of either. The provision has been supposed to secure to every individual the essential conditions for the pursuit of happiness; and for that reason has not been heretofore, and should never be, construed in any narrow or restricted sense.

No State "shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law," says the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution. By the term "life," as here used, something more is meant than mere animal existence. The inhibition against its deprivation extends to all those limbs and faculties by which life is enjoyed. The provision equally prohibits the mutilation of the body by the amputation of an arm or leg, or the putting out of an eye, or the destruction of any other organ of the body through which the soul communicates with the outer world. The deprivation not only of life, but of whatever God has given to everyone with life, for its growth and enjoyment, is prohibited by the provision in question, if its efficacy be not frittered away by judicial decision.

By the term "liberty," as used in the provision, something more is meant than mere freedom from physical restraint or the bounds of a prison. It means freedom to go where one may choose, and to act in such manner, not inconsistent with the equal rights of others, as his judgment may dictate for the promotion of his happiness; that is, to pursue such callings and avocations as may be most suitable to develop his capacities, and give to them their highest enjoyment.

The same liberal construction which is required for the protection of life and liberty, in all particulars in which life and liberty are of any value, should be applied to the protection of private property. If the legislature of a State, under pretence of providing for the public good, or for any other reason, can determine, against the consent of the owner, the uses to which private property shall be devoted, or the prices which the owner shall receive for its uses, it can deprive him of the property as completely as by a special act for its confiscation or destruction. If, for instance, the owner is prohibited from using his building for the purposes for which it was designed, it is of little consequence that he is permitted to retain the title and possession; or, if he is compelled to take as compensation for its use less than the expenses to which he is subjected by its ownership, he is, for all practical purposes, deprived of the property, as effectually as if the legislature had ordered his forcible dispossession. If it be admitted that the legislature has any control over the compensation, the extent of that compensation becomes a mere matter of legislative discretion. The amount fixed will operate as a partial destruction of the value of the property, if it fall below the amount which the owner would obtain by contract, and, practically, as a complete destruction, if it be less than the cost of retaining its possession. There is, indeed, no protection of any value under the constitutional provision, which does not extend to the use and income of the property, as well as to its title and possession.

This court has heretofore held in many instances that a constitutional provision intended for the protection of rights of private property should be liberally construed. It has so held in the numerous cases where it has been called upon to give effect to the provision prohibiting the States from legislation impairing the obligation of contracts; the provision being construed to secure from direct attack not only the contract itself, but all the essential incidents which give it value and enable its owner to enforce it. Thus, in Bronson v. Kinzie, reported in the 1st of Howard, it was held that an act of the legislature of Illinois, giving to a mortgagor twelve months within which to redeem his mortgaged property from a judicial sale, and prohibiting its sale for less than two-thirds of its appraised value, was void as applied to mortgages executed prior to its passage. It was contended, in support of the act, that it affected only the remedy of the mortgagee, and did not impair the contract; but the court replied that there was no substantial difference between a retrospective law declaring a particular contract to be abrogated and void, and one which took away all remedy to enforce it, or encumbered the remedy with conditions that rendered it useless or impracticable to pursue it. And, referring to the constitutional provision, the court said, speaking through Mr. Chief Justice Taney, that

*"it would be unjust to the memory of the distinguished men who framed it, to suppose that it was designed to protect a mere barren and 144*144 abstract right, without any practical operation upon the business of life. It was undoubtedly adopted as a part of the Constitution for a great and useful purpose. It was to maintain the integrity of contracts, and to secure their faithful execution throughout this Union, by placing them under the protection of the Constitution of the United States. And it would but ill. become this court, under any circumstances, to depart from the plain meaning of the words used, and to sanction a distinction between the right and the remedy, which would render this provision illusive and nugatory, mere words of form, affording no protection and producing no practical result."*

And in Pumpelly v. Green Bay Company, 13 Wall. 177, the language of the court is equally emphatic. That case arose in Wisconsin, the constitution of which declares, like the constitutions of nearly all the States, that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation; and this court held that the flooding of one's land by a dam constructed across a river under a law of the State was a taking within the prohibition, and required compensation to be made to the owner of the land thus flooded. The court, speaking through Mr. Justice Miller, said: —

"It would be a very curious and unsatisfactory result, if, in construing a provision of constitutional law, always understood to have been adopted for protection and security to the rights of the individual as against the government, and which has received the commendation of jurists, statesmen, and commentators, as placing the

1 just principles of the common law on that subject beyond the power of ordinary legislation to change or control
2 them, it shall be held that, if the government refrains from the absolute conversion of real property to the uses of
3 the public, it can destroy its value entirely, can inflict irreparable and permanent injury to any extent, can, in 4 effect, subject it to total destruction without making any compensation, because, in the narrowest sense of the 5 word, it is not taken for the public use. Such a construction would pervert the constitutional provision into a 6 restriction on the rights of the citizen, as those rights stood at the common law, instead of the government, and
7 make it an authority for invasion of private right under the pretext of the public good, which had no warrant
8 in the laws or practices of our ancestors."

9 The views expressed in these citations, applied to this case, would render the constitutional provision invoked by the
10 defendants effectual to protect them in the uses, income, and revenues of their property, as well as in its title and 11 possession. The construction actually given by the State court and by this court makes the provision, in the language
12 of Taney, a protection to "a mere barren and abstract right, without any practical operation upon the business of 13 life," and renders it "illusiv and nugatory, mere words of form, affording no protection and producing no practical
14 result."

15 The power of the State over the property of the citizen under the constitutional guaranty is well defined. The State may take 16 his property for public uses, upon just compensation being made therefor. It may take a portion of his property by way of 17 taxation for the support of the government. It may control the use and possession of his property, so far as may be necessary
18 for the protection of the rights of others, and to secure to them the equal use and enjoyment of their property. The doctrine
19 that each one must so use his own as not to injure his neighbor — sic utere tuo ut alienum non lædas — is the rule by 20 which every member of society must possess and enjoy his property; and all legislation essential to secure this common
21 and equal enjoyment is a legitimate exercise of State authority. Except in cases where property may be destroyed to
22 arrest a conflagration or the ravages of pestilence, or be taken under the pressure of an immediate and overwhelming
23 necessity to prevent a public calamity, the power of the State over the property of the citizen does not extend beyond
24 such limits.

25 It is true that the legislation which secures to all protection in their rights, and the equal use and enjoyment of their property,
26 embraces an almost infinite variety of subjects. Whatever affects the peace, good order, morals, and health of the community,
27 comes within its scope; and every one must use and enjoy his property subject to the restrictions which such legislation
28 imposes. What is termed the police power of the State, which, from the language often used respecting it, one would suppose
29 to be an undefined and irresponsible element in government, can only interfere with the conduct of individuals in their 30 intercourse with each other, and in the use of their property, so far 146*146 as may be required to secure these objects. The 31 compensation which the owners of property, not having any special rights or privileges from the government in
32 connection with it, may demand for its use, or for their own services in union with it, forms no element of consideration
33 in prescribing regulations for that purpose. If one construct a building in a city, the State, or the municipality exercising a
34 delegated power from the State, may require its walls to be of sufficient thickness for the uses intended; it may forbid the
35 employment of inflammable materials in its construction, so as not to endanger the safety of his neighbors; if designed as a
36 theatre, church, or public hall, it may prescribe ample means of egress, so as to afford facility for escape in case of accident;
37 it may forbid the storage in it of powder, nitro-glycerine, or other explosive material; it may require its occupants daily to
38 remove decayed vegetable and animal matter, which would otherwise accumulate and engender disease; it may exclude from 39 it all occupations and business calculated to disturb the neighborhood or infect the air. Indeed, there is no end of regulations
40 with respect to the use of property which may not be legitimately prescribed, having for their object the peace, good order,
41 safety, and health of the community, thus securing to all the equal enjoyment of their property; but in establishing these
42 regulations it is evident that compensation to the owner for the use of his property, or for his services in union with it, is not
43 a matter of any importance: whether it be one sum or another does not affect the regulation, either in respect to its utility or
44 mode of enforcement. One may go, in like manner, through the whole round of regulations authorized by legislation, State
45 or municipal, under what is termed the police power, and in no instance will he find that the compensation of the owner for 46 the use of his property has any influence in establishing them. It is only where some right or privilege is conferred by the 47 government or municipality upon the owner, which he can use in connection with his property, or by means of which 48 the use of his property is rendered more valuable to him, or he thereby enjoys an advantage over others, that the 49 compensation to be received by him becomes a legitimate matter of regulation. Submission to the regulation of
50 compensation in such cases is an implied condition 147*147 of the grant, and the State, in exercising its power of 51 prescribing the compensation, only determines the conditions upon which its concession shall be enjoyed. When the 52 privilege ends, the power of regulation ceases.

53 Jurists and writers on public law find authority for the exercise of this police power of the State and the numerous regulations
54 which it prescribes in the doctrine already stated, that everyone must use and enjoy his property consistently with the rights
55 of others, and the equal use and enjoyment by them of their property. "The police power of the State," says the Supreme

1 Court of Vermont, "extends to the protection of the lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of all persons, and the protection
2 of all property in the State. According to the maxim, sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas, which, being of universal application,
3 it must, of course, be within the range of legislative action to define the mode and manner in which every one may so use his
4 own as not to injure others." Thorpe v. Rutland & Burlington Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 149. "We think it a settled principle
5 growing out of the nature of well-ordered civil society," says the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, "that every holder of 6 property, however absolute and unqualified may be his title, holds it under the implied liability that his use of it shall not be
7 injurious to the equal enjoyment of others having an equal right to the enjoyment of their property, nor injurious to the rights
8 of the community." Commonwealth v. Alger, 7 Cush. 84. In his Commentaries, after speaking of the protection afforded by 9 the Constitution to private property, Chancellor Kent says: —

10 "But though property be thus protected, it is still to be understood that the law-giver has the right to prescribe
11 the mode and manner of using it, so far as may be necessary to prevent the abuse of the right, to the injury or 12 annoyance of others, or of the public. The government may, by general regulations, interdict such uses of property
13 as would create nuisances and become dangerous to the lives, or health, or peace, or comfort of the citizens.
14 Unwholesome trades, slaughter-houses, operations offensive to the senses, the deposit of powder, the application
15 of steam-power to propel cars, the building with combustible materials, and the burial of the dead, may all be
16 *interdicted by law, in the-midst of dense masses of population, 148*148 on the general and rational principle*
17 that every person ought so to use his property as not to injure his neighbors, and that private interests must be 18 made subservient to the general interests of the community. 2 Kent, 340.

19 The Italics in these citations are mine. The citations show what I have already stated to be the case, that the regulations which 20 the State, in the exercise of its police power, authorizes with respect to the use of property are entirely independent of any 21 question of compensation for such use, or for the services of the owner in connection with it.

22 There is nothing in the character of the business of the defendants as warehousemen which called for the interference
23 complained of in this case. Their buildings are not nuisances; their occupation of receiving and storing grain infringes upon 24 no rights of others, disturbs no neighborhood, infects not the air, and in no respect prevents others from using and enjoying
25 their property as to them may seem best. The legislation in question is nothing less than a bold assertion of absolute
26 power by the State to control at its discretion the property and business of the citizen, and fix the compensation he
27 shall receive. The will of the legislature is made the condition upon which the owner shall receive the fruits of his 28 property and the just reward of his labor, industry, and enterprise. "That government," says Story, "can scarcely be
29 deemed to be free where the rights of property are left solely dependent upon the will of a legislative body without any
30 restraint. The fundamental maxims of a free government seem to require that the rights of personal liberty and private 31 property should be held sacred." Wilkeson v. Leland, 2 Pet. 657. The decision of the court in this case gives 32 unrestrained license to legislative will.

33 The several instances mentioned by counsel in the argument and by the court in its opinion, in which legislation has fixed the 34 compensation which parties may receive for the use of their property and services, do not militate against the views I have
35 expressed of the power of the State over the property of the citizen. They were mostly cases of public ferries, bridges, and 36 turnpikes, of wharfingers, hackmen, and draymen, and of interest on money. In all these cases, except that of interest on
37 money, which I shall presently notice there was some special 149*149 privilege granted by the State or municipality; and no
38 one, I suppose, has ever contended that the State had not a right to prescribe the conditions upon which such privilege should 39 be enjoyed. The State in such cases exercises no greater right than an individual may exercise over the use of his own
40 property when leased or loaned to others. The conditions upon which the privilege shall be enjoyed being stated or 41 implied in the legislation authorizing its grant, no right is, of course, impaired by their enforcement. The recipient of 42 the privilege, in effect, stipulates to comply with the conditions. It matters not how limited the privilege conferred, its
43 acceptance implies an assent to the regulation of its use and the compensation for it. The privilege which the hackman
44 and drayman have to the use of stands on the public streets, not allowed to the ordinary coachman or laborer with teams,
45 constitutes a sufficient warrant for the regulation of their fares. In the case of the warehousemen of Chicago, no right or
46 privilege is conferred by the government upon them; and hence no assent of theirs can be alleged to justify any interference
47 with their charges for the use of their property.

48 The quotations from the writings of Sir Matthew Hale, so far from supporting the positions of the court, do not recognize the 49 interference of the government, even to the extent which I have admitted to be legitimate. They state merely that the franchise
50 of a public ferry belongs to the king, and cannot be used by the subject except by license from him, or prescription time out
51 of mind; and that when the subject has a public wharf by license from the king, or from having dedicated his private wharf
52 to the public, as in the case of a street opened by him through his own land, he must allow the use of the wharf for reasonable
53 and moderate charges. Thus, in the first quotation which is taken from his treatise De Jure Maris, Hale says that the king has

1 "a right of franchise or privilege, that no man may set up a common ferry for all passengers without a prescription
2 time out of mind or a charter from the king. He may make a ferry for his own use or the use of his family, but not
3 for the common use of all the king's subjects passing that way; because it doth in consequent tend to a common
4 *charge, and is become a thing of public interest and use, and every man for his passage 150*150 pays a toll,*
5 which is a common charge, and every ferry ought to be under a public regulation, viz., that it give attendance at 6 due times, keep a boat in due order, and take but reasonable toll; for if he fail in these he is finable."

7 Of course, one who obtains a license from the king to establish a public ferry, at which "every man for his passage pays a
8 toll," must take it on condition that he charge only reasonable toll, and, indeed, subject to such regulations as the king may 9 prescribe.

10 In the second quotation, which is taken from his treatise De Portibus Maris, Hale says: —

11 "A man, for his own private advantage, may, in a port or town, set up a wharf or crane, and may take what rates
12 he and his customers can agree for cranage, wharfage, housellage, pesage; for he doth no more than is lawful
13 for any man to do, viz., makes the most of his own. If the king or subject have a public wharf, unto which all
14 persons that come to that port must come and unlade or lade their goods as for the purpose, because they are the
15 wharves only licensed by the king, or because there is no other wharf in that port, as it may fall out where a port
16 is newly erected, in that case there cannot be taken arbitrary and excessive duties for cranage, wharfage, pesage,
17 &c.; neither can they be enhanced to an immoderate rate, but the duties must be reasonable and moderate, though
18 settled by the king's license or charter. For now the wharf and crane and other conveniences are affected with a
19 public interest, and they cease to be juris privati only; as if a man set out a street in new building on his own land,
20 it is now no longer bare private interest, but is affected by the public interest."

21 The purport of which is, that if one have a public wharf, by license from the government or his own dedication, he must exact
22 only reasonable compensation for its use. By its dedication to public use, a wharf is as much brought under the common-law
23 rule of subjection to reasonable charges as it would be if originally established or licensed by the crown. All property
24 dedicated to public use by an individual owner, as in the case of land for a park or street, falls at once, by force of the 25 dedication, under the law governing property appropriated by the government for similar purposes.

26 I do not doubt the justice of the encomiums passed upon Sir 151*151 Matthew Hale as a learned jurist of his day; but I am
27 unable to perceive the pertinency of his observations upon public ferries and public wharves, found in his treatises on "The 28 Rights of the Sea" and on "The Ports of the Sea," to the questions presented by the warehousing law of Illinois, undertaking
29 to regulate the compensation received by the owners of private property, when that property is used for private purposes.

30 The principal authority cited in support of the ruling of the court is that of Alnutt v. Inglis, decided by the King's Bench, and
31 reported in 12 East. But that case, so far from sustaining the ruling, establishes, in my judgment, the doctrine that everyone
32 has a right to charge for his property, or for its use, whatever he pleases, unless he enjoys in connection with it some right or
33 privilege from the government not accorded to others; and even then it only decides what is above stated in the quotations
34 from Sir Matthew Hale, that he must submit, so long as he retains the right or privilege, to reasonable rates. In that case, the
35 London Dock Company, under certain acts of Parliament, possessed the exclusive right of receiving imported goods into
36 their warehouses before the duties were paid; and the question was whether the company was bound to receive them for a
37 reasonable reward, or whether it could arbitrarily fix its compensation. In deciding the case, the Chief Justice, Lord
38 Ellenborough, said: —

39 "There is no doubt that the general principle is favored, both in law and justice, that every man may fix what
40 price he pleases upon his own property, or the use of it; but if, for a particular purpose, the public have a right
41 to resort to his premises and make use of them, and he have a monopoly in them for that purpose, if he will take
42 the benefit of that monopoly, he must, as an equivalent, perform the duty attached to it on reasonable terms."

43 And, coming to the conclusion that the company's warehouses were invested with "the monopoly of a public privilege," he 44 held that by law the company must confine itself to take reasonable rates; and added, that if the crown should thereafter think
45 it advisable to extend the privilege more generally to other persons and places, so that the public would not be restrained from
46 exercising a choice of warehouses for the purpose, the company might be enfranchised from the restriction which 152*152
47 attached to a monopoly; but, so long as its warehouses were the only places which could be resorted to for that purpose, the 48 company was bound to let the trade have the use of them for a reasonable hire and reward. The other judges of the court
49 placed their concurrence in the decision upon the ground that the company possessed a legal monopoly of the business, having
50 the only warehouses where goods imported could be lawfully received without previous payment of the duties. From this 51 case it appears that it is only where some privilege in the bestowal of the government is enjoyed in connection with the 52 property, that it is affected with a public interest in any proper sense of the terms. It is the public privilege conferred with the 53 use of the property which creates the public interest in it.

1 In the case decided by the Supreme Court of Alabama, where a power granted to the city of Mobile to license bakers, and to
2 regulate the weight and price of bread, was sustained so far as regulating the weight of the bread was concerned, no question
3 was made as to the right to regulate the price. 3 Ala. 137. There is no doubt of the competency of the State to prescribe the
4 weight of a loaf of bread, as it may declare what weight shall constitute a pound or a ton. But I deny the power of any
5 legislature under our government to fix the price which one shall receive for his property of any kind. If the power can be
6 exercised as to one article, it may as to all articles, and the prices of everything, from a calico gown to a city mansion, may 7 be the subject of legislative direction.

8 Other instances of a similar character may, no doubt, be cited of attempted legislative interference with the rights of 9 property. The act of Congress of 1820, mentioned by the court, is one of them. There Congress undertook to confer upon
10 the city of Washington power to regulate the rates of wharfage at private wharves, and the fees for sweeping chimneys. Until 11 some authoritative adjudication is had upon these and similar provisions, I must adhere, notwithstanding the legislation, to 12 my opinion, that those who own property have the right to fix the compensation at which they will allow its use, and that
13 those who control services have a right to fix the compensation at which they will be rendered. The chimney-sweeps may, I
14 think, safely claim all the compensation which 153*153 they can obtain by bargain for their work. In the absence of any 15 contract for property or services, the law allows only a reasonable price or compensation; but what is a reasonable price in 16 any case will depend upon a variety of considerations, and is not a matter for legislative determination.

17 The practice of regulating by legislation the interest receivable for the use of money, when considered with reference
18 to its origin, is only the assertion of a right of the government to control the extent to which a privilege granted by it
19 may be exercised and enjoyed. By the ancient common law it was unlawful to take any money for the use of money;
20 all who did so were called usurers, a term of great reproach, and were exposed to the censure of the church; and if,
21 after the death of a person, it was discovered that he had been a usurer whilst living, his chattels were forfeited to the
22 king, and his lands escheated to the lord of the fee. No action could be maintained on any promise to pay for the use
23 of money, because of the unlawfulness of the contract. Whilst the common law thus condemned all usury, Parliament
24 interfered, and made it lawful to take a limited amount of interest. It was not upon the theory that the legislature
25 could arbitrarily fix the compensation which one could receive for the use of property, which, by the general law, was
26 the subject of hire for compensation, that Parliament acted, but in order to confer a privilege which the common law
27 denied. The reasons which L.Ed. to this legislation originally have long since ceased to exist; and if the legislation is 28 still persisted in, it is because a long acquiescence in the exercise of a power, especially when it was rightfully assumed
29 in the first instance, is generally received as sufficient evidence of its continued lawfulness. 10 Bac. Abr. 264.]

30 There were also recognized in England, by the ancient common law, certain privileges as belonging to the lord of the manor,
31 which grew out of the state of the country, the condition of the people, and the relation existing between him and 154*154
32 his tenants under the feudal system. Among these was the right of the lord to compel all the tenants within his manor to grind
33 their corn at his mill. No one, therefore, could set up a mill except by his license, or by the license of the crown, unless he 34 claimed the right by prescription, which presupposed a grant from the lord or crown, and, of course, with such license went 35 the right to regulate the tolls to be received. Woolrych on the Law of Waters, c. 6, of Mills. Hence originated the doctrine
36 which at one time obtained generally in this country, that there could be no mill to grind corn for the public, without a grant
37 or license from the public authorities. It is still, I believe, asserted in some States. This doctrine being recognized, all the rest
38 followed. The right to control the toll accompanied the right to control the establishment of the mill.

39 It requires no comment to point out the radical differences between the cases of public mills and interest on money, and that 40 of the warehouses in Chicago. No prerogative or privilege of the crown to establish warehouses was ever asserted at the 41 common law. The business of a warehouseman was, at common law, a private business and is so in its nature. It has
42 no special privileges connected with it, nor did the law ever extend to it any greater protection than it extended to all
43 other private business. No reason can be assigned to justify legislation interfering with the legitimate profits of that 44 business, that would not equally justify an intermeddling with the business of every man in the community, so soon,
45 at least, as his business became generally useful.

46 5.12 The public office is a “fiction of law”

47 The fictitious public office and “trade or business” to which all the government’s enforcement rights attach is called a “fiction
48 of law” by some judges. Here is the definition:

49 “Fiction of law. An assumption or supposition of law that something which is or may be false is true, or that a state of facts exists which
50 has never really taken place. An assumption [PRESUMPTION], for purposes of justice, of a fact that does not or may not exist. A rule
51 of law which assumes as true, and will not allow to be disproved, something which is false, but not impossible. Ryan v. Motor Credit Co.,

30 N.J.Eq. 531, 23 A.2d. 607, 621. These assumptions are of an innocent or even beneficial character, and are made for the advancement of the ends of justice. They secure this end chiefly by the extension of procedure from cases to which it is applicable to other cases to which it is not strictly applicable, the ground of inapplicability being some difference of an immaterial character. See also Legal fiction." [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 623]

The key elements of all fictions of law from the above are:

1. A PRESUMPTION of the existence or truth of an otherwise nonexistent thing.
2. The presumptions are of an INNOCENT or BENEFICIAL character.
3. The presumptions are made for the advancement of the ends of justice.
4. All of the above goals are satisfied against BOTH parties to the dispute, not just the government. Otherwise the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment has been transgressed.

The fictitious public office that forms the heart of the modern SCAM income tax clearly does not satisfy the elements for being a "fiction of law" because:

1. All presumptions that violate due process of law or result in an injury to EITHER party affected by the presumption are unconstitutional. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. The presumption does not benefit BOTH parties to a dispute that involves it. It ONLY benefits the government at the expense of innocent nontaxpayers and EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE parties.
3. The presumption of the existence of the BOGUS office does NOT advance justice for BOTH parties to any dispute involving it. The legal definition of justice is the RIGHT TO BE LEFT ALONE. The presumption of the existence of the BOGUS office ensures that those who do not want to volunteer for the office but who are the subject of FALSE information returns are NEVER left alone and are continually harassed illegally by the IRS. Here is the legal definition of "justice" so you can see for yourself:

"PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and interests of others [INCLUDING us], and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights, to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right. "
[Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

Therefore it is clearly a CRUEL FRAUD for any judge to justify his PRESUMPTION of the existence of the BOGUS public office that is the subject of the excise tax by calling it a "fiction of law".

If you want to see an example of WHY this fiction of law was created as a way to usurp jurisdiction, read the following U.S. Supreme Court cite:

"It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact to be answerable to the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of office, he would unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But because one man, by his own act, renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man, who has not incurred a similar obligation, be implicated? If, in other words, it is sufficient to vest a jurisdiction in this court, that a Federal Officer is concerned; if it is a sufficient proof of a case arising under a law of the United States to affect other persons, that such officer is bound, by law, to discharge his duty with fidelity; a source of jurisdiction is opened, which must inevitably overflow and destroy all the barriers between the judicial authorities of the State and the general government. Anything which can prevent a Federal Officer from the punctual, as well as from an impartial, performance of his duty; an assault and battery; or the recovery of a debt, as well as the offer of a bribe, may be made a foundation of the jurisdiction of this court; and, considering the constant disposition of power to extend the sphere of its influence, fictions will be resorted to, when real cases cease to occur. A mere fiction, that the defendant is in the custody of the marshal, has rendered the jurisdiction of the King's Bench universal in all personal actions."

The reason for the controversy in the above case was that the bribe occurred on state land by a nonresident domiciled in the state, and therefore that federal law did not apply. In the above case, the court admitted that a "fiction" was resorted to usurp jurisdiction because no legal authority could be found. The fact that the defendant was in custody created the jurisdiction. It didn't exist before they KIDNAPPED him. Notice also that they mention an implied "compact" or contract related to the office being exercised, and that THAT compact was the source of their jurisdiction over the officer who was bribed. This is the SAME contract to which all those who engage in a statutory "trade or business" are party to.

5.13 "Public official" v. "Public office"

There is much confusion over what a "public office" is within the federal government, and its proper relationship to the term "public official". This confusion was very deliberately created and maintained by the government because they don't want you to know the following:

1. That the federal income tax described in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A is an excise tax or "privilege tax" upon a voluntary federal franchise called a "public office".
2. What constitutes such a "public office" so that you can avoid the franchise and "unvolunteer".

You can search every IRS publication as we have and you will NEVER see a definition of what a constitutes a "public office", because they don't want you to unvolunteer and become a "nontaxpayer". Therefore, you will have to read and study the law as we have to deduce the full extent of the deception before you can regain your sovereignty and liberty and "fire" the government and your covetous "public servants" as your protector.

Those engaged in a "public office", for instance, need not ALSO be described as "public officials". In fact, "public officials" are an elected or appointed subset of all "public offices". We must remember that the tax described in Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is a tax upon a federal franchise called a "public office", and NOT upon "public officials". This is also confirmed by 26 U.S.C. §6331(a), which describes who the real audience for the income tax is:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 64 > Subchapter D > PART II > § 6331
§6331. Levy and distraint

(a) Authority of Secretary

If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax (and such further sum as shall be sufficient to cover the expenses of the levy) by levy upon all property and rights to property (except such property as is exempt under section 6334) belonging to such person or on which there is a lien provided in this chapter for the payment of such tax. Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer (as defined in section 3401(d)) of such officer, employee, or elected official. If the Secretary makes a finding that the collection of such tax is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the Secretary and, upon failure or refusal to pay such tax, collection thereof by levy shall be lawful without regard to the 10-day period provided in this section.

Note the use of the word "agency or instrumentality". This is an admission that the tax is not JUST upon "employees" or "public officials", but upon all "public offices". Every instrumentality of the federal government, in fact, constitutes a "public office". We will therefore spend the rest of this section describing exactly what constitutes a "public office", and this description is extracted from section 10 of the following pamphlet:

The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The subject of exactly what constitutes a "public office" within the meaning described in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) is not defined in any IRS publication we could find. The reason is quite clear: the "trade or business" scam is the Achilles heel of the IRS fraud and both the IRS and the Courts are loath to even talk about it because there is nothing they can defend themselves with other than unsubstantiated presumption created by the abuse of the word "includes" and certain key "words of art". Therefore, those who want to know how they could lawfully be classified as a "public office" will have to answer that question completely on their own, which is what we will attempt to do in this section.

We begin our search with a definition of “public office” from Black’s Dictionary:

Public office. The right, authority, and duty created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either fixed by law or enduring at the pleasure of the creating power, an individual is invested with some portion of the sovereign functions of government for the benefit of the public. Walker v. Rich, 79 Cal.App. 139, 249 P. 56, 58. An agency for the state, the duties of which involve in their performance the exercise of some portion of the sovereign power, either great or small. Yaselli v. Goff, C.C.A., 12 F.2d. 396, 403, 56 A.L.R. 1239; Lacey v. State, 13 Ala.App. 212, 68 So. 706, 710; Curtin v. State, 61 Cal.App. 377, 214 P. 1030, 1035; Shelmadine v. City of Elkhart, 75 Ind.App. 493, 129 N.E. 878. State ex rel. Colorado River Commission v. Frohmiller, 46 Ariz. 413, 52 P.2d. 483, 486. Where, by virtue of law, a person is clothed, not as an incidental or transient authority, but for such time as de- notes duration and continuance, with Independent power to control the property of the public, or with public functions to be exercised in the supposed interest of the people, the service to be compensated by a stated yearly salary, and the occupant having a designation or title, the position so created is a public office. State v. Brennan, 49 Ohio.St. 33, 29 N.E. 593. [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1235]

Black’s Law Dictionary Sixth Edition further clarifies the meaning of a “public office” below:

“Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:

- (1) Authority conferred by law,
- (2) Fixed tenure of office, and
- (3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.

Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function. Spring v. Constantino, 168 Conn. 563, 362 A.2d. 871, 875. Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are: Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature. Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position. Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority. Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and Position must have some permanency.” [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia further clarifies what a “public office” is as follows:

“As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.⁵⁵ Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts.⁵⁶ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves,⁵⁷ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.⁵⁸ It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.⁵⁹ Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁶⁰” [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

Based on the foregoing, one cannot be a “public officer” if:

1. There is not a statute or constitutional authority that specifically creates the office. All “public offices” can only be created through legislative authority.
2. Their duties are not specifically and exactly enumerated in some Act of Congress.
3. They have a boss or immediate supervisor. All duties must be performed INDEPENDENTLY.
4. They have anyone but the law and the courts to immediately supervise their activities.
5. They are serving as a “public officer” in a location NOT specifically authorized by the law. The law must create the office and specify exactly where it is to be exercised. 4 U.S.C. §72 says ALL public offices of the federal and national government MUST be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere, except as expressly provided by law.
6. Their position does not carry with it some kind of fiduciary duty to the “public” which in turn is documented in and enforced by enacted law itself.
7. The beneficiary of their fiduciary duty is other than the “public”. Public service is a public trust, and the beneficiary of the trust is the public at large and not any one specific individual or group of individuals. See 5 C.F.R. §2635.101(b) and Executive Order 12731.

All public officers must take an oath. The oath, in fact, is what creates the fiduciary duty that attaches to the office. This is confirmed by the definition of "public official" in Black's Law Dictionary:

*A person who, upon being issued a commission, taking required oath, enters upon, for a fixed tenure, a position called an office where he or she exercises in his or her own right some of the attributes of sovereign he or she serves for benefit of public. Macy v. Heverin, 44 Md.App. 358, 408 A.2d. 1067, 1069. The holder of a public office though not all persons in public employment are public officials, because public official's position requires the exercise of some portion of the sovereign power, whether great or small. Town of Arlington v. Bds. of Conciliation and Arbitration, Mass., 352 N.E.2d. 914.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]*

The oath for United States federal and state officials was prescribed in the very first enactment of Congress on March 4, 1789 as follows:

*Statutes at Large, March 4, 1789
1 Stat. 23-24*

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and [House of] Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the oath or affirmation required by the sixth article of the Constitution of the United States, shall be administered in the form following, to wit : " I, A, B. do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be) that I will support the Constitution of the United States." The said oath or affirmation shall be administered within three days after the passing of this act, by any one member of the Senate, to the President of the Senate, and by him to all the members and to the secretary; and by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to all the members who have not taken a similar oath, by virtue of a particular resolution of the said House, and to the clerk: and in case of the absence of any member from the service of either House, at the time prescribed for taking the said oath or affirmation, the same shall be administered to such member, when he shall appear to take his seat.

SEC. 2. And he it further enacted, That at the first session of Congress after every general election of Representatives, the oath or affirmation aforesaid, shall be administered by any one member of the House of Representatives to the Speaker; and by him to all the members present, and to the clerk, previous to entering on any other business; and to the members who shall afterwards appear, previous to taking their seats. The President of the Senate for the time being, shall also administer the said oath or affirmation to each Senator who shall hereafter be elected, previous to his taking his seat: and in any future case of a President of the Senate, who shall not have taken the said oath or affirmation, the same shall be administered to him by any one of the members of the Senate.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted. That the members of the several State legislatures, at the next sessions of the said legislatures, respectively, and all executive and judicial officers of the several States, who have been heretofore chosen or appointed, or who shall be chosen or appointed before the first day of August next, and who shall then be in office, shall, within one month thereafter, take the same oath or affirmation, except where they shall have taken it before; which may be administered by any person authorized by the law of the State, in which such office shall be holden, to administer oaths. And the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers of the several States, who shall be chosen or appointed after the said first day of August, shall, before they proceed to execute the duties of their respective offices, take the foregoing oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the person or persons, who by the law of the State shall be authorized to administer the oath of office; and the person or persons so administering the oath hereby required to be taken, shall cause a re- cord or certificate thereof to be made, in the same manner, as, by the law of the State, he or they shall be directed to record or certify the oath of office.

SEC. 4. And he it further enacted, That all officers appointed, or hereafter to be appointed under the authority of the United States, shall, before they act in their respective offices, take the same oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the person or persons who shall be authorized by law to administer to such officers their respective oaths of office; and such officers shall incur the same penalties in case of failure, as shall be imposed by law in case of failure in taking their respective oaths of office.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the secretary of the Senate, and the clerk of the House of Representatives for the time being, shall, at the time of taking the oath or affirmation aforesaid, each take an oath or affirmation in the words following, to wit : "I, A. B. secretary of the Senate, or clerk of the House of Representatives (as the case may be) of the United States of America, do solemnly swear or affirm, that I will truly and faithfully discharge the duties of my said office, to the best of my knowledge and abilities."

Based on the above, the following persons within the government are "public officers":

1. Federal Officers:
 - 1.1. The President of the United States.
 - 1.2. Members of the House of Representatives.
 - 1.3. Members of the Senate.
 - 1.4. All appointed by the President of the United States.
 - 1.5. The secretary of the Senate.
 - 1.6. The clerk of the House of Representatives.
 - 1.7. All district, circuit, and supreme court justices.
2. State Officers:
 - 2.1. The governor of the state.
 - 2.2. Members of the House of Representatives.
 - 2.3. Members of the Senate.
 - 2.4. All district, circuit, and supreme court justices of the state.

The "public offices" described in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) within the definition of "trade or business" are ONLY public offices located in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere. To wit:

TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72
§ 72. Public offices; at seat of Government

All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere, except as otherwise expressly provided by law.
[SOURCE: <http://law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/4/72>]

The only provision of any act of Congress that we have been able to find which authorizes "public offices" outside the District of Columbia as expressly required by law above, is 48 U.S.C. §1612, which authorizes enforcement of the Internal Revenue Code within the U.S. Virgin Islands. To wit:

TITLE 48 > CHAPTER 12 > SUBCHAPTER V > § 1612
§ 1612. Jurisdiction of District Court

(a) Jurisdiction

The District Court of the Virgin Islands shall have the jurisdiction of a District Court of the United States, including, but not limited to, the diversity jurisdiction provided for in section 1332 of title 28 and that of a bankruptcy court of the United States. The District Court of the Virgin Islands shall have exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal and civil proceedings in the Virgin Islands with respect to the income tax laws applicable to the Virgin Islands, regardless of the degree of the offense or of the amount involved, except the ancillary laws relating to the income tax enacted by the legislature of the Virgin Islands. Any act or failure to act with respect to the income tax laws applicable to the Virgin Islands which would constitute a criminal offense described in chapter 75 of subtitle F of title 26 shall constitute an offense against the government of the Virgin Islands and may be prosecuted in the name of the government of the Virgin Islands by the appropriate officers thereof in the District Court of the Virgin Islands without the request or the consent of the United States attorney for the Virgin Islands, notwithstanding the provisions of section 1617 of this title.

There is NO PROVISION OF LAW which would similarly extend public offices or jurisdiction to enforce any provision of the Internal Revenue Code to any place within the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union, because Congress enjoys NO LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION THERE.

"It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S. 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation."

Carter v. Carter Coal Co., [298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

"The difficulties arising out of our dual form of government and the opportunities for differing opinions concerning the relative rights of state and national governments are many; but for a very long time this court has steadfastly adhered to the doctrine that the taxing power of Congress does not extend to the states or their political subdivisions. The same basic reasoning which leads to that conclusion, we think, requires like limitation upon the power which springs from the bankruptcy clause. United States v. Butler, supra."
[Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District No. 1, 298 U.S. 513, 56 S.Ct. 892 (1936)]

By law then, no "public office" may therefore lawfully be exercised OUTSIDE the District of Columbia except as "expressly provided by law", including privileged or licensed activities such as a "trade or business".

Since Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A is a tax on "public offices", which is called a "trade or business", then the tax can only apply to those domiciled within statutory "United States" (federal zone), wherever they are physically located to include states of the Union, but only if they are serving under oath in their official capacity as "public officers".

"Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."
Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

Another important point needs to be emphasized, which is that those working for the federal government, while on official duty, are representing a federal corporation called the "United States", which is domiciled in the District of Columbia.

(1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

(2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized [laws of the District of Columbia]; and

(3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

(A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and

(B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.

Government employees, including "public officers", while on official duty representing the federal corporation called the "United States", maintain the character of the entity they represent and therefore have a legal domicile of the District of Columbia within the context of their official duties. The Internal Revenue Code also reflects this fact in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d):

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701

14 If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business
15 in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as 16 residing in the District of Columbia.

17 Kidnapping and transporting the legal identity of a person domiciled outside the District of Columbia in a legislatively foreign 18 state, which includes states of the Union, is illegal pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §1201. Therefore, the only people who can be 19 legally and involuntarily “kidnapped” by the courts based on the above two provisions of statutory law are those who
20 individually consent through private contract to act as “public officials” in the execution of their official duties. The fiduciary
21 duty of these “public officials” is further defined in the I.R.C. as follows, and it is only by an oath of “public office” that this 22 fiduciary duty can lawfully be created:

23 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 6671

24 § 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

25 (b) Person defined

26 The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
27 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in 28 respect of which the violation occurs.
29

30 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > § 7343

31 §7343. Definition of term “person”

32 The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
33 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
34 of which the violation occurs.

35 We remind our readers that there is no liability statute within Subtitle A of the I.R.C. that would create the duty documented
36 above, and therefore the ONLY way it can be created is by the oath of office of the “public officers” who are the subject of 37 the tax in question. This was thoroughly described in the following article:

There's No Statute Making Anyone Liable to Pay IRC Subtitle A Income Taxes
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Articles/NoStatuteLiable.htm>

38 The existence of fiduciary duty of “public officers” is therefore the ONLY lawful method by which anyone can be prosecuted
39 for an “omission”, which is a thing they didn’t do that the law required them to do. It is otherwise illegal and unlawful to
40 prosecute anyone under either common law or statutory law for a FAILURE to do something, such as a FAILURE TO FILE
41 a tax return pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7203. The duty to file a tax return comes NOT from a liability statute, but from the 42 following liability associated with “taxpayers”, all of whom are “public officers” within the United States government. The income tax is a franchise and you don't need liability statutes within the franchise agreement because all franchises are a product of your consent:

I: DUTY TO ACCOUNT FOR PUBLIC FUNDS

§ 909. In general. -

It is the duty of the public officer, like any other agent or trustee, although not declared by express statute, to faithfully account for and pay over to the proper authorities all moneys which may come into his hands upon the public account, and the performance of this duty may be enforced by proper actions against the officer himself, or against those who have become sureties for the faithful discharge of his duties.

In addition to the above, every attorney admitted to practice law in any state or federal court is described as an “officer of the court”, and therefore ALSO is a “public officer”:

Attorney at law. An advocate, counsel, or official agent employed in preparing, managing, and trying cases in the courts. An officer in a court of justice, who is employed by a party in a cause to manage it for him. In re Bergeron, 220 Mass. 472, 107 N.E. 1007, 1008, Ann.Cas.1917A, 549.

Executive Order 12731 and 5 C.F.R. §2635.101(a) furthermore both indicate that “public service is a public trust”:

Executive Order 12731

"Part 1 -- PRINCIPLES OF ETHICAL CONDUCT

To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each Federal employee shall respect and adhere to the fundamental principles of ethical service as implemented in regulations promulgated under sections 201 and 301 of this order:

"(a) Public service is a public trust, requiring employees to place loyalty to the Constitution, the laws, and ethical principles above private gain.

CHAPTER XVI--OFFICE OF GOVERNMENT ETHICS

PART 2635--STANDARDS OF ETHICAL CONDUCT FOR EMPLOYEES OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH--

Table of Contents

Subpart A--General Provisions

Sec. 2635.101 Basic obligation of public service.

(a) Public service is a public trust.

Each employee has a responsibility to the United States Government and its citizens to place loyalty to the Constitution, laws and ethical principles above private gain. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each employee shall respect and adhere to the principles of ethical conduct set forth in this section, as well as the implementing standards contained in this part and in supplemental agency regulations.

1 The above provisions of law imply that everyone who works for the government is a “trustee” of “We the People”, who are
2 the sovereigns they serve in the public. In law, EVERY “trustee” is a “fiduciary” of the Beneficiary of the trust within which 3 he serves:

4 “TRUSTEE. The person appointed, or required by law, to execute a trust; one in whom an estate, interest, or
5 power is vested, under an express or implied agreement [e.g. PRIVATE LAW or CONTRACT] to administer
6 *or exercise it for the benefit or to the use of another called the cestui que trust.* Pioneer Mining Co. v. Tyberg,
7 C.C.A.Alaska, 215 F. 501, 506, L.R.A.1915B, 442; Kaehn v. St. Paul Co-op. Ass'n, 156 Minn. 113, 194 N.W. 112;
8 Catlett v. Hawthorne, 157 Va. 372, 161 S.E. 47, 48. Person who holds title to res and administers it for others'
9 benefit. Reinecke v. Smith, Ill., 53 S.Ct. 570, 289 U.S. 172, 77 L.Ed. 1109. In a strict sense, a "trustee" is one
10 'who holds the legal title to property for the benefit of another, while, in a broad sense, the term is sometimes
11 applied to anyone standing in a fiduciary or confidential relation to another. such as agent, attorney, bailee,
12 etc. State ex rel. Lee v. Sartorius, 344 Mo. 912, 130 S.W.2d. 547, 549, 550. "Trustee" is also used In a wide and
13 perhaps inaccurate sense, to denote that a person has the duty of carrying out a transaction, in which he and
14 another person are interested, in such manner as will be most for the benefit of the latter, and not in such a way
15 that he himself might be tempted, for the sake of his personal advantage, to neglect the interests of the other. In 16 this sense, directors of companies are said to be "trustees for the shareholders." Sweet.
17 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1684]

18 The fact that public service is a “public trust” was also confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court, when it said:

19 "Whatever these Constitutions and laws validly determine to be property, it is the duty of the Federal Government,
20 through the domain of jurisdiction merely Federal, to recognize to be property.

21 "And this principle follows from the structure of the respective Governments, State and Federal, and their
22 reciprocal relations. They are different agents and trustees of the people of the several States, appointed with 23 different powers and with distinct purposes, but whose acts, within the scope of their respective jurisdictions,
24 are mutually obligatory."
25 [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 (1856)]

26 An example of someone who is NOT a “public officer” is a federal “employee” on duty and who is not required to take an
27 oath. Almost invariably, such “employees” have some kind of immediate supervisor who manages and oversees and evaluates
28 his activities pursuant to the position description drafted for the position he fills. He may be a “trustee” and he may have a
29 “fiduciary duty” to the public as a “public servant”, but he isn’t an “officer” or “public officer” unless and until he takes an
30 oath of office prescribed by law. A federal “employee”, however, can become a “public office” by virtue of any one or more 31 of the following purposes that we are aware of so far:

- 32 1. Be elected to political office.
- 33 2. Being appointed to political office by the President or the governor of a state of the Union.
- 34 3. Voluntarily engaging in a privileged, excise taxable activity called a “trade or business”, which effectively is an extension
35 of the federal government and is defined as a “public office” in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). A “trade or business” is a
36 federal business franchise and partnership, in which you become a trustee and public official of the United States who 37 has donated his private property temporarily to a “public use” for the purpose of procuring “privileged compensation”
38 of a public office in the form of tax deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162, Earning income credits under 26 U.S.C. §32, and 39 a graduated REDUCED rate of tax under 26 U.S.C. §1. Only those engaged in a “public office”/“trade or business” can 40 avail themselves of any of these pecuniary government financial incentives.
- 41 4. Engaging in a privileged activity regulated by the federal government, such as:
 - 42 4.1. Pursuing a license to practice law. All attorneys are officers of the court, and all courts are part of the government 43 and therefore “public” entities.
 - 44 4.2. Applying for and accepting FDIC insurance as an officer of a bank. See 31 C.F.R. §202.2, which makes those 45 accepting FDIC federal insurance into agents of the federal government.
 - 46 4.3. Becoming an officer of a corporation, and only within the context of the jurisdiction the corporation is registered
47 in. The officers of a state-only registered corporation would be “public officers” only within the context of the 48 specific state they registered in. They would have to make application for recognition as a federal corporation to 49 also be “public officers” in the context of federal law.

50 A “public office” is not limited to a natural person. It can also extend to an entire entity such as a corporation. An example
51 of an entity that is a “public office” in its entirety is a federally chartered bank, such as the original Bank of the United States
52 described in Osborn v. United States, in which the U.S. Supreme Court identified the original and first Bank of the United 53 States, a federally chartered bank corporation created by Congress, as a “public office”:

1 All the powers of the government must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the
2 medium of public officers, or contracts made with individuals. Can any public office be created, or does one
3 exist, the performance of which may, with propriety, be assigned to this association [or trust], when
4 incorporated? If such office exist, or can be created, then the company may be incorporated, that they may be
5 appointed to execute such office. Is there any portion of the public business performed by individuals upon 6 contracts, that this association could be employed to perform, with greater advantage and more safety to the 7 public, than an individual contractor? If there be an employment of this nature, then may this company be 8 incorporated to undertake it.

9 There is an employment of this nature. Nothing can be more essential to the fiscal concerns of the nation, than 10 an agent of undoubted integrity and established credit, with whom the public moneys can, at all times, be safely
11 deposited. Nothing can be of more importance to a government, than that there should be some capitalist in the 12 country, who possesses the means of making advances of money to the government upon any exigency, and who
13 is under a legal obligation to make such advances. For these purposes the association would be an agent
14 peculiarly suitable and appropriate. [. . .]

15 The mere creation of a corporation, does not confer political power or political character. So this Court decided 16 in Dartmouth College v. Woodward, already referred to. If I may be allowed to paraphrase the language of the 17 Chief Justice, I would say, a bank incorporated, is no more a State instrument, than a natural person performing 18 the same business would be. If, then, a natural person, engaged in the trade of banking, should contract with the 19 government to receive the public money upon deposit, to transmit it from place to place, without charging for 20 commission or difference of exchange, and to perform, when called upon, the duties of commissioner of loans,
21 would not thereby become a public officer, how is it that this artificial being, created by law for the purpose of 22 being employed by the government for the same purposes, should become a part of the civil government of the 23 country? Is it because its existence, its capacities, its powers, are given by law? because the government has 24 given it power to take and hold property in a particular form, and to employ that property for particular purposes,
25 and in the disposition of it to use a particular name? because the government has sold it a privilege [22 U.S. 738,
26 774] for a large sum of money, and has bargained with it to do certain things; is it, therefore, a part of the very 27 government with which the contract is made?

28 If the Bank be constituted a public office, by the connexion between it and the government, it cannot be the 29 mere legal franchise in which the office is vested; the individual stockholders must be the officers. Their 30 character is not merged in the charter. This is the strong point of the Mayor and Commonalty v. Wood, upon 31 which this Court ground their decision in the Bank v. Deveaux, and from which they say, that cause could not be 32 distinguished. Thus, aliens may become public officers, and public duties are confided to those who owe no
33 allegiance to the government, and who are even beyond its territorial limits.

34 With the privileges and perquisites of office, all individuals holding offices, ought to be subject to the 35 disabilities of office. But if the Bank be a public office, and the individual stockholders public officers, this 36 principle does not have a fair and just operation. The disabilities of office do not attach to the stockholders; for 37 we find them every where holding public offices, even in the national Legislature, from which, if they be public
38 officers, they are excluded by the constitution in express terms.

39 If the Bank be a public institution of such character as to be justly assimilated to the mint and the post office,
40 then its charter may be amended, altered, or even abolished, at the discretion of the National Legislature. All
41 public offices are created [22 U.S. 738, 775] purely for public purposes, and may, at any time, be modified in 42 such manner as the public interest may require. Public corporations partake of the same character. So it is
43 distinctly adjudged in Dartmouth College v. Woodward. In this point, each Judge who delivered an opinion
44 concurred. By one of the Judges it is said, that 'public corporations are generally esteemed such as exist for 45 public political purposes only, such as towns, cities, parishes and counties; and in many respects they are so,
46 although they involve some private interests; but, strictly speaking, public corporations are such only as are 47 founded by the government for public purposes, where the whole interest belongs also to the government. If,
48 therefore, the foundation be private, though under the charter of the government, the corporation is private,
49 however extensive the uses may be to which it is devoted, either by the bounty of the founder, or the nature and
50 objects of the institution. For instance, a bank, created by the government for its own uses, whose stock is 51 exclusively owned by the government, is, in the strictest sense, a public corporation. So, a hospital created and 52 endowed by the government for general charity. But a bank, whose stock is owned by private persons, is a
53 private corporation, although it is erected by the government, and its objects and operations partake of a public
54 nature. The same doctrine may be affirmed of insurance, canal, bridge, and turnpike companies. In all these 55 cases, the uses may, in a certain sense, be called public, but the corporations are private; as much [22 U.S. 738,
56 776] so, indeed, as if the franchises were vested in a single person.[. . .]

57 In what sense is it an instrument of the government? and in what character is it employed as such? Do the 58 government employ the faculty, the legal franchise, or do they employ the individuals upon whom it is conferred?
59 and what is the nature of that employment? does it resemble the post office, or the mint, or the custom house, or 60 the process of the federal Courts?

61 The post office is established by the general government. It is a public institution. The persons who perform its 62 duties are public officers. No individual has, or can acquire, any property in it. For all the services performed, a
63 compensation is paid out of the national treasury; and all the money received upon account of its operations, is

1 public property. Surely there is no similitude between this institution, and an association who trade upon their
2 own capital, for their own profit, and who have paid the government a million and a half of dollars for a legal
3 character and name, in which to conduct their trade.

4 Again: the business conducted through the agency of the post office, is not in its nature a private business. It is
5 of a public character, and the [22 U.S. 738, 786] charge of it is expressly conferred upon Congress by the 6 constitution. The business is created by law, and is annihilated when the law is repealed. But the trade of banking
7 is strictly a private concern. It exists and can be carried on without the aid of the national Legislature. Nay, it is 8 only under very special circumstances, that the national Legislature can so far interfere with it, as to facilitate its 9 operations.

10 The post office executes the various duties assigned to it, by means of subordinate agents. The mails are opened
11 and closed by persons invested with the character of public officers. But they are transported by individuals
12 employed for that purpose, in their individual character, which employment is created by and founded in contract.
13 To such contractors no official character is attached. These contractors supply horses, carriages, and whatever
14 else is necessary for the transportation of the mails, upon their own account. The whole is engaged in the public
15 service. The contractor, his horses, his carriage, his driver, are all in public employ. But this does not change
16 their character. All that was private property before the contract was made, and before they were engaged in 17 public employ, remain private property still. The horses and the carriages are liable to be taxed as other property,
18 for every purpose for which property of the same character is taxed in the place where they are employed. The 19 reason is plain: the contractor is employing his own means to promote his own private profit, and the tax collected
20 is from the individual, though assessed upon the [22 U.S. 738, 787] means he uses to perform the public service.
21 To tax the transportation of the mails, as such, would be taxing the operations of the government, which could
22 not be allowed. But to tax the means by which this transportation is effected, so far as those means are private 23 property, is allowable; because it abstracts nothing from the government; and because, the fact that an individual
24 employs his private means in the service of the government, attaches to them no immunity whatever."

26 The record of the House of Representatives after the enactment of the first income tax during the Civil War in 1862, confirmed
27 that the income tax was upon a "public office" and that even IRS agents, who are not "public officers" and who are not
28 required to take an oath, are therefore exempt from the requirements of the revenue acts in place at the time. Read the amazing
29 truth for yourself:

House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. 99, 1867
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/PublicOrPrivate-Tax-Return.pdf>

30 Below is an excerpt from that report proving our point. The Secretary of the Treasury at the time is comparing the federal 31 tax liabilities of postal clerks to those of internal revenue clerks. At that time, the IRS was called the Bureau of Internal 32 Revenue, and it was established in 1862 as an emergency measure to fund the Civil War, which ended shortly thereafter, but 33 the bureau continued and expanded its operations illegally into the states over succeeding years:

35 39th Congress, 2d Session

36 Salary Tax Upon Clerks to Postmasters

37 Letter from the Secretary of the Treasury in answer to A resolution of the House of the 12th of February,
38 relative to salary tax upon clerks to postmasters, with the regulations of the department

39 Postmasters' clerks are appointed by postmasters, and take the oaths of office prescribed in the 2d section of 40 the act of July 2, 1862, and in the 2d section of the act of March 3, 1863.

41 Their salaries are not fixed in amount bylaw, but from time to time the Post master General fixes the amount',
42 allotted to each postmaster for clerk hire, under the authority conferred upon him by tile ninth section of the act
43 of June 5, 1836, and then the postmaster, as an agent for and in behalf of the United States, determines the salary
44 to be paid to each of his clerks. These salaries are paid by the postmasters, acting as disbursing agents, from 45 United States moneys advanced to them for this purpose, either directly from the Post Office Department in 46 pursuance of appropriations made by law, or from the accruing revenues of their offices, under the instructions
47 of the Postmaster General. The receipt of such clerks constitute vouchers in the accounts of the postmasters
48 acting as disbursing agents in the settlements made with them by the Sixth Auditor. In the foregoing transactions
49 the postmaster acts not as a principal, but as an agent of the United States, and the clerks are not in his private
50 employment, but in the public employment of the United States. Such being the facts, these clerks are subjected 51 to and required to account for and pay the salary tax, imposed by the one hundred and twenty-third section of 52 the internal revenue act of June 30, 1864, as amended by the ninth section of the internal revenue act of July 13,
53 1866, upon payments for services to persons in the civil employment or service of the United States.

Copies of the regulations under which such salary taxes are withheld and paid into the treasury to the credit of internal revenue collection account are herewith transmitted, marked A, b, and C. Clerks to assessors of internal revenue [IRS agents] are appointed by the assessors. Neither law nor regulations require them to take an oath of office, because, as the law at present stands, they are not in the public service of the United States, through the agency of the assessor, but are in the private service of the assessor, as a principal, who employs them.

The salaries of such clerks are neither fixed in amount by law, nor are they regulated by any officer of the Treasury Department over the clerk hire of assessors is to prescribe a necessary and reasonable amount which shall not be exceeded in reimbursing the assessors for this item of their expenses.

No money is advanced by the United States for the payment of such salaries, nor do the assessors perform the duties of disbursing agents of the United States in paying their clerks. The entire amount allowed is paid directly to the assessor, and he is not accountable to the United States for its payment to his clerks, for the reason that he has paid them in advance, out of his own funds, and this is a reimbursement to him of such amount as the department decides to be reasonable. No salary tax is therefore collected, or required by the Treasury Department to be accounted for, or paid, on account of payments to the assessors' clerks, as the United States pays no such clerks nor has them in its employ or service, and they do not come within the provisions of existing laws imposing such a tax.

Perhaps no better illustration of the difference between the status of postmasters' clerks and that of assessors' clerks can be given than the following: A postmaster became a defaulter, without paying his clerks; his successor received from the Postmaster General a new remittance for paying them; and if at any time, the clerks in a post office do not receive their salaries, by reason of the death, resignation or removal of a postmaster, the new appointee is authorized by the regulations of the Post Office Department to pay them out of the proceeds of the office; and should there be no funds in his hands belonging to the department, a draft is issued to place money in his hands for that purpose.

If an assessor had not paid his clerks, they would have no legal claim upon the treasury for their salaries. A discrimination is made between postmasters' clerks and assessor's clerks to the extent and for the reasons hereinbefore set forth.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

H. McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury
[House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. 99, 1867, pp. 1-2]

Notice based on the above that revenue officers don't take an oath, so they don't have to pay the tax, while postal clerks take an oath, so they do. Therefore, the oath that creates the "public office" is the method by which the government manufactures "public officers", "taxpayers", and "sponsors" for its wasteful use or abuse of public monies.

If you would like to investigate the subject of "public offices" and "public officers" further, we highly recommend the follow free book on the subject available online:

6. Employers

The following subsections will deal with the definition of status of being an "employer" under the Internal Revenue Code. In a generic sense:

1. Statutory "employers" are defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401(d) as follows:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle C > CHAPTER 24 > § 3401
§ 3401. Definitions

(d) Employer

For purposes of this chapter, the term "employer" means the person for whom an individual performs or performed any service, of whatever nature, as the employee of such person, except that—

(1) if the person for whom the individual performs or performed the services does not have control of the payment of the wages for such services, the term "employer" (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means the person having control of the payment of such wages, and

(2) in the case of a person paying wages on behalf of a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the term "employer" (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means such person.

2. Statutory "employee" is defined in 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(c)-1 as an elected or appointed public officer of the national government.

26 C.F.R. § 31.3401(c)-1 Employee:

"...the term [employee] includes[is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an officer of a corporation."

3. NOWHERE in the entire Internal Revenue Code or Treasury Regulations is the term "employee" ever defined to include PRIVATE HUMANS who absolutely own their own labor and all of their private property. Therefore, by the rules of statutory construction, they are PURPOSEFULLY EXCLUDED:

"Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

"The United States Supreme Court cannot supply what Congress has studiously omitted in a statute."
[Federal Trade Com. v. Simplicity Pattern Co., 360 U.S. 55, p. 55, 475042/56451 (1959)]

4. You cannot unilaterally "elect" yourself or your otherwise PRIVATE company into a public office by using any tax form, INCLUDING Form SS-4: Application for Employer Identification Number. The IRS is abusing these forms to unlawfully create public offices in criminal violation of 26 U.S.C. §911. All evidence of the existence of the "employer" public office, being the fruit of a crime, is not admissible as evidence in any proceeding establishing tax liability because it is what the U.S. Supreme Court calls "fruit of a poisonous tree".
5. Therefore all STATUTORY "employers" in fact are instrumentalities of the national government and DO NOT include PRIVATE companies.

The above are confirmed by the following exhaustive proof:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The following subsections will elaborate further on the above overview.

6.1 Who are "Employers" under the Internal Revenue Code?

The Internal Revenue Code provisions under Subtitle C, Employment Taxes, is based on the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939. That act only lawfully taxed "Public Salaries", which is to say salaries of "public officers" of the United States Government engaged in a "trade or business" only. Below is the definition of "employee" right from the code:

26 U.S.C. Sec. 3401(c) Employee

For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" includes [is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a corporation.

And below is the regulation that interprets the above section for clarification:

26 C.F.R. § 31.3401(c)-1 Employee:

1 "...the term [employee] includes[is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United
2 States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia,
3 or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an
4 officer of a corporation."

5 And the only definition of "employee" that we are aware of that has ever been published in the Federal Register reads as
6 follows:

7 8 Federal Register, Tuesday, September 7, 1943, §404.104, pg. 12267

8 Employee: "The term employee specifically includes officers and employees whether elected or appointed, of the
9 United States, a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof or the District of Columbia or any agency or
10 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing."

11 "Employer" is then defined in the Internal Revenue Code as follows. Note that basically, an "employer" is anyone for whom 12 "employees" work, and we showed above that an "employee" in turn is only an elected or appointed officer of the United 13 States government. Therefore, the only "employers" are federal and "State" agencies!

14 TITLE 26 > Subtitle C > CHAPTER 24 > § 3401
15 § 3401. Definitions

16 (d) Employer

17 For purposes of this chapter, the term "employer" means the person for whom an individual performs or 18 performed any service, of whatever nature, as the employee of such person, except that—

19 (1) if the person for whom the individual performs or performed the services does not have control of the payment
20 of the wages for such services, the term "employer" (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means the person
21 having control of the payment of such wages, and

22 (2) in the case of a person paying wages on behalf of a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or
23 foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the term "employer" (except for 24 purposes of subsection (a)) means such person.

25 To confirm the above, IRS Publication 15, Circular E, Employer's Tax Guide indicates on page 6 what the definition of 26 "employer" is. It only lists federal agencies and "States" as "employers". You can view this pamphlet yourself at:

27 <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSPub15.pdf>

28 Remember that "States" in the Internal Revenue Code is limited to federal territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(10) and 4 U.S.C.
29 §110(d). See:

30 <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/CitesByTopic/State.htm>

31 Private employers do not appear anywhere in the booklet. One of our readers did an FOIA request asking the IRS for the 32 forms and publications that private employers should use. Guess what the response said:

33 "We have no documents responsive to your request."

34 Do you get it? The I.R.C. Subtitle A federal income tax and I.R.C. Subtitle C employment withholding taxes only apply to 35 the federal government or territories of the United States, which are classified as "States" in federal statutes and "acts of 36 Congress". Private employers aren't covered by the Internal Revenue Code, and the only reason that any of them think
37 otherwise is because they never bothered to read the Internal Revenue Code or IRS Publication 15, Circular E for themselves
38 and simply were reacting to alleged authority that the IRS in fact did not have.

39 Any way you slice it, Subtitle A income taxes are indirect excise taxes or taxes on "public officers" of the federal United 40 States corporation who are in receipt of federal privileges. Even the U.S. Congress agrees with this conclusion in:.

41 "Frequently Asked Questions Concerning the Federal Income Tax", Congressional Research Service Report 97-59A
42 <http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/CRS/CRS-97-59A-rebuts.pdf>

When private employers apply for an Employer Identification Number (EIN), they in effect are volunteering (illegally and unconstitutionally) to act as a federal or “public” employer for the purposes of the Internal Revenue Code, and the government will treat them that way, even if there is no enacted positive law that authorized the IRS to do this. The perceived but not real financial “benefits” or “privileges” that private companies procure through this process of volunteering to become “public employers”, which is their “employment” compensation, are reduced rate tax liability for a tax they didn’t owe to begin with, including:

1. Graduated rate of tax under I.R.C. Section 1.
2. Earned income credit under I.R.C. Section 32.
3. Ability to take deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162.

We call the above “the slave discount”. A free pamphlet is available that definitively proves that the main subject of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is federal “employees” below:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a “Public Officer” for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6.2 Private Employers Aren’t Authorized by Law to Act as Federal “withholding agents”⁶¹

IRS Publication 15, Circular E: Employer’s Tax Guide indicates on page 6 what the definition of “employer” is. It only lists federal agencies and “States” as employers. See for yourself:

IRS Publication 15, Circular E: Employer’s Tax Guide
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSPub15.pdf>

Remember that “States” in the Internal Revenue Code means territories and possessions of the United States as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(10\) and 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). Private employers do not appear anywhere in the booklet. One of our readers did an FOIA request asking the IRS for the forms and publications that private employers should use. Guess what the response said:

“We have no documents responsive to your request.”

Do you get it? The federal income tax and employment withholding taxes only apply to:

1. Statutory “U.S. persons” with a domicile on federal territory, most of whom work for the federal government. These people are described in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) .
2. Territories of the United States, which are classified as “States” in federal statutes and “acts of Congress”.
3. Those engaged in a “trade or business” temporarily abroad as described in 26 U.S.C. §911.

States of the Union cannot and do not appear in the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A and if they did, they would appear as “states” and not “States”. This is further confirmed by the regulations below, which prove that there are no “employers” outside the “United States”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to expressly include federal territory and nowhere defined to include states of the Union within Subtitle A of the I.R.C.:

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE
Subpart B—Federal Insurance Contributions Act \(Chapter 21, Internal Revenue Code of 1954\)
General Provisions
§ 31.3121\(b\)-3 Employment; services performed after 1954.

(a) In general. Whether services performed after 1954 constitute employment is determined in accordance with the provisions of section 3121(b).

(b) Services performed within the United States [federal territory].

⁶¹ Adapted from Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.13. See: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

Services performed after 1954 within the United States (see §31.3121(e)-1) by an employee for his employer, unless specifically excepted by section 3121(b), constitute employment. With respect to services performed within the United States, the place where the contract of service is entered into is immaterial. The citizenship or residence of the employee or of the employer also is immaterial except to the extent provided in any specific exception from employment. Thus, the employee and the employer may be citizens and residents of a foreign country and the contract of service may be entered into in a foreign country, and yet, if the employee under such contract performs services within the United States, there may be to that extent employment.

"(c) Services performed outside the United States—

(1) In general.

(2) Except as provided in paragraphs (c)(2) and (3) of this section, services performed outside the United States (see §31.3121(e)-1) do not constitute employment."

Note from the above that services performed outside the statutory "United States*" (federal territory) do not constitute "employment". This is also consistent with:

1. 26 U.S.C. §861(a)(3)(c)(ii), which says that "nonresident aliens" not engaged in a "trade or business" [public office in the U.S. government], even if they work in the "United States", do not earn taxable income. You will note that 4 U.S.C. §72 says that all public offices shall be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere.
2. 26 U.S.C. §3401(a)(6) says that services of a nonresident alien individual (a person domiciled in a state of the Union or a foreign national, both engaged in a public office) do not constitute "wages" that can be included on an IRS Form W-2.
3. 26 C.F.R. §1.872-2(f) says that earnings from outside the "United States" (federal zone) does not constitute "gross income".

Private employers aren't covered by the Internal Revenue Code, and the only reason that any of them think otherwise is because they never bothered to read the Internal Revenue Code or IRS Publication 15, Circular E for themselves and simply were reacting to authority that the IRS in fact did not have.

The term "withholding agent" is defined as follows in the Internal Revenue Code:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(16) Withholding agent

The term "withholding agent" means any person required to deduct and withhold any tax under the provisions of section 1441, 1442, 1443, or 1461.

Now if you look up each of the above four statutes mentioned in the above definition, here is what you end up with:

Table 13: Statutes authorizing "withholding agents"

26 U.S.C./ I.R.C. section	Title of section	Object of tax
1441	Withholding of tax on nonresident aliens	Nonresident aliens
1442	Withholding of tax on foreign corporations	Foreign corporations
1443	Foreign tax-exempt organizations	Tax-exempt organizations
1461	Liability for withheld tax	Nonresident aliens and foreign corporations (see title of Chapter 3 of Subtitle A).

So the question is: "Which one of the above are you as a person in a state of the Union who is working for a private, non-federal employer?" The answer is "non-resident non-person" if not engaged in a public office or "nonresident alien" if engaged in a public office. The trouble is, your private employer fits in the same category as you and is therefore outside of federal jurisdiction and not even subject to the Internal Revenue Code or to withholding. See paragraph (b) below:

1 Title 26
2 PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE
3 Subpart E—Collection of Income Tax at Source
4 § 31.3401(a)(6)-1 Remuneration for services of nonresident alien individuals.

5 (a) In general. All remuneration paid after December 31, 1966, for services performed by a nonresident alien 6 individual, if such remuneration otherwise constitutes wages within the meaning of §31.3401(a)-1 and if
7 such remuneration is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States,
8 is subject to withholding under section 3402 unless excepted from wages under this section. In regard to 9 wages paid under this section after February 28, 1979, the term “nonresident alien individual” does not 10 include a nonresident alien individual treated as a resident under section 6013 (g) or (h).

11 (b) Remuneration for services performed outside the United States. Remuneration paid to a nonresident alien
12 individual (other than a resident of Puerto Rico) for services performed outside the United States is excepted
13 from wages and hence is not subject to withholding.

14 Keep in mind that the I.R.C is “legislation” as described by the Supreme Court below:

15 “It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S.
16 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the 17 internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation.
18 [Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

19 A person can ONLY be designated as a withholding agent using IRS Form 2678, which you can view below:

20 <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSForm2678.pdf>

21 Does your private employer have one of these signed forms on file? Chances are he doesn’t, and he is withholding
22 ILLEGALLY. That means he is STEALING.

23 So the question then becomes: “By what lawful authority does my private employer deduct and withhold “taxes” on my 24 personal earnings from labor (not “wages”, but “earnings”) and where is he even defined as an ‘employer’ in the Internal 25 Revenue Code?” We’ll now answer that question.

26 The IRS’ own Internal Revenue Manual (IRM) confirms the above, which says:

27 Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 (09-30-2004)
28 Payroll Deduction Agreements

29 2. Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction
30 agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements
31 before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.

32 [<http://www.irs.gov/irm/part5/ch14s10.html>]

33 They never bother to define what they mean above by “Private employers”, but what they really mean are those that are not 34 part of the federal government. The opposite of “private” is “public” in the legal field. A “public” employer is one who has 35 volunteered to work for the “public” for free as a “federal employer”. The Internal Revenue Code provisions under Subtitle
36 C, Employment Taxes, is based on the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939. That act only lawfully taxed “Public Salaries”, which 37 is to say salaries of those engaged in a “public office” (e.g. “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26)) in the 38 United States Government only. Below is the definition of “employee” right from the code:

39 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3401(c) Employee

40 For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" includes [is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official
41 of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or 42 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a 43 corporation.

44 And below is the regulation that interprets the above section for clarification:

45 26 C.F.R. § 31.3401(c)-1 Employee:

1 "...the term [employee] includes[is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United
2 States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia,
3 or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an
4 officer of a corporation."

5 And the only definition of "employee" that we are aware of that has ever been published in the Federal Register reads as
6 follows:

7 8 Federal Register, Tuesday, September 7, 1943, §404.104, pg. 12267

8 Employee: "The term employee specifically includes officers and employees whether elected or appointed, of the
9 United States, a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof or the District of Columbia or any agency or
10 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing."

11 Any way you slice it, Subtitle A income taxes are indirect excise taxes upon the "privileges" of "public office" within the 12 federal United States corporation as we will soon point out later in section 10. Keep in mind also that a "public office"
13 includes more than just an elected or appointed employment position. Any artificial entity can be a "public office", including
14 a whole company, if it is owned or controlled or under contract with the federal government. Even the U.S. Congress agrees
15 with this conclusion in their "Frequently Asked Questions Concerning the Federal Income Tax", Congressional Research
16 Service Report 97-59A. See:

17 <http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/CRS/CRS-97-59A-rebuts.pdf>

18 In addition to all the above conclusions, even more important is the fact that Subtitle A income taxes only apply inside the 19 federal zone or to those with contracts, agency, or employment with the federal government when serving in a "public office"
20 authorized by an act of Congress pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §72 in the place they serve. This is thoroughly documented in sections
21 5.2 through 5.2.14 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book. This is a product of the fact that the federal government has
22 no police powers inside states of the Union and because the Sixteenth Amendment never delegated the authority to collect
23 direct, unapportioned taxes upon People within states of the Union. It authorizes collection of an unapportioned income tax
24 inside the federal zone or federal United States, but not within states of the Union. That is why states of the Union are treated
25 as "foreign states" and "foreign countries" with respect to the Internal Revenue Code, as you will find out in the next section.

26 Since in most cases, the company you work for is not a federal "public office" or instrumentality, then neither you nor that 27 company are the proper subject of either I.R.C. Subtitle A income taxes or Subtitle C employment taxes. But here is the 28 clincher: Either one of you can volunteer to be subject to and liable for these taxes under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue
29 Code! You, who aren't a "public officer" of the United States Government can volunteer to withhold these "donations" to 30 the federal government and once you volunteer by signing a contract/agreement called a W-4, your private employer, if he is
31 within the federal zone, becomes liable to pay them to Uncle Sam under 26 U.S.C. §1461 because if he doesn't, he has 32 defrauded the government. But if you don't decide to donate or withhold, your private employer isn't liable to do anything.
33 The only thing that any private employer is liable to do is to deduct and withhold WHEN YOU ASK them to, and to pay
34 monies deducted to the federal government under 26 U.S.C. §1461. Even then, though, he must maintain a legal domicile in 35 the federal zone or represent a corporation that does under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) in order to be subject to 36 federal law. Businesses in states of the Union aren't within the jurisdiction of the Internal Revenue Code. As a matter of 37 fact, our research in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 reveals that the IRS classifies all employment taxes
38 deducted as gifts to the federal government, which is what Tax Class 5 is! How can a private employer domiciled within 39 states of the Union and outside of federal jurisdiction be held "liable" for not sending gifts to the federal government?
40 Furthermore, we will show in section 11 that it would be a serious violation of law for the IRS to coerce or force either you
41 or the business you work for to donate such gifts, because that would amount to solicitation of a bribe, which is just money
42 that is extorted without the authority of law.

43 Now let's look at whether private employers who are not part of the federal government and have no federal public officers
44 or instrumentalities doing business with them are allowed to withhold. The U.S. Supreme Court said that the labor of a
45 human being is "property" in a legal sense:

46 "Among these unalienable rights, as proclaimed in that great document [the Declaration of Independence] is the 47 right of men to pursue their happiness, by which is meant, the right any lawful business or vocation, in any manner
48 not inconsistent with the equal rights of others, which may increase their prosperity or develop their faculties, so
49 as to give them their highest enjoyment...It has been well said that, THE PROPERTY WHICH EVERY MAN HAS
50 IN HIS OWN LABOR, AS IT IS THE ORIGINAL FOUNDATION OF ALL OTHER PROPERTY SO IT IS THE

MOST SACRED AND INVIOABLE... to hinder his employing this strength and dexterity in what manner he thinks proper without injury to his neighbor, is a plain violation of this most sacred property." Butchers' Union Co. v. Crescent City Co., [111 U.S. 746 (1884), Concurring opinion of Justice Field]

Anyone who withholds on earnings from labor that are not connected with a voluntary, excise taxable activity is effecting slavery, because they are literally STEALING property. This is confirmed by examining the withholding regulations at 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-2, which say that withholding may not be effected on the sale of "property":

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Corporations and Tax-Free Covenant Bonds
§ 1.1441-2 Amounts subject to withholding.

(b) Fixed or determinable annual or periodical income—(1) In general—(i) Definition. For purposes of chapter 3 of the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations thereunder, fixed or determinable annual or periodical income includes all income included in gross income under section 61 (including original issue discount) except for the items specified in paragraph (b)(2) of this section. Items of income that are excluded from gross income under a provision of law without regard to the U.S. or foreign status of the owner of the income, such as interest excluded from gross income under section 103(a) or qualified scholarship income under section 117, shall not be treated as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income under chapter 3 of the Internal Revenue Code. Income excluded from gross income under section 892 (income of foreign governments) or section 115 (income of a U.S. possession) is fixed or determinable annual or periodical income since the exclusion from gross income under those sections is dependent on the foreign status of the owner of the income. See §1.306-3(h) for treating income from the disposition of section 306 stock as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income.

(2) Exceptions. For purposes of chapter 3 of the Code and the regulations thereunder, the items of income described in this paragraph (b)(2) are not fixed or determinable annual or periodical income—

(i) Gains derived from the sale of property (including market discount and option premiums), except for gains described in paragraph (b)(3) or (c) of this section; and

(ii) Any other income that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) may determine, in published guidance (see §601.601(d)(2) of this chapter), is not fixed or determinable annual or periodical income.

Note that withholding is not authorized on gains derived from any kind of property other than that listed above, and since labor isn't included in the list, then there can be no withholding on "labor". Next, we examine I.R.C. Section 61 to determine whether "labor" is included in the definition of "gross income". We have highlighted and boldfaced and underlined the only portion of that section that relates to "labor" of a human being:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 1 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 61
§ 61. Gross income defined (a) General definition

Except as otherwise provided in this subtitle, gross income means all income from whatever source derived, including (but not limited to) the following items:

- (1) Compensation for services, including fees, commissions, fringe benefits, and similar items;
- (2) Gross income derived from business;
- (3) Gains derived from dealings in property;
- (4) Interest;
- (5) Rents;
- (6) Royalties;
- (7) Dividends;
- (8) Alimony and separate maintenance payments;
- (9) Annuities;
- (10) Income from life insurance and endowment contracts;
- (11) Pensions;
- (12) Income from discharge of indebtedness;
- (13) Distributive share of partnership gross income;
- (14) Income in respect of a decedent; and
- (15) Income from an interest in an estate or trust.

The above definition uses several tricky "words of art" to deceive the reader about withholding on "labor", such as "compensation", "services", etc. These "words of art" are then defined in the Classification Act of 1923, 42 Stat. 1488 as follows:

1. “department”: “the term ‘department’ means an executive department of the United States Government, a governmental establishment in the executive branch of the United States Government which is not a part of an executive department, the municipal government of the District of Columbia, the Botanic garden, Library of Congress, Library Building and Grounds, Government Printing Office, and the Smithsonian Institution.”
2. “position”: “means a specific civilian office or employment, whether occupied or vacant, in a department other than the following: Offices or employments in the Postal Service; teachers, librarians, school attendance officers, and employees of the community center department under the Board of Education of the District of Columbia; officers and members of the Metropolitan police, the fire department of the District of Columbia, and the United States park police; and the commissioned personnel of the Coast Guard, the public Health Service, and the Coast and Geodetic Survey.”
3. “employee”: “means any person temporarily or permanently in a position.”
4. “service”: “means the broadest division of related offices and employments.”
5. “compensation”: “means any salary, wage, fee, allowance, or other emolument paid to an employee for service in a position.”

What the above definitions show, is that “labor”, in the context of Subtitle A of the I.R.C., is not the commodity being taxed. Rather, “compensation” for “services” performed in the conduct of a “trade or business”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as “the functions of a public office” is the voluntary, excise taxable activity that is being taxed. Remember, Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is an indirect excise tax upon privileged, excise taxable activities, according to the U.S. Supreme Court. The “activity” is a “trade or business”, which is basically privileged employment with the federal government:

“..by the previous ruling it was settled that the provisions of the Sixteenth Amendment conferred no new power of taxation but simply prohibited the previous complete and plenary power of income taxation possessed by Congress from the beginning from being taken out of the category of indirect [excise] taxation to which it inherently belonged and being placed in the category of direct taxation subject to apportionment by a consideration of the sources from which the income was derived, that is by testing the tax not by what it was -- a tax on income, but by a mistaken theory deduced from the origin or source of the income taxed. ”
Stanton v. Baltic Mining Co., [240 U.S. 103 (1916)]

You will also note that the U.S. Supreme Court has said that no one may withhold the earnings of a worker from his labor against his will:

“Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will...”
The Antelope, [23 U.S. 66; 10 Wheat 66; 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825)]

Even the statutes confirm that labor is not a commodity or article of commerce that therefore may be “taxed”:

United States Code
TITLE 15 - COMMERCE AND TRADE
CHAPTER 1 - MONOPOLIES AND COMBINATIONS IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE
Sec. 17. Antitrust laws not applicable to labor organizations

The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce....

Now let’s look at what the Bible says about the theft and fraud of holding back the wages of the laborer, and it’s not pretty, Mr. Private Employer:

“The laborer is worthy of [ALL of] his wages.”
[1 Tim. 5:18, Bible, NKJV]

*“Woe to him who builds his house by unrighteousness
And his chambers by injustice,
Who [whether individual or government] uses his neighbor's service without wages
And gives him nothing for his work,”*
[Jer. 22:13, Bible, NKJV]

“Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days. ‘Indeed the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out; and the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.”⁵ You [the business owner who controls the purse of the workers] have lived on the earth in pleasure and luxury; you have fattened your hearts as in a day of slaughter. You have condemned, you have murdered the just; he does not resist you. "

[James 5:1-6, Bible, NKJV]

"You shall not cheat your neighbor, nor rob him. The wages of him who is hired shall not remain with you all night until morning. "
[Lev. 19:13, Bible, NKJV]

Any way you look at it, private employers who don't have privileged federal "employees" for workers cannot withhold against the wishes of the workers and if they do, they are STEALING and violating both man's law and God's law. There is nothing in federal law or state law that would indemnify them from such STEALING. They are no better than petty street criminals, and any payroll clerk who doesn't understand this is a sitting duck for any worker who is even mildly educated about the law and willing to defend his rights in court.

6.3 Legal Requirements Pertaining to Private Employers

Private companies have no legal duty whatsoever to do anything within the Internal Revenue Code. We now know that based on the discussion in the previous sections. Even if they have an Employer Identification Number (EIN), making them "registered" private companies, they are still technically not part of the federal government under federal law, so they don't fit the description of being an "employer" under the Internal Revenue Code and the people who work for them are not "employees" under the Internal Revenue Code (not "law", but "code") either.

Obviously, the federal government has no lawful authority to interfere with the right to contract between private companies and their workers or contractors. Here is what the Supreme Court says on this very subject to prove our point:

"Independent of these views, there are many considerations which lead to the conclusion that the power to impair contracts [either the Constitution or private employment contracts], by direct action to that end, does not exist with the general [federal] government. In the first place, one of the objects of the Constitution, expressed in its preamble, was the establishment of justice, and what that meant in its relations to contracts is not left, as was justly said by the late Chief Justice, in Hepburn v. Griswold, to inference or conjecture. As he observes, at the time the Constitution was undergoing discussion in the convention, the Congress of the Confederation was engaged in framing the ordinance for the government of the Northwestern Territory, in which certain articles of compact were established between the people of the original States and the people of the Territory, for the purpose, as expressed in the instrument, of extending the fundamental principles of civil and religious liberty, upon which the States, their laws and constitutions, were erected. By that ordinance it was declared, that, in the just preservation of rights and property, 'no law ought ever to be made, or have force in the said Territory, that shall, in any manner, interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements bona fide and without fraud previously formed.' The same provision, adds the Chief Justice, found more condensed expression in the prohibition upon the States [in Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution] against impairing the obligation of contracts, which has ever been recognized as an efficient safeguard against injustice; and though the prohibition is not applied in terms to the government of the United States, he expressed the opinion, speaking for himself and the majority of the court at the time, that it was clear 'that those who framed and those who adopted the Constitution intended that the spirit of this prohibition should pervade the entire body of legislation, and that the justice which the Constitution was ordained to establish was not thought by them to be compatible with legislation [for judicial precedent] of an opposite tendency.' 8 Wall. 623. [99 U.S. 700, 765] Similar views are found expressed in the opinions of other judges of this court."
[Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

Any public servant who attempts to interfere with private labor contracts between private companies and their private workers by intercepting compensation passing between the two without satisfying the requirement for due process (litigation) found is violating their right to contract, instituting slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, and committing robbery in violation of the Fifth Amendment. Here is what the Supreme Court said on this subject:

"Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will ..."
[The Antelope, 23 U.S. 66, 10 Wheat 66, 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825)]

"In Calder v. Bull, which was here in 1798, Mr. Justice Chase said, that there were acts which the Federal and State legislatures could not do without exceeding their authority, and among them he mentioned a law which punished a citizen for an innocent act; a law that destroyed or impaired the lawful private [labor] contracts [and labor compensation, e.g. earnings from employment through compelled W-4 withholding] of citizens; a law that made a man judge in his own case; and a law that took the property from A [the worker], and gave it to B [the government or another citizen, such as through social welfare programs]. 'It is against all reason and justice,' he added, 'for a people to intrust a legislature with such powers, and therefore it cannot be presumed that they

1 have done it. They may command what is right and prohibit what is wrong; but they cannot change innocence
2 into guilt [for “nontaxpayers” into “taxpayers”], or punish innocence [being a “nontaxpayer”] as a crime, or
3 violate the right of an antecedent lawful private [employment] contract [by compelling W-4 withholding, for
4 instance], or the right of private property. To maintain that a Federal or State legislature possesses such powers
5 [of THEFT!] if they had not been expressly restrained, would, in my opinion, be a political heresy altogether
6 inadmissible in all free republican governments.’ 3 Dall. 388.”
7 [Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

8 Consequently, any public servant who attempts to order private companies to take money out of the pay of people
9 involuntarily and send it to the IRS is enticing people into federal slavery in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1581, 18 U.S.C. §1589,
10 and 42 U.S.C. §1994 and committing extortion and grand theft. Those private companies that cooperate with the illegal acts
11 of the IRS along these lines become “accessories after the fact” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §3.

12 The IRS has therefore become an organized crime ring if it compels any kind of withholding against private workers and
13 private companies, because there is no enacted positive law authorizing them to do what they do. They have substituted a
14 voluntary “code” in place of real “positive law” and then misrepresented its authority to the public. They are operating
15 entirely upon false presumption and have absolutely no evidence and no enacted positive law to defend their reason for doing
16 anything. They are also violating their own internal procedures documented in the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) if they
17 institute any kind of enforcement action or try to entice or deceive private employers into becoming voluntary enforcers
18 either. If they can’t produce a positive law authorizing their actions then they are “unlawful” and therefore “illegal”:

19 “Unlawful. That which is contrary to, prohibited, or unauthorized by law. That which is not lawful. The acting
20 contrary to, or in defiance of the law; disobeying or disregarding the law. Term is equivalent to “without excuse
21 or justification.” State v. Noble, 90 N.M. 360, 563 P.2d. 1153, 1157. While necessarily not implying the element 22 of criminality, it is broad enough to include it.”
23 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1536]

24 Let’s face it: The only reason private companies comply with the edicts of an out-of-control government and IRS is because:

- 25 1. The courts are corrupted and will side with the government.
26 2. The legal consequences of challenging the authority of the government could cause litigation and legal bills that most 27 private employers don’t want to deal with.
28 3. Fear of what the IRS might do if they question authority.
29 4. Being too busy running the business to be bothered by yet one more annoyance and harassment from the IRS.

30 When a private employer is approached by one of their workers, and if that private, nonfederal employer “thinks” they are
31 acting as a federal employer because they have Employer Identification Numbers (EINs), then the IRS will treat them as 32 though they have an obligation to deduct and withhold, even if they don’t. Under those provisions, they must do the following 33 things:

- 34 1. Collect an “identifying number”, if appropriate, from the employee.
35 2. Accept the withholding form chosen by the employee.
36 3. Not make any changes to the withholding form of the “employee”. Doing that would be coercion and cause the form to 37 no longer be “voluntary”. If the employer insists on changing the form, the employer is acting as an agent of illegal 38 extortion on the part of the government.
39 4. Withhold the proper amount of revenues based on the withholding form submitted and send it to the federal government.

40 Note that it is a federal crime to compel anyone to use or disclose a Social Security Number if federal law does not require 41 it:

42 TITLE 42 - THE PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE
43 CHAPTER 7 - SOCIAL SECURITY
44 SUBCHAPTER II - FEDERAL OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS
45 Sec. 408. Penalties

46 (a) In general
47 Whoever -...

48 (8) discloses, uses, or compels the disclosure of the social security number of any person in violation of the
49 laws of the United States; shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be fined under title 18
50 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both.

For tax withholding purposes, the requirement for identifying numbers appears in 26 U.S.C. §6109. The implementing regulations for that section say that the only number the IRS can demand is a “Taxpayer Identification Number”:

26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1\(b\)

(b) Requirement to furnish one's own number—

(1) U.S. persons.

Every U.S. person who makes under this title a return, statement, or other document must furnish its own taxpayer identifying number as required by the forms and the accompanying instructions.

Notice the word “its”. This should clue you into the fact that the tax code doesn’t apply to flesh and blood people, who are called “natural persons” in regulations like that above. If they had meant to refer to such a natural person, the word “it’s” would have said “his” or “her”. Consequently, the only type of “person”, they can be referring to is a privileged corporation involved in foreign commerce.

According to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30), a statutory “U.S. person” is either a resident alien or a federal statutory “U.S. citizen”. What these two groups of people have in common is a “domicile” inside the federal zone, which no one domiciled in a state of the Union can have. Furthermore, Black’s Law Dictionary admits under the definition of “domicile” that a person can only have ONE domicile. You can’t have a domicile in two physically separate places at the same time: The District of Columbia AND a state of the Union. Here is the definition:

Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(30) United States person

The term "United States person" means -

(A) a [corporate] citizen or resident [alien] of the [federal] United States,

(B) a domestic partnership,

(C) a domestic corporation,

(D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

(E) any trust if -

(i) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust, and

(ii) one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

This means that if the “person” is a “citizen” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1\(c\) or under 8 U.S.C. §1401, they must have been born in the federal statutory “United States” (federal zone), which is limited only to the District of Columbia or U.S. territories and possessions. Don’t let the word “citizen” above fool you either, because corporations within law are “citizens” as well and they are “born” at the instant when they are officially “incorporated” by the Secretary of State of the jurisdiction where they are domiciled. Congress wants to deceive you into believing that the term “citizen” means a natural person (people), but in the Internal Revenue Code subtitle A, this term ONLY refers to corporations because “income”, is defined by our Constitution and by the Supreme court to be limited only to monies earned by federal corporations in the conduct of foreign commerce! This is also consistent with the use of the word “it’s” as used above in 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1\(b\), where the only “U.S. persons” in the I.R.C. who can have TINs are corporations. Here is some more proof of that to whet your appetite to read later sections:

"A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was created, and of that state or country only."

[19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

The Federalist Paper #15 also helps clarify that the “citizen” they are referring to in the tax code does NOT include biological people, when it said:

"The existing Confederation's great and fundamental defect is the principle of LEGISLATION for STATES in their COLLECTIVE CAPACITIES rather than for the INDIVIDUALS living in the States. Although this principle does not apply to all the powers delegated to the Union, it pervades those on which the effectiveness of the rest depends. Except for the rule of apportionment, the United States has indefinite discretion to requisition men and money. But it has no authority to raise either directly from individual citizens [biological people] of America."
[Federalist Paper #15, § 6 (Emph added)]

Even more interestingly, under 26 C.F.R. § 301.6109-1\(g\), having a social security number creates a "presumption" that you are a domiciliary of the federal zone, which includes federal statutory "U.S. citizens" under 8 U.S.C. §1401 and "resident aliens" defined under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A). Here is what the code says about the requirement to provide a social security number when furnishing returns:

26 C.F.R. § 301.6109-1\(g\)

(g) Special rules for taxpayer identifying numbers issued to foreign persons—

(1) General rule—

(i) Social security number.

A social security number is generally identified in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service as a number belonging to a U.S. citizen or resident alien individual. A person may establish a different status for the number by providing proof of foreign status with the Internal Revenue Service under such procedures as the Internal Revenue Service shall prescribe, including the use of a form as the Internal Revenue Service may specify. Upon accepting an individual as a nonresident alien individual, the Internal Revenue Service will assign this status to the individual's social security number.

Unless you refute this false presumption of domicile in the federal zone with proof, then the courts will treat you as though you live there. Even if you don't live there, in fact, the code requires them to "assume" that you live there. See 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d). As a domiciliary of the federal zone, you are presumed to be a federal "U.S. citizen", or a "resident alien", and a "U.S. person" and you have NO Constitutional rights according to the U.S. Supreme Court in Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)! We must therefore rebut the false presumption that we are a "U.S. resident", "U.S. citizen", a "U.S. person", or "individual" whenever we correspond with the IRS and continually emphasize instead that we are a "state national" and a "non-resident non-person". The way to do this is by following the regulation above and requesting a change in the status of your Social Security Number with the IRS! We must also do this by submitting the proper withholding form, which in this case is the IRS Form W-8, to our employer.

7. Involuntary taxes on one's own labor are slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment⁶²

"You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men [and government is made up of men]."
[1 Cor. 7:23, Bible, NKJV]

"Stand fast therefore in liberty by which Christ has made us free, and do not be entangled again with a yoke of bondage [to the IRS or the government]."
[Gal. 5:1, Bible, NKJV]

"Masters [tyrants in Washington, D.C. who are public servants that vainly think themselves to be masters], give your servants what is just and fair, knowing that you also have a Master in heaven."
[Colossians 4:1, Bible, NKJV]

Slavery, we are reminded incessantly these days, was a terrible thing. In today's politically correct society, some blacks are demanding reparations for slavery because their remote ancestors were slaves. Slavery is routinely used to bash the South, although the slave trade began in the North, and slavery was once practiced in every state in the Union. Today's historians assure us that the War for Southern Independence was fought primarily if not exclusively over slavery, and that by winning that war, the North put an end to the peculiar institution once and for all.

⁶² Adapted from Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.7.

Whoa! Time out! Shouldn't we back up and ask: what is slavery? It has been a while since those ranting on the subject have offered us a working definition of it. They will all claim that we know good and well what it is; why play games with the word? But given the adage that those who can control language can control policy, it surely can't hurt to revisit the definition of slavery. There are good reasons to suspect the motives of those who won't allow their basic terms to be defined or scrutinized. Here is a definition, one that will make sense of the instincts telling us that slavery is indeed an abomination:

Slavery is non-ownership of one's Person and Labor.

Slavery is the opposite of "liberty" or the absence of liberty. We have an excellent animation on our website that very clearly and simply defines what liberty is, which helps us understand what slavery is at the address below:

<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Freedom/Articles/PhilosophyOfLiberty-english.swf>

Slavery, therefore, is involuntary servitude. When a slave is working to pay off a debt, he is called a "peon". A slave must work under a whip, real or figurative, wielded by other persons, his owners, with no say in how (or even if) his labors are compensated. His is a one-way contract he cannot opt out of. A slave is tied to his master (and to the land where he labors). He cannot simply quit if he doesn't like it. Moreover, a slave can be bought and sold like any other commodity. Justice Brewer of the U.S. Supreme Court helped us to understand exactly what slavery is in the case of Clyatt v. U.S., 197 U.S. 207 (1905):

"The constitutionality and scope of sections 1990 and 5526 present the first questions for our consideration. They prohibit peonage. What is peonage? It may be defined as a state or condition of compulsory service, based upon the indebtedness of the peon to the master. The basal fact is indebtedness. As said by Judge Benedict, delivering the opinion in Jaramillo v. Romero, 1 N.Mex. 190, 194: 'One fact existed universally; all were indebted to their masters. This was the cord by which they seemed bound to their masters' service.' Upon this is based a condition of compulsory service. Peonage is sometimes classified as voluntary or involuntary, but this implies simply a difference in the mode of origin, but not in the character of the servitude. The one exists where the debtor voluntarily contracts to enter the service of his creditor. The other is forced upon the debtor by some provision of law. But peonage, however created, is compulsory service, involuntary servitude. The peon can release himself therefrom, it is true, by the payment of the debt, but otherwise the service is enforced. A clear distinction exists between peonage and the voluntary performance of labor or rendering of services in payment of a debt. In the latter case the debtor, though contracting to pay his indebtedness by labor or service, and subject like any other contractor to an action for damages for breach of that contract, can elect at any time to break it, and no law or force compels performance or continuance of the service."
Clyatt v. U.S., [197 U.S. 207 (1905)]

Here's another example of what slavery means, again from the U.S. Supreme Court in Plessy v. Ferguson, 163 U.S. 537, 542 (1896):

"That it does not conflict with the Thirteenth Amendment, which abolished slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, is too clear for argument. Slavery implies involuntary servitude—a state of bondage; the ownership of mankind as a chattel, or at least the control of the labor and services of one man for the benefit of another, and the absence of a legal right to the disposal of his own person, property, and services [in their entirety]. This amendment was said in the Slaughter House Cases, 16 Wall, 36, to have been intended primarily to abolish slavery, as it had been previously known in this country, and that it equally forbade Mexican peonage or the Chinese coolie trade, when they amounted to slavery or involuntary servitude and that the use of the word 'servitude' was intended to prohibit the use of all forms of involuntary slavery, of whatever class or name."
Plessy v. Ferguson, [163 U.S. 537, 542 (1896)]

When the IRS fabricates a bogus tax liability without the authority of enacted positive law creating a "liability", if they lie to you about what the tax Code says, or if they try to enforce an excise tax against activities that you aren't involved in and which you have informed them under penalty of perjury that you aren't involved in, then they effectively are recruiting or returning you into debt slavery and "peonage" and their activities are a federal offense in violation of 42 U.S.C. §1994 and 18 U.S.C. §1581. These two statutes, incidentally, unlike most other federal legislation and statutes, DO apply within states of the union according to the U.S. Supreme Court in the above mentioned case. 18 U.S.C. §1593 also mandates restitution for all those persons who have been recruited into slavery or involuntary servitude by their slave masters, which means that we must be compensated fairly for the labor of ours that was in effect stolen from us. Why hasn't the Supreme Court therefore declared taxes on the earnings of persons from labor as unconstitutional and slavery? Because they are bought and paid for with money they are STEALING from you! By subsidizing unconstitutional government extortion cleverly and deceitfully disguised as a legitimate income tax without fighting it, you are bribing them to maintain the status quo, friends!

1 In the case of the way the corrupt IRS and an even more corrupted federal judiciary mis-enforces our laws or pretends that
2 there is a positive law federal taxing statute when in fact there isn't one, the very real slavery that results is at odds with
3 libertarian social ethics, in which all human beings have a natural right to ownership of Person and Labor. According to
4 libertarian social ethics, contracts should be voluntary and not coerced. This is sufficient for us to oppose slavery with all
5 our might. However, notice that this clear definition of slavery is a double-edged sword. There is no reference to race in the 6 above definition. That whites enslaved blacks early in our history is an historical accident; there is nothing inherently racial
7 about slavery. Many people have been enslaved in the past, including whites. The South, too, has no intrinsic connection
8 with slavery, given how we already noted that it was practiced in the North as well. No slaves were brought into the 9 Confederacy during its brief, five-year existence, and it is very likely that the practice would have died out in a generation or 10 two had the Confederacy won the war.

11 It is instructive at this point to compare the status of being a "negro slave" to that of being a "taxpayer" to show you just how 12 similar they are, in fact. We have prepared a table comparing these two statuses to show you that they are indeed synonymous:

1 Finally, it is clear that when most people talk about slavery, they are referring to chattel slavery, the overt practice of buying,
2 selling and owning people like farm animals or beasts of burden. Are there other forms of slavery besides chattel slavery?

3 Before answering, let’s review our definition above and contrast slavery with sovereignty, in the sense of sovereignty over
4 one’s life. Slavery, we said, is non-ownership of Person and Labor. In that case, sovereignty is ownership of Person and
5 Labor. The basic contrast, then, is between slavery and sovereignty, and the issue is ownership. And there are two basic 6 things one can own: one’s Person (one’s life), and one’s Labor (the fruits of one’s labors, including personal wealth resulting 7 from productive labors).

8 Let us quantify the situation. A plantation slave owned neither himself nor the fruits of his labors. That is, he owned 0% of 9 Person and 0% of Labor. In an ideal libertarian order, ownership of Person and Labor would be just the opposite: 100% of 10 both. In this case, we have a method allowing us to describe other forms of slavery by ascribing different percentages of 11 ownership to Person and Labor. For example, we might say that a prison inmate owns 5% of Person and 50% of Labor.
12 Inmates are highly confined in person yet they are allowed to own wealth both inside the prison and outside. Some, moreover,
13 are allowed to work at jobs for which they are paid. When slavery was abolished, ownership of Person and Labor was 14 transferred to the slave, and he became mostly free. So let us define the following categories in terms of individual percentage
15 ownership:

16 Table 15: Percent Ownership of Person and Labor

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers

Ver. 2.12

#	Category	Characteristics	Equivalent political system
1	Perfect Liberty	100% ownership of Person and Labor	Pure Capitalism/Republic
2	Partial Slavery	Some % ownership of Person and Labor	Socialism/democracy
3	Chattel Slavery	0% ownership of Person and Labor	Communism/dictatorship

With this in mind, here is an intriguing question for our readers:

How much ownership do you have in your person and your labor?

Are you really free? Or are you a partial slave or peon? We are not, of course, talking about arrangements that cede a portion of ownership of Person and Labor to others through voluntary contract.

We submit that forcible taxation on your personal income or labor makes you a partial slave and makes the government a socialist government. For if you are legally bound to hand a certain percentage of your income (the fruits of your labors) over to federal, state and local governments, then from the legal standpoint you only have "some % ownership" of your person and labor. The pivotal point is whether or not ownership is ceded through voluntary contract. Have you any recollection of any deals you signed with the IRS promising them payment of part of your income? If not, then if 30% of your income is paid in income taxes, then you have only 70% ownership of Labor. You are a slave from January through April – a very conservative estimate at best, today!

If one wants to stand on the U.S. Constitution as one's foundation, then the 13th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution can be used as an ironclad argument against a forcible direct tax on the labor of a human being. The 13th Amendment says:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for a crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The 13th Amendment makes it very clear that we cannot legally or Constitutionally be forced into involuntary servitude. It doesn't make any distinction between whether the slavery is physical or financial, but says that any kind of involuntary servitude is prohibited.

As such, we maintain that a human being has an inalienable right to own 100 % of Person and 100% of Labor, including control over how the fruits of his actions are dispensed. A human being has an inalienable right to control the compensation for his labor while in the act of any service in the marketplace – e.g., digging ditches, flipping burgers, word-processing documents for a company, programming computers, preparing court cases, performing surgery, preaching sermons, or writing novels.

A forcible direct tax on the labor of a human being is in violation of this right as stated in the 13th Amendment. If we work 40 hours a week, and another entity forcibly conscripts 25 % of our compensation, then we argue that we have been forced into involuntary servitude – slavery – for 10 of those 40 hours, and we were free for the other 30. If we could freely choose to work just the 30 hours and decline to work the 10 hours, then our wills would not be violated and the 13th Amendment would be honored.

However, Congress and the IRS claim that their Internal Revenue Code (IRC) lay direct claim to those ten hours (or some stated percentage) without our consent.

In other words, in a free and just society, a society in which there is no slavery of any form:

- Human beings are not forced to work for free, in whole or in part.
- Human beings are not slaves to anything or anyone.
- Anyone who attempts to force us to work for free, without compensation, has violated our rights under the 13th Amendment.

This, of course, is not the state of affairs in the United States of America at the turn of the millennium, in which:

- We labor involuntarily for at least four months out of every year for the government.
- We are, therefore, slaves for that period of time.
- The government, having forced us to work for free, without compensation, has violated the 13th Amendment.

Of course, what follows from all this discussion is that there is an issue about slavery. But it is not the issue politically correct historians and activists are raising. As for reparations, we suspect many of us might be willing to let bygones be bygones if we never had to pay out another dime to the IRS. We often read about how great the economy is supposedly doing. Just imagine how it would flourish if human beings owned 100% of Person and Labor, and could voluntarily invest the capital we currently pay to the government in our businesses, our homes, our schools, and our communities!

For those of you who believe that the 16th Amendment repealed, replaced, modified, appended, amended or superseded the 13th Amendment, you are mistaken. For an Amendment to be changed, in any way, there must be an Amendment that emphatically declares this action. There is absolutely nothing in the Constitution that alters the efficacy of the 13th Amendment in even the slightest way. The 16th Amendment merely allowed the government to enter the "National Social Benefits" business where it finances the system with the mandatory contributions of voluntary participants. While all Americans certainly understand the concept of mandatory contributions, they fail to understand the concept of voluntary participation, largely due to a very effective marketing campaign on the part of our central government for several generations now since the Great Depression. The 16th Amendment gave the government the power to legally enter a contractual relationship with its citizens wherein the citizen voluntarily contributes a portion of his labor in exchange for social benefits. In order for both Amendments to peacefully coexist, the contractual relationships in the system created by the 16th Amendment cannot be forced upon the citizens. For to do so would be to contradict the 13th completely.

Two final questions, and a few final thoughts. Can we really take seriously the carpings of politically correct historians about an arrangement (chattel slavery) that hasn't existed for 140 years when they completely ignore the structurally similar arrangements (tax slavery) that have existed right under their noses during most of the years since. And does a governmental system which systematically violates its own founding documents, and then oversees the imprisoning of those who refuse to recognize the legitimacy of the violations, really have a claim on the loyalty of those who would be loyal to the ideals represented in those founding documents?

Eventually, we have to make a decision. How long are we going to continue to put up with the present hypocritical arrangements? In the Declaration of Independence is found these remarks:

"... [a]nd accordingly all Experience hath shewn, that Mankind are more disposed to suffer, while Evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the Forms to which they are accustomed."

We are accustomed to the income tax. Most people take it for granted, and don't look at fundamental issues. Yet some have indeed opted out of the tax system. It is necessary, at present, to become self-employed and hire oneself out based on a negotiated contract in which you determine your hourly rate and then bill for your time. Then you send your client an invoice, they write a check directly to you in response, and you take the check and deposit it in your bank account; you may wish to open a bank account with a name like John Smith Enterprises DBA (DBA stands for 'Doing Business As'). If the bank asks for a tax-ID number, you may give your social security number. This is perfectly legal since you are not a corporation nor are you required to be. Nor does the use of a government issued number contractually obligate you to participate in their system.

We should specify here that we are discussing taxes on income resulting from personal labor, to be carefully distinguished from taxes for the sale of material items, or excise taxes, both of which are usually indirect taxes on artificial entities like corporations. These are an entirely separate, and voluntary matter, because if you don't want to pay the tax, you either don't buy the good or don't register as a corporation that sells the good.

By advocating opting out of the income tax slavery system, we are not advocating anything illegal here; that is the most surprising thing of all. The Treasury Department nailed Al Capone not because of failure to pay taxes on his personal labor but for his failure to pay the excise tax on the sale of alcoholic beverages. So a plan to be self-employed that includes profit from the sale of material goods should include a plan to pay all the excise taxes; you risk a prison sentence if you don't. But the 13th Amendment directly prohibits anything or anyone from conscripting your person or the fruits of your physical or cognitive labors; to do so is make a slave of you. You may, of course, voluntarily participate in the SSA-W2 system by free choice. In this case you are required to submit to the rules as outlined in the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). And this means

1 that you will contribute a significant fraction of your labor to pay for the group benefits of the system in which you are
2 voluntarily participating.

3 Your relationship with the system technically begins with the assignment of a Social Security Number (Personal Tax ID
4 Number). This government-issued number, however, does not contractually obligate you to anything. The government cannot
5 conscript its citizens simply by assigning a number to them. Assigning the number is perfectly fine. But conscripting them in
6 the process is a serious no-no. Some people that feel strongly about the last chapters of the book of Revelation might view
7 this as pure – evil.

8 The critical point in the relationship begins when a citizen accepts a job with an IRS registered corporation. Accepting the 9 government owned SSA-W2 job marries you to the system. The payroll department has the employee fill out a W4. This
10 W4 officially notifies the employee that the job in question is officially part of the SSA-W2 system and that all job-income
11 is subject first to the rules and regulations of the I.R.C. and then secondly to the employee. When you sign that W4 you are 12 at that point very, very married to the system.

13 So why not just decline to sign the W4?

14 You can decline to sign a W4 but this does not accomplish much nor does it un-marry you from the system. Your payroll
15 office will merely use the I.R.C. defaults already present in the payroll software and all deductions will be based on those 16 parameters.

17 Okay, you might say, fine, I'll sign a W4 but I'll direct my payroll department to withhold zero. (You can do this for federal 18 withholding but not for social security tax.) This still does not un-marry you from the system. Your payroll department still 19 reports the gross income and deductions for your SSA-W2 job to the IRS each and every quarter. And at the end of the year
20 you will probably end up being asked to write a large check to the IRS for the group contributions you declined to pay during 21 the year. With skill and the resources in this book, you may escape this assumed but nonexistent liability.

22 You then might say, Okay, then I'll just direct my payroll office to decline to report income to the IRS.

23 Reply: they cannot legally decline to report your SSA-W2 income because of their contractual obligations under the I.R.C.
24 that were agreed to when they established their official IRS registered corporation. The corporation can get into deep trouble
25 by violating their contract.

26 Okay, you reply in turn, I'll just get the corporation to create a non-SSA-W2 job for me.

27 Response this time: the corporation cannot do this either; their contract under the I.R.C. requires every single employee-job
28 in that corporation to be an SSA-W2 job. This is similar to labor union practices of insisting that all jobs in a plant be union 29 jobs.

30 You retort: isn't this a government monopoly on every corporate job in America???

31 The short answer is YES.

32 So how can I legally decline to work for free?

33 The answer is to decline to be an 'employee' of an official IRS registered corporation.

34 How is that possible?

35 The answer is simple. You become an independent contractor. The Supreme Court upholds the sovereignty of the individual 36 and has declared that your "...power to contract is unlimited." Corporations hire the labors of non-employees each and every 37 day.

38 If there is an infestation of cockroaches near the employee break-room, the corporation doesn't create an SSA Form W2
39 employee exterminator job. They hire a contract exterminator to kill the bugs. When the bug-man arrives they don't hand him
40 an IRS Form W-4 and ask him to declare his allowances, they lead him straight to the big-fat-ugly roaches and implore him
41 to vanquish the vermin immediately. When the bug-man finishes the job he hands them an invoice for his services. And the company sends him a check to pay the invoice. And nowhere on that check will you find a federal, state, county or city withholding deduction or a social security deduction or a medical or dental deduction or a garnishment or an "I'll-be-needing-an-accountant-to-figure-all-this-out" deduction or a "Tuesday-Save-The-Turnips-Tax" deduction. On the contrary, the bug-man receives full remuneration for his service. This simple arrangement is completely legal and the I.R.C. has zero contractual claim to any part of this check (assuming the bug-man has made no contract under the IRC). And anyone or anything that attempts to forcibly conscript any part of that check is violating the bug-man's rights under the 13th Amendment.

Supreme Court Ruling on Individual Sovereignty

"There is a clear distinction in this particular case between an individual and a corporation, and that the latter has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an examination at the suit of the State. The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no such duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he does not trespass upon their rights."
Hale v. Henkel, [201 U.S. 43 at 47 (1906)]

What does the bug-man do with his check?

The short answer is ... he keeps it ... all of it.

What about filing a tax return?

The bug-man declines to file a return since he has nothing to report that is under the jurisdiction of the IRC. Since he does not work in a government owned SSA-W2 job he is out of the system and under no contractual obligation to make contributions. The corporation that wrote him a check for his service legally reports it as an internal business expense. He is legally classified as a non-participant.

If you are in the SSA-W2 system:

The purpose of an individual year-end tax-return is to settle the exact amount of contractually required contributions to the SSA-W2 system as determined by the IRC. Filing is purely voluntary. You can decline to file but doing so does not release you from your contractual obligations under the IRC. In the absence of a tax-return, the IRS falsely believes that the I.R.C. permits them to file a tax-return on your behalf and they are allowed to file a return that maximally favors them. Most people don't challenge their illegal attempt to make a return if you don't provide them with one. And this they will do if it creates a receivable – accounting lingo for – "you owe them money." They will decline to file a return if it would create a payable – accounting lingo for "they owe you money." If the IRS files a return and creates a receivable against you they will send you a notice declaring their claim. If you decline to pay, the I.R.C. permits the IRS to file a tax-lien against you if you are a "public officer" of the U.S. government. This of course will be seen on your credit report. And the end result is your credit is damaged. The IRS computers will see to it that the lien remains on your credit report until the lien is paid. You can't beat a computer.

What if I file a return but cheat like crazy?

This is a very bad idea. The Treasury Department nailed Leona Helmsley not because she failed to pay taxes on her personal labor but because she filed a fraudulent tax return. Filing a dishonest tax return puts you at risk. The IRS is very astute at defending itself. Basically the IRS is responsible for enforcing the I.R.C. rules. If you are in the SSA-W2 system you have to live by the IRC. If you decide to stay in the system, we recommend securing the services of a highly qualified CPA or tax attorney that can assist you in filing the most advantageous return possible without committing fraud or risking an audit.

In the end, the law does allow you to opt-out because you can't be forced to work for free. If you do opt-out there are at least 2 potential inconveniences you need to understand:

1. Difficulty with conventional loans. You will have a far more difficult time getting loans from conventional banks, because so often these depend on verifying your income with signed tax returns you no longer have. You can hire an accountant to compose a certified financial statement that some loan institutions may accept as valid proof of income.

1 2. No unemployment benefits. This benefit is part of the SSA-W2 system and since you're not in the system you can't use
2 the benefits. If you have no contracts you only have yourself to complain to, you can't complain to the government
3 because you can't get anyone to do business with you.

4 Moreover, some who have opted out have moved all their physical assets into a trust. This measure makes it almost impossible
5 for the IRS to touch the assets. The IRS, after all, cannot simply decide to go after a person's wealth. They have to obey
6 I.R.C. rules as well. If there is no income over which they have jurisdiction then they can legally do nothing.

7 It is worth noting, finally, that the government is in the "National Social Benefits" business. The government entered this
8 business with the ratification of the 16th Amendment and has achieved a near perfect monopoly in this market (a violation of 9 anti-trust laws). If you don't believe this, try finding a non-SSA-W2 job with a U.S. corporation. As such, it is in the interest
10 of any business that has a monopoly to get the customers to believe that there is no alternative to the present business
11 relationship. The government is not about to provide any of its customers (you and I) with any information suggesting 12 otherwise. In obtaining such information, we are clearly on our own; no government agency will assist you in opting out of 13 the income tax system or the social security system, with the possible exception of the U.S. Supreme Court, should the right
14 case one day come before them.

15 So one's best weapon is still the Declaration of Independence, the U.S. Constitution, the 13th Amendment, and information.
16 Whatever the inconveniences, the reward is personal sovereignty – otherwise known as freedom. If you would like to know
17 more about the subject of the taxability of wages, we have prepared a whole line of deposition questions on the subject useful
18 in an IRS audit or deposition that basically backs the government into the corner of admitting based on facts and evidence
19 and their own words that wages of natural persons and not corporations cannot be taxable. Look under section 2 of the 20 questions entitled "Right to Labor" for some rather compelling evidence showing that what we are saying here is true:

22 8. We don't pay "taxes" to the federal government, we pay "protection money" and subsidize 23 socialism

24 This section builds on section Error! Reference source not found. and further expands upon the distinction between 25 "public" and "private" expenditures and revenues of the federal government. The U.S. Supreme Court said we CANNOT be 26 compelled to use our private property for the benefit of our neighbor:

27 "Surely the matters in which the public has the most interest are the supplies of food and clothing; yet can it be
28 that by reason of this interest the state may fix the price at which the butcher must sell his meat, or the vendor of
29 boots and shoes his goods? Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -life, liberty, and
30 *the pursuit of happiness; and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That
31 property which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that
32 he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must for can
33 lawfully be compelled by the government to] use it for his neighbor's 34 benefit; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and
35 third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation.
36 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

37 Another way of saying this is that nothing that involves wealth transfer, charity, or social insurance, can be called a "tax" in 38 a legal sense. In order to prove that what we pay the IRS under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code isn't a "tax" in the 39 legal sense, all we have to show is that any part of the income tax revenues are spent for social welfare or wealth transfer
40 payments. At that point, the monies are being used for "wealth transfer" and the government becomes a thief and a
41 Robinhood, because it is using public money for private purposes. It is committing robbery disguised as taxation if it takes 42 public funds (also called the "General fund") and puts them into the pocket of private individuals who did not earn them with 43 their labor or compensated services. Understanding these facts helps explain some of the following interesting observations:

1. Social Security is called O.A.S.D.I., or Old Age Survivor's Disability Insurance. It isn't a "tax", it is "insurance", which is why it doesn't appear anywhere under Title 26, Subtitle A "Income Taxes". Instead, it appears under 42 U.S.C. Chapter 7 entitled "Social Security". All insurance must be voluntary so it can't be called a tax.
2. Medicare also isn't a "tax" because it too goes to private individuals. This is a form of insurance and is found in 42 U.S.C. Chapter 7, Subchapter XVIII rather than in the Internal Revenue Code. Once again, participation is voluntary and cannot be compelled because the funds are used for private purposes.

The best place to go to find out how your tax dollars are spent is the Treasury Financial Management Service (FMS) Website. We compiled a detailed breakdown of all federal receipts and expenditures earlier in section 1.11 using this website, which is located at:

<http://www.fms.treas.gov/fr/index.html>

If you download the latest financial report of the U.S. Government for 2002 and examine page 69, there is an analysis of "Trust Fund Financing". The trust funds are the individual social programs maintained by the U.S. government, including Social Security (called Old Age Survivors Disability Insurance, or OASDI), Medicare, FICA unemployment, and Railroad Retirement. This analysis shows that there are certain socialist programs which are running a deficit, which means that they must be financed from the General Fund. The General Fund means the individual income tax, as the report explains. Below is a summary of the various wealth redistribution programs that are funded from general revenues:

- Unemployment (FICA): 12 Billion dollar deficit for 2003. This is based on expected economic conditions. See page 87 of the 2002 report.
- Medicare Part B: Expenditures come entirely from the general fund. See page 82 of the report.

Another good place to look is on expenditures for welfare. You have to dig for these but basically, they are paid by the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) under a program called Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). The statistics on spending for this program may be found on the web at:

<http://www.acf.dhhs.gov/programs/ofs/data/index.html>

The total federal expenditures in 2002 for the TANF program was approximately 23 Billion dollars, and all of the money to pay for this welfare program came from the funding for DHHS, which in turn came from the General Fund. The General Fund, in turn, is paid for mostly out of personal income taxes, which means that your income tax pays for socialism and charity.

A significant amount of money contributed under Subtitles A and C of the Internal Revenue Code DOES go to support wealth transfer, which means that the income tax cannot be classified as a "tax" according to the Supreme Court. The Treasury Financial Management Service (FMS) report above also reveals that there are massive future shortfalls predicted for Medicare and Social Security, which means that an increasing amount of individual income tax revenues will have to subsidize these programs over the next several years in order to ensure their viability. The problem is therefore predicted to get MUCH worse, not better in the future if current trends and rates of expenditures continue.

Because what we pay cannot be properly classified as "taxes" based on the definition of "taxes" by the Supreme Court, then the only thing we can honestly call it is "protection money". We are paying the government for the "privilege" of being "left alone" by the IRS, and to not be illegally harassed by them. Under these circumstances:

1. We are violating federal and state law.
2. The "de facto", unlawful band of thieves in control of our government has become our new "god", because it is the only entity within society that can "steal" from people without being punished by the law. The Ten Commandments say "though shalt not steal". They don't say "Though shalt not steal, unless you work for the federal government." A "god" is simply anything or anyone that has superior powers above and beyond those of ordinary men. "Religion" is defined as the worship of such "superior beings".

"Law is in every culture religious in origin. Because law governs man and society, because it establishes and declares the meaning of justice and righteousness, law is inescapably religious, in that it establishes in practical fashion the ultimate concerns of a culture. Accordingly, a fundamental and necessary premise in any and every study of law must be, first, a recognition of this religious nature of law."

1 Second, it must be recognized that in any culture the source of law is the god of that society. If law has its
2 source in man's reason, then reason is the god of that society. If the source is an oligarchy, or in a court,
3 senate, or ruler, then that source is the god of that system."

5 Card Number 72-79485, pp. 4-5, Emphasis added]

7 "Religion. Man's relation to Divinity, to reverence, worship, obedience, and submission to mandates and
8 precepts of supernatural or superior beings. In its broadest sense includes all forms of belief in the existence of 9 superior beings exercising power over human beings by volition, imposing rules of conduct, with future
10 rewards and punishments. Bond uniting man to God, and a virtue whose purpose is to render God worship
11 due him as source of all being and principle of all government of things. Nikulnikoff v. Archbishop, etc., of 12 Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church, 142 Misc. 894, 255 N.Y.S. 653, 663."
13 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, page 1292]

- 14 3. We are subsidizing thievery and extortion and contributing to the tyranny and delinquency of our public "servants".
15 4. We are subsidizing "socialism". Socialism is simply government ownership and/or control of everything, including 16 people's labor in this case. See the free pamphlet below for proof:

Socialism: The New American Civil Religion, Form #05.016
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 17 5. We have instituted slavery and involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
18 6. Calling monies that we pay "taxes" amounts to constructive fraud.
19 7. There will never be an end to how much the politicians can or will take out of our paycheck. We already surrendered if 20 we cooperate with their extortion in any way. We're already "whores". We're just negotiating price. The eventual result 21 will be a complete disintegration of the society as we know it, because it punishes work and bribes voters with loot that
22 was stolen from the entrepreneurs and producers of society. Here is what the Supreme Court said on this subject about
23 the very first Act of Congress which imposed a positive law duty to pay taxes on income of a natural person when it
24 declared the law unconstitutional:

25 "Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that they go down to the very
26 foundations of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution [against direct taxes on people of the kind
27 at issue here] can be set aside by an act of Congress [or by the IRS], where is the course of usurpation to end?

28 The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger and 29 more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing 30 intensity and bitterness."
31 [Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895)]

32 By subsidizing and practicing government-compelled socialism, we are committing treason against the Constitution and 33 betraying our country and our neighbors. The Bible says we are supposed to love our neighbor, not turn him into a compelled 34 government slave and a "whore". Here is what one enlightened scholar said on this subject.

35 "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that 36 they can vote themselves money from the Public Treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for 37 the candidate promising the most benefits from the Public Treasury with the result that a democracy always 38 collapses over loose fiscal policy always followed by dictatorship."
39 ["The Decline and Fall of the Athenian Republic", Alexander Fraser Tytler]

40 As Christians, the second of the two great commandments is to love our neighbor, found in Romans 13:9. You don't steal
41 from people you love and you can't delegate the power to steal to your government because you don't have it yourself.

42 "You shall not steal."
43 [Exodus 20:15, Bible, NKJV]

44 Notice it didn't say: "Thou shalt not steal UNLESS you are the government." Even if we think the money taken from our 45 neighbor will "help" him, it's still stealing if he's being forced to pay for or subsidize something he doesn't agree with and
46 doesn't want. In a free country and a free economy, people should never be forced to pay for things they don't want or 47 consent to. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from "consent of the governed".
48 Anything that isn't consensual is simply unjust. Period.

Those who participate in the brand of socialism implemented by our corrupt tax system all share “one purse”, and make the government effectively into one big social insurance company to insulate themselves from personal responsibility for the adverse consequences of their own laziness, apathy, greed, and sin. The role of government in a republic then transitions from that of only protecting the people to that of punishing and plundering success while rewarding and encouraging failure. Our government turns into a gigantic Robinhood and “Parens Patriae”, or government parent, over us all. Do you want such a “Big Brother” looking over your shoulder like this and playing false god? Can a people be truly free under such a condition? Here is how the Bible says we should view this, and note that it says this is “evil” and that we should not participate in it:

Avoid Bad Company

“My son, if sinners [socialists, in this case] entice you,
Do not consent
If they say, “Come with us,
Let us lie in wait to shed blood;
Let us lurk secretly for the innocent without cause;
Let us swallow them alive like Sheol,
And whole, like those who go down to the Pit:
We shall fill our houses with spoil [plunder];
Cast in your lot among us,
Let us all have one purse”--
My son, do not walk in the way with them,
Keep your foot from their path;
For their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed blood.
Surely, in vain the net is spread
In the sight of any bird;
But they lie in wait for their own blood.
They lurk secretly for their own lives.
So are the ways of everyone who is greedy for gain;
It takes away the life of its owners.”
[\[Proverbs 1:10-19, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

God, however, wants us to follow His sacred law, and the result of doing so makes government unnecessary, because we become self-governing and self-supporting and do not make government into a false god or become idolaters in the process:

*“He [God] brings the princes to nothing.
He makes the judges of the earth useless.”*
[\[Isaiah 40:23, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

*“How long will you slumber, O sluggard?
When will you rise from your sleep?
A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to sleep--
So shall your poverty come on you like a prowler,
And your need like an armed man [from the government/IRS].”*
[\[Prov. 6:9-11, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

*“The hand of the diligent will rule,
But the lazy man will be put to forced labor [working for the government through income taxes].”*
[\[Prov. 12:24, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

9. For people in States of the Union, the Internal Revenue Code does not have the force of law, but instead is only “code” and a state sponsored franchise and religion

According to the legislative notes under 1 U.S.C. §204, the Internal Revenue Code, Title 26, is NOT enacted into “positive law” and only constitutes “prima facie” or “presumed” law. The U.S. Supreme Court held in Vlandis v. Kline that all presumption which prejudices constitutionally guaranteed rights is unconstitutional:

(1) [8:4993] Conclusive presumptions affecting protected interests: A conclusive presumption [that a “code” is in fact a “law”, for instance] may be defeated where its application would impair a party's constitutionally-protected liberty or property interests. In such cases, conclusive presumptions have been held to violate a party's due process and equal protection rights. [Vlandis v. Kline (1973) 412 U.S. 441, 449, 93 S.Ct. 2230, 2235; Cleveland Bd. of Ed. v. LaFleur (1974) 414 U.S. 632, 639-640, 94 S.Ct. 1208, 1215-presumption under Illinois law that unmarried fathers are unfit violates process]
[\[Federal Civil Trials and Evidence, Rutter Group, paragraph 8:4993, p. 8K-34\]](#)

Therefore, those protected by the Bill of Rights may not lawfully have “prima facie law”, meaning “presumption”, cited against them as evidence in any court and if a judge permits this, he is violating his oath to support and defend the Constitution. In fact, the American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia 2d definitively says that presumption may not be used as a SUBSTITUTE for evidence:

*American Jurisprudence 2d
Evidence, §181*

A presumption is neither evidence nor a substitute for evidence. ⁶³ Properly used, the term “presumption” is a rule of law directing that if a party proves certain facts (the “basic facts”) at a trial or hearing, the factfinder must also accept an additional fact (the “presumed fact”) as proven unless sufficient evidence is introduced tending to rebut the presumed fact. ⁶⁴ In a sense, therefore, a presumption is an inference which is mandatory unless rebutted. ⁶⁵

The underlying purpose and impact of a presumption is to affect the burden of going forward. ⁶⁶ Depending upon a variety of factors, a presumption may shift the burden of production as to the presumed fact, or may shift both the burden of production and the burden of persuasion. ⁶⁷

A few states have codified some of the more common presumptions in their evidence codes.⁶⁸ Often a statute will provide that a fact or group of facts is prima facie evidence of another fact. ⁶⁹ Courts frequently recognize this principle in the absence of an explicit legislative directive. ⁷⁰

The above implies that at least for people domiciled in states of the Union and protected by the Bill of Rights:

1. The Internal Revenue Code cannot be described as “law” or cited against them in any court, but instead is instead simply a “Code”, or a “Title”, but not “law”. It is as “foreign” to a person domiciled in a state of the Union as the laws of communist China are, in fact.
2. Citing the I.R.C. does not relieve the moving party, which is usually the government, of the burden of proving that the sections of the code they are citing were enacted into positive law, and if they can’t prove it, they have no standing to proceed in the case and the case must be dismissed.
3. Those who have had the code cited against them and do not challenge such a false presumption indirectly are implying that they consent individually to be subject to it and are therefore “taxpayers”.
4. Those persons domiciled in states of the Union who cite any provision of the I.R.C. as their basis to proceed are admitting that they are “taxpayers” subject to it. Here is what the U.S. Supreme Court said on this subject:

“The Government urges that the Power Company is estopped to question the validity of the Act creating the Tennessee Valley Authority, and hence that the stockholders, suing in the right of the corporation, cannot [297 U.S. 323] maintain this suit. The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot be heard to question its constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581; Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407; St. Louis Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469.”

⁶³ Levasseur v. Field (Me) 332 A.2d. 765; Hinds v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A.2d. 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v. R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A.2d. 1113); Connizzo v. General American Life Ins. Co. (Mo App) 520 SW2d 661.

⁶⁴ Inferences and presumptions are a staple of our adversary system of factfinding, since it is often necessary for the trier of fact to determine the existence of an element of a crime—that is an ultimate or elemental fact—from the existence of one or more evidentiary or basic facts. 3 “...when a State willingly accepts a substantial benefit from the Federal Government [including a law of the 4 Federal Government], it waives its immunity under the Eleventh Amendment and consents to suit by the intended
5 beneficiaries of that federal assistance.”
[Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265 (1986)]

6 Below is the definition of “positive law” from the law dictionary which helps underscore these very important point.

7 “Positive law, Law actually and specifically enacted or adopted [approved and consented to] by proper authority
8 for the government [We the People] of an organized jural society. See also Legislation.”
9 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1162]

10 “Proper authority” above is the people’s elected representatives, because all power in this country derives from We The 11 People.

12 “In the United States, sovereignty resides in the people...the Congress cannot invoke sovereign power of the 13 People to override their will as thus declared.”
14 [Perry v. U.S., 294 U.S. 330 (1935)]

15 “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author and source of law...While sovereign 16 powers are delegated to...the government, sovereignty itself remains with the people.”
17 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

18 Since the people domiciled in the states of the Union never enacted the Internal Revenue Code into “positive law”, they as 19 the “sovereigns” in our system of government never consented to enforce it upon themselves collectively. “Positive law” is 20 the only legally admissible evidence that the people ever explicitly consented to enforcement actions by their government of
21 a law, because legislation can only become positive law by a majority of the representatives of the sovereign people voting
22 (consenting) to enact the law. Since the people never consented, then the “code” cannot be enforced against the general
23 public. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from the “consent” of the governed.
24 Anything not consensual is, ipso facto, unjust by implication. In fact, the sovereign People REPEALED, not ENACTED the 25 Internal Revenue Code. It has been nothing but a repealed law since 1939, in fact. An examination of the Statutes at Large,
26 53 Stat 1, Section 4, reveals that the Internal Revenue Code and all prior revenue laws were REPEALED. See:
27

Revenue Act of 1939, 53 Stat. 1, SEDM Exhibit #05.027 http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm

28 Notice that we aren’t trying to imply here any of the following very false conclusions:

- 29 1. That the Internal Revenue Code is not “law” for people domiciled in the District of Columbia or working for the U.S.
30 government. It absolutely is.
31 2. That there are no persons subject to the Internal Revenue Code.
32 3. That Subtitle A of the I.R.C. doesn’t apply to anyone. Rather, the group of persons who are subject to it is far more 33 limited than most people realize.
34 4. That “taxpayers” are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.
35 5. That there are no “taxpayers”.

36 If the Internal Revenue Code is not “law” or “positive law” for people domiciled in states of the Union, then every regulation
37 that implements it does not have the force of “law” either. Consequently, the “code” and the regulations that implement it
38 are nothing but a state-sponsored official religion not unlike the early Anglican Church was. It is what we call a “political 39 religion” in violation of the First Amendment, where:

- 40 1. This false and evil religion meets all the criteria for being described as a “cult”, because:
41 1.1. The cult imposes strict rules of conduct that are thousands of pages long and which are far more restrictive than 42 any other religious cult.
43 1.2. Participating in it is harmful to our rights, liberty, and property.
44 1.3. The “cult” is perpetuated by keeping the truth secret from its members. Our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302
45 contains 2,000 pages of secrets that our public servants and the federal judiciary have done their best to keep 46 cleverly hidden and obscured from public view and discourse. When these secrets come out in federal courtrooms, the judges make the case unpublished so the American people can't learn the truth about the misdeeds of their servants in government. Don't believe us? Read the proof for yourself:

<http://www.nonpublication.com/>

- 1.4. Those who try to abandon this harmful cult are threatened and harassed illegally and unconstitutionally by covetous public dis-servants.
2. The "bible" of this false religious "cult" is the "Infernal (Satanic) Revenue Code"
3. The U.S. Congress are the false "prophets", who wrote their "bible" to serve their own private political agenda.
4. People join the cult mainly in order to minimize their liability for persecution from the enforcement unit for the cult, which is the IRS.
5. The courtroom is where "worship services" are held. Even the seats are the same as church pews!
6. Tax preparation businesses all over the country like H.R. Block are where "confession" is held annually to "deacons" of the cult.
7. The judges are the false "god" of this religion, who rule by their own might and ignore the limits of the Constitution, at least in the context of taxation. Attorneys "worship" these false gods.
8. The judge, like the church pastor, wears a black robe and chants in Latin. Many legal maxims are Latin phrases that have no meaning to the average citizen, which is the very same thing that happens in Catholic churches daily across the country.
9. The jury are the twelve disciples of the judge, rather than of the Truth or the law or their conscience. Their original purpose was as a check on government abuse and usurpation, but judges steer them away from ruling in such a manner and being gullible sheep raised in the public "fool" system, they comply to their own injury.
- 9.1. Those who are not already members of the cult are not allowed to serve on juries. The judge or the judge's henchmen, his "licensed attorneys" who are "officers of the court", dismiss prospective jurists who are not cult members during the voir dire (jury selection) phase of the tax trial. The qualifications that prospective jurists must meet in order to be part of the "cult" are at least one of the following:
 - 9.1.1. They collect government benefits based on income taxes and don't want to see those benefits reduced or stopped. The only people who can collect federal benefits under enacted law and the Constitution are federal employees. Therefore, they must be federal employees. Since jurists are acting as "voters", then receipt of any federal benefits makes them into a biased jury in the context of income taxes and violates 18 U.S.C. §597, which makes it illegal to bribe a voter. The only way to eliminate this conflict of interest is to permanently remove public assistance or to recuse/disqualify them as jurists.
 - 9.1.2. They faithfully pay what they "think" are "income taxes". They are blissfully unaware that in actuality, the 1040 return is a federal employment profit and loss statement.
 - 9.1.3. They believe or have "faith" in the cult's "bible", which is the Infernal Revenue Code and falsely believe it is "law". Instead, 1 U.S.C. §204 legislative notes says it is NOT positive law, but simply "presumed" to be law. Presumption is a violation of due process and therefore illegal under the Sixth Amendment.
 - 9.1.4. They are ignorant of the law and were made so in a public school. They therefore must believe whatever any judge or attorney tells them about "law". This means they will make a good lemming to jump off the cliff with the fellow citizen who is being tried.
- 9.2. Juries are FORBIDDEN in every federal courthouse in the country from entering the law library while serving on a jury because judges don't want jurists reading the law and finding out that judges are misrepresenting it in the courtroom. Don't believe us? Then call the law library in any federal court building and ask them if jurists are allowed to go in there and read the law while they are serving. Below are the General Order 228C for the Federal District Court in San Diego proving that jurors are not allowed to use the court law library while serving. Notice jurors are not listed as authorized to use the library in this order:
- 9.3. Unlike every other type of federal trial, judges forbid discussing the law in a tax trial. Could it be because we don't have any and he doesn't want to admit it?
- 9.4. Public (government) schools deliberately don't teach law or the Constitution either, so that the public become sheep that the government can shear and rape and pillage.
- 9.5. Federal judges also warn juries these days NOT to vote on their conscience, as juries originally did and were encouraged to do. He does this to steer or direct the jury to do his illegal and unconstitutional dirty work. He turns the jury effectively into an angry lynch mob and thereby maliciously abuses legal process for his own personal benefit in violation of 18 U.S.C. §208. He helps get the jury angry at the defendant by giving them the idea that their "tax" bill will be bigger because the defendant refuses to "pay their fair share".
10. Those who refuse to worship the false god and false religion (which the Bible describes in the Book of Revelations as "the Beast") are "exorcised" from society by being put into jail so that they don't spread the truth about the total lack of lawful authority to institute income taxation within states of the Union. They are jailed as political prisoners by communist judges and socialist fellow citizens, just like in the Soviet Union. You can read more about this at:

<http://famguardian.org/Publications/SocialSecurity/TOC.htm>

11. The lawyers representing both sides are licensed by the priest/judge and therefore will pay homage to and cooperate with him fully or risk losing their livelihood and becoming homeless. Every tax trial has THREE prosecutors who are there to prosecute you: your defense attorney, the opposing U.S. attorney, and the judge, all of whom are on the take. Attorneys have a conflict of interest and it is therefore impossible for them to objectively satisfy the fiduciary duty to their clients which they have under the law. You can read more about this scam at:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/LawAndGovt/LegalEthics/PetForAdmToPractice-USDC.pdf>
12. The capitol, Washington D.C., is the “political temple” or headquarters of this false religious cult. Don’t believe us? During the Congressional debates of the Sixteenth Amendment in 1909, one Congressman amazingly admitted as much. The Sixteenth Amendment is the income tax amendment that was later fraudulently ratified in 1913. Notice the use of the words “civic temple” and “faith” in his statement, which are no accident.

“Now, Mr. Speaker, this Capitol is the civic temple of the people, and we are here by direction of the people to reduce the tariff tax and enact a law in the interest of all the people. This was the expressed will of the people at the polls, and you promised to carry out that will, but you have not kept faith with the American people.”
[44 Cong.Rec. 4420, July 12, 1909; Congressman Heflin talking about the enactment of the Sixteenth Amendment]

If you want to read the above amazing admission for yourself, visit our website at:

13. Representatives of this church/cult, such as the Department of Justice and the IRS, dress the same as Mormon missionaries.
14. Those who participate in this cult can write-off or deduct their contributions just like donations to any church. State income taxes, for instances, are deductible from federal gross income.
15. The false god/idol called government gets the “first fruits” of our labor, before the Lord even gets one dime, using payroll deductions. Some employers treat the payroll deduction program like it is a law to be followed religiously, even though it is not. This is a violation of Prov. 3:9, which says:

“Honor the LORD with your possessions, And with the firstfruits of all your increase;”
[Prov. 3:9, Bible, NKJV]

Yes, people, the government has made itself into a religion, at least in the realm of taxation. The problem with this corruption of our government is that the U.S. Supreme Court said they cannot do it:

“The “establishment of religion” clause of the First Amendment means at least this: neither a state nor the Federal Government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one [state-sponsored political] religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another. Neither can force or influence a person to go to or to remain away from church against his will, or force him to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion. No person can be punished for entertaining or professing religious beliefs or disbeliefs, for church attendance or non-attendance. No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion. Neither a state nor the Federal Government can, openly or secretly, participate in the affairs of any religious organizations or groups and vice versa.”
[Everson v. Bd. of Ed., 330 U.S. 1, 15 (1947)]

“[T]he Establishment Clause is infringed when the government makes adherence to religion relevant to a person's standing in the political community. Direct government action endorsing religion or a particular religious practice is invalid under this approach, because it sends a message to nonadherents that they are outsiders, not full members of the political community, and an accompanying message to adherents that they are insiders, favored members of the political community.”
[Wallace v. Jaffree, 472 U.S. 69 (1985)]

The only reasons anyone follows a repealed law as though it were a false religion is one of the following:

1. They are dangerously stupid
2. They want to be part of the official state sponsored religion and be “politically correct”.
3. They are more afraid of what a corrupted tyrant judge with a conflict of interest will do to them than what God will do to them for disobeying His laws. God’s laws say we cannot be slaves to any man and that we cannot worship false gods or “priests” of false gods such as tyrant judges who are perpetuating the worship and obedience to socialism and humanism.

We call this religion the “Civil Religion of Socialism and Humanism”. One of the reasons why the I.R.C. does not have the FORCE of law for the average American and can never be PUBLIC law that applies equally to ALL in a free country is that the First Amendment prohibits establishing religion by law. Therefore, Congress wrote a “proposal” or contract called the Internal Revenue Code and then duped everyone into accepting the contract by sending in the wrong tax forms to the IRS. Compliance is then maintained by “judge made law”, because Congress put the federal judiciary under the control of the IRS for the first time starting in 1932. The judges rebelled, but Congress was so sneaky how they did it that the Supreme Court couldn’t stop them. From that point on, the judges would be destroyed by the IRS if they didn’t rule in the IRS’ favor⁷¹. The First Amendment doesn’t prohibit the judiciary from establishing a religion, and that is exactly what these corrupted judges have done under the influence of IRS extortion. Remember what the Declaration of Independence says on this subject and the complaint we had about the British King that caused us to rebel? Well the very same problem is again back in our midst:

“He has made Judges dependent on his [the Executive Branch/President and the IRS he controls] Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

“He has erected a multitude of New [IRS] Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.”

What are YOU going to do about this cancer on the body politic, folks? America will only be the land of the free as long as it is the home of the brave. The Ten Commandments say “Thou shalt not steal.” They don’t say “Thou shalt not steal UNLESS you are the government.” We realize that some of this section may sound strange and maybe even radical at first glance, but we scientifically prove all assertions made here using the government’s own laws and court rulings in sections 5.4.3.2 and 5.4.3.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book available below. We encourage you to read the eye-popping truth for yourself and rebut it if you can. Don’t believe a word we say, but read the law for yourself:

Instead, the I.R.C. can only be enforced against groups of people whose consent is not required. The only group of people that fits that description are federal “employees”, contractors, agencies, and benefit recipients. This is confirmed by examining the Federal Register Act, 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1) and the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. §553(a), both of which confirm that no enforcement implementing regulations are required in the case of the following persons, who in fact are the only proper or lawful subject of the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A:

1. 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1): Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees
2. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1): Military or foreign affairs function of the United States

⁷¹ See O’Malley v. Woodrough, 307 U.S. 277 (1938) and Great IRS Hoax, Section 6.9.9.

3. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2): Matters relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts

The following document proves that there are no enforcement implementing regulations and that the only group the IRS can enforce the I.R.C. against are federal instrumentalities, agencies, contractors, and benefit recipients:

IRS Due Process Meeting Handout, Form #03.008

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Therefore, the above groups are the only proper subject of I.R.C. Subtitle A, the personal and business income tax. Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code therefore amounts to an implied employment agreement between the United States government and the federal “employees” and contractors and agencies who work for it. Those who don’t want to consent to the employment or contract simply will do so by not seeking federal employment or contracts. Those who work for the federal government, by virtue of being granted the privilege, must refund a portion of their paycheck back to the government. The amount returned is the “tax” and the “gross income” upon which it is based is all the earnings from the public office, which is called “income effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States” under the I.R.C. That is why what you file at the end of every year is called a “return”. There is a very good reason it is called a “return”! Those who receive this government “overpayment”, while it is temporarily in their possession, are treated as “transferees” and fiduciaries of the federal government until the money is returned to its rightful owner. What this scheme amounts to essentially is a “federal employee kickback program” disguised to look like a lawful income tax. The reason this type of deception was necessary is because the Constitution forbids direct taxes in Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 and Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3. Therefore, the government took the back door to deceive the people so they could literally STEAL their money under the pretext of lawful authority. The scam started in 1862 and was instituted as an “emergency measure” to pay for the civil war, but it survives to this day to plague us. Since that time, the scoundrels have taken great pains to obfuscate IRS Forms, publications, and the Internal Revenue Code to fool the average person into believing that they are what amounts to “public employees” under the I.R.C and thereby expand the operation of the “scheme”. See the following for more complete details on this monumental scam.

10. Federal Tax Scheme

“Objections to its [the income tax] renewal are long, loud, and general throughout the country. Those who pay are the exception, those who do not pay are millions; the whole moral force of the law is a dead letter. The honest man makes a true return; the dishonest hides and covers all he can to avoid this obnoxious tax. It has no moral force. This tax is unequal, perjury-provoking and crime encouraging, because it is a war with the right of a person to keep private and regulate his business affairs and financial matters. Deception, fraud, and falsehood mark its progress everywhere in the process of collection. It creates curiosity, jealousy, and prejudice among the people. It makes the tax-gatherer a spy... The people demand that it shall not be renewed, but left to die a natural death and pass away into the future as pass away all the evils growing out of the Civil War.”
[Congressional Globe, 41st Congress, 2d Session, 3993 (1870)]

Federal employment withholding under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code only apply to “public officers” of the United States government, as revealed under 26 U.S.C. §6331(a), 26 U.S.C. §3401\(c\), and 26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 and only in direct connection with their federal employment.

26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 Employee:

1 "...the term [employee] includes officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a
2 [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any
3 agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an officer of 4 a corporation."

5 Federal employment tax withholding under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code does not apply to private employers,
6 who do not meet the definition of "employer" found in 26 C.F.R. §31.3121(d)-2 entitled "Who are employers". An
7 "employer", under federal law, is simply anyone who has "employees", and all "employees" under the I.R.C. work for the
8 federal government as "public officers" engaged in a "trade or business" in order to earn "taxable income". The reason this
9 must be the case is because Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is an indirect tax upon excise taxable privileges or 10 "activities", and the only "activity" that is taxable is a "trade or business", which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as 11 "the functions of a public office". That "public office" is an office in which the officer is in receipt of payments from the 12 federal government and in effect is acting as a fiduciary or subcontractor of the federal government over these payments. The 13 amount left over for himself AFTER he pays the "kickback" to the federal government from this payment is the compensation
14 he receives in connection with this public office. This whole "trade or business" scheme is very carefully described in our 15 Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.10 if you would like to know more. See also:

The "Trade or Business" Scam, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/TradeOrBusinessScam.htm>

16 Similarly, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A (income tax), and Subtitle C (employment tax) only apply
17 within federal territory (federal zone) and in states of the Union on federal land ceded to the federal government as required
18 under 40 U.S.C. §255. This is a consequence of the separation of powers doctrine documented by the U.S. Supreme Court
19 in U.S. v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549 (1995). This is confirmed by examining the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §106, as well as the provisions
20 in Title 5 of the U.S. Code which implement it found at 5 U.S.C. §5517. Hence, private employers in private industry do not
21 come under the purview of federal employment withholding codes under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code except as 22 they volunteer to. There is no federal law requiring them to participate in withholding of federal payroll taxes, Social Security,
23 FICA, OASDI, Medicare, or even state tax withholding.

24 There is also no positive law creating a "legal duty" to pay income taxes under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code.
25 Therefore, the code only applies to those who make themselves subject by consenting to it in some way and thereby becoming
26 "taxpayers", which are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14). The word "liable" or "liability" is the only term that establishes a
27 legal "duty" to pay a tax. The first and only Act of Congress that has ever imposed such a legal "duty" was section 29 of the 28 Revenue Act of 1894, which said in pertinent part:

29 "Sec. 29. That it shall be the duty of all persons of lawful age having an income of more than three thousand
30 five hundred dollars for the taxable year, computed on the basis herein prescribed, to make and render a list or
31 return, on or before the day provided by law, in such form and manner as may be directed by the Commissioner
32 of Internal Revenue with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to the collector or a deputy collector of 33 the district in which they reside, of the amount of their income, gains, and profits, as aforesaid;..."
34 [Revenue Act of 1894]

35 Notice the phrase "it shall be the duty of all persons of lawful age". You can read this law direct from the Statutes at Large 36 on our website at:

37 <http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/HistoricalActs/IncomeTax1894final.pdf>

38 The above positive law was declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of Pollock v. Farmers' Loan &
39 Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895) because it attempted to institute a direct tax within states of the Union in stark
40 violation of Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 and Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3 of the Constitution. That case caught the Congress
41 red-handed trying to violate the Constitution and slapped them on the wrist for putting their hands in the cookie jar. Since
42 that time, the Congress has never since even attempted to institute any federal law that included a positive law "legal duty"
43 or "liability" for natural persons (people) to pay a direct tax in states of the Union. The closest they have ever come was to 44 create a "code" that "looks" like law but isn't and which appears to create a liability, but in fact does not because it cannot 45 without violating the Constitution.

46 26 U.S.C. §1 is the section that the IRS says imposes the income tax. Here is an excerpt from that section:

47 United States Code

TITLE 26 - INTERNAL REVENUE CODE
Subtitle A - Income Taxes
CHAPTER 1 - NORMAL TAXES AND SURTAXES
Subchapter A - Determination of Tax Liability
PART I - TAX ON INDIVIDUALS

Sec. 1. Tax imposed

(a) Married individuals filing joint returns and surviving spouses

There is hereby imposed on the taxable income of—

The question is:

Does the word “imposed” mean “liable”?

Incidentally, did you notice we used “mean” instead of “include” above...because the government just loves to abuse this word to illegally expand their jurisdiction! Here is the definition of the word “impose” from Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition:

Impose: To levy or exact as by authority; to lay as a burden, tax, duty, or charge.
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 755]

Exaction. The wrongful act of an officer or other person in compelling payment of a fee or reward for his services, under color of his official authority, where no payment is due.
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 557]

Extortion. The obtaining of property from another induced by wrongful use of actual or threatened force, violence, or fear, or under color of official right. 18 U.S.C.A. § 871 et seq.; § 1951.

A person is guilty of theft by extortion if he purposely obtains property of another by threatening to: (1) inflict bodily injury on anyone or commit any other criminal offense; or (2) accuse anyone of a criminal offense; or (3) expose any secret tending to subject any person to hatred, contempt or ridicule, or to impair his credit or business repute; or (4) take or withhold action as an official, or cause an official to take or withhold action; or (5) bring about or continue a strike, boycott or other collective unofficial action, if the property is not demanded or received for the benefit of the group in whose interest the actor purports to act; or (6) testify or provide information or withhold testimony or information with respect to another’s legal claim or defense; or (7) inflict any other harm which would not benefit the actor. Model Penal Code, §224.4.

See also Blackmail; Hobbs Act; Loan Sharking; Shakedown. With respect to Larceny by extortion, see Larceny. Compare Coercion
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 585]

Amazing how brazen these lawyer criminals in the District of Criminals are, eh? Nothing in there about liability! And the definition of the word “levy” out of that same legal dictionary on page 907 says:

“Levy. v.: To assess; raise; execute; exact; tax; collect; gather; take up; seize. Thus, to levy (assess, exact, raise, or collect) a tax; to levy (raise or set up) a nuisance; to levy (acknowledge) a fine; to levy (inaugurate) war; to levy an execution, i.e., to levy or collect a sum of money on an execution.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 907]

Here is what the federal courts say about the requirements to create a statutory liability before an obligation to pay can be established:

“..liability for taxation must clearly appear[from statute imposing tax].”
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

“While Congress might have the power to place such a personal liability upon trust beneficiaries who did not renounce the trust, yet it would require clear expression of such intent, and it cannot be spelled out from language (as that here) which can be given an entirely natural and useful meaning and application excluding such intent.”
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

"A tax is a legal imposition, exclusively of statutory origin (37 Cyc. 724, 725), and, naturally, liability to taxation must be read in statute, or it does not exist."
[Bente v. Bugbee, 137 A. 552, 103 N.J. Law. 608 (1927)]

"...the taxpayer must be liable for the tax. Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability."
[Terry v. Bothke, 713 F.2d. 1405, at 1414 (1983).]

Can you collect a tax that no one is liable for? You certainly can, if you can find enough ignorant Americans and fool or coerce them into believing that they are "taxpayers"! Do you see the words "liable" or "liability" used anywhere in the above definitions or anywhere in 26 U.S.C. §1? We don't...and if you aren't liable, then you don't have to pay!

When you search electronically through the entire 9,500 pages of the Internal Revenue Code like we did, you will indeed find the word "liability" used for every kind of tax OTHER than personal income taxes, but not for any of the taxes on individuals found in Subtitles A or C! When a person is made liable, the code explicitly says "shall be liable", "shall be paid" and "shall keep records", etc., but nowhere is this stated for personal income taxes in Subtitles A or C. Here are just a few examples where persons are explicitly made "liable" for payment of a tax that was also "imposed" elsewhere in the code:

26 U.S.C. §4374: Liability for tax: "...shall be paid..."

26 U.S.C. §4401(c)) Persons liable for tax: "...wagers shall be liable for and shall pay"

26 U.S.C. §4403 Record requirements: "Each person liable for tax under this subchapter shall keep a daily record..."

26 U.S.C. §5005 Persons liable for tax:

"(a) The distiller or importer of distilled spirits shall be liable for the taxes imposed..."
"(c) Proprietors of distilled spirits plants: "(1) Bonded storage. Every person operating bonded premises of a distilled spirits plant shall be liable for internal revenue tax..."
"(e)(1) " Withdrawals without payment of tax: "...shall be liable"
""(e)(2) Relief from liability: "All persons liable for the tax..."

26 U.S.C. §5043. Collection of taxes on wines

"(a) Persons liable for payment
The taxes on wine provided for in this subpart shall be paid--..."

26 U.S.C. §5054. Determination and collection of tax on beer

"(a) Time of determination
(1) Beer produced in the United States; certain imported beer....shall be paid by the brewer thereof in accordance with section 5061."

26 U.S.C. §5703. Liability for tax and method of payment.

(a) Liability for tax

(1) Original liability....shall be liable for ...

(2) Transfer of liability....shall become liable..."

The ONLY type of STATUTORY liability expressly mentioned in Subtitle A is that of the "withholding agent":

TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 3 > §1461
§ 1461. Definitions

Every person required to deduct and withhold any tax under this chapter is hereby made liable for such tax and is hereby indemnified against the claims and demands of any person for the amount of any payments made in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

(Aug. 16, 1954, ch. 736, 68A Stat. 360; Pub. L. 89-809, title I, § 103(i), Nov. 13, 1966, 80 Stat. 1554.)

1 That's right: The personal income taxes mentioned in the following subtitles NOWHERE use the word "liable" or "liability"
2 for anyone BUT withholding agents, so:

- 3 1. They are the only REAL "taxpayers".
- 4 2. The people they withhold AGAINST are not statutory "taxpayers."

5 Therefore, you who are not a statutory "withholding agent" can't be required to pay, which is why they also don't say "liable"
6 or "shall pay" anywhere in the statutes for these taxes on the parties who are not "withholding agents" anywhere in:

7 Subtitle A: Income Taxes
8 Subtitle C: Employment Taxes

9 A favorite trick of the IRS when the above fact is pointed out is to cite 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1 and show that the implementing 10 regulation for the statute uses the phrase "are liable to":

11 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1

12 (b) Citizens or residents of the United States liable to tax.

13 In general, all citizens of the United States, wherever resident, and all resident alien individuals are
14 liable to the income taxes imposed by the Code whether the income is received from sources within or 15 without the United States. Pursuant to section 876, a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of 16 Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year is, except as provided in section 933 with respect to Puerto Rican
17 source income, subject to taxation in the same manner as a resident alien individual. As to tax on nonresident
18 alien individuals, see sections 871 and 877.

19 Did you get that? 26 U.S.C. §1 didn't use the word "liable" but the implementing regulation did, which is clearly illegal and 20 violates the concept described in the Spreckles v. C.I.R. case below, which says:

21 "To the extent that regulations implement the statute, they have the force and effect of law...The regulation
22 implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute..."
23 [Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d, 667]

24 What the Treasury did to try to illegally expand their jurisdiction, in a clear demonstration of conflict of interest and a violation
25 of the Code of Ethics for Government employees we discussed in section 2.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, was 26 create a bogus liability by writing an illegal regulation in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(b) to implement 26 U.S.C. §1 and use the phrase
27 word "liable to" but not "liable FOR" in the regulation!

28 Did you notice that all the PREVIOUS statutory instances of liability said "shall be liable" or "liable for" and NEVER used
29 "liable TO"? Sneaky bastards! Remember that the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to write regulations that interpret
30 and implement the Internal Revenue Code under 26 U.S.C. §7805, but the Secretary has no delegated authority to expand or 31 enlarge or modify the original language or jurisdiction of the Internal Revenue Code section he is implementing and 32 enforcing! Why? Because the Congress is the only legislative body authorized by the Constitution, and no one in the 33 Executive branch, including the Treasury, has any delegated authority to legislate.

34 "When enacting §7206(1) Congress undoubtedly knew that the Secretary of the Treasury is empowered to 35 prescribe all needful rules and regulations for the enforcement of the internal revenue laws, so long as they carry 36 into effect the will of Congress as expressed by the statutes. Such regulations have the force of law. The 37 Secretary, however, does not have the power to make law. Dixon v. United States, supra."
38 [United States v. Levy, 533 F.2d. 969 (1976)]

39 See also U.S. v. Calamaro, 354 U.S. 351 (1957), where the U.S. Supreme Court affirmed that a regulation CANNOT add to
40 or expand the statute. This means they cannot add a liability that does not appear in the statute, and if they add a liability that 41 is not in the statute, then it can only apply to people WITHIN the agency the regulation was written for. The Secretary can 42 only impose duties not in the statutes upon his own workers. Do you work for the IRS?

43 Therefore, 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1(b) is a regulation that is null and void and fraudulent on its face insofar as its imposition of an
44 otherwise nonexistent "liability" for the payment of Subtitle A income taxes. If you were to investigate this matter further,
45 I'd be willing to bet money that the Secretary of Treasury who approved this regulation was a lame duck and knew he was on the way out of office and probably his last official act was to approve this regulation. That was the kind of scam that got the Sixteenth Amendment passed by the lame duck Secretary of State Philander Knox, who perjured himself by saying that the Sixteenth Amendment had been properly ratified by the required ¾ of the states.

The government deception gets worst, folks. Congress legislates for two separate legal and political and territorial jurisdictions:

1. The states of the Union under the requirements of the Constitution of the United States. In this capacity, it is called the “federal/general government”.
2. The U.S. government, the District of Columbia, U.S. possessions and territories, and enclaves within the states. In this capacity, it is called the “national government”. The authority for this jurisdiction derives from Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the United States Constitution. All laws passed essentially amount to municipal laws for federal property, and in that capacity, Congress is not restrained by either the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. We call the collection of all federal territories, possessions, and enclaves within the states “the federal zone” throughout this document.

The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed the above when it said:

“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?”
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265; 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

James Madison, one of our founding fathers, described these two separate jurisdictions in Federalist Paper #39, when he said:

First. In order to ascertain the real character of the government, it may be considered in relation to the foundation on which it is to be established; to the sources from which its ordinary powers are to be drawn; to the operation of those powers; to the extent of them; and to the authority by which future changes in the government are to be introduced.

On examining the first relation, it appears, on one hand, that the Constitution is to be founded on the assent and ratification of the people of America, given by deputies elected for the special purpose; but, on the other, that this assent and ratification is to be given by the people, not as individuals composing one entire nation, but as composing the distinct and independent States to which they respectively belong. It is to be the assent and ratification of the several States, derived from the supreme authority in each State, the authority of the people themselves. The act, therefore, establishing the Constitution, will not be a NATIONAL, but a FEDERAL act.

That it will be a federal and not a national act, as these terms are understood by the objectors; the act of the people, as forming so many independent States, not as forming one aggregate nation, is obvious from this single consideration, that it is to result neither from the decision of a MAJORITY of the people of the Union, nor from that of a MAJORITY of the States. It must result from the UNANIMOUS assent of the several States that are parties to it, differing no otherwise from their ordinary assent than in its being expressed, not by the legislative authority, but by that of the people themselves. Were the people regarded in this transaction as forming one nation, the will of the majority of the whole people of the United States would bind the minority, in the same manner as the majority in each State must bind the minority; and the will of the majority must be determined either by a comparison of the individual votes, or by considering the will of the majority of the States as evidence of the will of a majority of the people of the United States. Neither of these rules have been adopted. Each State, in ratifying the Constitution, is considered as a sovereign body, independent of all others, and only to be bound by its own voluntary act. In this relation, then, the new Constitution will, if established, be a FEDERAL, and not a NATIONAL constitution.

The next relation is, to the sources from which the ordinary powers of government are to be derived. The House of Representatives will derive its powers from the people of America; and the people will be represented in the same proportion, and on the same principle, as they are in the legislature of a particular State. So far the government is NATIONAL, not FEDERAL. The Senate, on the other hand, will derive its powers from the States, as political and coequal societies; and these will be represented on the principle of equality in the Senate, as they now are in the existing Congress. So far the government is FEDERAL, not NATIONAL. The executive power will be derived from a very compound source. The immediate election of the President is to be made by the States in their political characters. The votes allotted to them are in a compound ratio, which considers them partly as distinct and coequal societies, partly as unequal members of the same society. The eventual election, again, is to be made by that branch of the legislature which consists of the national representatives; but in this particular act they are to be thrown into the form of individual delegations, from so many distinct and coequal bodies politic. From this aspect of the government it appears to be of a mixed character, presenting at least as many FEDERAL as NATIONAL features.

The difference between a federal and national government, as it relates to the OPERATION OF THE GOVERNMENT, is supposed to consist in this, that in the former the powers operate on the political bodies composing the Confederacy, in their political capacities; in the latter, on the individual citizens composing the nation, in their individual capacities. On trying the Constitution by this criterion, it falls under the NATIONAL, not the FEDERAL character; though perhaps not so completely as has been understood. In several cases, and particularly in the trial of controversies to which States may be parties, they must be viewed and proceeded against in their collective and political capacities only. So far the national countenance of the government on this side seems to be disfigured by a few federal features. But this blemish is perhaps unavoidable in any plan; and the operation of the government on the people, in their individual capacities, in its ordinary and most essential proceedings, may, on the whole, designate it, in this relation, a NATIONAL government.

But if the government be national with regard to the OPERATION of its powers, it changes its aspect again when we contemplate it in relation to the EXTENT of its powers. The idea of a national government involves in it, not only an authority over the individual citizens, but an indefinite supremacy over all persons and things, so far as they are objects of lawful government. Among a people consolidated into one nation, this supremacy is completely vested in the national legislature. Among communities united for particular purposes, it is vested partly in the general and partly in the municipal legislatures. In the former case, all local authorities are subordinate to the supreme; and may be controlled, directed, or abolished by it at pleasure. In the latter, the local or municipal authorities form distinct and independent portions of the supremacy, no more subject, within their respective spheres, to the general authority, than the general authority is subject to them, within its own sphere. In this relation, then, the proposed government cannot be deemed a NATIONAL one; since its jurisdiction extends to certain enumerated objects only, and leaves to the several States a residuary and inviolable sovereignty over all other objects. It is true that in controversies relating to the boundary between the two jurisdictions, the tribunal which is ultimately to decide, is to be established under the general government. But this does not change the principle of the case. The decision is to be impartially made, according to the rules of the Constitution; and all the usual and most effectual precautions are taken to secure this impartiality. Some such tribunal is clearly essential to prevent an appeal to the sword and a dissolution of the compact; and that it ought to be established under the general rather than under the local governments, or, to speak more properly, that it could be safely established under the first alone, is a position not likely to be combated.

If we try the Constitution by its last relation to the authority by which amendments are to be made, we find it neither wholly NATIONAL nor wholly FEDERAL. Were it wholly national, the supreme and ultimate authority would reside in the MAJORITY of the people of the Union; and this authority would be competent at all times, like that of a majority of every national society, to alter or abolish its established government. Were it wholly federal, on the other hand, the concurrence of each State in the Union would be essential to every alteration that would be binding on all. The mode provided by the plan of the convention is not founded on either of these principles. In requiring more than a majority, and principles. In requiring more than a majority, and particularly in computing the proportion by STATES, not by CITIZENS, it departs from the NATIONAL and advances towards the FEDERAL character: in rendering the concurrence of less than the whole number of States sufficient, it loses again the FEDERAL and partakes of the NATIONAL character.

The proposed Constitution, therefore, is, in strictness, neither a national nor a federal Constitution, but a composition of both. In its foundation it is federal, not national; in the sources from which the ordinary powers of the government are drawn, it is partly federal and partly national; in the operation of these powers, it is national, not federal; in the extent of them, again, it is federal, not national; and, finally, in the authoritative mode of introducing amendments, it is neither wholly federal nor wholly national.

PUBLIUS.
[Federalist Paper #39, James Madison]

Based on Madison's comments, a "national government" operates upon and derives its authority from individual citizens whereas a "federal government" operates upon and derives its authority from states. The only place where the central government may operate directly upon the individual through the authority of law is within federal territory. Hence, when courts use the word "national government", they are referring to federal territory only and to no part of any state of the Union. The federal government has no jurisdiction within a state of the Union and therefore cannot operate directly upon the individual there.

"It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S. 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation."
[Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

The rights of life and personal liberty are natural rights of man. 'To secure these rights,' says the Declaration of Independence, 'governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.' The very highest duty of the States, when they entered into the Union under the Constitution, was to protect all persons within their boundaries in the enjoyment of these 'unalienable rights with which they were endowed by their Creator.' Sovereignty, for this purpose, rests alone with the States. It is no more the duty or within the power of the United States to punish for a conspiracy *554 to falsely imprison or murder within a State, than it would be to punish for false imprisonment or murder itself.

The fourteenth amendment prohibits a State from denying to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws; but this provision does not, any more than the one which precedes it, and which we have just considered, add any thing *555 to the rights which one citizen has under the Constitution against another. The equality of the rights of citizens is a principle of republicanism. Every republican government is in duty bound to protect all its citizens in the enjoyment of this principle, if within its power. That duty was originally assumed by the States; and it still remains there. The only obligation resting upon the United States is to see that the States do not deny the right. This the amendment guarantees, but no more. The power of the national government is limited to the enforcement of this guaranty.

These two political/legal jurisdictions, federal territory v. states of the Union, are separate sovereignties, and the Constitution dictates that these two distinct sovereignties MUST remain separate because of the Separation of Powers Doctrine:

"§79. This sovereignty pertains to the people of the United States as national citizens only, and not as citizens of any other government. There cannot be two separate and independent sovereignties within the same limits or jurisdiction; nor can there be two distinct and separate sources of sovereign authority within the same jurisdiction. The right of commanding in the last resort can be possessed only by one body of people inhabiting the same territory; and can be executed only by those intrusted with the execution of such authority."
[Treatise on Government, Joel Tiffany, p. 49, Section 78;

The vast majority of all laws passed by Congress apply to the latter jurisdiction above: the federal zone. The Internal Revenue Code actually describes the revenue collection "scheme" for these two completely separate political and legal jurisdictions and the table below compares the two. In the capacity as the "national government", the I.R.C. in Subtitles A (income tax), B (inheritance tax), and C (employment tax) acts as the equivalent of a state income tax for the municipal government of the federal zone. In the capacity of the "federal government", the I.R.C. in subtitle D acts as an excise tax on imports only. We discussed the difference between the "national government" and the "federal/general government" in section 4.7 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, if you would like to review:

The "plenary" jurisdiction described above means exclusive sovereignty which is not shared by any other sovereignty and which is exercised over territorial lands owned by or ceded to the federal government under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution. Here is a cite that helps confirm what we are saying about the "plenary" word above:

*"In dealing with the meaning and application of an act of Congress enacted in the exercise of its plenary power under the Constitution to tax income and to grant exemptions from that tax in its own territories and possessions ONLY but NOT in the states of the Union, it is the will of Congress which controls, and the expression of its will, in the absence of language evidencing a different purpose, should be interpreted 'so as to give a uniform application to a nation-wide scheme of taxation'. Burnet v. Harmel, 287 U.S. 103, 110, 53 S.Ct. 74, 77. Congress establishes its own criteria and the state law may control in federal territories and possessions only when the federal taxing act by express language or necessary implication makes its operation dependent upon state law. Burnet v. Harmel, supra. See Burk-Waggoner Oil Association v. Hopkins, 269 U.S. 110, 111, 114 S., 46 S.Ct. 48, 49; Weiss v. Wiener, 279 U.S. 333, 49 S.Ct. 337; Morrissey v. Commissioner, 296 U.S. 344, 356, 56 S.Ct. 289, 294. Compare Crooks v. Harrelson, 282 U.S. 55, 59, 51 S.Ct. 49, 50; Poe v. Seaborn, 282 U.S. 101, 109, 110 S., 51 S.Ct. 58; Blair v. Commissioner, 300 U.S. 5, 9, 10 S., 57 S.Ct. 330, 331." Lyeth v. Hoey, [305 U.S. 188, 59 S. Ct 155 \(1938\)]*

Why is such jurisdiction “plenary” or “exclusive”? Because all those who file IRS 1040 returns implicitly consent to be treated as “virtual residents” of federal zone, over which Congress has exclusive legislative jurisdiction under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution!:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. – Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(39) Persons residing outside [the federal] United States

If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing in the District of Columbia for purposes of any provision of this title relating to -

(A) jurisdiction of courts, or
(B) enforcement of summons.

Because kidnapping is illegal under 18 U.S.C. §1201, people domiciled in states of the Union subject to the provisions above must be volunteers and must explicitly consent to participate in federal taxation by filling out the WRONG tax form, which is the 1040, and signing it under penalty of perjury. The IRS Published Products Catalog for 2003 confirms that those who file IRS Form 1040 do indeed declare themselves to be “citizens or residents of the [federal] United States”, which is untrue for the vast majority of Americans:

If American Nationals domiciled in the states of the Union would learn to file with their correct status using:

1. Form 1040NR as “nationals” and “nonresident aliens” if lawfully engaged in a public office.
2. Federal Nonresident Nonstatutory Claim for Return of Funds Unlawfully Paid to the Government, Form #15.001 if NOT engaged in a public office.
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

. . . then most Americans wouldn’t owe anything under the provisions of 26 U.S.C. §871\(a\) ! The U.S. Congress and their IRS henchmen have become “sheep poachers”, where you, a person domiciled in state of the Union and outside of federal legislative jurisdiction, are the “sheep”. They are “legally kidnapping” people away from the Constitutional protections of their domicile within states using deceptive forms so that they volunteer into exclusive federal jurisdiction.

Notice the use of the term “nation-wide” in the Lyeth case above, which we now know means the “national government” in the context of its jurisdiction over federal territories, possessions, and the District of Columbia and which excludes states of the Union. They are just reiterating that federal jurisdiction over the federal zone is “exclusive” and “plenary” and that state law only applies where Congress consents to delegate authority, under the rules of “comity”, to the state relating to taxing matters over federal areas within the exterior limits of a state.

“comity. Courtesy; complaisance; respect; a willingness to grant a privilege, not as a matter of right, but out of deference and good will. Recognition that one sovereignty allows within its territory to the legislative, executive, or judicial act of another sovereignty, having due regard to rights of its own citizens. Nowell v. Nowell, Tex.Civ.App., 408 S.W.2d. 550, 553. In general, principle of “comity” is that courts of one state or jurisdiction will give effect to laws and judicial decisions of another state or jurisdiction, not as a matter of obligation, but out of deference and mutual respect. Brown v. Babbitt Ford, Inc., 117 Ariz. 192, 571 P.2d. 689, 695. See also Full faith and credit clause.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 267]

An example of this kind of “comity” is the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §§110-113, in which 4 U.S.C. §106 delegates authority to federal territories and possessions, but not states of the Union, to tax areas within their boundaries subject to exclusive federal jurisdiction. That jurisdiction then is mentioned in the context of 5 U.S.C. §5517 as applying ONLY to federal “employees”, “public officers”, or instrumentalities.

The above table is confirmed by the Supreme Court in the case of Downes v. Bidwell, which said on the subjects covered by the table:

“Loughborough v. Blake, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass or, as appears by the original record, replevin, brought in the circuit court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. at L. 216, chap. 60. It was insisted that Congress could act in a double capacity: in one as legislating [182 U.S. 244, 260] for the states; in the other as a local legislature for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could not legislate for the District under art. 1, 8, giving to Congress the power 'to lay and collect taxes, imposts, and excises,' which 'shall be uniform throughout the United States,' inasmuch as the District was no part of the United States [described in the Constitution]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that Art. 1, 2, declares that 'representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states . . . according to their respective numbers' furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned, but not to exempt any part of the country from their operation. 'The words used do not mean that direct taxes shall be imposed on states only which are represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to states, shall be apportioned to numbers.' That art. 1, 9, 4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, 'and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective states. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to.' It was further held that the words of the 9th section did not 'in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the 2d section require that it shall be extended to all the states. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be taxed, without imposing the necessity of taxing them.'”

“There could be no doubt as to the correctness of this conclusion, so far, at least, as it applied to the District of Columbia. This District had been a part of the states of Maryland and [182 U.S. 244, 261] Virginia. It had been subject to the Constitution, and was a part of the United States[]. The Constitution had attached to it irrevocably. There are steps which can never be taken backward. The tie that bound the states of Maryland and Virginia to the Constitution could not be dissolved, without at least the consent of the Federal and state governments to a formal separation. The mere cession of the District of Columbia to the Federal government relinquished the authority of the states, but it did not take it out of the United States or from under the aegis of the Constitution. Neither party had ever consented to that construction of the cession. If, before the District was set off, Congress had passed an unconstitutional act affecting its inhabitants, it would have been void. If done after the District was created, it would have been equally void; in other words, Congress could not do indirectly, by carving out the District, what it could not do directly. The District still remained a part of the United States, protected by the Constitution. Indeed, it would have been a fanciful construction to hold that territory which had been once a part of the United States ceased to be such by being ceded directly to the Federal government.”

“Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and is exercised by representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights.”
Downes v. Bidwell, [182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

1 The only thing that can make a “person” a “taxpayer” under Subtitle A of the I.R.C. is being engaged directly or indirectly in
2 a privileged, excise taxable activity called a “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). Those engaged in a
3 “trade or business”:

- 4 1. Effectively become federal “employees” or “public officers” under 26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 and “subcontractors” for 5 the federal government.
- 6 2. Are completely subject to federal jurisdiction without the need for implementing regulations published in the Federal 7 Register, as revealed under 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\), 5 U.S.C. §552\(a\)\(1\), and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\).
- 8 3. Are subject to penalties and the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code while acting as “public officers”. Both 9 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 define “person” as an officer of a corporation, and that corporation is the 10 federal government, which is defined in 28 U.S.C. §3002\(15\)\(A\) as a federal corporation.
- 11 4. Are withholding agents who are liable under 26 U.S.C. §1461, because they are nonresident aliens who must withhold 12 federal kickbacks and send them to the IRS.
- 13 5. Are “transferees” and “fiduciaries” over federal payments under 26 U.S.C. §§6901 and 6903.

14 A picture is worth a thousand words. Below is a diagram showing the condition of those who are employed by private
15 employers and who have consented to participate in the federal tax system by completing a W-4. This diagram shows
16 graphically the relationships established by filling out the W-4 and signing it under penalty of perjury.
17

1 Figure 5: Employment arrangement of those involved in a "trade or business"

3 NOTES ON ABOVE DIAGRAM:

1. The I.R.C. Subtitle A income tax is NOT implemented through public law or positive law, but primarily through private law. Private law always supersedes enacted positive law because no court or government can interfere with your right to contract. See Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution for the proof. The W-4 is a contract, and the United States has jurisdiction over its own property and employees under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2, wherever they may reside, including in places where it has no legislative jurisdiction. The W-4 you signed is a private contract that makes you into a federal employee, and neither the state nor the federal government may interfere with the private right to contract. 26 C.F.R. §31.3402\(p\)-1 identifies the W-4 as an “agreement”, which is a contract. It doesn’t say that on the form, because your covetous government doesn’t want you to know you are signing a contract by submitting a W-4.
2. The “tax” is not paid by you, but by your “straw man”, who is a federal “public officer” engaged in a “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). His workplace is the “District of Columbia” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(39\) and 4 U.S.C. §72. That “public officer” you have volunteered to represent is working as a federal “employee” who is part of the United States government, which is defined as a federal corporation in 28 U.S.C. §3002\(15\)\(A\). In that sense, the “tax” is indirect, because you don’t pay it, but your straw man, who is a “public officer”, pays it to your “employer”, the federal government, which is a federal corporation.
3. Because you are a federal “employee” and you work for a federal corporation, then you are acting as an “officer or employee of a federal corporation” and you:
 - 3.1. Are the proper subject of the penalty statutes, as defined under 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\).
 - 3.2. Are the proper subject of the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code found in 26 U.S.C. §7343.
 - 3.3. May have the code enforced against you without implementing regulations as required by 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\) and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\)
4. The “activity” of performing a “trade or business” is only “taxable” when executed in the federal zone, which is what the “United States” is defined as in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d). See 26 U.S.C. §864 and this section for evidence.
5. Those who file form 1040 instead of the proper form 1040NR provide evidence under penalty of perjury that they are statutory “U.S. persons” (see 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\)) with a domicile in the federal zone. The IRS Published Products catalog says the form can only be used for “citizens or residents” of the “United States”, which is defined as the “District of Columbia” in the code.

The “Trade or Business” Scam, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/TradeOrBusinessScam.htm>

If you are a “nonresident alien” or “non-resident non-person” with no earnings originating from the statutory “United States” (federal zone) under 26 U.S.C. §871, then you aren’t even mentioned in the I.R.C. as a subject for any Internal Revenue tax. We showed starting in section 4.12 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book that all Americans domiciled in states of the Union are “non-resident non-persons” if not engaged in a public office or “nonresident aliens” if engaged in a public office, and so the above provision must apply to you, folks. To summarize the findings of this section then, if you are a “nonresident alien” or “non-resident non-person” with no “sources of income” connected with a public office (which is defined as a “trade or business” in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\)) in the District of Columbia and who never signed a W-4, then you:

1. Are not engaged in an excise taxable activity under the I.R.C. subtitle A.
2. Don’t earn any “gross income”
3. Your estate is a “foreign estate” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(31\) not subject to the I.R.C.
4. Have no taxable “sources of income” identified in 26 C.F.R. §1.861-8(f)(1).
5. Are a “nontaxpayer” not subject to the I.R.C. All portions within the I.R.C., IRS publications, and the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) that refer to “taxpayers” don’t refer to you and can safely be disregarded and disobeyed.
6. If any money was withheld from your pay by either a business or a financial institution, then you are due for a refund of all withholding.
7. Cannot file an IRS Form 1040, because EVERYTHING that goes on that form is treated as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. That form is for “aliens”, and not “nonresident aliens”, as we showed in section 5.5.3 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302.

8. Cannot lawfully have any CTR's, or "Currency Transaction Reports", prepared against you by any financial institution for withdrawals in excess of $10,000. Only those "effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States" can be the proper subject of CTR's. See:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/MoneyBanking/Articles/FedTransReptnRequirements.htm>
9. Cannot be the subject of federal jurisdiction in the context of Subtitle A of the I.R.C.
10. Cannot be treated as a federal "employee".
11. Cannot lawfully be penalized or criminally prosecuted by the IRS for failure to volunteer to participate in the federal tax system.

Based on the above table, ALL of the revenues collected by the IRS under the authority of Subtitle A only apply to workers of the employees, instrumentalities, and public officers of the U.S. government located in the federal zone or abroad, those receiving federal payments wherever located, and those domiciled in the federal zone, and they behave as the equivalent of a kickback of a federal payment, and not lawful "taxes". In particular, Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code says that it applies ONLY within the statutory "United States" (federal zone), as is revealed by the definition of "United States" found in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and \(a\)\(10\). The IRS has been involved in criminal extortion because they are:

1. Deliberately and systematically deceiving Americans about the requirements of the I.R.C. using their publications, as shown in section 3.16 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302. They are doing so by not explaining what "United States" means in their publications and by not emphasizing that Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is entirely voluntary and not a "tax", but a donation. They also are trying to make most Americans falsely believe that the two jurisdictions identified above are equivalent, and that all Americans domiciled in states of the Union are "citizens of the United States" or "residents" under federal law, when in fact they are not. Americans who make false statements on their tax returns go to jail for 3 years minimum, but the I.R.S. does it with impunity every day in their publications and the federal judiciary refuses to hold them accountable for this constructive fraud.
2. Applying Subtitles A through C of the Internal Revenue Code unlawfully to persons domiciled in states of the Union over which they have no jurisdiction.
3. Are enforcing I.R.C. Subtitle A against other than federal "employees", "public officers", and instrumentalities. There are no implementing regulations authorizing enforcement against other than federal "employees" as required by 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\), 26 C.F.R. §601.702\(a\)\(2\)\(ii\), and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\).
4. Enforcing that which is not "law" in relation to those who are the subject of enforcement. The Internal Revenue Code is not "law" for those not subject to it such as "nontaxpayers", as shown in section 5.4.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, and therefore may not be enforced against anyone absent explicit, informed, voluntary consent and a promise by the government of no repercussions for not "volunteering". Those who explicitly consent in writing or implicitly consent by their conduct to be subject to it are called "taxpayers", and for them ONLY, I.R.C. Subtitle A is "law".

11.1 Overview⁷²

Those states that do have personal income tax all work the same, as described in this section. All state income tax withholding is dependent on federal withholding. In order to have a state tax “liability”, a person must first have a federal “liability” under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. State tax withholding is authorized under the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §105-111.

All the States that adopted the personal income tax operate under the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §105-111, and specifically §106, which is implemented further within 5 U.S.C. §5517, “Withholding State Income Taxes”. However, the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517 is revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code. Said revelation is obvious since states of the Union do NOT appear in Title 48 of the U.S. Code as “territories and possessions” of the United States. If you would like to learn more about income taxation within federal territories and possessions, we refer you to the following:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.14
<http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

Therefore, our scheme of state income taxation, if enforced or treated as other than entirely voluntary by both the IRS or state revenue agencies in the context of states of the Union, is completely unconstitutional and breaks down the separation of powers between the state and federal governments.

“We start with first principles. The Constitution creates a Federal Government of enumerated powers. See U.S. Const., Art. I, § 8. As James Madison wrote, “[t]he powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and indefinite.” The Federalist No. 45, pp. 292-293 (C. Rossiter ed. 1961). This constitutionally mandated division of authority “was adopted by the Framers to ensure protection of our fundamental liberties.” Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452, 458 \(1991\) (internal quotation marks omitted). “Just as the separation and independence of the coordinate branches of the Federal Government serves to prevent the accumulation of excessive power in any one branch, a healthy balance of power between the States and the Federal Government will reduce the risk of tyranny and abuse from either front.” Ibid. “
U.S. v. Lopez, [514 U.S. 549 (1995)]

In short, based on the way state revenue codes are illegally enforced in those states that have income taxes on natural persons, this illegal enforcement activity:

1. Amounts to a conspiracy against the property rights to enslave and oppress people in states of the Union by making them into involuntary federal and state serfs. This violates:
 - 1.1. The Thirteenth Amendment prohibition against involuntary servitude
 - 1.2. The Fifth Amendment requirement that all takings of property must be compensated or involve due process of law.
 - 1.3. Federal law found in 42 U.S.C. §1994.
2. Is an unconstitutional enlargement of federal power inside states of the Union. Under our Constitution, states cannot consent to the enlargement of federal powers beyond those specifically enumerated in the Constitution. They cannot therefore permit or acquiesce to IRS enforcement against citizens or residents domiciled within their borders. The states were established to PROTECT the rights of their citizens and to SERVE them, not to acquiesce to federal plunder of their property and sharing of the spoils of this plunder by participating in such a conspiracy against their individual rights:

New York v. United States, [505 U.S. 142; 112 S.Ct. 2408; 120 L.Ed.2d. 120 (1992)]

“It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S. 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation. The question in respect of the inherent power of that government as to the external affairs of the Nation and in the field of international law is a wholly different matter which it is not necessary now to consider. See, however, Jones v. United States, 137

U.S. 202, 212, 11 S.Ct. 80; Nishimur Ekiu v. United States, 142 U.S. 651, 659, 12 S.Ct. 336; Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698, 705 et seq., 13 S.Ct. 1016; Burnet v. Brooks, 288 U.S. 378, 396, 53 S.Ct. 457, 86 A.L.R. 747.”
[Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238 (1936)]

State income taxation operates as follows:

1. Since the State income tax Forms require the federal amounts to be entered for proper calculation of State tax, federal income tax liability is a prerequisite to State income tax liability. Therefore, should someone have no federal liability, but wish to volunteer information on some tax Form, then, the proper amount would be “zero”.
2. State income taxes are based on “residence” within the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517, and revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” which are listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code.
3. The federal income tax is imposed upon STATUTORY “U.S. persons” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) who are required by 26 U.S.C. §6109 to provide “identifying numbers” on tax returns. Since the State income tax is imposed in the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517 and revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code, people born or living and working in states of the Union can never be classified as STATUTORY “U.S. persons” nor can be required to provide identifying numbers. See Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 9.4.2 for further details on this subject.
4. States assume the same “situs” for income taxation as the federal government.

“Situs. Lat. Situation; location; e.g. location or place of crime or business. Site; position; the place where a thing is considered, for example, with reference to jurisdiction over it, or the right or power to tax it. It imports fixedness of location. Situs of property, for tax purposes, is determined by whether the taxing state has sufficient contact with the personal property sought to be taxed to justify in fairness the particular tax. Town of Cady v. Alexander Const. Co., 12 Wis.2d. 236, 107 N.W.2d. 267, 270.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1387]

Accordingly, a state of the Union and federal legislative jurisdictions cannot simultaneously place a person or a taxable activity in two mutually exclusive places. Therefore, the geographical location where a person or an activity may be subject to income taxes for the State mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517 and revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” which are listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code, can only be one and the same with a federal government situs. Any attempt to enforce territorial obligations upon a state citizen constitutes criminal identity theft, as documented in Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046.

5. Financial conflicts of interest are a crime under 18 U.S.C. §208. Most state income taxes only “impose” the tax on “nonresidents” of the Constitutional State who are “residents” of the Statutory State (federal enclaves/territories). For distinctions between Constitutional State and Statutory State, see Form #05.006, Section 4. There is no way to justly or morally or ethically impose a state income tax upon “residents” within CONSTITUTIONAL states because this would create a conflict of interest within the judicial system. Judges would be ruling on a case in which their benefits would be derived directly from the taxes that pay their salary, and what judge in his right mind would ever allow a ruling that could potentially reduce his pay and benefits? Likewise, what jury would ever rule against a tax that reduced their government benefits or entitlements? However, if the taxes are only paid by nonresidents or on foreign commerce, then there is no possibility of any kind of conflict of interest, which ultimately assures justice and prevents any corruption within the legal system. See the following link for many more reasons why it is completely impractical to impose taxes on “residents”:
 - 5.1. Why Federal Courts Can’t Properly Address These Questions, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Discovery/Deposition/WhyCourtsCantAddressQuestions.htm>
 - 5.2. How Scoundrels Corrupted Our Republican Form of Government, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/HowScCorruptOurRepubGovt.htm>
6. The federal authority for “State” taxation within federal enclaves is found within the Buck Act in 4 U.S.C. §106.
7. Since the federal government imposes “income taxes” only on people who are domiciled inside the federal zone, then state income tax is imposed upon these “persons” under the alleged authority of the “Buck Act”, which is codified in 4 U.S.C. §105 through 111.
8. The Buck Act does NOT give “states” of the Union authority to tax on federal land within their borders, because the term “State” defined within it only includes Territories of the United States. See 4 U.S.C. §110(d) . Allowing States of the Union to tax within federal enclaves breaks down the separation of powers between our state and federal government, and violates Article 4, Section 4 of our Constitution, which requires a “republican form of government”, which is based on separation of powers. See section 5.1.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for further details on this subject.

9. Most Americans file 1040 forms with the IRS, even though it is shown throughout Chapter 5 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book that this is the wrong form to use in most cases, because only “residents” (who are “aliens” domiciled in the District of Columbia) and statutory “U.S. citizens” domiciled abroad and coming under an income tax treaty pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 can use the form. In particular, see sections 5.5.2 and 5.5.3 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book for further details.
10. States of the Union who impose income taxes must assume that you are a “nonresident” of the Constitutional State and a “resident” of the Statutory State if you file an IRS Form 1040. This is because federal enclaves within states are not part of the Constitutional “state”, and so people who are domiciled in these enclaves are “nonresidents” for Constitutional State income tax purposes.
11. People domiciled in states of the Union who commute daily to work temporarily in federal enclaves are classified as “immigrants” and come under the protection of 8 U.S.C. §1324b\(a\)\(3\)\(A\).
12. State income tax codes, like Subtitle A of the federal tax code, do not have a liability statute creating a legal duty to pay “income taxes”. We haven’t identified a single state of the Union that actually has a liability statute in their income tax code relating to “personal income taxes”. See section 5.6.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for further details on this aspect of the federal tax scheme.

In order to fully comprehend the relationship between federal and state income taxes, we must always be aware that federal and state territorial taxing jurisdictions are mutually exclusive and cannot overlap. This is a product of the “separation of powers doctrine” and fundamental to the organization of or “republican form of government” mandated by Article 4, Section 4 of the U.S. Constitution. The reason why these two jurisdictions must be mutually exclusive is that only ONE government can be sovereign over a geographical region at any one given time.

We will now finish this section with a quote of the federal regulation that authorizes state withholding. Note that the regulation authorizes withholding only on federal “employees”, as we show throughout this document. This is a result of the fact that nearly all the “taxpayers” under Subtitle A of the I.R.C. are those holding “public office” in the federal corporation called the United States (see 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A)) and coming under the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939.

CHAPTER II--FISCAL SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

PART 215--WITHHOLDING OF DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, STATE, CITY AND COUNTY

INCOME OR EMPLOYMENT TAXES BY FEDERAL AGENCIES--Table of Contents

Subpart C--Standard Agreement

Sec. 215.11 Agency withholding procedures.

(a) State income tax shall be withheld only on the entire compensation of Federal employees and members of the Armed Forces. Nonresident employees, who under the State income tax law are required to allocate at least three-fourths of their compensation to the State, shall be subject to withholding on their entire compensation. Nonresident [alien] employees, who under the State income tax law are required to allocate less than three-fourths of their compensation to the State, may elect to:

- (1) Have State income tax withheld on their entire compensation, or
(2) Have no income tax withheld on their compensation.

(b) In calculating the amount to be withheld from an employee's or a member's compensation, each agency shall use the method prescribed by the State income tax statute or city or county ordinance or a method which produces approximately the tax required to be withheld:

(1) By the State income tax statute from the compensation of each employee or member of the Armed Forces subject to such income tax, or

(2) By the city or county ordinance from the compensation of each employee subject to such income or employment tax.

(c) Where it is the practice of a Federal agency under Federal tax withholding procedure to make returns and payment of the tax on an estimated basis, subject to later adjustment based on audited figures, this practice may be applied with respect to the State, city or county income or employment tax where the agency has made appropriate arrangements with the State, city or county income tax authorities.

(d) Copies of Federal Form W-2, “Wage and Tax Statement”, may be used for reporting withheld taxes to the State, city or county.

(e) Withholding shall not be required on wages earned but unpaid at the date of an employee's or member's death.

(f) Withholding of District of Columbia income tax shall not apply to pay of employees who are not residents of the District of Columbia as defined in 47 District of Columbia Code, chapter 15, subchapter II.

Notice that the above says that nonresident aliens, which includes the average American born in and domiciled within a state of the Union, may elect to “Have no income tax withheld on their compensation”. They don’t say how that is accomplished, but the only proper way to do so for those who are not federal “employees” without committing perjury under penalty of perjury is to submit a form W-8BEN, and NOT a form W-4. Also note that the word “compensation” has a very specific legal meaning from the Classification Act of 1923, 42 Stat. 1988, and is defined as the earnings of a person holding public office in the federal government. Look for yourself:

11.2 The TWO states within each state of the Union⁷³

The governments of each state of the Union preside over TWO mutually exclusive and separate jurisdictions, which we summarize below:

1. Constitutional State. Land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union fall within this area.
2. Statutory State. This area consists of federal areas within the exterior limits of a Constitutional State. These areas are federal territory not protected by the Constitution of the United States or the Bill of Rights and are “instrumentalities” of the federal government. Jurisdiction over these areas is shared with the federal government under the auspices of the following legal authorities:
 - 2.1. The Assimilated Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. §13.
 - 2.2. The Rules of Decision Act, 28 U.S.C. §1652. This act prescribes which of the two conflicting laws shall prevail in the case of crimes on federal territory.
 - 2.3. 28 U.S.C. §2679\(c\), which says that any action against an officer or employee of the United States in which the officer or employee is acting outside their authority shall be prosecuted in a state court.
 - 2.4. Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) between the state and the Secretary of the Treasury. See Form #05.031, Section 14.

The situation above in respect to a state is not unlike our national government, which has two mutually exclusive jurisdictions:

“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?”
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265; 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

“Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to ‘guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government’ (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the definition of Webster, ‘a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and is exercised by representatives elected by them,’ Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights.”
[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

The hard part is figuring out which of the two jurisdictions that any particular state statute applies to. What makes this process difficult are the following complicating factors:

⁷³ Source: State Income Taxes, Form #05.031, Section 8; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1. There is no constitutional requirement that the laws passed by the state legislature must clearly state which of the two jurisdiction they apply to. This was also confirmed in the following exhibit, which is a letter from a United States Congressman:

Congressman Zoe Lofgren Letter, Exhibit #04.003
<http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm>

2. Crafty state legislators deliberately obfuscate the statutes they write so as to encourage those within the Republic to obey laws that in fact only apply to the Statutory State so as to unlawfully increase their revenues, power, and control.
3. Courts of INjustice and the judges who serve in them refuse to acknowledge that most statutes passed by the legislature can only lawfully affect federal areas and persons who consent to be treated as though they inhabit these areas.

Within federal law, the Constitutional State is referred to as a “foreign state”. To wit:

"Foreign states. Nations which are outside the United States. Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister state."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 648]

"Generally, the states of the Union sustain toward each other the relationship of independent sovereigns or independent foreign states, except in so far as the United States is paramount as the dominating government, and in so far as the states are bound to recognize the fraternity among sovereignties established by the federal Constitution, as by the provision requiring each state to give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of the other states..."
[81A Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), United States, §29 (2003)]

"The United States Government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state." [N.Y. v. re Merriam, 36 N.E. 505, 141 N.Y. 479; affirmed 16 S.Ct. 1073; 41 L.Ed. 287] [underlines added]
[19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §884 (2003)]

Even the U.S. Supreme Court admits that the Constitutional State are legislatively “foreign states” with respect to the federal government:

We have held, upon full consideration, that although under existing statutes a circuit court of the United States has jurisdiction upon habeas corpus to discharge from the custody of state officers or tribunals one restrained of his liberty in violation of the Constitution of the United States, it is not required in every case to exercise its power to that end immediately upon application being made for the writ. 'We cannot suppose,' this court has said, 'that Congress intended to compel those courts, by such means, to draw to themselves, in the first instance, the control of all criminal prosecutions commenced in state courts exercising authority within the same territorial limits, where the accused claims that he is held in custody in violation of the Constitution of the United States. The injunction to hear the case summarily, and thereupon 'to dispose of the party as law and justice require' [R. S. 761], does not deprive the court of discretion as to the time and mode in which it will exert the powers conferred upon it. That discretion should be exercised in the light of the relations existing, under our system of government, between the judicial tribunals of the Union and of the states, and in recognition of the fact that the public good requires that those relations be not disturbed by unnecessary conflict between courts equally bound to guard and protect rights secured by the Constitution. When the petitioner is in custody by state authority for an act done or omitted to be done in pursuance of a law of the United States, or of an order, process, or decree of a court or judge thereof; or where, being a subject or citizen of a foreign state, and domiciled therein, he is in custody, under like authority, for an act done or omitted under any alleged right, title, authority, privilege, protection, or exemption claimed under the commission, or order, or sanction of any foreign state, or under color thereof, the validity and effect whereof depend upon the law of nations; in such and like cases of urgency, involving the authority and operations of the general government, or the obligations of this country to, or its relations with, foreign nations. [180 U.S. 499, 502] the courts of the United States have frequently interposed by writs of habeas corpus and discharged prisoners who were held in custody under state authority. So, also, when they are in the custody of a state officer, it may be necessary, by use of the writ, to bring them into a court of the United States to testify as witnesses.' There are cases that come within the exceptions to the general rule. In Loney's Case, 134 U.S. 372, 375, sub nom. Thomas v. Loney, 33 L.Ed. 949, 951, 10 Sup.Ct.Rep. 584, 585, it appeared that Loney was held in custody

1 by the state authorities under a charge of perjury committed in giving his deposition as a witness before a notary
2 public in Richmond. Virginia, in the case of a contested election of a member of the House of Representatives of
3 the United States. He was discharged upon a writ of habeas corpus sued out from the circuit court of the United
4 States, this court saying: 'The power of punishing a witness for testifying falsely in a judicial proceeding belongs
5 peculiarly to the government in whose tribunals that proceeding is had. It is essential to the impartial and efficient
6 administration of justice in the tribunals of the nation, that witnesses should be able to testify freely before them,
7 unrestrained by legislation of the state, or by fear of punishment in the state courts. The administration of justice
8 in the national tribunals would be greatly embarrassed and impeded if a witness testifying before a court of the 9 United States, or upon a contested election of a member of Congress, were liable to prosecution and punishment
10 in the courts of the state upon a charge of perjury, preferred by a disappointed suitor or contestant, or instigated
11 by local passion or prejudice.' So, in Ohio v. Thomas, 173 U.S. 276, 284, 285 S., 43 L.Ed. 699, 702, 19
12 Sup.Ct.Rep. 453, 456, which was the case of the arrest of the acting governor [180 U.S. 499, 503] of the 13 Central Branch of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, at Dayton, Ohio, upon a charge of 14 violating a law of that state, the action of the circuit court of the United States discharging him upon habeas
15 corpus, while in custody of the state authorities, was upheld upon the ground that the state court had no
16 jurisdiction in the premises, and because the accused, being a Federal officer, 'may, upon conviction, be
17 imprisoned as a means of enforcing the sentence of a fine, and thus the operations of the Federal government
18 might in the meantime be obstructed.' The exception to the general rule was further illustrated in Boske v.
19 Comingore, 177 U.S. 459, 466, 467 S., 44 L.Ed. 846, 849, 20 Sup.Ct.Rep. 701, 704, in which the applicant for 20 the writ of habeas corpus was discharged by the circuit court of the United States, while held by state officers,
21 this court saying: 'The present case was one of urgency, in that the appellee was an officer in the revenue service
22 of the United States whose presence at his post of duty was important to the public interests, and whose detention 23 in prison by the state authorities might have interfered with the regular and orderly course of the business of the 24 department to which he belonged.'
25 [State of Minnesota v. Brundage, 180 U.S. 499 (1901)]

27 [NOTE: The federal Courts of the United States as used above do not have the authority to interpose in foreign
28 countries, but only in states of the Union for violations of the Constitution, and since they did interpose above,
29 and since they did so in a "foreign state" and described that foreign state as a state of the Union, they are admitting
30 of no federal jurisdiction within any state of the Union]

31 Whenever the Constitutional State accepts a benefit from the federal government, it surrenders its sovereign immunity and 32 acts in the dual capacity of a Statutory State under the following concepts:

- 33 1. States borrowing money are treated as ordinary private creditors. This includes when they borrow money from the 34 federal government.

35 "What, then, is meant by the doctrine that contracts are made with reference to the taxing power resident in the 36 State, and in subordination to it? Is it meant that when a person lends money to a State, or to a municipal division
37 of the State having the power of taxation, there is in the contract a tacit reservation of a right in the debtor to 38 raise contributions out of the money promised to be paid before payment? That cannot be, because if it could, the 39 contract (in the language of Alexander Hamilton) would 'involve two contradictory things: an obligation to do,
40 and a right not to do; an obligation to pay a certain sum, and a right to retain it in the shape of a tax. It is against 41 the rules, both of law and of reason, to admit by implication in the construction of a contract a principle which 42 goes in destruction of it.' The truth is, States and cities, when they borrow money and contract to repay it with 43 interest, are not acting as sovereignties. They come down to the level of ordinary individuals. Their contracts
44 have the same meaning as that of similar contracts between private persons. Hence, instead of there being in the 45 undertaking of a State or city to pay, a reservation of a sovereign right to withhold payment, the contract should 46 be regarded as an assurance that such a right will not be exercised. A promise to pay, with a reserved right to 47 deny or change the effect of the promise, is an absurdity.
48 [Murray v. City of Charleston, 96 U.S. 432 (1877)]

- 49 2. States which engage in ordinary private business or contracts implicitly surrender their sovereign immunity.

50 When a State engages in ordinary commercial ventures, it acts like a private person, outside the area of its 51 "core" responsibilities, and in a way unlikely to prove essential to the fulfillment of a basic governmental
52 obligation. A Congress that decides to regulate those state commercial activities rather than to exempt the State
53 likely believes that an exemption, by treating the State differently from identically situated private persons,
54 would threaten the objectives of a federal regulatory program aimed primarily at private conduct. Compare,
55 e.g., 12 U.S.C. §1841(b) (1994 ed., Supp. III) (exempting state companies from regulations covering federal bank 56 holding companies); 15 U.S.C. §77c(a)(2) (exempting state-issued securities from federal securities laws); and 57 29 U.S.C. §652(5) (exempting States from the definition of "employer[s]" subject to federal occupational safety 58 and health laws), with 11 U.S.C. §106(a) (subjecting States to federal bankruptcy court judgments); 15 U.S.C.
59 §1122(a) (subjecting States to suit for violation of Lanham Act); 17 U.S.C. §511(a) (subjecting States to suit for 60 copyright infringement); 35 U.S.C. §271(h) (subjecting States to suit for patent infringement). And a Congress
61 that includes the State not only within its substantive regulatory rules but also (expressly) within a related system
62 of private remedies likely believes that a remedial exemption would similarly threaten that program. See Florida
63 Prepaid Postsecondary Ed. Expense Bd. v. College Savings Bank, ante, at ___ (Stevens, J., dissenting). It thereby

1 avoids an enforcement gap which, when allied with the pressures of a competitive marketplace, could place the 2 State's regulated private competitors at a significant disadvantage.

3 These considerations make Congress' need to possess the power to condition entry into the market upon a
4 waiver of sovereign immunity (as "necessary and proper" to the exercise of its commerce power) unusually
5 strong, for to deny Congress that power would deny Congress the power effectively to regulate private conduct.
6 Cf. California v. Taylor , 353 U. S. 553, 566 (1957). At the same time they make a State's need to exercise
7 sovereign immunity unusually weak, for the State is unlikely to have to supply what private firms already supply,
8 nor may it fairly demand special treatment, even to protect the public purse, when it does so. Neither can one
9 easily imagine what the Constitution's founders would have thought about the assertion of sovereign immunity in 10 this special context. These considerations, differing in kind or degree from those that would support a general
11 congressional "abrogation" power, indicate that Parden 's holding is sound, irrespective of this Court's decisions
12 in Seminole Tribe of Fla. v. Florida, 517 U.S. 44 (1996), and Alden v. Maine, ante , p. ____.
13 [College Savings Bank v. Florida Prepaid Postsecondary Education Expense, 527 U.S. 666 (1999)]

- 14 3. States which avail themselves of federal benefits or contracts with the federal government forfeit their sovereign
15 immunity. To conclude otherwise would be to sanction what amounts to theft. In addition to the below, see also West
16 Virginia v. United States, 497 U.S. 305, 107 S.Ct. 702 (1987)

18 Tennessee Valley Authority, and hence that the stockholders, suing in the right of the corporation, cannot [297
19 U.S. 323] maintain this suit. The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot 20 be heard to question its constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581;
21 Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407; St. Louis Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260
22 U.S. 469."
23 [Ashwander v. Tennessee Valley Auth., 297 U.S. 288 (1936)]

25 A nondiscriminatory taxing measure that operates to defray the cost of a federal program by recovering a fair
26 approximation of each beneficiary's share of the cost is surely no more offensive to the constitutional scheme
27 than is either a tax on the income earned by state employees or a tax on a State's sale of bottled water. 18 The 28 National Government's interest in being compensated for its expenditures is only too apparent. More
29 significantly perhaps, such revenue measures by their very nature cannot possess the attributes that led Mr.
30 Chief Justice Marshall to proclaim that the power to tax is the power [435 U.S. 444, 461] to destroy. There is 31 no danger that such measures will not be based on benefits conferred or that they will function as regulatory 32 devices unduly burdening essential state activities. It is, of course, the case that a revenue provision that forces a
33 State to pay its own way when performing an essential function will increase the cost of the state activity. But 34 Graves v. New York ex rel. O'Keefe, and its precursors, see 306 U.S., at 483 and the cases cited in n. 3, teach that 35 an economic burden on traditional state functions without more is not a sufficient basis for sustaining a claim of 36 immunity. Indeed, since the Constitution explicitly requires States to bear similar economic burdens when 37 engaged in essential operations, see U.S. Const., Amdts. 5, 14; Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Mahon, 260 U.S. 393
38 (1922) (State must pay just compensation when it "takes" private property for a public purpose); U.S. Const., Art.
39 I, 10, cl. 1; United States Trust Co. v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1 (1977) (even when burdensome, a State often must 40 comply with the obligations of its contracts), it cannot be seriously contended that federal exactions from the 41 States of their fair share of the cost of specific benefits they receive from federal programs offend the 42 constitutional scheme.

43 Our decisions in analogous context support this conclusion. We have repeatedly held that the Federal 44 Government may impose appropriate conditions on the use of federal property or privileges and may require 45 that state instrumentalities comply with conditions that are reasonably related to the federal interest in
46 particular national projects or programs. See, e. g., Ivanhoe Irrigation Dist. v. McCracken, 357 U.S. 275, 294 -
47 296 (1958); Oklahoma v. Civil Service Comm'n, 330 U.S. 127, 142 -144 (1947); United States v. San Francisco,
48 310 U.S. 16 (1940); cf. National League of Cities v. Usery, 426 U.S. 833, 853 (1976); Fry v. United States, 421
49 U.S. 542 (1975). A requirement that States, like all other users, pay a portion of the costs of the benefits they
50 enjoy from federal programs is surely permissible since it is closely related to the [435 U.S. 444, 462] federal 51 interest in recovering costs from those who benefit and since it effects no greater interference with state
52 sovereignty than do the restrictions which this Court has approved.
53 [Massachusetts v. United States, 435 U.S. 444 (1978)]

54 The Founding Fathers recognized the above dual agency in the Federalist Papers:

55 "It is true, that the Confederacy is to possess, and may exercise, the power of collecting internal as well as 56 external taxes throughout the States; but it is probable that this power will not be resorted to, except for 57 supplemental purposes of revenue; that an option will then be given to the States to supply their quotas by 58 previous collections of their own; and that the eventual collection, under the immediate authority of the Union, 59 will generally be made by the officers, and according to the 60 rules, appointed by the several States. Indeed it is extremely probable, that in other instances, particularly in the organization of the judicial power, the officers of the States will be clothed with the correspondent authority of the Union. “

“Should it happen, however, that separate collectors of internal revenue should be appointed under the federal government, the influence of the whole number would not bear a comparison with that of the multitude of State officers in the opposite scale. “

“Within every district to which a federal collector would be allotted, there would not be less than thirty or forty, or even more, officers of different descriptions, and many of them persons of character and weight, whose influence would lie on the side of the State. The powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and indefinite. The former will be exercised principally on external objects, as war, peace, negotiation, and foreign commerce; with which last the power of taxation will, for the most part, be connected. The powers reserved to the several States will extend to all the objects which, in the ordinary course of affairs, concern the lives, liberties, and properties of the people, and the internal order, improvement, and prosperity of the State. The operations of the federal government will be most extensive and important in times of war and danger; those of the State governments, in times of peace and security. As the former periods will probably bear a small proportion to the latter, the State governments will here enjoy another advantage over the federal government. The more adequate, indeed, the federal powers may be rendered to the national defense, the less frequent will be those scenes of danger which might favor their ascendancy over the governments of the particular States.”
[Federalist Paper No 45 (Jan. 1788), James Madison]

The Statutory State is the corporate entity and legal “person” that interfaces with, contracts with, and acts as an agent for the federal government in the context of said contracts. All contracts or what the U.S. Supreme Court calls “compacts” create agency on the part of those who consent toward the other parties to the contract.

“All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made with [private] individuals.”
[Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

We allege that it is THIS “individual” who is a corporation is the only proper subject of the federal income tax and every other type of government legislation. This is the same “individual” defined in the I.R.C. below:

26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1 Requirement for the deduction and withholding of tax on payments to foreign persons.

(c) Definitions

(3) Individual.

(i) Alien individual.

The term alien individual means an individual who is not a citizen or a national of the United States. See Sec. 1.1-1(c).

26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1T Requirement for the deduction and withholding of tax on payments to foreign persons.

(c) Definitions

(3) Individual.

(ii) Nonresident alien individual.

The term nonresident alien individual means persons described in section 7701(b)(1)(B), alien individuals who are treated as nonresident aliens pursuant to § 301.7701\(b\)-7 of this chapter for purposes of computing their U.S. tax liability, or an alien individual who is a resident of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as determined under § 301.7701\(b\)-1\(d\) of this chapter. An alien individual who has made an election under section 6013(g) or \(h\) to be treated as a resident of the United States is nevertheless treated as a nonresident alien individual for purposes of withholding under chapter 3 of the Code and the regulations thereunder.

The Statutory State essentially acts as an agency or instrumentality or “public officer” of the U.S. government, assisting in the management and control over federal areas within their borders in the context of all federal benefit programs which they participate in. In that capacity, they implicitly surrender sovereign immunity and agree to accept the supervision of the federal courts in what amounts to their essentially private business concerns with the federal government. In the context of income taxation, this federal “agency” is created by an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) between the state and the federal government, and it represents a delegation of authority by the federal government to allow the state government to enforce their taxes and laws ONLY within the Statutory State and the federal areas within the exterior limits of the state which comprise it. These federal areas qualify as “possessions” of the United States, and therefore “States” within federal law:

TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 4 > § 110
§ 110. Same; definitions

(d) The term “State” includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

The term “possession” is nowhere defined in the law that we have been able to locate. However, Black’s Law Dictionary indicates that all “rights” or franchises constitute “property”.

“Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude every one else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man’s courtesy.

The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership; corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal; everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one’s property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

[. . .]

Property within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen’s relation to physical thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1216]

If franchises are property and the Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) creates a franchise, then the collections of rights, privileges, and benefits it conveys to the federal government constitutes “property” and therefore a “possession of the United States” from a legal perspective. Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution is what authorizes the federal courts to regulate the exercise of federal franchises by states.

United States Constitution
Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property [including franchises and the benefits they confer] belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

An example of federal territorial possessions include American Samoa and Swain’s Island, which are mentioned in 48 U.S.C. Chapter 13. Over possessions of the United States, federal legislative jurisdiction is “plenary”, meaning exclusive, except to the extent that they surrender any portion of it through legislation implementing what is called “comity”.

“Plenary. Full, entire, complete, absolute, perfect, unqualified. Mashunkashney v. Mashunkashney, 191 Okl. 501, 134 P.2d. 976, 979.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1154]

All such surrenders of sovereignty over federal areas or possessions are called “comity”:

comity. Courtesy; complaisance; respect; a willingness to grant a privilege, not as a matter of right, but out of deference and good will. Recognition that one sovereignty allows within its territory to the legislative, executive, or judicial act of another sovereignty, having due regard to rights of its own citizens. Nowell v. Nowell, Tex.Civ.App., 408 S.W.2d. 550, 553. In general, principle of "comity" is that courts of one state or jurisdiction will give effect to laws and judicial decisions of another state or jurisdiction, not as a matter of obligation, but out of deference and mutual respect. Brown v. Babbitt Ford, Inc., 117 Ariz. 192, 571 P.2d. 689, 695. See also Full faith and credit clause. [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 267]*

An example of comity in action is the Buck Act, in which Congress authorized “States” as defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to tax federal “public officials” working within federal areas.

(d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

This provision was implemented as an outgrowth of the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939. You can read this act below:

<http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/HistoricalActs/PublSalaryTaxAct1939.htm>

To wit:

*TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 4 > § 106
§ 106. Same; income tax*

(a) No person shall be relieved from liability for any income tax levied by any State, or by any duly constituted taxing authority therein, having jurisdiction to levy such a tax, by reason of his residing within a Federal area or receiving income from transactions occurring or services performed in such area; and such State or taxing authority shall have full jurisdiction and power to levy and collect such tax in any Federal area within such State to the same extent and with the same effect as though such area was not a Federal area.

(b) The provisions of subsection (a) shall be applicable only with respect to income or receipts received after December 31, 1940.

The state maintains a “trusteeship” over federal areas within its border and act as the equivalent of a federal “Government corporation”. To wit:

*TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 1 > § 103
§ 103. Government corporation*

For the purpose of this title—

(1) “Government corporation” means a corporation owned or controlled by the Government of the United States; and

The “control” referred to above is the authority delegated by the Buck Act, the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939, the Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.), and the Assimilated Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. §13. To view the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939, see:

The subject of taxation of territories and possessions is discussed in the document below:

<http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

1 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that all federal territories are “corporations”, which implies that possessions can just 2 as readily be thought of the same way:

3 At common law, a "corporation" was an "artificial perso[n] endowed with the legal capacity of perpetual
4 succession" consisting either of a single individual (termed a "corporation sole") or of a collection of several
5 individuals (a "corporation aggregate"). 3 H. Stephen, Commentaries on the Laws of England 166, 168 (1st Am.

11.3 Filing requirements⁷⁴

Let's now examine the practical implications of this document in relation to how or if you would file a state or federal tax return and what status you would need to file under. Here are some facts we know so far about what a "taxpayer" is under both the Internal Revenue Code AND state income taxes:

1. All "individuals" are STATUTORY "aliens" by default. 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).
2. The only time that "individual" also includes STATUTORY "citizens of the United States" is when these citizens are temporarily abroad and come under a tax treaty with the foreign country under 26 U.S.C. §911(d).
3. To be a statutory "taxpayer" or to have any civil status under any act of Congress, you must be domiciled on federal territory. Civil status has domicile as a prerequisite:

§ 29. Status

It may be laid down that the ,statuts- or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction to political status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicil. The older jurists, whose opinions are fully collected by Story 1 and Burge, maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity of status, conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in Udny v. Udny, thus states the doctrine broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicil, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis that the personal rights of the party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of Ross v. Ross, speaking with special reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person, the relation in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take certain rights in that other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicil; and that this status and capacity are to be recognized and upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."
[A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and Company, 1887, p. 89]

4. All "residents" are "aliens" per 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
5. The "citizen" mentioned in 26 U.S.C. §1 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) is someone born on federal territory under 8 U.S.C. §1401 and does not include those born in CONSTITUTIONAL states. We call this type of citizen a STATUTORY "U.S. citizen". See:
 - 5.1. Citizenship Status v. Tax Status, Form #10.011
<http://sedm.org/Forms/10-Emancipation/CitizenshipStatusVTaxStatus/CitizenshipVTaxStatus.htm>
 - 5.2. Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
6. You cease to be a STATUTORY citizen if you change your domicile to abroad or don't consent to receive the "benefits" of being such a citizen.
 - 6.1. The term "citizen", after all, implies CONSENT.

citizen. One who, under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or of a particular state, is a member of the political community, owing allegiance and being entitled to the enjoyment of full civil rights. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. U.S. Const., 14th Amend. See Citizenship.

"Citizens" are members of a political community who, in their associated capacity, have established or submitted themselves to the dominion of a government for the promotion of their general welfare and the protection of their individual as well as collective rights. Herriott v. City of Seattle, 81 Wash.2d 48, 500 P.2d. 101, 109.

The term may include or apply to children of alien parents from in United States, Von Schwerdtner v. Piper, D.C.Md., 23 F.2d 862, 863; U.S. v. Minoru Yasui, D.C.Or., 48 F.Supp. 40, 54; children of American citizens born outside United States, Haaland v. Attorney General of United States, D.C.Md., 42 F.Supp. 13, 22; Indians, United States v. Hester, C.C.A.Okl., 137 F.2d 145, 147; National Banks, American Surety Co. v. Bank of California, C.C.A.Or., 133 F.2d 160, 162; nonresident who has qualified as administratrix of estate of deceased resident, Hunt v. Noll, C.C.A.Tenn., 112 F.2d 288, 289. However, neither the United States nor a state is a citizen for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. Jizemerjian v. Dept of Air Force, 457 F.Supp. 820. On the other hand, municipalities and other local governments are deemed to be citizens. Rieser v. District of Columbia, 563 F.2d 462. A corporation is not a citizen for purposes of privileges and immunities clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. D.D.B. Realty Corp. v. Merrill, 232 F.Supp. 629, 637.

⁷⁴ Source: State Income Taxes, Form #05.031, Section 15; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

Under diversity statute [28 U.S.C. §1332], which mirrors U.S. Const. Article III's diversity clause, a person is a "citizen of a state" if he or she is a citizen of the United States and a domiciliary of a state of the United States. Gibbons v. Udaras na Gaeltachta, D.C.N.Y., 549 F.Supp. 1094, 1116. [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 244]

The term "reside" above has been interpreted to mean DOMICILE, which is VOLUNTARY. Anderson v. Watt, 138 U.S. 694 (1891). Domicile is voluntary, and therefore being a STATUTORY "citizen" is also voluntary.

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 6.2. When you withdraw your consent, you revert to a STATUTORY NATIONAL under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) who is NOT a statutory "citizen" under 8 U.S.C. §1401. That withdrawal of consent is also effected by removing your domicile from federal territory. In that capacity, you can still get a passport, because the ONLY thing you need is ALLEGIANCE.

"No passport shall be granted or issued to or verified for any other persons than those owing allegiance, whether citizens or not, to the United States."
[22 U.S.C. §212]

The only status under Title 8 that carries with it ONLY "allegiance" is that of a "national" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).

7. The federal and state income taxes are indirect excise taxes upon a "trade or business", which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as "the functions of a public office". The tax is upon the OFFICE, not the OFFICER voluntarily and consensually filling said office. This "OFFICE" is called a "person", "citizen", "resident", "taxpayer" in the Internal Revenue Code. See Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008. If you are not in fact and in deed engaged in a "public office", then:

- 7.1. You are a "nontaxpayer" whose estate is a "foreign estate" not subject to the Internal Revenue Code:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
§ 7701. Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(31) Foreign estate or trust

(A) Foreign estate

The term "foreign estate" means an estate the income of which, from sources without the United States which is not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is not includible in gross income under subtitle A.

- 7.2. You are not required to file a federal income tax return, even if you are domiciled on federal territory.
8. You can't have a state income tax liability without a federal liability.
- 8.1. State revenue codes borrow the definitions from the Internal Revenue Code.
- 8.2. Taxes are upon STATUTORY "income", which means earnings in connection with the excise taxable activity called a "trade or business", which is defines as "the functions of a public office" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).
- 8.3. States with income taxes have an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (ACTA) agreement between the national government and themselves. It is ILLEGAL for them to enter such an agreement because it creates a criminal financial conflict of interest towards the protection of PRIVATE rights by citizens of their state. See the previous section.
9. All law is prima facie territorial. The separation of powers doctrine makes states of the Union legislatively foreign with the national government.
- 9.1. State and federal jurisdiction to tax can therefore only exist where the two jurisdictions overlap.
- 9.2. The ONLY place where state and federal jurisdictions overlap is in federal enclaves or federal areas.
10. Based on the above, the only place state and federal income tax can SIMULTANEOUSLY be owed is on those who:
- 10.1. Are domiciled in a federal enclave AND
- 10.2. Are engaged in a public office and therefore in receipt of STATUTORY "income". This STATUTORY "income" is also called excise taxable "trade or business" activity earnings. AND
- 10.3. Are STATUTORY "residents", meaning foreign nationals and "aliens".
- 10.4. Are abroad and interface to the Internal Revenue Code as a STATUTORY alien under a tax treaty with a foreign

- 1 country under 26 U.S.C. §911.
- 2 11. If a human is domiciled or physically present in the nonfederal areas of his or her state and NOT abroad under 26
- 3 U.S.C. §911, then he or she must be considered:
- 4 11.1. A “non-resident non-person” for the purposes of income tax. See Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form
- 5 #05.020.
- 6 11.2. “Not subject” but not STATUTORILY “exempt”. To be exempt you must FIRST be subject. See: Non-Resident
- 7 Non-Person Position, Form #05.020, Section 10.2.5.
- 8 12. The IRS Form 1040 is ONLY for use by “residents”, who are STATUTORY “aliens” with a domicile on federal
- 9 territory. This is confirmed by IRS Document 7130, the IRS Published Products Catalog.
- 10 13. Those fitting any one or more of the following would be committing perjury to file a “resident” tax form such as IRS
- 11 Form 1040;
- 12 13.1. Those who are NOT abroad under 26 U.S.C. §911 while domiciled on federal territory.
- 13 13.2. Those not LAWFULLY engaged in an elected or appointed office within the national government.
- 14 13.3. Those who are not domiciled on federal territory and therefore “nonresident” to the STATUTORY “United
- 15 States” per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).
- 16 The table below summarizes the civil status of people in various conditions. It is particularized for California but works for
- 17 any other state as well.

NOTES:

1. A statutory "U.S. citizen" shown above is one who is a statutory federal citizen born or naturalized in the federal zone and described in 8 U.S.C. §1401. This is NOT the same as a person who is a U.S.* national. The Internal Revenue Code only applies to statutory "U.S. citizens" and is municipal/special law that does not apply to state citizens in the 50 Union states who do not engaged in a "trade or business" and who receive no payments from the federal government or its instrumentalities.
2. You can read the California Revenue and Taxation Code (R&TC) for yourself on the web at <http://www.leginfo.ca.gov/cgi-bin/calawquery?codesection=rtc&codebody=&hits=20>
3. Why don't the state and federal income tax publications reflect the above considerations? We can only assume that it is because they want to simplify these publications because they want to maximize revenues from income taxation.

12. “Taxpayer” v. “Nontaxpayer”: Which one are you?⁷⁵

*"The taxpayer-- that's someone who works for the federal government but doesn't have to take the civil service examination."
[President Ronald W. Reagan]*

The word “taxpayer” is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) and 26 U.S.C. §1313 as someone who is “liable for” and “subject to” the income tax in Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
§ 7701. Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(14) Taxpayer

The term “taxpayer” means any person subject to any internal revenue tax.

The “person” they are referring to above is further characterized as a STATUTORY “citizen of the United States” or STATUTORY “resident of the United States” (alien). The tax is not on STATUTORY “nonresident aliens”, but on their “INCOME”, therefore they cannot lawfully be “taxpayers”:

*TITLE 26--INTERNAL REVENUE
CHAPTER I--INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
PART I _INCOME TAXES--Table of Contents
Sec. 1.1-1 Income tax on individuals.*

(a) General rule. (1) Section 1 of the Code imposes an income tax on the income of every individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States and, to the extent provided by section 871(b) or 877(b), on the income of a nonresident alien individual.

What statutory “U.S. citizens” and “U.S. residents” share in common is a domicile on federal territory that is no part of the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union. Collectively, they are called statutory “U.S. persons” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30). Remember:

“U.S. person=domicile or residence on federal territory and not any state of the Union”

The “United States” they mean in the statutory term “U.S. citizen” is defined as the federal zone in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and nowhere includes any state of the Union because they are sovereign and foreign in respect to the federal government. In that sense, income taxes are a franchise tax associated with the domicile/protection franchise.

“Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”
Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

“domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a “domicile” therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual

1 residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise
2 the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
3 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

4 Those who don't want to pay the tax or be "taxpayers" simply don't partake of the government protection franchise and
5 instead declare themselves as "nonresidents" or "non-resident non-persons" with no "residence" or "permanent address"
6 within the jurisdiction of the taxing authority on every government form they fill out. That is why "non-resident non-persons"
7 not engaged in a public office cannot be "taxpayers" or "persons" or "individuals". For further details, see:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/DomicileBasisForTaxation.htm>

8 The IRS refers to everyone as "taxpayers" because that is what they want everyone to be. Here is the way one of our readers
9 describes how he reacts to being habitually called "taxpayer" by the IRS:

10 I refuse to allow any IRS or State revenue officer to call me or any client a "taxpayer". Just because I may look
11 like one or have the attributes of one does not necessarily make me one. To one IRS lady, and I have no reason
12 to doubt that she fits this category, I use the following example. "Miss you have all of the equipment to be a whore, 13 but that does not make you one by presumption." Until it is proven by a preponderance of evidence I must assume 14 you are a lady and you will be treated as such. Please have the same respect for me, and don't slander my 15 reputation and defame my character by calling me a whore for the government, which is what a "taxpayer" is.
16 [Eugene Pringle]

17 Funny! But guess what? This is not a new idea. We refer you to the Bible book of Revelations, Chapter 17, which describes 18 precisely who this whore or harlot is: Babylon the Great! Check out that chapter, keeping in mind that "Babylon the Great"
19 is symbolic of the city full of all the ignorant and idolatrous people who have unwittingly made themselves into government
20 whores by becoming surety for government debts in the pursuit of taxable government privileges and benefits they didn't 21 need to begin with. The Bible describes these harlots and adulterers below:

22 "Adulterers and adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship [and citizenship] with the world [and the 23 governments/states of the world] is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes 24 himself an enemy of God."
25 [James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

26 "When thou sawest a thief [the IRS] then thou consentedst with him, and hast been partaker with adulterers."
27 [Ps 50:18]

28 "Where do wars and fights [and tyranny and oppression] come from among you? Do they not come from your 29 desires for pleasure [pursuit of government "privileges"] that war in your members?....You ask [from your
30 government and its THIEF the IRS] and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your
31 own pleasures. Adulterers and adulteresses [and HARLOTS]! Do you not know that friendship with the world
32 is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God."
33 [James 4:3-4, Bible, NKJV]

34 These "taxpayer" and citizen government idolaters have made government their new god (neo-god), their friend, and their
35 source of false man-made security. That is what the "Security" means in "Social Security". The bible mentions that there is 36 something "mysterious" about "Babylon the Great Harlot":

37 "And on her forehead a name was written: MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS
38 AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH."
39 [Rev. 17:5, Bible, NKJV]

40 The mystery about this harlot/adulterous woman described in Rev. 17:5 is symbolic of the ignorance and apathy that these 41 people have about the law and their government. For a fascinating read into this subject, we refer you to the free book on the 42 internet below referred to us by one of our readers:

Babylon the Great is Falling, Jack Hook

43 The IRS DOES NOT have the authority conferred by law under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code to bestow the status
44 of "taxpayer" on any natural person who doesn't first volunteer for that "distinctive" title. Below are some facts confirming 45 this:

1. There is no statute making anyone liable for the income tax. Therefore, the only way you can become subject is by volunteering. Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is therefore “private law” and “special law” that only applies to those who individually consent by connecting their earnings to a “trade or business”, which is a “public office” in the United States government. These people are referred to in the Treasury Regulations as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. BEFORE they consent, they are called “nontaxpayers”. AFTER they consent, they are called “taxpayers”.

"To the extent that regulations implement the statute, they have the force and effect of law...The regulation implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute..."
[Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d, 667]

"...liability for taxation must clearly appear[from statute imposing tax]."
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

"While Congress might have the power to place such a personal liability upon trust beneficiaries who did not renounce the trust, yet it would require clear expression of such intent, and it cannot be spelled out from language (as that here) which can be given an entirely natural and useful meaning and application excluding such intent."
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

"A tax is a legal imposition, exclusively of statutory origin (37 Cyc. 724, 725), and, naturally, liability to taxation must be read in statute, or it does not exist."
[Bente v. Bugbee, 137 A. 552, 103 N.J. Law. 608 (1927)]

"...the taxpayer must be liable for the tax. Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability."
[Terry v. Bothke, 713 F.2d. 1405, at 1414 (1983)]

- 1.1. Section 5.6.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, which covers the subject of no liability in excruciating detail:

- 1.2. The following link is the online version of the above section:

<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Articles/NoStatuteLiable.htm>

- 1.3. Sections 5.4.6 through 5.4.6.6 of the Great IRS Hoax prove that the Internal Revenue Code is “private law” and a private contract/agreement. Those who have consented are called “taxpayers” and those who haven’t are called “nontaxpayers”.

2. The federal courts agree that the IRS cannot involuntarily make you a “taxpayer” when they said the following:

"A reasonable construction of the taxing statutes does not include vesting any tax official with absolute power of assessment against individuals not specified in the statutes as a person liable for the tax without an opportunity for judicial review of this status before the appellation of 'taxpayer' is bestowed upon them and their property is seized..."
[Botta v. Scanlon, 288 F.2d. 504, 508 (1961)]

3. IRS has no statutory authority to convert employment withholding taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle C into “income taxes” under I.R.C. Subtitle A. We show in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax that employment withholding taxes deducted under the authority of Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code using a W-4 voluntary withholding agreement and that the IRS classifies them in IRS Document 6209 as “Tax Class 5”, which is “Estate and gift taxes”. Therefore, they are gifts to the U.S. government, not taxes that may not be enforced. We also show in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax that taxes paid under the authority of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code are classified as Tax Class 2, “Individual Income Tax”. We also exhaustively prove with evidence in section 5.6.16 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 that IRS has no statutory or regulatory authority to convert what essentially amounts to a voluntary “gift” paid through withholding to a “tax”. Only you can do that by assessing yourself. That is why the 1040 Form requires that you attach the information returns to it, such as the W-2: So that the gift and the tax are reconciled and so that the accuracy of the W-2, which is unsigned hearsay evidence, is guaranteed by the penalty of perjury signature on the IRS 1040 Form itself.

The consequence of the IRS not having any lawful authority to make anyone into a “taxpayer” is that they cannot do a lawful Substitute For Return (SFR) or penalty assessment under I.R.C. Subtitle A, as you will learn later. This is also confirmed by the following document:

If you have been the victim of an involuntary IRS assessment and do a Freedom of Information Act (F.O.I.A.) request for assessment documents as we have, and you examine all of the documents returned, you will not see even one document signed by any IRS employee that purports to be an assessment and which has your name on it as the only subject of the assessment. The reason they won't sign the assessment document, such as the IRS Form 23C or the IRS RACS 006 Report, under penalty of perjury is that no one is STUPID enough to accept legal liability for violating the Constitution and the rights of those they have done wrongful assessments against. The IRS knows these people are involved in wrongdoing, which is why they assign "pseudo names" (false names) to their employees: To protect them from lawsuits against them for their habitual violation of the law. The documents you will get back from the IRS in response to your FOIA include the following forms, none of which are signed by the IRS employee:

1. IRS Form 886-A: Explanation of Terms
2. IRS Form 1040: Substitute For Return \(SFR\)
3. IRS Form 3198: Special Handling Notice
4. IRS Form 4549: Income Tax Examination Changes
5. IRS Form 4700: Examination Work Papers
6. IRS Form 5344: Examination Closing Record
7. IRS Form 5546: Examination Return Charge-Out
8. IRS Form 5564: Notice of Deficiency Waiver
9. IRS Form 5600: Statutory Notice Worksheet
10. IRS Form 12616: Correspondence Examination History Sheet
11. IRS Form 13496: I.R.C. Section 6020\(b\) Certification

If you want to look at samples of the above forms, see section 6 of the link below, under the column "Examples":

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormsPubs.htm>

We have looked at hundreds of these assessment documents and every one of them is required by 26 U.S.C. §6065 to be signed under penalty of perjury by the IRS employee who prepared them but none are. As a matter of fact, the examination documents prepared by the IRS Examination Branch to do the illegal Substitute for Returns (involuntary assessments) purport to be a "proposal" rather than an involuntary assessment, have no signature of an IRS employee, and the only signature is from the "taxpayer", who must consent to the assessment in order to make it lawful. See, for instance, IRS Forms 4549 and 5564. What they do is procure the consent invisibly using a commercial default process by ignoring your responsive correspondence, and therefore "assume" that you consented. This, ladies and gentlemen, is constructive FRAUD, not justice. It is THEFT! The IRS Form 12616 above is the vehicle by which they show that the "taxpayer" consented to the involuntary assessment, because they can't do ANYTHING without his consent.

Furthermore, 28 U.S.C. §2201 also removes the authority of federal courts to declare the status of "taxpayer" on a sovereign American also!:

United States Code
TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE
PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS
CHAPTER 151 - DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS
Sec. 2201. Creation of remedy

(a) In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction, except with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, a proceeding under section 505 or 1146 of title 11, or in any civil action involving an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding regarding a class or kind of merchandise of a free trade area country (as defined in section 516A(f)(10) of the Tariff Act of 1930), as determined by the administering authority, any court of the United States, upon the filing of an appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought. Any such declaration shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decree and shall be reviewable as such.

(b) For limitations on actions brought with respect to drug patents see section 505 or 512 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

The federal courts themselves agree that they do not have the jurisdiction to bestow the status of “taxpayer” upon someone who is a “nontaxpayer”:

"And by statutory definition the term "taxpayer" includes any person, trust or estate subject to a tax imposed by the revenue act. ...Since the statutory definition of taxpayer is exclusive, the federal [and state] courts do not have the power to create nonstatutory taxpayers for the purpose of applying the provisions of the Revenue Acts..."
[C.I.R. v. Trustees of L. Inv. Ass'n, 100 F.2d. 18 (1939)]

26 U.S.C. §1461 is the only statute within the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A which creates an explicit liability or “legal duty”. That duty is enforceable only against those subject to the I.R.C., who are “taxpayers” with “gross income” above the exemption amount identified in 26 U.S.C. §6012. All amounts reported by third parties on Information Returns, such as the W-2, 1042-S, 1098, and 1099, document receipt of “trade or business” earnings. All “trade or business” earnings, as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\), are classified as “gross income”. Those who have these information returns filed against him or her becomes his or her own “withholding agent”, and must reconcile their account with the federal government annually by filing a tax return. This is a requirement of all those who are engaged in a “public office”, which is a type of business partnership with the federal government. That business relationship is created through the operation of private contract and private law between you, the natural person, and the federal government. The method of consenting to that contract is any one of the following means:

1. Assessing ourselves with a liability shown on a tax return, even if we received no “gross income”.
2. Voluntarily signing a W-4, which is identified in the regulations as an “agreement” to include all earnings in the context of that agreement as “gross income” on a 1040 tax return. See 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1(a) . For a person who is not a “public officer” or engaged in a “public office”, the signing of the W-4 essentially amounts to an agreement to procure “social services” and “social insurance”. You must bribe the Beast with over half of your earnings in order to convince it to take care of you in your old age.
3. Completing, signing, and submitting an IRS Form 1040 or 1040NR and indicating a nonzero amount of “gross income”. Nearly all “gross income” and all information returns is connected with an excise taxable activity called a “trade or business” pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §871\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §6041, which activity then makes you into a “resident”. See older versions of 26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5:
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/CitesByTopic/Resident-26cfr301.7701-5.pdf>
4. Filing information returns on ourself or not rebutting information returns improperly filed against us, such as the W-2, 1042-S, 1098, and 1099. Pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §6041\(a\), all of these federal forms associate all funds documented on them with the taxable activity called a “trade or business”. If you are not a “public officer”, then you can’t lawfully earn “trade or business” income. See the following for details:

5. Allowing Currency Transaction Reports (CTR's), IRS Form 8300, to be filed against us when we withdraw 10,000 or more in cash from a financial institution. The statutes at 31 U.S.C. §5331 and the regulation at 31 C.F.R. §103.30(d)(2) only require these reports to be filed in connection with a “trade or business”, and this “trade or business” is the same “trade or business” referenced in the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) and 26 U.S.C. §162. If you are not a “public officer” or if you do not consent to be treated as one in order to procure “social insurance”, then banks and financial institutions are violating the law to file these forms against you. See:

Demand for Verified Evidence of "Trade or Business" Activity: Currency Transaction Report (CTR), Form #04.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6. Completing and submitting the Social Security Trust document, which is the SSA Form SS-5. This is an agreement that imposes the "duty" or "fiduciary duty" upon the natural person and makes him into a "trustee" and an officer of a federal corporation called the "United States". The definition of "person" for the purposes of the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, codified in 26 U.S.C. §7343, incidentally is EXACTLY the same as the above. Therefore, all tax crimes require that the violator must be acting in a fiduciary capacity as a Trustee of some kind or another, whether it be as an Executor over the estate of a deceased "taxpayer", or over the Social Security Trust maintained for the benefit of a living trustee/employee of the federal corporation called the "United States Government". See the following for details:

Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf>

Unless and until we do any of the above, our proper title is "nontaxpayer". The foundation of American Jurisprudence is the presumption that we are "innocent until proven guilty", which means that we are a "nontaxpayer" until the government proves with court-admissible evidence signed under penalty of perjury that we are a "taxpayer" who is participating in government franchises that are subject to the excise tax upon a "trade or business" which is described in I.R.C. Subtitle A. For cases dealing with the term "nontaxpayer" see: Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 (1922); Rothensis v. Ullman, 110 F.2d. 590(1940); Raffaele v. Granger, 196 F.2d. 620 (1952); Bullock v. Latham, 306 F.2d. 45 (1962); Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972); and South Carolina v. Regan, 465 U.S. 367 (1984).

"The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws..."

"The distinction between persons and things within the scope of the revenue laws and those without is vital."
[Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 (1922)]

Since the above ruling, Congress has added new provisions to the I.R.C. which obtusely mention "nontaxpayers", but not by name, because they don't want people to have a name to describe their proper status. The new provision is found in 26 U.S.C. §7426, and in that provision of the I.R.C., "nontaxpayers" are referred to as "Persons other than taxpayers". So far as we know, this is the ONLY provision within the I.R.C. that provides any remedy or standing to a "nontaxpayer".

The behavior of the IRS confirms the above conclusions. See the following IRS internal memo proving that a return that is signed under penalty of perjury and saying "not liable" or words to that effect is treated as a non-return:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Evidence/Refunds/1998-053IRSMemoZeroRet.pdf>

Look what the above internal top secret IRS memo says (are they trying to hide something?.. cover-up and obstruction of justice!). Pay particular attention to the use of the word "taxpayer" in this excerpt, by the way, which doesn't include most people:

"A taxpayer can also negate the penalties of perjury statement with an addition. In Schmitt v. U.S., 140 B.R. 571 (Bank W.D. Okl. 1992), the taxpayers filed a return with the following statement at the end of the penalties of perjury statement, "SIGNED UNDER DURESS, SEE STATEMENT ATTACHED." In the addition, the taxpayers denied liability for tax on wages. The Service argued that the statement, added to the "return", qualified the penalties of perjury statement, thus making the penalties of perjury statement ineffective and the return a nullity. Id. at 572.

In agreeing with the Service, the court pointed out that the voluntary nature of our tax system requires the Service to rely on a taxpayer's self-assessment and on a taxpayer's assurance that the figures supplied are true to the best of his or her knowledge. Id. Accordingly, the penalties of perjury statement has important significance in our tax system. The statement connects the taxpayer's attestation of tax liability (by the signing of the statement) with the Service's statutory ability to summarily assess the tax.

Similarly, in Sloan v. Comm'r, 53 F.3d. 799 (7th Cir. 1995), cert. denied, 516 U.S. 897 (1995), the taxpayers submitted a return containing the words "Denial & Disclaimer attached as part of this form" above their signatures. In the addition, the taxpayers denied liability for any individual income tax. In determining the effect of the addition on the penalties of perjury statement, the court reasoned that it is a close question whether the addition negates the penalties of perjury statement or not. The addition, according to the court, could be read

1 just to mean that the taxpayers reserve their right to renew their constitutional challenge to the federal income
2 tax law. However, the court concluded that the addition negated the penalties of perjury statement. Id. at 800.

3 In both Schmitt and Sloan the court questioned the purpose of the addition. Both courts found that the addition
4 of qualifying language was intended to deny tax liability. Accordingly, this effect rendered the purported returns
5 invalid.”

6 The reason is clear: If you are a “nontaxpayer” who is “not liable”, then you essentially are outside their jurisdiction and
7 can’t even ask for a refund of the money you paid in. All of your property is consequently classified as a “foreign estate”, as
8 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(31\):

9 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
10 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

11 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
12 thereof—

13 (31) Foreign estate or trust

14 (A) Foreign estate

15 The term “foreign estate” means an estate the income of which, from sources without the United States which is 16 not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is not includible in 17 gross income under subtitle A.

18 If you indeed are a “nontaxpayer” and act like one, the IRS will pretend like you don’t even exist, that is, until in their
19 ignorance and greed they try years later to go after you wrongfully and unlawfully for willful failure to file, notice of 20 deficiency, or some other contrived nonsense to terrorize you into paying and filing again. That’s how they make 21 “nontaxpayers” “volunteer” into becoming “taxpayers”: with terrorism and treason against the rights of sovereign Americans,
22 starting with “mailing threatening, false, and harassing communications” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §876. Lawyer hypocrites!
23 Jesus was right!

24 “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have 25 neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without 26 leaving the others undone.”
27 [Matt. 23:23, Bible, NKJV]

28 Now that we understand the difference between “taxpayer” and a “nontaxpayer”, allow us to make a very critical distinction
29 that is the Achilles Heel of the IRS fraud. Ponder for a moment in your mind the following very insightful question:

30 “Is a person in law always either a ‘taxpayer’ or a ‘nontaxpayer’ as a whole? Can a person simultaneously be 31 BOTH?”

32 Once you understand the answer to this crucial question, you will understand how to get your money back in an IRS refund
33 claim without litigating! The answer, by the way, is YES! Let us now explain why this is the case.

34 We said above that if you are a “nontaxpayer”, the IRS will basically try to completely ignore your refund claim and you are
35 lucky if they even respond. At worst, they will illegally try to penalize you and at best, they will ignore you. We must
36 remember, however, that it is “taxable income” that makes you a “taxpayer”. “Taxable income” is “gross income” minus
37 “deductions”, as described in 26 U.S.C. §63(a). Therefore, we must earn “gross income” as legally defined in order to have 38 “taxable income”. One cannot earn “gross income” unless they fit into one of the following categories:

- 39 1. Domestic taxable activities: Activities within the statutory “United States”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9)
40 and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) as the federal zone
- 41 1.1. Federal “Employees”, Agencies, and “Public Officers” – meaning those who are federal “public officers”, federal 42 “employees”, and elected officials of the national government. This is one reason why 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) lists
43 only federal officers, federal employees, federal instrumentalities, and elected officials as ones who can be served 44 with a levy upon their compensation, which is actually a payment from the federal government.
- 45 1.2. Federal benefit recipients. These people are receiving “social insurance” payments such as Medicare, Social 46 Security, or Unemployment. These benefits are described as “gross income” in 26 U.S.C. §871(a)(3). When they 47 signed up for these programs, they became “trustees”, “employees”, and instrumentalities of the U.S. government.

They are described as “federal personnel” in the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(13). Neither the Constitution nor the Social Security Act authorize these benefits to be offered to anyone domiciled outside of federal territories and possessions. For details on this scam, see:

[Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf](http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf)

- 1.3. Those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the federal government via contract. This includes those who have a valid Taxpayer Identification Number, which constitutes a constructive trust contract with the federal government and use that federal property [number] as per 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d). They are identified as federal trustees and/or federal employees as referenced in 20 C.F.R. “Employee Benefits”. For details on this scam, see:

[Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship

2. Foreign taxable activities: Activities in the states of the Union or abroad.

- 2.1. Domiciliaries of the federal zone abroad and in a foreign country pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 who are engaged in a “trade or business”:

- 2.1.1. Statutory “U.S. citizens” - those are federal statutory creations of Congress and defined specifically at 8 U.S.C. §1401 to be those who were born in a U.S. territory or possession AND who have a legal domicile there.
- 2.1.2. Statutory “Residents” (aliens). These are foreign nationals who have a legal domicile within the District of Columbia or a federal territory or possession. They are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) and 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(2).

If you would like to know more about why the above are the only foreign subjects of taxation, see sections 13 through 13.13.11 later

- 2.2. States of the Union. Neither the IRS nor the Social Security Administration may lawfully operate outside of the federal zone. See:

- 2.2.1. 4 U.S.C. §72 limits all “public offices” to the District of Columbia. It says that the “public offices” that are the subject of the tax upon a “trade or business” must be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere, except as expressly provided by law.
- 2.2.2. 26 U.S.C. §7601 limits IRS enforcement to internal revenue districts. The President is authorized to establish internal revenue districts pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7621, but he delegated that authority to the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to Executive Order 10289. Treasury Order 150-02, signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, says that the only remaining internal revenue district is in the District of Columbia. It eliminated all the other internal revenue districts. That T.O. was eventually repealed but there still remains only ONE internal revenue district in the District of Columbia within which the I.R.S. can collect taxes under 26 U.S.C. §7601.
- 2.2.3. 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) define the term “United States” as the federal zone. Nowhere anyplace else is the tax described in Subtitle A expanded to include anyplace BUT the “United States”.
- 2.2.4. The U.S. Supreme Court said Congress enjoys NO LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION within states of the Union and the Internal Revenue Code is “legislation”.

[Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

“The difficulties arising out of our dual form of government and the opportunities for differing opinions concerning the relative rights of state and national governments are many; but for a very long time this court has steadfastly adhered to the doctrine that the taxing power of Congress does not extend to the states or their political subdivisions. The same basic reasoning which leads to that conclusion, we think, requires like limitation upon the power which springs from the bankruptcy clause. United States v. Butler, supra.”
[Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District No. 1, 298 U.S. 513, 56 S.Ct. 892 (1936)]

Based on options above, most people do not have “gross income” as legally defined, and they are actually deceiving the government if they put anything but zero on their income tax return. Because none of the earnings of the typical person who is employed in the private sector can legally be classified as either “income” or “gross income”, what you put down for “gross income” on your tax return boils down to the question of:

“How much of my receipts do I want to ‘volunteer’ or ‘elect’ or ‘choose’ to call ‘income’ or ‘gross income’ for the purposes of federal taxes?”

How you choose to answer that question then determines the net “donation” (not “tax”, but “donation”) you are making to the federal government based on the tax rate schedule that your fictitious and fabricated “gross income” falls into. As we said in section 5.1.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, the income tax is “voluntary” for people in states of the Union and NOT for “public officers” and we really meant it! Not only that, but the U.S. Supreme Court agrees with us!

Returning to our original question, then, “Can a person be simultaneously BOTH a ‘taxpayer’ and a ‘nontaxpayer’?”, the answer is YES. Why? Because so long as we as biological people aren’t “employees” (synonymous with “public officers” of the U.S. government) any amount we put down for “gross income” on our tax return is a voluntary choice and not REAL “gross income” as legally defined. That amount, and ONLY that amount, which we volunteer to define as “gross income” on our tax return makes us into a “taxpayer”, but only for the specific sources of revenue we voluntarily identified as “gross income”! All other monies that we earned are, by definition and implication, not taxable and not “gross income”, which means that for those “sources” of revenue that are not “gross income”, we are a “nontaxpayer” and NOT a “taxpayer”.

So when someone asks you if you are a “taxpayer”, both the question and your answer must be put in the context of a specific source of income. You should respond by first asking: “for which revenue source?” The answer can seldom be a general “yes” or “no” for ALL RECEIPTS. Consequently, if we put down one cent for “gross income” on our tax return, then ONLY for that source of revenue do we become “taxpayers”. All other sources of revenue for us are, by implication, NOT either “gross income” or “taxable income”, which means that for those revenues and receipts, we are a “nontaxpayer”. Furthermore, once we make the determination of “gross income” and self-assessment on the tax return that only we can do on ourselves, the IRS has NO AUTHORITY to make us into a “taxpayer” or assess us an involuntary liability associated with any receipts other than those that we specifically identify as “gross income”:

*“Our tax system is based on individual self-assessment and voluntary compliance.”
[Mortimer Caplin, Internal Revenue Audit Manual (1975)]*

Remember, the only amount we are responsible for paying is the amount we assess ourselves that appears on a tax return that ONLY WE FILL OUT. The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.1.11.6.8 confirms that the IRS is NOT AUTHORIZED to do a Substitute For Return (SFR) on our behalf for the IRS Form 1040 or any of its derivatives (e.g. 1040X, 1040EZ, 1040NR, etc.). Furthermore, 26 C.F.R. §1.6151-1 confirms that you are only responsible for paying the amount shown on a return (because it says “shall pay”).

(b)(1) Returns on which tax is not shown. If a taxpayer files a return and in accordance with section 6014 and the regulations thereunder, elects not to show the tax on the return, the amount of tax determined to be due shall be paid within 30 days after the date of mailing to the taxpayer a notice stating the amount payable and making demand upon the taxpayer therefor. However, if the notice is mailed to the taxpayer more than 30 days before the due date of the return, payment of the tax shall not be required prior to such due date.

26 U.S.C. §6020(b) does not authorize the IRS to do an assessment on you because only you (as the “sovereign”) can do an assessment on yourself for a voluntary donation program called the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A. The only exception to this rule is under 26 U.S.C. §6014, where you can delegate to the IRS the authority to do a return on your behalf, which we don't recommend. Are you beginning to see through the fog? It took us four years of diligent study to figure this scam out and we are trying to save you some time.

We wish to conclude this section by revealing some very important implications of being a "nontaxpayer" that we need to be very aware of in order to avoid jeopardizing our status and creating a false presumption that we are a "taxpayer", which are summarized below:

1. You cannot quote any section of the Internal Revenue Code that requires you to be a "taxpayer" in order to claim its benefit. For instance, 26 U.S.C. §7433, which purports to allow anyone to file a suit against an IRS agent for wrongful collection actions, says the following:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter B > § 7433
§7433. Civil damages for certain unauthorized collection actions

(a) In general If, in connection with any collection of Federal tax with respect to a taxpayer, any officer or employee of the Internal Revenue Service recklessly or intentionally, or by reason of negligence, disregards any provision of this title, or any regulation promulgated under this title, such taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against the United States in a district court of the United States. Except as provided in section 7432, such civil action shall be the exclusive remedy for recovering damages resulting from such actions.

Note the phrase above "with respect to a taxpayer", which are no accident. If you are a "nontaxpayer", then you have no recourse under the above statute. HOWEVER, you still have recourse under the constitution for deprivation of property without due process of law under the Fifth Amendment. If you filed a lawsuit against an IRS agent, your remedy would then have come from citing the Constitution and possibly also cite the criminal code, which is also positive law, but NOT any part of the I.R.C.

2. You cannot call the Internal Revenue Code "law" or a "statute", but only a "code" or a "title". It can only be "law" if you are a "taxpayer". What makes anything "law" is your consent, according to the Declaration of Independence, and calling the I.R.C. "law" is an admission that you consent to its provisions and are subject to them. See the following for further details on this scam:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. You cannot fill out and submit any form that can only be used by "taxpayers" nor can you sign any form that uses the word "taxpayer" to identify you. We have gone through and created substitute versions of most major IRS Forms to remove such false presumptions from the forms at:

Federal Forms and Publications, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormsPubs.htm>

4. When you get an IRS notice that either calls you a "taxpayer" or uses a "Taxpayer Identification Number" (TIN), then the notice is in error and you have a duty to bring this to the attention of the IRS. Only "taxpayers" can have a TIN.
5. You must include the following language in all your correspondence with the tax authorities in order to emphasize your status as a "nontaxpayer":

I look forward to being corrected promptly in anything you believe is inconsistent with reality found in this correspondence or any of its attachments. If you do not respond, I shall conclude that you believe I am a "nontaxpayer" who is neither subject to nor liable for any internal revenue tax.

"The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws..."

*"The distinction between persons and things within the scope of the revenue laws and those without is vital."
[Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 (1922)]*

I remind you that your own IRS mission statement says that you can only help "taxpayers" to understand their tax responsibilities and therefore, if you won't talk with me, the only thing I can logically conclude is that I must not be a “taxpayer” and instead am a “nontaxpayer” not subject to any provision within the I.R.C. In that case, thank you for confirming that I am person outside your jurisdiction and not “liable” for any internal revenue tax:

6. Any IRS publication addressed to “taxpayers” isn’t meant for you and you cannot rely upon it. For instance, IRS Publication 1 is entitled Your Rights as a Taxpayer. The title of this publication is an oxymoron: Taxpayers don’t have rights! A “nontaxpayer” cannot cite this pamphlet as authority for defending his rights. We called the IRS and asked them if they have an equivalent pamphlet for “nontaxpayers” and they said no. Then we asked whether the rights mentioned in the pamphlet also apply to “nontaxpayers” and they reluctantly said “yes”. Someone wrote an “improved” version of this pamphlet which you may wish to read at:

13. Why “Domicile” and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent⁷⁶

13.1 Introduction

Domicile is a VERY important subject to study carefully. It is the origin of ALL the government’s civil jurisdiction over you and of their ability to impose income tax and all other civil statutory obligations upon otherwise private parties. The U.S. Supreme Court also explains why it is an important subject to study when it held:

Appellant, a citizen and resident of Mississippi, brought the present suit to set aside the assessment of a tax upon so much of his net income for 1929 as arose from the construction by him of public highways in the State of Tennessee. The taxing statute was challenged on the ground that in so far as it imposes a tax on income derived wholly from activities carried on outside the state, it deprived appellant of property without due process of law, and that in exempting corporations, which were his competitors, from a tax on income derived from like activities carried on outside the state, it denied to him the equal protection of the laws.

The obligation of one domiciled within a state to pay taxes there, arises from unilateral action of the state government in the exercise of the most plenary of sovereign powers, that to raise revenue to defray the expenses of government and to distribute its burdens equably among those who enjoy its benefits. Hence, domicile in itself establishes a basis for taxation. Enjoyment of the privileges of residence within the state, and the attendant right to invoke the protection of its laws, are inseparable from the responsibility for sharing the costs of government. See Fidelity & Columbia Trust Co. v. Louisville, 245 U.S. 54, 58; Maguire v. Trefry, 253 U.S. 12, 14, 17; Kirtland v. Hotchkiss, 100 U.S. 491, 498; Shaffer v. Carter, 252 U.S. 37, 50. The Federal Constitution imposes on the states no particular modes of taxation, and apart from the specific grant to the federal government of the exclusive 280*280 power to levy certain limited classes of taxes and to regulate interstate and foreign commerce, it leaves the states unrestricted in their power to tax those domiciled within them, so long as the tax imposed is upon property within the state or on privileges enjoyed there, and is not so palpably arbitrary or unreasonable as to infringe the Fourteenth Amendment. Kirtland v. Hotchkiss, supra.

Taxation at the place of domicile of tangibles located elsewhere has been thought to be beyond the jurisdiction of the state, Union Refrigerator Transit Co. v. Kentucky, 199 U.S. 194; Frick v. Pennsylvania, 268 U.S. 473, 488-489; but considerations applicable to ownership of physical objects located outside the taxing jurisdiction, which ⁷⁶ Source: Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 have led to that conclusion, are obviously inapplicable to the taxation of intangibles at the place of domicile or
2 of privileges which may be enjoyed there. See Foreign Held Bond Case, 15 Wall. 300, 319; Frick v. Pennsylvania,
3 supra, p. 494. And the taxation of both by the state of the domicile has been uniformly upheld. Kirtland v.
4 Hotchkiss, supra; Fidelity & Columbia Trust Co. v. Louisville, supra; Blodgett v. Silberman, 277 U.S. 1; Maguire
5 v. Trefry, supra; compare Farmers Loan & Trust Co. v. Minnesota, 280 U.S. 204; First National Bank v. Maine,
6 284 U.S. 312.

7 The present tax has been defined by the Supreme Court of Mississippi as an excise and not a property tax,
8 Hattiesburg Grocery Co. v. Robertson, 126 Miss. 34; 88 So. 4; Knox v. Gulf, M. & N.R. Co., 138 Miss. 70; 104
9 So. 689, but in passing on its constitutionality we are concerned only with its practical operation, not its definition
10 or the precise form of descriptive words which may be applied to it. See Educational Films Corp. v. Ward, 282
11 U.S. 379, 387; Pacific Co. v. Johnson, 285 U.S. 480; Shaffer v. Carter, supra, pp. 54-55.

12 It is enough, so far as the constitutional power of the state to levy it is concerned, that the tax is imposed 281*281
13 by Mississippi on its own citizens with reference to the receipt and enjoyment of income derived from the conduct
14 of business, regardless of the place where it is carried on. The tax, which is apportioned to the ability of the 15 taxpayer to bear it, is founded upon the protection afforded to the recipient of the income by the state, in his
16 person, in his right to receive the income, and in his enjoyment of it when received. These are rights and privileges
17 incident to his domicile in the state and to them the economic interest realized by the receipt of income or 18 represented by the power to control it, bears a direct legal relationship. It would be anomalous to say that
19 although Mississippi may tax the obligation to pay appellant for his services rendered in Tennessee, see Fidelity
20 & Columbia Trust Co. v. Louisville, supra; Farmers Loan & Trust Co. v. Minnesota, supra, still, it could not tax
21 the receipt of income upon payment of that same obligation. We can find no basis for holding that taxation of the 22 income at the domicile of the recipient is either within the purview of the rule now established that tangibles
23 located outside the state of the owner are not subject to taxation within it, or is in any respect so arbitrary or 24 unreasonable as to place it outside the constitutional power of taxation reserved to the state. Maguire v. Trefry,
25 supra; see Fidelity & Columbia Trust Co. v. Louisville, supra.

26 The Supreme Court of Mississippi found it unnecessary to pass upon the validity of so much of the statute, added
27 by the amendment of 1928, as exempted domestic corporations from the tax on income derived from activities
28 outside the state. It said that if the amendment were valid, appellant could not complain; if invalid, he would still 29 be subject to the tax, since the act which it amended, § 11, c. 132, Laws of 1924, would then remain in full force,
30 and under it individuals and domestic corporations are taxed alike. Knox v. Gulf, M. & N.R. Co., supra.

31 282*282 But the Constitution, which guarantees rights and immunities to the citizen, likewise insures to him the 32 privilege of having those rights and immunities judicially declared and protected when such judicial action is 33 properly invoked. Even though the claimed constitutional protection be denied on non-federal grounds, it is the 34 province of this Court to inquire whether the decision of the state court rests upon a fair or substantial basis. If 35 unsubstantial, constitutional obligations may not be thus avoided. See Ward v. Love County, 253 U.S. 17, 22;
36 Enterprise Irrigation District v. Canal Co., 243 U.S. 157, 164; Fox River Paper Co. v. Railroad Commission, 37 274 U.S. 651, 655. Upon one of the alternative assumptions made by the court, that the amendment is 38 discriminatory, appellant's constitutional rights were infringed when the tax was levied upon him, and state
39 officers acting under the amendment refrained from assessing the like tax upon his corporate competitors. See
40 Iowa-Des Moines National Bank v. Bennett, 284 U.S. 239, 246. If the Constitution exacts a uniform application
41 of this tax on appellant and his competitors, his constitutional rights are denied as well by the refusal of the state
42 court to decide the question, as by an erroneous decision of it, see Greene v. Louisville & Interurban R. Co., 244
43 U.S. 499, 508, 512 et seq.; Smith v. Cahoon, 283 U.S. 553, 564, for in either case the inequality complained of is 44 left undisturbed by the state court whose jurisdiction to remove it was rightly invoked. The burden does not rest
45 on him to test again the validity of the amendment by some procedure to compel his competitors to pay the tax
46 under the earlier statute. Iowa-Des Moines Nat. Bank v. Bennett, supra, p. 247. See Cumberland Coal Co. v.
47 Board of Revision, 284 U.S. 23. We therefore conclude that the purported non-federal ground put forward by the 48 state court for its refusal to decide the constitutional question was unsubstantial and 283*283 illusory, and that
49 the appellant may invoke the jurisdiction of this Court to decide the question.

52 If you want to lawfully avoid civil statutory obligations or income taxation, you therefore MUST study the subject of domicile,
53 and by implication "residence", thoughtfully and carefully. That study is the BEGINNING of the following liberty allowed
54 to all, whether PRIVILEGED civil statutory "taxpayer" or not:

55 "Any one may so arrange his affairs that his taxes shall be as low as possible; he is not bound to choose that
56 pattern which will best pay the Treasury; there is not even a patriotic duty to increase one's taxes. U.S. v. Isham,
57 17 Wall. 496, 506, 21 L. Ed. 728; Bullen v. Wisconsin, 240 U.S. 625, 630, 36 S.Ct. 473, 60 L.Ed. 830."
58 [Helvering v. Gregory, 69 F.2d. 809 (1934)]

59 "The legal right of a taxpayer to decrease the amount of what otherwise would be his taxes, or altogether avoid
60 them, by means which the law permits, cannot be doubted. United States v. Isham, 17 Wall. 496, 506; Superior
61 Oil Co. v. Mississippi, 280 U.S. 390, 395-6; Jones v. Helvering, 63 App. D.C. 204; 71 F.2d. 214, 217."
62 [Gregory v. Helvering, 293 U.S. 465 (1935)]

1 The purpose of establishing government is solely to provide “protection”. Those who wish to be protected by a specific
2 government must expressly consent to be protected by choosing a domicile within the civil jurisdiction of that specific
3 government.

- 4 1. Those who have made such a choice and thereby become “customers” of the protection afforded by government are 5 called by any of the following names under the civil laws of the jurisdiction they have nominated to protect them:
6 1.1. “citizens”, if they were born somewhere within the country which the jurisdiction is a part.
7 1.2. “residents” (aliens) if they were born within the country in which the jurisdiction is a part
8 1.3. “inhabitants”, which encompasses both “citizens”, and “residents” but excludes foreigners
9 1.4. “persons”.
10 1.5. “individuals”.
11 2. Those who have not become “customers” or “protected persons” of a specific government are called by any of the 12 following names within the civil laws of the jurisdiction they have refused to nominate as their protector and may NOT 13 be called by any of the names in item 1 above:
14 2.1. “nonresidents”
15 2.2. “transient foreigners”
16 2.3. “stateless persons”
17 2.4. “in transitu”
18 2.5. “transient”
19 2.6. “sojourner”

20 In law, the process of choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of a specific government is called “animus manendi”. Latin
21 is used to describe the process because judges don’t want you knowing that you can choose NOT to be protected by the civil
22 statutory law. That choice makes you a consenting party to the “civil contract”, “social compact”, and “private law” that
23 attaches to and therefore protects all “inhabitants” and things physically situated on or within that specific territory, venue,
24 and jurisdiction. In a sense then, your consent to a specific jurisdiction by your choice of domicile within that jurisdiction is
25 what creates the statutory “person”, “individual”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” which is the only proper subject of the 26 civil statutory laws enacted by that government. In other words, choosing a domicile within a specific jurisdiction causes an 27 implied waiver of sovereign immunity, because the courts admit that the term “person” does not refer to the “sovereign”:

28 “Since in common usage, the term person does not include the sovereign, statutes not employing the phrase are 29 ordinarily construed to exclude it.”
30 [United States v. Cooper Corporation, 312 U.S. 600 (1941)]

31 “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law for it is the author and source of law;”
32 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

33 “There is no such thing as a power of inherent Sovereignty in the government of the United States. In this country
34 sovereignty resides in the People, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution
35 entrusted to it: All else is withheld.”
36 [Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

37 Those who have become customers of government protection by choosing a domicile within a specific government then owe 38 a duty to pay for the support of the protection they demand. The method of paying for said protection is called “taxes”. In 39 earlier times this kind of sponsorship was called “tribute”.

40 “TRIBUTE. Tribute in the sense of an impost paid by one state to another, as a mark of subjugation, is a common
41 feature of international relationships in the biblical world. The tributary could be either a hostile state or an ally.
42 Like deportation, its purpose was to weaken a hostile state. Deportation aimed at depleting the man-power. The
43 aim of tribute was probably twofold: to impoverish the subjugated state and at the same time to increase the
44 conqueror’s own revenues and to acquire commodities in short supply in his own country. As an instrument of
45 administration it was one of the simplest ever devised: the subjugated country could be made responsible for the
46 payment of a yearly tribute. Its non-arrival would be taken as a sign of rebellion, and an expedition would then
47 be sent to deal with the recalcitrant. This was probably the reason for the attack recorded in Gn. 14.

50 Domicile is an EXTREMELY important subject to learn because it defines and circumscribes:

- 51 1. The boundary between what is legislatively “foreign” and legislatively “domestic” in relation to a specific jurisdiction.
52 Everyone domiciled OUTSIDE a specific jurisdiction is legislatively and statutorily “foreign” in relation to that civil jurisdiction. Note that you can be DOMESTIC from a CONSTITUTIONAL perspective and yet ALSO be FOREIGN from a legislative jurisdiction AT THE SAME TIME. This is true of the relationship of most Americans with the national government.

2. The boundary between what is LEGAL speech and POLITICAL speech. For everyone not domiciled in a specific jurisdiction, the civil law of that jurisdiction is POLITICAL and unenforceable. Since real constitutional courts cannot entertain political questions, then they cannot act in a political capacity against nonresidents.

So let us begin our coverage of this MOST important subject.

13.2 Definition

Domicile is legally defined as follows. We also include the definition of "situs" to help clarify its meaning:

"domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

"Situs. Lat. Situation; location; e.g. location or place of crime or business. Site; position; the place where a thing is considered, for example, with reference to jurisdiction over it, or the right or power to tax it. It imports fixedness of location. Situs of property, for tax purposes, is determined by whether the taxing state has sufficient contact with the personal property sought to be taxed to justify in fairness the particular tax. Town of Cady v. Alexander Const. Co., 12 Wis.2d. 236, 107 N.W.2d. 267, 270."

Generally, personal property has its taxable "situs" in that state where owner of it is domiciled. Smith v. Lummus, 149 Fla. 660, 6 So.2d. 625, 627, 628. Situs of a trust means place of performance of active duties of trustee. Campbell v. Albers, 313 Ill.App. 152, 39 N.E.2d. 672, 676."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1387]

Notice in the definition of "domicile" above the absence of the word "consent" and replacing it with the word "intent" to disguise the true nature of what they are saying. Lawyers and politicians don't want you to know that they need your consent to make you into a "taxpayer" with a "domicile" within their jurisdiction, even though this is in fact the case. More on this later.

An exhaustive academic treatise on the subject of domicile also candidly admits that there is no all encompassing definition for "domicile".

§57. Difficulty of Defining Domicil.--The difficulty, if not impossibility, of arriving at an entirely satisfactory definition of domicile has been frequently commented upon. Lord Alvanley, in Somerville v. Somerville, praised the wisdom of Bynkershoek in not hazarding a definition; and Dr. Lushington, in Maltass v. Maltass, speaking of the various attempts of jurists in this direction, considered himself justified in the remarkable language of Hertius: "Verum in iis definiendis mirum est quam sudant doctores." Lord Chelmsford, speaking, as late as 1863, in the case of Moorhouse v. Lord, says: "The difficulty of getting a satisfactory definition of domicil, which will meet every case, has often been admitted, and every attempt to frame one has hitherto failed."
[Treatise on the Law of Domicil, Little, Brown, and Company, M.W. Jacobs, 1887, pp. 93-98, §57;

The above admission is not surprising, given the fact that the main purpose for inventing the concept of domicile is to infer or imply consent of the subject to the civil law that has never expressly been given in writing and cannot be proven to exist. No government or judge is going to give a definition, because then people would use that definition to prove that they DON'T have a domicile and that would destroy the source of all the government's civil and taxing authority over the people who employ the definition to break the chains that bind them to their pagan tyrant rulers.

The concept of domicile we inherit primarily from the feudal Roman law system in which the king or emperor or lord claimed ownership over all territory entrusted to him or her by divine right. Everyone occupying said territory therefore became a "subject" of the king and owed him "allegiance" as compensation for the "privilege" or franchise associated with use of his property. That allegiance expressed itself as "tribute" paid to the king, which we know of today as "taxes". What were once "subjects" of the king in Great Britain and the Roman Empire are now called "citizens", and we fired the King when the Declaration of Independence declared all men equal. At that point, everyone became equal and the sovereign transitioned from the former King of England to "We the People" as individuals. Consequently, we no longer have a landlord and the government that serves us cannot therefore lawfully charge us "rent" for the use of the land or territory that we occupy if we own it.

"The people of this State, as the successors of its former sovereign, are entitled to all the rights which formerly belonged to the King by his prerogative. Through the medium of their Legislature they may exercise all the powers which previous to the Revolution could have been exercised either by the King alone, or by him in conjunction with his Parliament; subject only to those restrictions which have been imposed by the Constitution of this State or of the U.S."
[Lansing v. Smith, 21 D. 89., 4 Wendel 9 (1829) (New York)]

"In the United States the people are sovereign, and the government cannot sever its relationship to the people by taking away their citizenship."
[Afroyim v. Rusk, 387 U.S. 253 (1967)]

"Strictly speaking, in our republican form of government, the absolute sovereignty of the nation is in the people of the nation; and the residuary sovereignty of each state, not granted to any of its public functionaries, is in the people of the state. 2 Dall. 471"
[Bouvier's Law Dictionary (1870)]

"The sovereignty of a state does not reside in the persons who fill the different departments of its government, but in the People, from whom the government emanated; and they may change it at their discretion. Sovereignty, then in this country, abides with the constituency, and not with the agent; and this remark is true, both in reference to the federal and state government."
[Spooner v. McConnell, 22 F. 939, 943]

"In Europe, the Executive is almost synonymous with the Sovereign power of a State; and, generally, includes legislative and judicial authority. When, therefore, writers speak of the sovereign, it is not necessarily in exclusion of the judiciary; and it will often be found, that when the Executive affords a remedy for any wrong, it is nothing more than by an exercise of its judicial authority. Such is the condition of power in that quarter of the world, where it is too commonly acquired by force, or fraud, or both, and seldom by compact. In America, however, the case is widely different. Our government is founded upon compact. Sovereignty was, and is, in the people. It was entrusted by them, as far as was necessary for the purpose of forming a good government, to the Federal Convention; and the Convention executed their trust, by effectually separating the Legislative, Judicial, and Executive powers; which, in the contemplation of our Constitution, are each a branch of the sovereignty. The well-being of the whole depends upon keeping each department within its limits."
[Glass v. Sloop Betsey, 3 U.S. 6, 3 Dall. 6, 1 L.Ed. 485 (1794)]

13.3 Domicile is a First Amendment choice of political affiliation

Another very important observation is in order at this point, which is that our choice of "domicile" is a strictly political and not legal matter. It is a matter of our political choice and affiliation. The Supreme Court has ruled that no government may dictate our choice of political affiliations, as revealed in the American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia:

"The right to associate or not to associate with others solely on the basis of individual choice, not being absolute, may conflict with a societal interest in requiring one to associate with others, or to prohibit one from associating with others, in order to accomplish what the state deems to be the common good. The Supreme Court, though rarely called upon to examine this aspect of the right to freedom of association, has nevertheless established certain basic rules which will cover many situations involving forced or prohibited associations. Thus, where a sufficiently compelling state interest, outside the political spectrum, can be accomplished only by requiring individuals to associate together for the common good, then such forced association is constitutional. ⁷⁷ But the

1 Supreme Court has made it clear that compelling an individual to become a member of an organization with
2 political aspects, or compelling an individual to become a member of an organization which financially
3 supports, in more than an insignificant way, political personages or goals which the individual does not wish
4 to support, is an infringement of the individual's constitutional right to freedom of association. ⁷⁸ The First
5 Amendment prevents the government, except in the most compelling circumstances, from wielding its power to 6 interfere with its employees' freedom to believe and associate, or to not believe and not associate; it is not merely
7 a tenure provision that protects public employees from actual or constructive discharge. ⁷⁹ Thus, First
8 Amendment principles prohibit a state from compelling any individual to associate with a political party, as a
9 condition of retaining public employment. ⁸⁰ The First Amendment protects nonpolicymaking public employees
10 from discrimination based on their political beliefs or affiliation. ⁸¹ But the First Amendment protects the right
11 of political party members to advocate that a specific person be elected or appointed to a particular office and
12 that a specific person be hired to perform a governmental function. ⁸² In the First Amendment context, the political 13 patronage exception to the First Amendment protection for public employees is to be construed broadly, so as 14 presumptively to encompass positions placed by legislature outside of "merit" civil service. Positions specifically 15 named in relevant federal, state, county, or municipal laws to which discretionary authority with respect to 16 enforcement of that law or carrying out of some other policy of political concern is granted, such as a secretary
17 of state given statutory authority over various state corporation law practices, fall within the political patronage
18 exception to First Amendment protection of public employees. ⁸³ However, a supposed interest in ensuring 19 effective government and efficient government employees, political affiliation or loyalty, or high salaries paid to 20 the employees in question should not be counted as indicative of positions that require a particular party
21 affiliation. ⁸⁴

23 One's choice of "domicile" certainly has far-reaching legal consequences and ramifications, but our choice of domicile is 24 not a legal matter to be decided by any court. No court whether it be a federal or state court, has jurisdiction over strictly 25 political matters. Below is what the U.S. Supreme Court has to say on this very subject:

44 Consequently, no court of law can interfere with your choice of legal domicile, which is a strictly political matter. To do
45 otherwise would constitute compelled association in violation of the First Amendment as well as direct interference in the 46 affairs of a political party, which is YOU. You are your own independent political party and a sovereignty separate and 47 distinct from the federal or state sovereignties. A court of law is certainly not the proper forum, for instance, in which to 48 question or politically ridicule one's choice of domicile, whether it be in front of a jury or a judge.

49 "Petitioners contend that immunity from suit in federal court suffices to preserve the dignity of the States. Private suits in state court to levy upon the treasuries of the States for compensatory damages, attorney's fees, and even punitive damages could create staggering burdens, giving Congress a power and a leverage over the States that is not contemplated by our constitutional design. The potential national power would pose a severe and notorious danger to the States and their resources. "

[Alden v. Maine, 527 U.S. 706 (1999)]

The Supreme Court said that the sovereignty of We The People is every bit as sacred as that of the states, so why should they not merit the same level of sovereign immunity from suit and dignity, especially in their choice of domicile, as that of the States? To wit:

"The rights of individuals and the justice due to them, are as dear and precious as those of states. Indeed the latter are founded upon the former; and the great end and object of them must be to secure and support the rights of individuals, or else vain is government. "
[Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. (2 Dall.) 419, 1 L.Ed. 440 (1793)]

"We The People" certainly cannot be "Sovereign" in any sense of the word if legal process can be maliciously and habitually abused by the government at great financial injury and inconvenience to them in the process of questioning or ridiculing their choice of domicile. In spite of this fact, this very evil happens daily in state and federal courts in the context of tax trials. We cannot restore the sovereignty of the people unless and until this chronic malicious abuse of legal and judicial process is ended immediately.

In recognition of the concepts in this section, the following book on the common law starkly admits that being a CIVIL STATUTORY "PERSON" is optional, and implies MEMBERSHIP in the body politic. If only lawyers now were as honest as those back at the founding of this country!:

CHAPTER II.

CIVIL PERSON.

The state is represented in the person of its chief magistrate, who is at the same time a member of it. Thus the king or president possesses two kinds of rights, a university of rights as a corporation [PUBLIC rights], and individual rights [PRIVATE rights] as a man. As the former become more and more confounded with the latter, so government advances towards some form of monarchy. A bishop also is a sole corporation, but the man holding the office has also his individual rights. The word person neither according to its accurate meaning nor in law is identical with man. A man may possess at the same time different classes of rights. On the other hand, two or more men may form only one legal person, and have one estate, as partners or corporators. Upon this difference of rights between the person and the man, the individual and the partner, corporator, tenant in common, and joint tenant, depends the whole law of these several classes. The same person has perfect power of alienation, of forming contracts, of disposing by last will and testament of his individual estate, but not of the corporate, nor of his own share in it, unless such power be expressed or implied in the contract by which the university of rights and duties is created. The same distinction divides all public from private property, and distinguishes the cases in which the corporation or civil person may sue from those in which the individual alone can be the party ; - although there are instances in which the injury complained of may, in reference to the difference of character, be such as to authorize the suit to be instituted either by the civil person or the individual, or by both. Thus, violence to the person may be punished either as a wrong to the state or to the individual.

The true meaning of the word person is also exemplified in the matter of contracts. It is said, generally, that all persons may contract; but that is not true in the sense that all human beings may contract. Thus, a married woman, an infant, a lunatic, cannot contract. Again, a slave of mature age, sound intellect, with the consent of his master, cannot make a contract binding on himself, although as an agent he may bind his master. These matters are important only as they serve clearly to show that the civil person may have rights distinct from those which he possesses as an individual ; - and that his rights or duties as an individual may consequently become opposed to his rights and duties as a civil person. Thus, a partnership of three persons may own, for example, a moiety of a ship, and one of them the other moiety. In case of a difference between them as to its use, the rights of the one as a partner, and his right as an individual owner of another moiety, are directly opposed. In order, therefore, in any case, to perceive the application of a rule of law, it must be considered whether the person or the individual, or both, is the possessor of the right. For it may be asserted as absolutely true, that the rights of the man are not recognized by that law which is termed the municipal. It recognizes them only as they grow out of, or are consistent with, his character as a civil person. In other words, this is the distinction between the Common Law and the law of nature. Nor is this a fanciful distinction, inasmuch as the rudest tribes, as well as the most civilized nations, have always distinguished between the rights and duties of their members, and of those who were not members of the body politic. Even after the philosophical jurists of antiquity had polished and improved the jurisprudence of aristocratic republican Rome by the philosophy of the Portico, Cicero, statesman, philosopher, and jurisconsult, exclaims with indignation against the confusion of rights of person that the age witnessed: " In urbem nostrum est infusa peregrinitas; nunc vero etiam braccatis et transalpinis nationibus ut nullum veteris leporis vestigium appareat."

The Common Law, as well as the Civil, recognizes as a person an unborn child, when it concerns its interests either as to life or property. " Qui in utero est perinde ac si in rebus humanis esset, custoditur, quotiens de commodis ipsius partus queeritur." And both systems provide the same remedies to protect the child and those with whom its birth may interfere. In case of a limitation to the child of which a woman is now pregnant, if twins should be born, the Common Law gives the estate to the first-born; by our law, they would take moieties. Now, as these rights are acquired before the birth of the child or children, there is a double fiction ; not only in considering the unborn as born, but in distinguishing under the Common Law the eldest from the youngest born. Whilst, therefore, the law regards the unborn as born, yet, to transmit the estate, he must be born as a man, alive and capable of living. The law does not presume the life or death of an individual; when his existence has been established, his death also must be proved. *But the birth of an individual and the commencement of his character as a person do not necessarily concur. Thus, an alien of any age is not a person, in relation to a contract concerning lands, nor in any case is an infant ; so a woman marrying before she attains her legal maturity may die of old age without having become a person. On the other hand, a person may suffer civil death before physical death; totally, where he becomes a monk; partially, as a penalty for the commission of an infamous crime; and perpetually or temporarily, as in case of outlawry. * Where a person has not been heard of for seven years, and under circumstances which contradict the probability of his being alive, a court may consider this sufficient proof of death (Stark. Ev. 4 pl. 457). The presumptions which arise in such cases do not concern the death of the person., but the time of his death, as where several die by one shipwreck or other casualty. On this point the rules are, - 1st. In case of parents and children, that children below the age of puberty died before, and adult children after, their parents. 2d. Persons not being parents and children, and the rights of one being dependent upon the previous death of the other, this precedent condition must be proved. 3d. If a grant is to be defeated by the act of the grantor, as in case of a don anio inter virum et uxorem, or a donatio ,ortis causa, the donor is presumed, in the absence of testimony, to have died first. (See Pothier, Obligations, by Evans, Vol. II. p. 300.)

13.4 You can only have one Domicile and that place and government becomes your main source of CIVIL protection

In this section, we will establish that you can only have a domicile in ONE place at a time and therefore, you can only be a STATUTORY "citizen" of one place at a time. The most instructive case on this point that we have found is the following:

Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of South Carolina reads in pertinent part as follows:

'Section 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor who . . . shall not have been . . . a citizen and resident of this State for five years next preceding the day of election.'

[. . .]

The constitutional requirement that a person be both a citizen and a resident, for a period of time, as a prerequisite to being eligible for the office of Governor had its origin in the Constitution of 1790.⁸⁵ Present Article IV, section 2 of the Constitution was adopted in the general election of 1972 and ratified in 1973. The pertinent language therein parallels the language of prior South Carolina Constitutions and is identical with that of the Constitution of 1895. Thus the meaning and intent of the terms 'citizen' and 'resident' as used in those earlier documents is highly persuasive, if not controlling. When the Constitution of 1895 was drafted it is clear that in judicial concept the terms 'citizen' and 'resident' were not the same. Nor did one necessarily include the other.

Shortly before the ratification of the Constitution of 1895, Justice McIver noted the distinction's existence when, in discussing a statutory requirement that non-resident plaintiffs give security for court costs, he wrote:

The provisions relate only to residence, and not to citizenship which are entirely different things. As was said by Mr. Justice Grier in Parker v. Overman, 18 How. 127 [265 S.C. 375] (137) 15 L.Ed. 318: 'citizenship and residence are not synonymous terms.' Cummings v. Wingo, 31 S.C. 427, 10 S.E. 107, 110 (1889).

The Wingo opinion clearly reflected substantial agreement in the contemporary legal community that 'citizenship' and 'residence' were separate and distinguishable. E.g., Menarde v. Goggan, 121 U.S. 253, 7 S.Ct.

⁸⁵ S.C. Constitution Art. II, sec. 2 (1790) provided:

Sec. 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor unless he * * * Hath resided within this State And been a citizen thereof, ten years * * *

S.C. Constitution Art. III, sec. 3 (1868) provided:

Sec. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor who * * * at the time of such election * * * shall not have been a citizen of the United States and a Citizen and Resident of this State for two years next preceding the day of election. . . .

Citizenship in the first instance is founded upon actual residence and thereafter as long as one retains his residence even in a domiciliary sense, he [265 S.C. 377] remains a citizen. If the framers of the particular constitutional provision meant to require nothing more than a domicile they could have stopped after using the word 'citizen' and omitted the words 'and resident'. 'Resident', in the domiciliary sense is embodied within the term 'citizen'. It follows therefore that if the words 'and resident' be construed as meaning anything other than a requirement of actual physical residence such language would be surplusage. Accordingly the language permits of no other construction because we are not at liberty to treat any portion of the Constitution as surplusage. Admittedly Mr. Ravenel does not meet the requirement of actual residence in this State for the necessary five year period, and without more it conclusively follows that he is not eligible to be elected to the office of Governor.

The purpose of requiring actual residence is, we think, plain. By requiring a durational five year actual residency, the people have reserved to themselves the right to scrutinize the person who seeks to govern them. Obviously the people desired such a period to observe a gubernatorial candidate's conduct, to learn of his habits, his strengths, his weaknesses, his ideals, his abilities, his leanings, and his political philosophy--a period of time in which to consider, not only his words, but his acts and activities in community and public affairs. Correspondingly, they wanted a candidate to actually live in the state for five years immediately preceding the election in order that he might become acquainted with the state's problems, its people, its industries, its finances, its institutions, its agencies, its laws and its Constitution, and become acquainted with other officials with whom he must work if he is to serve effectively.

In Chimento v. Stark, 353 F.Supp. 1211 (N.H.D.1973) affirmed, 414 U.S. 802, 94 S.Ct. 125, 38 L.Ed.2d. 39, a three judge Federal court dealt with a seven year durational residency provision of the New Hampshire Constitution as a condition of eligibility to serve as [265 S.C. 378] governor of that state. The opinion of the court points out that '29 states require five or more years, 10 states require seven or more years and two states require ten years' residency before one may serve as Governor. In commenting upon the purpose of such a requirement the court said 'it ensures that the chief executive officer of New Hampshire is exposed to the problems, needs, and desires of the people whom he is to govern, and it also gives the people of New Hampshire a chance to observe him and gain firsthand knowledge about his habits and character.'

Ravenel relies in part on Article I, section 6 of the State Constitution that provides, inter alia, '(t)emporary absence from the State shall not forfeit a residence once obtained.' Even independent of this constitutional provision, temporary absences normally do not bring about a forfeiture of either citizenship or residency. Under the admitted facts, we do not think that this constitutional provision has any application in this case because we are not convinced that Ravenel's prolonged absence from the State could reasonably be held to be a temporary absence within the purview of the constitutional provision. If his contention in this respect and his further contention as to only domicile being required be held sound, it would follow that a native born citizen could leave the state and as long as he did not establish a domicile elsewhere, stay away for many years, and not return to the state until after his election as Governor, but still be eligible for such office. Such construction of the constitutional provisions would completely defeat the obvious purpose of the durational residency requirement for eligibility. Another elementary rule of construction is that no construction is permissible which will lead to an absurd result.

Even if we assume, as contended by Ravenel, that the word 'resident' as used in the Constitution should be construed to only require that he have a [265 S.C. 379] domicile for the prerequisite period of time he did not meet this test. As we have already held that the Constitution required him to be an actual resident, and not merely a domiciliary, we need deal only briefly with the law as to domicile. In Gasque v. Gasque, 246 S.C. 423, 143 S.E.2d 811 (1965) (a divorce case) our Court had occasion to define the word domicile as follows:

'And '(t)he term 'domicile' means the place where a person has his true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment, to which he has, whenever he is absent, an intention of returning."

Such is a generally accepted definition of the term. It is generally recognized, as we did in Gasque, that intent is a most important element in determining the domicile of any individual. It is also elementary, however, that any expressed intent on the part of a person must be evaluated in the light of his conduct which is either consistent or inconsistent with such expressed intent. Other elementary propositions which require no citation of authority are that a person can have only one domicile at a time; one maintains his prior domicile until he establishes or acquires a new one. A person may have more than one residence, but cannot have more than one domicile or be a citizen of more than one state at the same moment. Despite his sincere intention to return to his native state some day the overwhelming weight of the evidence is to the effect that in November, 1969, the beginning of the crucial period of time, Mr. Ravenel was an actual resident of, domiciled in and a citizen of the State of New York.

[Ravenel v. Dekke, 265 S.C. 364, 218 S.E.2d. 521 (S.C., 1975)]

Based on the above, we make the following conclusions of law:

1. "Citizenship" is founded upon actual residence and thereafter as long as one retains his residence even in a domiciliary sense, he remains a "citizen" in a statutory sense.
2. "citizenship" and "residence" are not interchangeable terms.
3. "residence" or "resident" used in reference to a "citizen" implies PHYSICAL PRESENCE IN ADDITION to DOMICILE.
4. You can only have a domicile in one place at a time.
5. You can only be a "citizen" of one place at a time.
6. If you are a state citizen as described above, you cannot ALSO be a STATUTORY citizen under the laws of Congress.
7. Temporary absences from the place of one's domicile do NOT automatically bring about a change of "citizenship" or "residency". However, if the absence is also accompanied by other acts that indicate a change in domicile, then a loss of citizenship and residency is automatic and implied.

Now do you know why the Bureau of Immigration Services (BIS) was renamed to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service (U.S.C.I.S.) when the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) was created by Congress? They wanted to create the false presumption that EVERYONE in states of the Union is physically present on federal territory whenever they say they have "citizenship" in the U.S. Remember, "citizenship" implies physical presence in the STATUTORY "United States", meaning federal territory. In effect, they wanted to institutionalize GOVERNMENT IDENTITY THEFT by the abuse of "words of art"! See:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Therefore, the reason why government forms will ask you your domicile is explained as follows:

1. A person can only have "allegiance" towards one and only one "sovereign". The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this when it said:

"Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is a territorial tenure. [. . .] The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign...."
[Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795); From the syllabus but not the opinion; SOURCE:
http://www.law.cornell.edu/supct/search/display.html?terms=choice%20or%20conflict%20and%20law&url=/supt/html/historics/USSC_CR_0003_0133_ZS.html]

This is also consistent with the Bible, which says on this subject:

"No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."
[Jesus [God] speaking in Luke 16:13, Bible, NKJV]

2. Choosing a "domicile" in a place is what makes a person a STATUTORY "citizen" or "resident" under the laws of that place. Because you can only have a "domicile" in one place at a time, then you can only be a "citizen" in one place at a time. Becoming a statutory "citizen" is what makes you "subject" to the civil laws in that place and is the origin of your authority and privilege to vote, serve on jury duty, and pay income taxes in that place. For instance, Mexicans temporarily visiting the United States and who have not changed their "domicile" to the United States are called "Mexican Nationals" while they are here. When they return to the place of their domicile, they are called "Mexican citizens".
3. A legal means needs to be established to pay for the protection afforded by the sovereign to whom we claim allegiance. "Taxes" are the legal vehicle by which "protection" is paid for. In earlier times, in fact, "taxes" were called "tribute". When we pay "tribute", we are expressing "allegiance" to our personal "sovereign" by offering it our time and money. Below is a very revealing quote from a famous Bible dictionary which explains the meaning of the word "tribute" in a Biblical context:

1 “TRIBUTE. Tribute in the sense of an impost paid by one state to another, as a mark of subjugation, is a common
2 feature of international relationships in the biblical world. The tributary could be either a hostile state or an ally.
3 Like deportation, its purpose was to weaken a hostile state. Deportation aimed at depleting the man-power. The
4 aim of tribute was probably twofold: to impoverish the subjugated state and at the same time to increase the
5 conqueror's own revenues and to acquire commodities in short supply in his own country. As an instrument of
6 administration it was one of the simplest ever devised: the subjugated country could be made responsible for the
7 payment of a yearly tribute. Its non-arrival would be taken as a sign of rebellion, and an expedition would then
8 be sent to deal with the recalcitrant. This was probably the reason for the attack recorded in Gn. 14.
9 [New Bible Dictionary. Third Edition. Wood, D. R. W., Wood, D. R. W., & Marshall, I. H. 1996, c1982, c1962;
10 InterVarsity Press: Downers Grove]

11 Therefore, establishing a “domicile” or “residence” also establishes a voluntary “tax home” as well. There are several 12 problems with the above worldly approach that conflict with Christianity:

- 13 1. Luke 16:13 above implies that those who demonstrate allegiance become “servants” of those they demonstrate 14 “allegiance” towards. There is a maxim of law to describe this fraud:

15 “Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
16 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.”
17 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
18 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>

- 19 2. God said we can serve only Him, and therefore we cannot have “allegiance” to anything but Him.

20 “Away with you , Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him ONLY [NOT the 21 government or its vain laws!] you shall serve.”
22 [Matt. 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

- 23 3. Serving anyone but God amounts to idolatry in violation of the first four commandments found in the Ten
24 Commandments. Idolatry is the worst of all sins documented in the Bible. In the Old Testament book of Ezekiel, God
25 killed people and destroyed whole cities whose inhabitants committed idolatry.
26 4. The government cannot compel us to consent to anything or to demonstrate “allegiance” toward it. Allegiance must 27 always be completely voluntary.
28 5. It is against the Bible for Christians to claim allegiance to any “man” and by implication a civil ruler. That is why the 29 founding fathers declared us to be a “society of law and not men” as declared by the U.S. Supreme Court in Marbury v.
30 Madison. Christians can ONLY have allegiance to God and His laws, which then gives rise to an INDIRECT obligation
31 to love and therefore protect our “neighbor” as indicated in Matt. 22:36-40.

32 “Thus saith the LORD; Cursed be the man that trusteth in man [we are a man], and maketh flesh his arm, and 33 whose heart departeth from the LORD.”
34 [Jeremiah 17:5, Bible, KJV]

35 “That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.”
36 [1 Corinthians 2:5, Bible, KJV]

37 “It is better to trust in the Lord, than to put confidence in man. It is better to trust in the Lord, than to put 38 confidence in princes [or political rulers, who are but "men"].
39 [Psalms 118:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

40 “Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding [because YOU are a "man"].
41 In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He [RATHER THAN THE winds of political opinion] shall direct your 42 paths. ”
43 [Prov. 3:5, Bible, NKJV]

44 “The Moloch [socialist] state simply represents the supreme effort of man to command [or PREDICT] the future,
45 to predestine the world, and to be as God [which was Lucifer's original sin]. Lesser efforts, divination, spirit-
46 questing, magic, and witchcraft, are equally anathema to God. All represent efforts to have the future on other
47 than God's terms, to have a future apart from and in defiance of God. They are assertions that the world is not
48 of God but of brute factuality, and that man can somehow master the world and the future by going directly to
49 the raw materials thereof. Thus King Saul outwardly conformed to God's law by abolishing all black arts, but,
50 when faced with a crisis, he turned to the witch of Endor (1 Sam. 28). Saul knew where he stood with God: in 51 rebellion and unrepentant. Saul knew moreover the judgment of the law and of the prophet Samuel concerning
52 him (1 Sam. 15:10-35). Samuel alive had declared God's future to Saul. In going to the witch of Endor, Saul
53 attempted to reach Samuel dead, in the faith and hope that Samuel dead was now in touch with and informed

1 concerning a world of brute factuality outside of God which could offer Saul a God-free, law-free future. But
2 the word from the grave only underscored God's law-word (I Sam. 28:15-19): it was the word of judgment."
3 [The Institutes of Biblical Law, Rousas John Rushdoony, 1973, p. 35]

4 Therefore, Christians cannot be expected or required to either accept, consent to, or pay for protection that God says comes
5 ONLY from Him. They cannot allow government to assume an authority equal or superior to God in their lives, including 6 in the area of protection. The only purpose for government is "protection".

7 "Allegiance and protection are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The one is a compensation for the 8 other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance."
9 [Minor v. Happersett, 88 U.S. (21 Wall.) 162, 166-168 (1874)]

10 Any government form that asks us what our "domicile" is indirectly is asking us to whom we have exclusive "allegiance".
11 Any government that passes a law compelling "allegiance" or requiring us to consent to laws or a government or protection
12 that we don't want is:

- 13 1. Implementing slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, 18 U.S.C. §1581, 18 U.S.C. §1583, and 42 U.S.C. 14 §1994.
- 15 2. Making themselves into an organized crime syndicate that earns its revenues from "protection". This is called a 16 "protection racket" and it is a federal crime under 18 U.S.C. §1951.
- 17 3. Violating the antitrust laws at 15 U.S.C. §2, by making themselves into a monopoly that is the only source of "protection".

18 The Bible describes such an organized crime syndicate as "the Beast", which Rev. 19:19 defines as "the kings of the earth".
19 In modern times, this would be our political rulers.

20 13.5 Domicile and taxation

21 Both state and federal income taxation is based almost entirely upon what is called "domicile". Domicile is a choice we make 22 that requires our consent and participation, and because it requires our consent, then becoming a "taxpayer" who owes a tax
23 requires our consent. We will explain this shortly. An examination of the Internal Revenue Code and implementing 24 regulations confirms that there are only two proper legal "persons" who are the subject of the I.R.C., and that these two
25 "persons" have a "domicile" in the "United States". By "United States" as used in this document, we mean the government
26 of the "United States" and not the "United States" in the geographical sense as used in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 27 4 U.S.C. §110(d):

1 Table 19: Taxable persons under I.R.C.

#	Proper legal person? ⁸⁶	Tax status	Place of inhabitation	Declared domicile	Conditions under which subject to I.R.C. (if they volunteer)?	Notes
1	Yes	"citizen"	United States (government/federal territory)	United States (government/federal territory)	Earnings connected with a "trade or business" within the "United States" (government/federal territory) while abroad.	File using IRS Form 2555. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) for imposition of tax. "citizens" living abroad and outside of federal jurisdiction are referred to as "nationals" but not "citizens" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B).
2	Yes	"resident"	United States (government/federal territory)	United States (government/federal territory)	All income earned within the "United States" (government/federal territory) connected with a "trade or business"	See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) for imposition of tax. See 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) for definition of "resident"
3	No	"nonresident alien"	Outside of "United States" (government/federal territory)	Foreign country, including states of the Union	Income from within the "United States" (government/federal territory) under 26 U.S.C. §871.	File using form 1040NR. See 26 U.S.C. §871 for taxable sources. 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) for definition of "nonresident alien"
4	No	"alien"	Outside of "United States" (government/federal territory)	Foreign country, including states of the Union	Only subject to income taxes on "income" from foreign country connected with a "trade or business" and coming under an income tax treaty with the foreign country.	Do not file. Not subject to the I.R.C. because not domiciled in the "United States" (federal territory)

2 Options 1 and 2 above have a civil "domicile" within the statutory but not constitutional "United States", meaning federal
3 territory that is no part of any state of the Union, as a prerequisite. People born in and domiciled within states of the Union
4 fall under status 3. If "nationals" (who are not statutory "citizens" under 8 U.S.C. §1401) domiciled in states have no earnings
5 from the "United States" government or federal territory, then even if they choose to volunteer, they cannot be "liable" to pay
6 any of their earnings to the IRS. Note also that the "aliens" mentioned in option 4 above, even if they live in the "United
7 States" (federal territory), are not even mentioned in the I.R.C. They only become subject to the code by either becoming
8 involved in a "trade or business", which is a public office and a voluntary activity involving federal contracts and employment,
9 or by declaring the "United States" (federal territory) to be their legal "domicile". Making the "United States" (federal 10 territory) into their "domicile" or engaging in a "trade or business" (which is defined as a public office) are the only two
11 activities that can transform "aliens" into "residents" subject to the Internal Revenue Code. "Aliens" or "nonresident aliens"
12 may voluntarily elect (choose) to treat the "United States" (government or federal territory) as their domicile and thereby 13 become "residents" in accordance with the following authorities:

- 14 1. 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) or (h).
- 15 2. 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(4)(B).
- 16 3. 26 C.F.R. §1.871-1(a).
- 17 4. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. §1605(a)(2), which says that those who conduct "commerce" within 18 the legislative jurisdiction of the United States (in the federal zone) surrender their sovereign immunity.

19 TITLE 28 > PART IV > CHAPTER 97 > § 1605
20 §1605. General exceptions to the jurisdictional immunity of a foreign state

21 (a) A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of courts of the United States or of the States in
22 any case—

23 (2) in which the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States by the foreign state;
24 or upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state

⁸⁶ See 26 C.F.R. §1.6012-1(a): Who is required to file.

elsewhere; or upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States;

We also caution that a “non-resident non-person” or a “nonresident alien” can also unwittingly become a “U.S. person” with an effective domicile in the “United States” (federal territory) by incorrectly declaring his or her citizenship status on a government form as that of either a statutory “U.S. citizen” under 8 U.S.C. §1401 or a statutory “resident alien” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), instead of a “non-resident non-person” or “non-resident national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). This results in a surrender of sovereign immunity under 28 U.S.C. §1603\(b\)\(3\), which says that “U.S. citizens” and “residents” may not be treated as “foreign states”. This is by far the most frequent mechanism that your unscrupulous government uses to maliciously destroy the sovereignty of persons in states of the Union and undermine the Separation of Powers Doctrine: Using ambiguous terms on government forms and creating and exploiting legal ignorance of the people. This process by public servants of systematically and illegally destroying the separation of powers is thoroughly documented below:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.6 The three sources of government civil jurisdiction

There are THREE sources of government civil protection:

1. Constitutional law. Includes the Bill of Rights. Cannot be surrendered if right is “unalienable”.
2. Common law. Does not require consent, but mere physical presence on the land.
3. Civil statutory law (protection franchise). Requires consent by choosing a domicile.

We cover all law systems in:

Four Law Systems Course, Form #12.039
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

In the case of item 3 above, even for civil statutory laws that are enacted with the consent of the majority of the governed as the Declaration of Independence requires, we must still explicitly and individually consent to be subject to them before they can be enforced against us.

"When a change of government takes place, from a monarchial to a republican government, the old form is dissolved. Those who lived under it, and did not choose to become members of the new, had a right to refuse their allegiance to it, and to retire elsewhere. By being a part of the society subject to the old government, they had not entered into any engagement to become subject to any new form the majority might think proper to adopt. That the majority shall prevail is a rule posterior to the formation of government, and results from it. It is not a rule upon mankind in their natural state. There, every man is independent of all laws, except those prescribed by nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen without his consent"
[Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796)]

This requirement for the consent to the protection afforded by government is the foundation of our system of government, according to the Declaration of Independence: consent of the governed. The U.S. Supreme Court admitted this when it said:

"The people of the United States resident within any State are subject to two governments: one State, and the other National; but there need be no conflict between the two. The powers which one possesses, the other does not. They are established for different purposes, and have separate jurisdictions. Together they make one whole, and furnish the people of the United States with a complete government, ample for the protection of all their rights at home and abroad. True, it may sometimes happen that a person is amenable to both jurisdictions for one and the same act. Thus, if a marshal of the United States is unlawfully resisted while executing the process of the courts within a State, and the resistance is accompanied by an assault on the officer, the sovereignty of the United States is violated by the resistance, and that of the State by the breach of peace, in the assault. So, too, if one passes counterfeited coin of the United States within a State, it may be an offence against the United States and the State: the United States, because it discredits the coin; and the State, because of the fraud upon him to whom it is passed. This does not, however, necessarily imply that the two governments possess powers in common, or bring them into conflict with each other. It is the natural consequence of a citizenship [92 U.S. 542, 551] which owes allegiance to two sovereignties, and claims protection from both. The citizen cannot complain, because he has voluntarily submitted himself

1 to such a form of government. He owes allegiance to the two departments, so to
2 speak, and within their respective spheres must pay the penalties which each exacts for disobedience to its laws.
3 In return, he can demand protection from each within its own jurisdiction."
4 [United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542 (1875) [emphasis added]

5 How, then, did you "voluntarily submit" yourself to such a form of government and thereby contract with that government
6 for "protection"? If people fully understood how they did this, many of them would probably immediately withdraw their
7 consent and completely drop out of the corrupted, inefficient, and usurious system of government we have, now wouldn't
8 they? We have spent six long years researching this question, and our research shows that it wasn't your citizenship as a
9 "national" but not statutory "citizen" pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) that made you subject to their civil laws. Well then,
10 what was it?

11 It was your voluntary choice of domicile!

12 In fact, the following types of Americans DO have the right to complain if:

- 13 1. The government calls "citizen" status voluntary but positively refuses to recognize or protect your right to NOT be a 14 "citizen". This:
 - 15 1.1. Violates the First Amendment and effectively compels you to contract with the government for civil protection.
 - 16 1.2. Makes the statement on their part that "citizen" status is voluntary a FRAUD.
- 17 2. The government PRESUMES that domicile and residence are equivalent, in order to:
 - 18 2.1. Usurp civil jurisdiction over you that they do not otherwise have.
 - 19 2.2. Evade the requirement to satisfy their burden of proving on the record that you were "purposefully" and 20 consensually availing yourself of commerce within their civil jurisdiction with people who wanted to be regarded 21 as protected "citizens" or "residents" in the context of YOUR interactions with them. They aren't required to be 22 "citizens" or "residents" for ALL PURPOSES, but only for those that they want to be.
- 23 3. The government refuses to recognize your right to be a STATUTORY "citizen" for some purposes but a statutory 24 "non-resident non-person" for other purposes. Since you have a constitutional right to NOT contract and NOT
25 associate, then you ought to be able to choose in each specific case or service offered by government whether you want
26 that specific service, rather than being forced to be a "customer" of government for EVERYTHING if you sign up for 27 ANYTHING. That's called an unconscionable or adhesion contract. The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that not 28 being able to do this is a violation of what they call the "Unconstitutional Conditions Doctrine".
- 29 4. You were treated as a statutory "citizen" without your consent.
- 30 5. You were PRESUMED to be a statutory citizen absent your express written consent.
- 31 6. You are PRESUMED to have a civil domicile within the jurisdiction of a court you are appearing before. In the case 32 of federal courts, this presumption is usually false.
- 33 7. Your government opponent PRESUMES that STATUTORY citizens and CONSTITUTIONAL citizens are equivalent.
34 They are NOT.
- 35 8. The government PRESUMES that because you are born or naturalized in a place, that you are a STATUTORY 36 "citizen". This presumption is FALSE. Those born or naturalized are CONSTITUTIONAL citizens but not 37 necessarily STATUTORY citizens subject to federal law.
- 38 9. The government does not provide a way on ALL of its forms to describe those who do NOT consent to statutory 39 citizen status or ANY civil status subject to government law.
- 40 10. The government interferes with or refuses to protect your right to change your status to remove yourself from their 41 civil jurisdiction.

42 The "citizen" the Supreme Administrative Court is talking about above is a statutory "citizen" and not a constitutional
43 "citizen", and the only way you can become subject to statutory civil law is to have a domicile within the jurisdiction of the 44 sovereign. Below is a legal definition of "domicile":

45 "domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal
46 establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206
47 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home
48 are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which 49 he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence
50 but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, 51 often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the 52 privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
53 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

1 "This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm
2 foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not
3 at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized
4 citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks
5 them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same
6 way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects,
7 his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable."
8 [Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

9 Notice the phrase "civil laws" above and the term "claim to be protected". What they are describing is a contract to procure
10 the protection of the government, from which a "claim" arises. Those who are not party to the domicile/protection contract
11 have no such claim and are immune from the civil jurisdiction of the government. In other words, they have no "civil status"
12 under the laws of that protectorate:

13 "There are certain general principles which control the disposition of this case. They are, in the main, well
14 settled; the difficulty lies in their application to the particular facts of the case in hand. It is elementary that 15 "every state has an undoubted right to determine the status, or domestic and social condition, of the persons
16 domiciled within its territory, except in so far as the powers of the states in this respect are restrained, or duties
17 and obligations imposed upon them by the constitution of the United States." Strader v. Graham, 10 How. 93.
18 Again, the civil status is governed universally by one single principle, namely, that of domicile, which is the 19 criterion established by law for the purpose of determining the civil status; for it is on this basis that the 20 personal rights of a party, — that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage,
22 [Woodward v. Woodward, 11 S.W. 892, 87 Tenn. 644 (Tenn., 1889)]

23 Another implication of the above is that if the STATES have the right to determine civil status, then the people AS
24 INDIVIDUALS from which all their power was delegated have the right to determine their OWN civil status. This right
25 derives from the right to contract and associate and every sovereignty has it. See:

Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

26 In fact, there are two categories and four unique ways to become subject to the civil STATUTORY jurisdiction of a specific 27 government. These ways are:

- 28 1. Domicile by choice: Choosing domicile within a specific jurisdiction.
- 29 2. Domicile by operation of law. Also called domicile of necessity:
 - 30 2.1. Representing an entity that has a domicile within a specific jurisdiction even though not domiciled oneself in said
31 jurisdiction. For instance, representing a federal corporation as a public officer of said corporation, even though
32 domiciled outside the federal zone. The authority for this type of jurisdiction is, for instance, Federal Rule of 33 Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 34 2.2. Becoming a dependent of someone else, and thereby assuming the same domicile as that of your care giver. For 35 instance, being a minor and dependent and having the same civil domicile as your parents. Another example is 36 becoming a government dependent and assuming the domicile of the government paying you the welfare check.
 - 37 2.3. Being committed to a prison as a prisoner, and thereby assuming the domicile of the government owning or 38 funding the prison.

39 In addition to the above, one can ALSO become subject involuntarily to the COMMON LAW and not CIVIL STATUTORY 40 jurisdiction of a specific court by engaging in commerce on the territory protected by a specific government and thereby 41 waiving sovereign immunity under:

- 42 1. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. §1605.
- 43 2. The Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court, which implements the Fourteenth Amendment. See 44 International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945) .
- 45 3. The Longarm Statutes of the state jurisdiction where you are physically situated at the time. For a list of such state 46 statutes, see:
 - 47 3.1. SEDM Jurisdictions Database, Litigation Tool #09.003
48 <http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>
 - 49 3.2. SEDM Jurisdictions Database Online, Litigation Tool #09.004
50 <http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>

We allege that if the above rules are violated then the following consequences are inevitable:

1. A crime has been committed. That crime is identity theft against a nonresident party and it involves using a person's legal identity as a "person" for the commercial benefit of someone else without their express consent. Identity theft is a crime in every jurisdiction within the USA. The SEDM Jurisdictions Database, Litigation Tool #09.008 indicated above lists identity theft statutes for every jurisdiction in the USA.
2. If the entity disregarding the above rules claims to be a "government" then it is acting instead as a private corporation and must waive sovereign immunity and approach the other party to the dispute in EQUITY rather than law, and do so in OTHER than a franchise court. Franchise courts include U.S. District Court, U.S. Circuit Court, Tax Court, Traffic Court, and Family Court. Equity is impossible in a franchise court.

See also Clearfield Trust Co. v. United States, 318 U.S. 363, 369 (1943) ("The United States does business on business terms") (quoting United States v. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 270 U.S. 527, 534 (1926)); Perry v. United States, supra at 352 (1935) ("When the United States, with constitutional authority, makes contracts for franchises, it has rights and incurs responsibilities similar to those of individuals who are parties to such instruments. There is no difference . . . except that the United States cannot be sued without its consent") (citation omitted); United States v. Bostwick, 94 U.S. 53, 66 (1877) ("The United States, when they contract with their citizens, are controlled by the same laws that govern the citizen in that behalf"); Cooke v. United States, 91 U.S. 389, 398 (1875) (explaining that when the United States "comes down from its position of sovereignty, and enters the domain of commerce, it submits itself to the same laws that govern individuals there").

See Jones, 1 Cl.Ct. at 85 ("Wherever the public and private acts of the government seem to commingle, a citizen or corporate body must by supposition be substituted in its place, and then the question be determined whether the action will lie against the supposed defendant"); O'Neill v. United States, 231 Ct.Cl. 823, 826 (1982) (sovereign acts doctrine applies where, "[w]here [the] contracts exclusively between private parties, the party hurt by such governing action could not claim compensation from the other party for the governing action"). The dissent ignores these statements (including the statement from Jones, from which case Horowitz drew its reasoning literally verbatim), when it says, post at 931, that the sovereign acts cases do not emphasize the need to treat the government-as-contractor the same as a private party. [United States v. Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. 839 (1996)]

Even those who have not chosen a domicile within a specific jurisdiction and therefore chosen NOT to become the following in relation to ONLY that jurisdiction:

1. Among those "governed" by the civil laws.
2. Statutory "citizens" or "residents".
3. A "member" of the body politic if they are statutory "citizens". We call the "body politic" by the affectionate term "the club".

. . . are called "exclusively private". Such parties have been acknowledged by the U.S. Supreme Court to be beyond the civil control of the government. Notice they only recognize the right to "regulate" activity of STATUTORY "citizens" and NOT "ALL PEOPLE" or "ALL HUMANS":

*When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain. "A body politic," as aptly defined in the preamble of the Constitution of Massachusetts, "is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good." This does not confer power upon the whole people to control rights which are purely and exclusively private, Thorpe v. R. & B. Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 143; but it does authorize the establishment of laws requiring each citizen to so conduct himself, and so use his own property, as not unnecessarily to injure another. This is the very essence of government, and 125*125 has found expression in the maxim sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas. From this source come the police powers, which, as was said by Mr. Chief Justice Taney in the License Cases, 5 How. 583, "are nothing more or less than the powers of government inherent in every sovereignty, . . . that is to say, . . . the power to govern men and things." Under these powers the government regulates the conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner in which each shall use his own property, when such regulation becomes necessary for the public good. In their exercise it has been customary in England from time immemorial, and in this country from its first colonization, to regulate ferries, common carriers, hackmen, bakers, millers, wharfingers, innkeepers, &c., and in so doing to fix a maximum of charge to be made for services rendered, accommodations furnished, and articles sold. To this day, statutes are to be found in many of the States upon some or all these subjects; and we think it has never yet been successfully contended that such legislation came within any of the constitutional prohibitions against interference with private property. With the Fifth*

Amendment in force, Congress, in 1820, conferred power upon the city of Washington "to regulate . . . the rates of wharfage at private wharves, . . . the sweeping of chimneys, and to fix the rates of fees therefor, . . . and the weight and quality of bread," 3 Stat. 587, sect. 7; and, in 1848, "to make all necessary regulations respecting hackney carriages and the rates of fare of the same, and the rates of hauling by cartmen, wagoners, carmen, and draymen, and the rates of commission of auctioneers," 9 id. 224, sect. 2.

Below is an explanation by a federal court of how a "nonresident" from a foreign country who is "exclusively private" invokes the protections of the Constitution but NOT the civil statutory laws. This is the approach that state nationals or state citizens not domiciled on federal territory and not subject to federal law would procure protection against the extraterritorial (outside of federal territory, not outside the COUNTRY) enforcement by the national government outside their geographical limitations:

*The Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment limits the power of a state court to exert personal jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant. "[T]he constitutional touchstone" of the determination whether an exercise of personal jurisdiction comports with due process "remains whether the defendant purposefully established 'minimum contacts' in the 109*109 forum State." Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 474 (1985), quoting International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S., at 316. Most recently we have reaffirmed the oft-quoted reasoning of Hanson v. Denckla, 357 U.S. 235, 253 (1958), that minimum contacts must have a basis in "some act by which the defendant purposefully avails itself of the privilege of conducting activities within the forum State, thus invoking the benefits and protections of its laws." Burger King, 471 U.S., at 475. "Jurisdiction is proper . . . where the contacts proximately result from actions by the defendant himself that create a 'substantial connection' with the forum State." Ibid., quoting McGee v. International Life Insurance Co., 355 U.S. 220, 223 (1957)(emphasis in original).
[Asahi Metal Industry Co. v. Superior Court of Cal., Solana City, 480 U.S. 102 (1987)]*

If you DO NOT want a "substantial connection within the forum state" and wish to avoid the civil statutory protection of that state but not the constitutional protections, then all you have to do is:

1. Identify yourself as a "nonresident".
2. State that you waive the "benefits, privileges, and protections of the civil statutory laws".
3. Ensure that all the people you do business with sign a contract waiving the civil statutory protections and agree ONLY to invoke the Constitution and/or the common law.

Beyond that point, the state, as indicated above, will not be able to assert "personal jurisdiction" for anything OTHER than offenses against the Constitution or the Common law and will have to dismiss the case for lack of personal jurisdiction if a civil statute is invoked in the complaint. The above provisions function somewhat like a "binding arbitration" or a "private membership Association", both of which are perfectly legal. Even churches can use the above tactics within their church to literally contract the government's civil statutes, taxes, and regulation out of their relationship. See Serbian E. Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevic, 426 U.S. 696, 708–09, 724–25, 96 S.Ct. 2372, 49 L.Ed.2d. 151 (1976).

The reason the government MUST respect your right to waive the civil statutory protections is not only because of the First Amendment right to politically and legally DISASSOCIATE, and your constitutional right NOT to contract, but also because it is a maxim of the common law that you have a right to NOT receive or pay for a "benefit" and that right is founded upon ownership of yourself and the right to exclude any and all others from using or benefitting from your PRIVATE property. If it REALLY is YOUR property that is absolutely owned, then you and only you get to determine HOW and BY WHAT "laws" it is protected and to exercise your "right to exclude" that is the foundation of ownership itself to EXCLUDE the law systems that injure you or your property.

13.7 The Social Contract/Compact

13.7.1 Introduction

The end of the previous section referred to what the U.S. Supreme Court called "the social compact". What most judges won't tell you about the above requirement for establishing jurisdiction is that the "social compact" is one means of satisfying the need for a "contract" in order to establish civil jurisdiction over you. In law, the words "compact" and "contract" are equivalent:

"Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause; Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

All civil societies are based on "compact" and therefore "contract". Here is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes this compact and therefore contract.

*"Yet, it is to be remembered, and that whether in its real origin, or in its artificial state, allegiance, as well as fealty, rests upon lands, and it is due to persons. Not so, with respect to Citizenship, which has arisen from the dissolution of the feudal system and is a substitute for allegiance, corresponding with the new order of things. Allegiance and citizenship, differ, indeed, in almost every characteristic. Citizenship is the effect of compact [CONTRACT!]; allegiance is the offspring of power and necessity. Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is a territorial tenure. Citizenship is the charter of equality; allegiance is a badge of inferiority. Citizenship is constitutional; allegiance is personal. Citizenship is freedom; allegiance is servitude. Citizenship is communicable; allegiance is repulsive. Citizenship may be relinquished; allegiance is perpetual. With such essential differences, the doctrine of allegiance is inapplicable to a system of citizenship; which it can neither serve to controul, nor to elucidate. And yet, even among the nations, in which the law of allegiance is the most firmly established, the law most pertinaciously enforced, there are striking deviations that demonstrate the invincible power of truth, and the homage, which, under every modification of government, must be paid to the inherent rights of man.....The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign...."

Note the sentence: "Citizenship is the effect of compact [CONTRACT!]". By calling yourself a STATUTORY "citizen" or "person", you:

1. Identify yourself as a consenting party to the social compact/contract.
2. Abandon any claim for damage resulting from the ENFORCEMENT of the social compact/contract.

"Volunt non fit injuria.
He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

2 Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

3 Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.

- 9 3. Consent to be "civilly governed" by the sovereignty executing and enforcing that social contract. Those who consent
10 to the compact/contract/franchise are called a statutory "citizen" or "resident", who collectively are called "persons" or
11 "inhabitants".
12 4. Convey the "force of law" to the civil statutes IN YOUR SPECIFIC CASE. It is private law for everyone else who 13 didn't consent but PUBLIC law for you:

14 "Consensus facit legem. Consent makes the law. A contract is a law between the parties, which can acquire force
15 only by consent."

17 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

- 18 5. Make yourself "subject" to the civil statutes that implement the civil protection contract or compact or franchise.

22 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

- 23 6. Consent to receive the "benefits" of the civil law protection franchise. Acceptance of the "benefit" of civil statutory 24 franchise protection is what can later be used to obligate you to obey the franchise.

25 "Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum. He who receives the benefit should also bear the 26 disadvantage."
27 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);

- 29 7. Abandon the protections of the common law, because all those who accept a statutory "benefit" or privilege always do 30 so.

31 The words "privileges" and "immunities," like the greater part of the legal phraseology of this country, have been
32 carried over from the law of Great Britain, and recur constantly either as such or in equivalent expressions from 33 the time of Magna Charta. For all practical purposes they are synonymous in meaning, and originally signified
34 *a peculiar right or private law conceded to particular persons or places whereby a certain individual or class of
35 individuals was exempted from the rigor of the common law. Privilege or immunity is conferred upon any person*
36 when he is invested with a legal claim to the exercise of special or peculiar rights, authorizing him to enjoy some
37 particular advantage or exemption.⁸⁷

40 Even the author of the Law Of Nations, which is the document upon which the USA Constitution was based by the founding
41 fathers, acknowledged that all civilizations are based upon compact and contract, called this contract the "social compact",
42 and said that when the government fails to be accountable for the protection sought, those being protected have a right to 43 leave said society. Notice that the author, Vattel, refers to the parties to the social compact as "contracting parties".

44 The Law of Nations, Book I: Of Nations Considered in Themselves
45 § 223. Cases in which a citizen has a right to quit his country.

⁸⁷ See Magill v. Browne, Fed.Cas. No. 8952, 16 Fed.Cas. 408; 6 Words and Phrases, 5583, 5584; A J. Lien, "Privileges and Immunities of Citizens of the United States," in Columbia University Studies in History, Economics, and Public Law, vol. 54, p. 31.

There are cases in which a citizen has an absolute right to renounce his country, and abandon it entirely — a right founded on reasons derived from the very nature of the social compact.

1. If the citizen cannot procure subsistence in his own country, it is undoubtedly lawful for him to seek it elsewhere. For, political or civil society being entered into only with a view of facilitating to each of its members the means of supporting himself, and of living in happiness and safety, it would be absurd to pretend that a member, whom it cannot furnish with such things as are most necessary, has not a right to leave it.

2. If the body of the society, or he who represents it, absolutely fail to discharge their obligations [of protection] towards a citizen, the latter may withdraw himself. For, if one of the contracting parties does not observe his engagements, the other is no longer bound to fulfil his; as the contract is reciprocal between the society and its members. It is on the same principle, also, that the society may expel a member who violates its laws.

3. If the major part of the nation, or the sovereign who represents it, attempt to enact laws relative to matters in which the social compact cannot oblige every citizen to submission, those who are averse to these laws have a right to quit the society, and go settle elsewhere. For instance, if the sovereign, or the greater part of the nation, will allow but one religion in the state, those who believe and profess another religion have a right to withdraw, and take with them their families and effects. For, they cannot be supposed to have subjected themselves to the authority of men, in affairs of conscience;³ and if the society suffers and is weakened by their departure, the blame must be imputed to the intolerant party; for it is they who fail in their observance of the social compact — it is they who violate it, and force the others to a separation. We have elsewhere touched upon some other instances of this third case, — that of a popular state wishing to have a sovereign (§ 33), and that of an independent nation taking the resolution to submit to a foreign power (§ 195).

13.7.2 Government violation of the Social Contract/Compact

Item #2 at the end of the previous section, in which a government fails to discharge its obligation of “protection”, includes any one or more of the following:

1. Government refuses to protect you from GOVERNMENT abuses or violations of your rights.
2. Government refuses to recognize or protect EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights.
 - 2.1. Confuses NATURAL “rights” with statutory franchise “privileges” by calling them BOTH “rights”.
 - 2.2. Interferes with common law protections for private rights and compels ONLY statutory remedies. Hence, they compel all those who are injured to become public officers in the government and surrender all their private rights and private property, because statutory remedies only apply to public officers in the government and not private humans. See:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 2.3. Makes a business or profitable franchise out of alienating PRIVATE rights that are supposed to be inalienable according to the Declaration of Independence. This is most often done through either offering or enforcing public franchises anywhere, and especially within states of the Union. Franchises, by definition, convert PRIVATE rights into PUBLIC rights, usually WITHOUT the consent of the owner. This causes government to do the OPPOSITE for which it was established, which is the protection of ONLY PRIVATE rights.
- 2.4. Makes a crime out of exercising PRIVATE or CONSTITUTIONAL rights. For instance, they make it a crime to operate a conveyance WITHOUT PERMISSION from the government in the form of a license. The license in turn is then used to ILLEGALLY make you into a public officer called a “driver” without your consent and often without your knowledge.
3. Government enforces unequal authority or rights to itself that they refuse to recognize that you also have.
 - 3.1. Absolute equality is the foundation of ALL of your freedom, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court. Gulf, C. & S.F.R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150 (1897).
 - 3.2. Inequality under the law violates the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment.
 - 3.3. Inequality causes government to become a civil religion in which you are the worshipper, and they are the god with superior or supernatural powers.
 - 3.4. The main method of introducing inequality is offering or enforcing franchises within a constitutional state.
 - 3.5. They will undermine equality by refusing to enforce your equal right to sovereign immunity or their burden of proving that you consensually waived it. In a government of delegated powers, they can have no more rights than you have and if they violate this concept, they are creating a religion in which taxes are tithes.

4. Government lies with impunity about anything, and especially about what the law requires or about their responsibilities under the law.
5. Government refuses to be responsible for the injuries they cause you or abuse sovereign immunity to protect themselves from culpability for said injuries.
6. Government refuses to allow you to stop subsidizing it or stop being a “customer” of its protection called a “citizen” or “resident”, and hence indirectly interferes with the ONLY method of peacefully procuring relief from their usurpations. This leaves no option OTHER than violence, and hence anarchy. Hence, they promote violence and anarchy with such policies.

"If money is wanted by Rulers who have in any manner oppressed the People, [the People] may retain [their money] until their grievances are redressed, and thus peaceably procure relief, without trusting to despised petitions or disturbing the public tranquility."
[Journals of the Continental Congress, Wednesday, October 26, 1774]

7. Government refuses to allow you to abandon any and all civil statuses or franchises to which public rights attach. This includes:
- 7.1. Hides statuses on government forms that would allow you to NOT be a customer for the specific service they are offering.
 - 7.2. Hides forms or not offering forms to quit.
 - 7.3. Says you can't quit.
 - 7.4. Presumes that any or all people have the civil status that allows them to regulate and control you, and that you can acquire said status WITHOUT your express consent in some form.
 - 7.5. Calles participation “voluntary” and yet hypocritically refuses to protect your right to NOT volunteer.
8. Government kidnaps your civil legal identity and transports it to a legislatively foreign jurisdiction by enforcing legislatively foreign law upon you. They do this by:
- 8.1. Quotes or enforces foreign law not from your domicile against you.
 - 8.2. Violates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 8.3. Uses irrelevant law or case law from a foreign jurisdiction as the equivalent of “political propaganda” designed to mislead people into obedience to it.
 - 8.4. Violates or misrepresents choice of law rules.
9. Government PRESUMES that any or all of the above are a “benefit” and then forces you to pay for it in the form of “taxes”, even though YOU identify it as an INJURY and NOT a “benefit”. All such “presumptions” are a violation of due process of law.

*“Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum.
He who receives the benefit should also bear the disadvantage.”*

*“Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus.
He who derives a benefit from a thing, ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433.”*

The terms of the “social compact” at the heart of every civilized society are exhaustively described in the following classic book by Rousseau written just before the U.S. Constitution was written:

13.7.3 Rousseau's description of the Social Contract/Compact

Rousseau is also widely regarded as the father of socialism. In chapter 8 of the above book he even describes all governments as what he calls a “civil religion”. Here is the way Rousseau describes the “social compact” that forms the foundation of all societies:

There is but one law which, from its nature, needs unanimous consent. This is the social compact; for civil association is the most voluntary of all acts. Every man being born free and his own master, no one, under any pretext whatsoever, can make any man subject without his consent. To decide that the son of a slave is born a slave is to decide that he is not born a man.

*If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract, but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.*⁸⁸

Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest. This follows from the contract itself. But it is asked how a man can be both free and forced to conform to wills that are not his own. How are the opponents at once free and subject to laws they have not agreed to?

I retort that the question is wrongly put. The citizen gives his consent to all the laws, including those which are passed in spite of his opposition, and even those which punish him when he dares to break any of them. The constant will of all the members of the State is the general will; by virtue of it they are citizens and free⁸⁹. When in the popular assembly a law is proposed, what the people is asked is not exactly whether it approves or rejects the proposal, but whether it is in conformity with the general will, which is their will. Each man, in giving his vote, states his opinion on that point; and the general will is found by counting votes. When therefore the opinion that is contrary to my own prevails, this proves neither more nor less than that I was mistaken, and that what I thought to be the general will was not so. If my particular opinion had carried the day I should have achieved the opposite of what was my will; and it is in that case that I should not have been free.

This presupposes, indeed, that all the qualities of the general will still reside in the majority: when they cease to do so, whatever side a man may take, liberty is no longer possible.

In my earlier demonstration of how particular wills are substituted for the general will in public deliberation, I have adequately pointed out the practicable methods of avoiding this abuse; and I shall have more to say of them later on. I have also given the principles for determining the proportional number of votes for declaring that will. A difference of one vote destroys equality; a single opponent destroys unanimity; but between equality and unanimity, there are several grades of unequal division, at each of which this proportion may be fixed in accordance with the condition and the needs of the body politic.

There are two general rules that may serve to regulate this relation. First, the more grave and important the questions discussed, the nearer should the opinion that is to prevail approach unanimity. Secondly, the more the matter in hand calls for speed, the smaller the prescribed difference in the numbers of votes may be allowed to become: where an instant decision has to be reached, a majority of one vote should be enough. The first of these two rules seems more in harmony with the laws, and the second with practical affairs. In any case, it is the combination of them that gives the best proportions for determining the majority necessary.

[The Social Contract or Principles of Political Right, Jean Jacques Rousseau, 1762, Book IV, Chapter 2]

Note how Rousseau describes those who are not party to the social contract as “foreigners”:

“If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract, but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.”

We also clarify the following about Rousseau’s comments above:

1. Those who are parties to the social compact are called “citizens” if they were born in the country and “residents” if they were born in a foreign country, who together are called “inhabitants” or “domiciliaries”.
2. The “foreigner” he is talking about is either a statutory “alien” (foreign national), a “nonresident”, or a “non-resident non-person” in the case of a state domiciled state national.
3. When Rousseau says “Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest.”, what he means by “the rest” is “the rest of the inhabitants, citizens, or residents”, but NOT “nonresidents” or “transient foreigners”. This is implied by his other statement: “If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract, but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens.”
4. Rousseau says that: “When the State is instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.” Here are some key points about this statement:

⁸⁸ This should of course be understood as applying to a free State; for elsewhere family, goods, lack of a refuge, necessity, or violence may detain a man in a country against his will; and then his dwelling there no longer by itself implies his consent to the contract or to its violation.

⁸⁹ At Genoa, the word Liberty may be read over the front of the prisons and on the chains of the galley-slaves. This application of the device is good and just. It is indeed only malefactors of all estates who prevent the citizen from being free. In the country in which all such men were in the galleys, the most perfect liberty would be enjoyed.

- 4.1. What he means by “residence” is a political and voluntary act of association and consent, and NOT physical presence in a specific place.
- 4.2. Those who have made this choice of “residence” and thereby politically associated with and joined with a specific political “state” acquire the status under the social contract called “resident” or “citizen”. Those who have not associated are called “transient foreigners”, “strangers”, or “in transitu”.
- 4.3. The choice of “residence” is protected by the First Amendment right of association and freedom from compelled association. Those who are humans physically on land protected by the Constitution cannot lawfully be FORCED to acquire any civil status under the civil statutes of any government, INCLUDING “resident” or “residence”. Note that this prohibition does not affect artificial entities or fictions of law, such as businesses or especially corporations.
5. All rights under the social contract attach to the statuses under the contract called “citizen”, “resident”, “inhabitant”, or “domiciliary”. In that sense, the contract behaves as a franchise or what we call a “protection franchise”. You are not protected by the franchise unless you procure a civil status under the franchise called “citizen” or “resident”.
6. In a legal sense, to say that one is “in the state” or “dwelling in the state” really means that:
- 6.1. A human being has consented to the social contract and thereby become a “government contractor”.
- 6.2. Consent creates the “res” or legal fiction called “person” within the civil statutory codes/franchises.
- 6.3. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is an officer or public officer within the government corporation. The U.S. Supreme Court associates two civil statuses to all governments: 1. “Body corporate”; 2. Body politic.⁹⁰
- 6.4. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is called the “straw man”.⁹¹
- 6.5. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is legally but not physically “within” that corporation because it represents the corporation.
- 6.6. The effective domicile of the legal fiction of “person” is the place of incorporation of the state it represents under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17.
- 6.7. The government, as author of the statute conveying the privilege of the statutes, is the creator. It is therefore the OWNER of all those who exercise the privilege by virtue of invoking the statute of “person” in pursuit of remedies under the franchise.⁹²

⁹⁰ “Both before and after the time when the Dictionary Act and § 1983 were passed, the phrase “bodies politic and corporate” was understood to include the [governments of the] States. See, e.g., J. Bouvier, 1 A Law Dictionary Adapted to the Constitution and Laws of the United States of America 185 (11th ed. 1866); W. Shumaker & G. Longsdorf, Cyclopedic Dictionary of Law 104 (1901); Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. (2 Dall.) 419, 447, 1 L.Ed. 440 (1793) (Iredell, J.); id., at 468 (Cushing, J.); Cotton v. United States, 52 U.S. (11 How.) 229, 231, 13 L.Ed. 675 (1851) (“Every sovereign State is of necessity a body politic, or artificial person”); Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270, 288, 5 S.Ct. 903, 29 L.Ed. 185 (1885); McPherson v. Blacker, 146 U.S. 1, 24, 13 S.Ct. 3, 6, 36 L.Ed. 869 (1892); Heim v. McCall, 239 U.S. 175, 188, 36 S.Ct. 78, 82, 60 L.Ed. 206 (1915). See also United States v. Maurice, 2 Brock. 96, 109, 26 F.Cas. 1211 (CC Va.1823) (Marshall, C.J.) (“The United States is a government, and, consequently, a body politic and corporate”); Van Brocklin v. Tennessee, 117 U.S. 151, 154, 6 S.Ct. 670, 672, 29 L.Ed. 845 (1886) (same). Indeed, the very legislators who passed § 1 referred to States in these terms. See, e.g., Cong. Globe, 42d Cong., 1st Sess., 661-662 (1871) (Sen. Vickers) (“What is a State? Is *79 it not a body politic and corporate?”); id., at 696 (Sen. Edmunds) (“A State is a corporation”).

The reason why States are “bodies politic and corporate” is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can act only through its agents, “[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can command only by laws,” Poindexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black’s Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) (“[B]ody politic or corporate”: “A social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good”). As a “body politic and corporate,” a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act’s definition of a “person.”

While it is certainly true that the phrase “bodies politic and corporate” referred to private and public corporations, see ante, at 2311, and n. 9, this fact does not draw into question the conclusion that this phrase also applied to the States. Phrases may, of course, have multiple referents. Indeed, each and every dictionary cited by the Court accords a broader realm—one 2317 that comfortably, and in most cases explicitly, includes the sovereign—to this phrase than the Court gives it today. See 1B. Abbott, Dictionary of Terms and Phrases Used in American or English Jurisprudence 155 (1879) (“[T]he term body politic is often used in a general way, as meaning the state or the sovereign power, or the city government, without implying any distinct express incorporation”); W. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 127 (1893) (“[B]ody politic”: “The governmental, sovereign power: a city or a State”); Black’s Law Dictionary 143 (1891) (“[B]ody politic”: “It is often used, in a rather loose way, to designate the state or nation or sovereign power, or the government of a county or municipality, without distinctly connoting any express and individual corporate charter”); 1A. Burrill, A Law Dictionary and Glossary 212 (2d ed. 1871) (“[B]ody politic”: “A body to take in succession, framed by policy”; “[p]articularly*80 applied, in the old books, to a Corporation sole”); id., at 383 (“Corporation sole” includes the sovereign in England).

7. Your corrupt politicians have therefore written this social contract in such a way that consenting to it makes you a public officer within the government, even though such a corruption of the de jure system is clearly beyond its legislative intent. See:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.043
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. It is a violation of due process of law, theft, slavery, and even identity theft to:

- 8.1. PRESUME that by virtue of physically occupying a specific place, that a person has consented to take up "residence" there and thereby consented to the social contract and the civil laws that implement it.
- 8.2. Interfere with one's choice of political association and consent to the social compact by refusing to accept any piece of paper that declares one a "nonresident".
- 8.3. Impose the status of "citizen" or "resident" against those who do not consent to the social contract.
- 8.4. Enforce any provision of the social contract against a non-consenting party.
- 8.5. Connect the status of "citizen" or "resident" with a public office in the government or use that unlawfully created office as method to impose any duty upon said party. Why? Because the Thirteenth Amendment forbids "involuntary servitude".

The above considerations are the ONLY reason why Abraham Lincoln could truthfully claim in his famous Gettysburg Address that the United States government is "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people".

13.7.4 Breaches of the Social Compact subject to judicial remedy

If you are injured and take the party who injured you into a civil court, the judge, in fact, is really acting as a trustee of the social contract/compact in enforcing that contract between you and the other party. All governments in the USA, in fact, are "trustees":

"Whatever these Constitutions and laws validly determine to be property, it is the duty of the Federal Government, through the domain of jurisdiction merely Federal, to recognize to be property."

"And this principle follows from the structure of the respective Governments, State and Federal, and their reciprocal relations. They are different agents and trustees of the people of the several States, appointed with different powers and with distinct purposes, but whose acts, within the scope of their respective jurisdictions, are mutually obligatory."
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 (1856)]

Both parties to the lawsuit must be parties to the social contract and therefore "citizens" or "residents" within the jurisdiction you are civilly suing. If the defendant you are suing is NOT party to the social contract, they are called a "nonresident" who is therefore protected from being civilly sued by:

1. The "Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act", codified at 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97 starting at section 1602.
2. The "Minimum Contacts Doctrine" elucidated by the U.S. Supreme Court in International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945). This doctrine states that it is a violation of due process to bring a nonresident into a foreign court to be sued unless certain well defined standards are met. Here is how the federal courts describe this doctrine:

*In International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), the Supreme Court held that a court may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant consistent with due process only if he or she has "certain minimum contacts" with the relevant forum "such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend 'traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.'" Id. at 316 (quoting Milliken v. Meyer, 311 U.S. 457, 463 (1940)). Unless a defendant's contacts with a forum are so substantial, continuous, and systematic that the defendant can be deemed to be "present" in that forum for all purposes, a forum may exercise only "specific" jurisdiction - that is, jurisdiction based on the relationship between the defendant's forum contacts and the plaintiff's claim.

In this circuit, we analyze specific jurisdiction according to a three-prong test:

- (1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;

(2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and

(3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e. it must be reasonable.

Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d. 797, 802 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d. 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987)). The first prong is determinative in this case. We have sometimes referred to it, in shorthand fashion, as the "purposeful availment" prong. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. Despite its label, this prong includes both purposeful availment and purposeful direction. It may be satisfied by purposeful availment of the privilege of doing business in the forum; by purposeful direction of activities at the forum; or by some combination thereof.
[Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d. 1199 (9th Cir. 01/12/2006)]

Why does all this matter? Because what if you are a nonresident and the U.S. government wants to sue you for a tax liability? They can't take a nonresident (in relation to federal territory) and a "nontaxpayer" into a Federal District Court and must instead sue you in a state court under the above requirements. Even their own Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) says so:

Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.)
9.13.1.5 (09-17-2002)
Witnesses In Foreign Countries

1. Nonresident aliens physically present in a foreign country cannot be compelled to appear as witnesses in a United States District Court since they are beyond jurisdiction of United States officials. Since the Constitution requires confrontation of adverse witnesses in criminal prosecutions, the testimony of such aliens may not be admissible until the witness appears at trial. However, certain testimony for the admissibility of documents may be obtained under 18 U.S.C. §3491 et seq. without a "personnel" appearance in the United States. Additionally, 28 U.S.C. §1783 et seq. provides limited powers to induce the appearance of United States citizens physically present in a foreign country.
[SOURCE: <http://www.irs.gov/irm/part9/ch13s01.html>]

The other great thing about being a nonresident, is that the statute of limitations under civil law DO NOT apply to you and do not limit your rights or the protection of those rights.

1. If you invoke the common law rather than statutory law, you have an unlimited amount of time to sue a federal actor for a tort. All such statutes of limitations are franchises to which BOTH parties to the suit must be contractors under the social contract/compact in order to enforce.
2. If only one party is a "citizen" or a "resident" protected by the social contract, and the other party is protected by the Constitution but not the civil law implementing the social contract, then the Constitution trumps the civil law and becomes self-executing. Remedies which are "self-executing" need no statute as a basis to sue and cannot be LIMITED by statute.

The design of the Fourteenth Amendment has proved significant also in maintaining the traditional separation of powers 524*524 between Congress and the Judiciary. The first eight Amendments to the Constitution set forth self-executing prohibitions on governmental action, and this Court has had primary authority to interpret those prohibitions. The Bingham draft, some thought, departed from that tradition by vesting in Congress primary power to interpret and elaborate on the meaning of the new Amendment through legislation. Under it, "Congress, and not the courts, was to judge whether or not any of the privileges or immunities were not secured to citizens in the several States." Flack, supra, at 64. While this separation-of-powers aspect did not occasion the widespread resistance which was caused by the proposal's threat to the federal balance, it nonetheless attracted the attention of various Members. See Cong. Globe, 39th Cong., 1st Sess., at 1064 (statement of Rep. Hale) (noting that Bill of Rights, unlike the Bingham proposal, "provide[s] safeguards to be enforced by the courts, and not to be exercised by the Legislature"); id., at App. 133 (statement of Rep. Rogers) (prior to Bingham proposal it "was left entirely for the courts . . . to enforce the privileges and immunities of the citizens"). As enacted, the Fourteenth Amendment confers substantive rights against the States which, like the provisions of the Bill of Rights, are self-executing. Cf. South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S., at 325 (discussing Fifteenth Amendment). The power to interpret the Constitution in a case or controversy remains in the Judiciary.

[City of Boerne v. Flores, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

Why do we say these things? Because what you think of as civil law, in most cases, is really only a private law franchise for government officers, agents, instrumentalities, and/or statutory "employees", as exhaustively proven in the following document:

Under the concepts in the above document, a “statute of limitations” is an example of an “privilege and immunity” afforded to ONLY government officers and statutory “employees” when the OTHER party they injure is also a government officer or employee in some capacity. If the injured party is not party to the social compact and franchise but is protected by the Constitution, then the statutes of limitations cannot be invoked under the franchise.

13.7.5 TWO social compacts in America

In the United States (the country), there are, in fact TWO “social contracts” or “social compacts”, and each protects a different subset of the overall population.

“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union; the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?”
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

You can only be a party to ONE of these two social contracts/compacts at a time, because you can only have a domicile in ONE jurisdiction at a time. These two jurisdictions that Congress legislates for are:

1. The states of the Union under the requirements of the Constitution of the United States. In this capacity, it is called the “federal/general government”.
2. The U.S. government, the District of Columbia, U.S. possessions and territories, and enclaves within the states. In this capacity, it is called the “national government”. The authority for this jurisdiction derives from Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the United States Constitution. All laws passed essentially amount to municipal laws for federal property, and in that capacity, Congress is not restrained by either the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. We call the collection of all federal territories, possessions, and enclaves within the states “the federal zone” throughout this document.

The “separation of powers doctrine” is what created these two separate and distinct social compacts and jurisdictions. Each has its own courts, unique types of “citizens”, and laws. That doctrine is described in:

The U.S. Supreme Court has identified the maintenance of separation between these two distinct jurisdictions as THE MOST IMPORTANT FUNCTION OF ANY COURT. Are the courts satisfying their most important function, or have they bowed to political expediency by abusing deception and words of art to entrap and enslave you in what amounts to a criminal conspiracy against your constitutional rights? Have the courts become what amounts to a modern day Judas, who sold the truth for the twenty pieces of silver they could STEAL from you through illegal tax enforcement by abusing word games?

“I take leave to say that, if the principles thus announced should ever receive the sanction of a majority of this court, a radical and mischievous change in our system of government will result. We will, in that event, pass from the era of constitutional liberty guarded and protected by a written constitution into an era of legislative absolutism..”

[. . .]

“The idea prevails with some, indeed it has found expression in arguments at the bar, that we have in this country substantially two national governments; one to be maintained under the Constitution, with all of its restrictions; the other to be maintained by Congress outside the independently of that instrument, by exercising such powers [of absolutism] as other nations of the earth are accustomed to..

[. . .]

It will be an evil day for American liberty if the theory of a government outside the supreme law of the land finds lodgment in our constitutional jurisprudence. No higher duty rests upon this court than to exert its full authority to prevent all violation of the principles of the Constitution.”
[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901), Justice Harlan, Dissenting]

WHICH of the two social compacts are you party to? Your choice of domicile determines that. It CAN'T legally be both because you can only have a domicile in ONE place at a time. Furthermore, if you have been deceived by corrupt politicians and "words of art" into becoming a party to BOTH social compacts, you are serving TWO masters, which is forbidden by the Holy Bible:

"No one can serve two masters [two employers, for instance]; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon [government]."
[Matt. 6:24, Bible, NKJV. Written by a tax collector]

13.7.6 The TWO social contracts/compacts CANNOT lawfully overlap and you can't be subject to BOTH at the same time

We might also add that franchises and the right to contract that they are based upon cannot lawfully be used to destroy the separation between these two distinct jurisdictions. Preserving that separation is, in fact, the heart and soul of the United States Constitution. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court held the following:

"Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the legislature. The power to authorize [e.g. LICENSE as part of a franchise] a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects. Congress cannot authorize [e.g. LICENSE] a trade or business within a State in order to tax it."
License Tax Cases, [72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

Notice the language "Congress cannot authorize [e.g. LICENSE] a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.". All licensed activities are, in fact, franchises and excise taxes are what implement them and pay for them. The income tax itself, in fact, is such a franchise. See the following for exhaustive proof:

The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

On the subject of whether Christians can be party to or consent to what the courts call "the social compact" and contract, God Himself says the following:

"You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a "resident" or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you."
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

Why did God warn Christians in this way? Because Rev. 19:19 identifies political rulers as "The Beast", and contracting with them MAKES you an officer of and one of them. And as their officer or public officer participating in their franchises, you can't avoid "serving them", and hence, violating the First Commandment NOT to serve other pagan gods, among which are included civil rulers or governments.

Now let's discuss how the courts treat the issue of the social compact to confirm what we have said in this section. The first federal corporation established outside of federal territory was the original Bank of the United States commissioned by Congress. That bank invaded the state of Ohio and began operating there. The state sought to penalize and tax it out of existence and the bank refused to pay the state penalties and taxes. When the state seized assets of the bank for nonpayment of taxes, the case went before the U.S. Supreme Court. The court held that the bank:

1. Was a federal but not state corporation and therefore NOT a constitutional “person” or “citizen” under the judiciary clauses of the Constitution.
2. Was an office within the national government.
3. Was exempt from state taxes and penalties.

The case also held that the ONLY way that federal law can be enforced within a state of the Union was if EITHER a public office was involved (which is federal government property), OR if the bank had a contract with the government (which is ALSO federal government property).

“All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made with [private] individuals.”
[Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

The above holding brings up some crucial points about civil jurisdiction in courts of justice:

1. The government can only regulate and control its own agents. That control is exercised through the civil statutes it enacts, in fact.
2. Federal corporations, such as the original Bank of the United States that was the subject of the above case, are creations of, agents of, and instrumentalities of the national government.
3. Contracts with the government create agency BUT NOT NECESSARILY PUBLIC OFFICE on behalf of the government.
4. Public offices are also evidence of agency on behalf of the government.
5. If you are not a public officer and have no contracts with the government, they can’t civilly regulate or control you because you are PRIVATE and they have no jurisdiction over EXCLUSIVELY private conduct.
6. If a government takes you into civil court seeking to enforce an obligation they claim you have to the government, then they as the moving party MUST satisfy the burden of proving ONE or more of the following two things in order to establish their jurisdiction:
 - 6.1. That you are lawfully occupying a public office OR...
 - 6.2. You have a contract with them and therefore are acting as their agent.

13.7.7 Challenging the enforcement of the Social Contract in a Court of law

The Social Contract is enforced, usually illegally, by judges and government prosecutors in court against unwitting and often unwilling and non-consenting parties. By “Social Compact” in this section, we mean and intend the following. We DO NOT mean the CRIMINAL code or criminal law:

1. Civil statutory “code”.
2. Civil franchises.
3. Penal code.
4. Rules of court.

The boundary between what is lawful and unlawful in a civil context is determined solely by whether there is a flesh and blood PHYSICAL injured party.

For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery,” “You shall not murder,” “You shall not steal,” “You shall not bear false witness,” “You shall not covet,” and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up in this saying, namely, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of the law.
[Romans 13:9-10, Bible, NKJV]

“Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm.”
[Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

“With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities."

[Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

"The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized men."

Olmstead v. United States, [277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting); see also Washington v. Harper, 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

If there is no injured party, then all of the above types of civil franchises have no "force of law" against a non-consenting party and any legal proceeding to enforce them constitutes an INJUSTICE rather than JUSTICE.

PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

"Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights, to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right." [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

Some questions you can ask to reveal the false presumptions protecting that enforcement and the illegality of that enforcement of the above types of "rules" include the following:

"At this point it behooves us to consider the myth of the "social contract". Many apologists for the status quo assert that we are all born as parties to a contract – and that, as a consequence, we are all subject to liabilities defined by the state or [national] government. In other words, in return for the various benefits, real or imagined, that we receive from the government, we owe the government a portion of whatever resources we derive from our experience of life. We should note that the only people who promote this myth are those who want to spend our money or to exercise power over us through the enforcement of edicts forbidding mala prohibita. They would have us believe that they have a valid claim on the money that we receive in exchange for our creativity and productivity."

Those enforcing the social contract or statutory franchise "benefits" are therefore demanded to answer the following questions on the record to justify and validate the alleged "force of law" they claim to have been exercising:

1. Isn't it a maxim of law that civil law exists for the "benefit" of man?

"Hominum caus jus constitutum est. Law is established for the benefit of man."

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);

<https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

2. Isn't it true that I have a RIGHT to refuse any and every "benefit"?

"Invito beneficium non datur. No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent.

Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

"Potest quis renunciare pro se, et suis, juri quod pro se introductum est. A man may relinquish, for himself and his heirs, a right which was introduced for his own benefit. See 1 Bouv. Inst. n. 83."

"Quilibet potest renunciare juri pro se inducto. Any one may renounce a law introduced for his own benefit. To this rule there are some exceptions. See 1 Bouv. Inst. n. 83."

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);

<https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

3. Who gets to decide what a "benefit" is? You or the government? If the people are the "sovereigns" according to the Supreme Court, then aren't they the "customer" who gets to decide if something "benefits" them instead of the state?

4. If I am NOT the one who defines "benefit" in the context of this proceeding, don't we have unconstitutional slavery disguised as government benevolence?

5. What if I define the alleged "consideration" or "benefit" provided by the government as an INJURY? Doesn't that make it IMPOSSIBLE for me to "receive a "benefit" from the government and therefore owe a corresponding "obligation"?

"Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus. He who derives a benefit from a thing, ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433."
[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
<https://famguardian.org/Publications/Bouvier-MaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

6. Shouldn't any government seeking to enforce the provisions of the social compact and/or civil statutes that implement it have the burden of proving to a disinterested third party the existence of a "benefit" AND consent to receive it BEFORE they may commence the enforcement action? Aren't they presumed to be STEALING if they DON'T satisfy this burden of proof?

"All rights and property are PRESUMED to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and beyond the control of government or the CIVIL statutory franchise codes unless and until the government meets the burden of proving, WITH EVIDENCE, on the record of the proceeding that:

1. A SPECIFIC formerly PRIVATE owner consented IN WRITING to convert said property to PUBLIC property.
2. The owner was either abroad, domiciled on, or at least PRESENT on federal territory NOT protected by the Constitution and therefore had the legal capacity to ALIENATE a Constitutional right or relieve a public servant of the fiduciary obligation to respect and protect the right. Those physically present but not necessarily domiciled in a constitutional but not statutory state protected by the constitution cannot lawfully alienate rights to a real, de jure government, even WITH their consent.
3. If the government refuses to meet the above burden of proof, it shall be CONCLUSIVELY PRESUMED to be operating in a PRIVATE, corporate capacity on an EQUAL footing with every other private corporation and which is therefore NOT protected by official, judicial, or sovereign immunity."

[SEDM Disclaimer, Section 4: Meaning of Words; SOURCE:
<https://sedm.org/disclaimer.htm>]

7. Isn't it a violation of due process of law to PRESUME that I consented? Aren't all presumptions that prejudice constitutional rights UNCONSTITUTIONAL and a violation of due process of law?

8. When and how did I sign or consent to this so-called contract and the civil statutory code that implements it?

9. Isn't all of my property ABSOLUTELY owned and EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE if I don't consent to ANYTHING the government offers?

10. Does this social contract promise to give me something that I actually perceive or define as a "benefit"?

11. If so, am I free to acquire that which I want in other ways?

12. Does the government have a monopoly on "protection" and if so, doesn't this violate the Sherman Antitrust Act?

13. Does this contract contain a valid exit clause? If so WHERE?

14. Does this contract specify the quid pro quo that tells me what I am to contribute and what I am to receive in return?

15. Is there any legal limit at all to what I must pay to reimburse the cost of the benefit, and if there isn't, don't we have an unconscionable adhesion contract? For instance, if I decide to limit the SCOPE of my consent to obeying ONLY the civil codes regulating voting and jury service and choose to be a "nonresident" for all other purposes, will the government respect my right to participate in ONLY these two franchises and LEAVE ME ALONE and not make the target of the enforcement of any other civil statute?

16. Does the social contract specify what actions on the part of government constitute a breach of the contract and the penalties that attach thereto? If not, there is no reciprocal obligation so it can't possibly be enforceable against me as a contract as legally defined.

17. Does this contract affirm my absolute right to withdraw from the contract and NOT consent? In other words, do all forms that implement the "benefit" recognize and provide administrative remedies to QUIT without being a "participating", "person", "individual", etc?

18. If the contract does NOT recognize nonparticipants or the right to quit, isn't the requirement for equal protection that is the foundation of all law violated?

19. Am I punished for trying to withdraw participation? If so, how can participation truthfully be called "voluntary"?

13.8 “Domicile”= “allegiance” and “protection”

The U.S. Supreme Court describes the relationship of domicile to taxation as follows:

“Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”
Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

The first thing to notice about the above ruling is that the essence of being a “citizen” is one’s domicile, not just their place of birth or naturalization or the NATIONALITY these two things produce. “Domicile” establishes your LEGAL status within a municipal government while “nationality” (being a “national”) establishes your POLITICAL status and association with a specific nation under the law of nations.

“Nationality. That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state. Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while domicile determines his civil status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization. See also Naturalization.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1025]

The U.S. Supreme Court admitted that an alien with a domicile in a place is treated as a native or naturalized “citizen” in nearly every respect. We call this type of “citizen” simply a “domiciled citizen” to distinguish it from anything resembling nationality. Note that they use the phrase “This right to protect persons having a domicile”, meaning they DON’T have a right to protect people who choose NOT to have a domicile and therefore are UNABLE to render protection because they can ONLY “govern” people who consent to be governed by choosing a domicile within their protection.

“This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects, his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
Fong Yue Ting v. United States, [149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

Note also the key role of the word “intention” within the meaning of domicile. A person can have many “abodes”, which are the place they temporarily “inhabit”, but only one legal “domicile”. You cannot have a legal “domicile” in a place without also having an intention (also called “consent”) to live there “permanently”, which implies allegiance to the people and the laws of that place.

“Allegiance and protection [by the government from harm] are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The one is a compensation for the other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance.”

What the U.S. supreme Court essentially is describing above is a contract to procure the civil protection of a specific government, and it is giving that contract a name called “domicile”. What makes the contract binding is the fact that each party to the contract both gives and receives specific and measurable “consideration”. You manifest your consent to the contract by voluntarily calling yourself a “subject”, “inhabitant”, “citizen”, or “resident”, all of which have in common a domicile within the jurisdiction that those terms relate to. You give “allegiance” and the support (e.g. “taxes”) that go with that allegiance, and in return, the government has an implied legal duty to protect and serve you. All contracts require both mutual consent and mutual consideration. Without both demonstrated elements, the contract is unenforceable. The contract is therefore only enforceable if both parties incur reciprocal duties that are enforceable in court as “rights”. Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court again describes this “protection contract”:

The reason why States are “bodies politic and corporate” is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can act only through its agents, “[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can command only by laws.” Poindexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black’s Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) (“[B]ody politic or corporate”: “A social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good”). As a “body politic and corporate,” a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act’s definition of a “person.”
[Will v. Michigan Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 109 S.Ct. 2304 (U.S.Mich.,1989)]

The interesting thing about allegiance is that in every circumstance where you try to document it on a government form, the covetous government tries to create the false impression that it must be PERMANENT, so that you can’t choose WHEN and under what circumstances you have it or under what circumstances you want protection and have to pay for protection. In other words, you aren’t allowed to request protection for specific circumstances and you have to give them essentially a blank check and make the relationship permanent. Here are some examples:

1. Most government forms ask for your “Permanent address”, meaning the place where your allegiance is permanent and not temporary.
2. The term “national of the United States” is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22) as someone who owes “permanent allegiance” to the “United States” government. These people include both statutory citizens (8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A)) and those in outlying possessions (8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B)).

8 U.S.C. §1101 Definitions [for the purposes of citizenship]

(a) As used in this chapter—

(22) The term “national of the United States” means

(A) a citizen of the United States, or

(B) a person who, though not a citizen of the United States, owes permanent allegiance to the United States.

3. 8 U.S.C. §1436 requires that the only way a resident of an outlying possession may be naturalized to become a STATUTORY “non-citizen national of the United States” is to have “permanent allegiance”.

We must remember, however, that for the purposes of Title 8, even the word “permanent” is not really permanent and can be withdrawn by you on a whim.

8 U.S.C. §1101 Definitions [for the purposes of citizenship]

(a) As used in this chapter—

(31) The term “permanent” means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from temporary, but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the instance either of the United States] or of the individual, in accordance with law.

When might you want to withdraw your allegiance and the CIVIL statutory protection that goes with it? How about if you are going abroad and DO NOT want Uncle Sam’s protection or the bill (taxes) that go with that protection. Some people, including us, even fill out their DS-11 Passport Application to indicate that they waive any and all claim to protection of the national government while they are abroad and thereby temporarily WITHDRAW their allegiance while abroad. Why would they do this? Because they don’t want to be “privileged” or in receipt of any government “benefit” that could lead essentially to them having to hand Uncle a blank check to steal ANYTHING they have. What gives them the right to demand “taxes” of a STATUTORY “citizen” while they are abroad? The answer is that such “citizen” is an officer of the government managing government property. THAT property is ALL of his/her property! Here is the proof:

The Law of Nations, Book II: Of a Nation Considered in Her Relation to Other States

§ 81. The property of the citizens is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

Even the property of the individuals is, in the aggregate, to be considered as the property of the nation, with respect to other states. It, in some sort, really belongs to her, from the right she has over the property of her citizens, because it constitutes a part of the sum total of her riches, and augments her power. She is interested in that property by her obligation to protect all her members. In short, it cannot be otherwise, since nations act and treat together as bodies in their quality of political societies, and are considered as so many moral persons. All those who form a society, a nation being considered by foreign nations as constituting only one whole, one single person, — all their wealth together can only be considered as the wealth of that same person. And this is to true, that each political society may, if it pleases, establish within itself a community of goods, as Campanella did in his republic of the sun. Others will not inquire what it does in this respect: its domestic regulations make no change in its rights with respect to foreigners nor in the manner in which they ought to consider the aggregate of its property, in what way soever it is possessed.

[The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book II, Section 81:]

SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/LawOfNations/vattel_02.htm#§ 81. The property of the citizens is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

The above document is the document upon which the Founding Fathers wrote the Constitution. It is even mentioned in Article I of the Constitution. The implications of the above document are that calling yourself a “citizen” makes you a presumed officer of the government holding temporary title to government property, which is ALL of your property while you are abroad and being protected by the nation you are a “member” or STATUTORY “citizen” of. The implication is that:

1. If you want to own property at all while abroad and have it protected by the national government, you must consent to become an officer of the government called a “citizen” and effectively convert or transmute all your property to PUBLIC property. The U.S. Supreme Court, in fact, has defined such a “citizen” as an officer of the government:

"Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent [of government, also called a PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social, political, and moral obligations. It is in this acceptance only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of the Constitution, can be received and understood. When distributing the judicial power, that article extends it to controversies between 'citizens' of different states. This must mean the natural physical beings composing those separate communities, and can by no violence of interpretation be made to signify artificial, incorporeal, theoretical, and invisible creations. A corporation, therefore, being not a natural person, but a mere creature of the mind, invisible and intangible, cannot be a citizen of a state, or of the United States, and cannot fall within the terms or the power of the above mentioned article, and can therefore neither plead nor be impleaded in the courts of the United States."

2. You must share ownership with the government if you want to be a STATUTORY “citizen” and receive the “benefit”/franchise of the government’s CIVIL STATUTORY protection WHILE ABROAD.
3. You aren’t allowed by law to ABSOLUTELY own ANY private property while abroad. The essence of ownership is “the right to exclude”, according to the U.S. Supreme Court. See Nollan v. California Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987) and Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979).⁹³ That means you aren’t allowed to exclude the government from using or benefitting from the use of the property and the government is the REAL owner. Would you hire a security guard called “government” if the cost of the protection was to transfer ownership TO the security guard? NOT! Hence, this is what we call a “supernatural power” that makes the government literally a pagan deity over all property.

⁹³ “We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, “the right to exclude [others is] ‘one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.’” Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 433 (1982), quoting Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164, 176 (1979). “[Nollan v. California Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987)]

“In this case, we hold that the “right to exclude,” so universally held to be a fundamental element of the property right,[11] falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without compensation.” [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

[11] See, e. g., United States v. Pueblo of San Ildefonso, 206 Ct.Cl. 649, 669-670, 513 F.2d. 1383, 1394 (1975); United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, “[a]n essential element of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it.” International News Service v. Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

4. The GOVERNMENT gets to determine how much of the property you want protected THEY own or control, and how much is left over for you. That is because they write the laws that regulate the use of all PUBLIC property. You are a mere equitable rather than absolute owner of the property.

The sharing of ownership in legal terms is called a “moiety”. With these factors in mind, why the HELL would anyone want to call themselves a STATUTORY “citizen”? Isn’t the purpose of forming government to protect PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights? Isn’t the ability to own property the essence of “happiness” itself according to the Declaration of Independence? How can you be “happy” if you have to share ownership of EVERYTHING with the government and turn EVERYTHING you own essentially into PUBLIC property to have any protection at all? For details on sharing ownership with the government, see:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Obviously, the “price” of government protection is too high, and therefore a rational and informed person would have to conclude that having “allegiance” and requesting “protection” from the government as a security guard over their property is something that they should NOT want. So how do we withdraw that allegiance and our request for protection? A good place to start is studying the laws on passports.

On the other hand, when obtaining a USA passport, one only needs “allegiance” and no requirement for permanence is mandated, other than, of course, the Address field on the DS-11 Form, which asks for a “permanent address”. If you don’t fill out anything in that field because your allegiance is temporary and you DO NOT WANT their protection, then you can make your allegiance temporary and changeable.

“No passport shall be granted or issued to or verified for any other persons than those owing allegiance, whether citizens or not, to the United States.”
[22 U.S.C. §212]

See the following for details on how to WITHDRAW allegiance when abroad in the passport application process:

Now let’s look at the domicile “protection contract” or “protection franchise” a little closer. Does it meet all the requisite legal elements of a legally enforceable contract? In fact, after you declare your exclusive allegiance to the “state” by declaring a “domicile” within that state so that you can procure “protection”, ironically, the courts continue to forcefully insist that your public SERVANTS STILL have NO LEGAL OBLIGATION to protect you! This is what Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the traitor, calls “The New Deal”, and what we call “The RAW Deal”. Below is the AMAZING truth right from the horse’s mouth, the courts, proving that police officers cannot be sued if they fail to come to your aid after you call them when you have a legitimate need for their protection:

Consequently, the “protection contract” is unenforceable as a duty upon you because it imposes no reciprocal duty upon the government. On the one hand, the government throws people in jail for failing to pay for protection in the form of “taxes”, while on the other hand, it refuses to prosecute police officers for failing to provide the protection that was paid for, even though their willful or negligent refusal to protect us could have far more injurious and immediate effects than simply failing to pay for protection. This is a violation of the equal protection of the laws. If it is a crime to not pay for protection, then it ought to equally be a crime to not provide it! Who would want to live in a country or be part of a “state” that would condone such hypocrisy? That is why we advocate “divorcing the state”. It is precisely this type of hypocrisy that explains why prominent authorities will tell you that taxes are not “contractual”: because the courts treat it like a contract and a criminal matter to not pay taxes for “taxpayers”, but refuse to hold public servants equally liable for their half of the bargain, which is protection:

"A tax is not regarded as a debt in the ordinary sense of that term, for the reason that a tax does not depend upon the consent of the taxpayer and there is no express or implied contract to pay taxes. Taxes are not contracts between party and party, either express or implied; but they are the positive acts of the government, through its various agents, binding upon the inhabitants, and to the making and enforcing of which their personal consent individually is not required."
[Cooley, Law of Taxation, Fourth Edition, pp. 88-89]

The above is a deception at best and a LIE at worst. A “taxpayer” is legally defined as a person liable, and it is true that for such a person, taxes are not consensual and in no way “voluntary”. HOWEVER, the choice about whether one wishes to BECOME a “taxpayer” as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) is based on domicile and the excise taxable activities one voluntarily engages in, both of which in fact ARE voluntary actions and choices. By their careful choice of words, they have misrepresented the truth so they could get into your pocket. What else would you expect of greedy LIARS, I mean “lawyers”? We would also like to take this opportunity to clarify for whom taxes are “voluntary” in order to further clarify the title of this document:

1. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are not voluntary for “taxpayers”.
2. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are not voluntary for everyone, because some subset of everyone are “taxpayers”.
3. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are voluntary for those who are “nontaxpayers”, who we define here as those persons who are NOT the “taxpayer” defined in 26 U.S.C. §§7701(a)(14) and 1313.

“Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [officers, employees, instrumentalities, and elected officials of the Federal Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
[Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

Some other points to consider about this “Raw Deal” scam:

1. You can’t be a statutory “citizen” or a “resident” without having a legally enforceable right to protection.
2. Since the government won’t enforce the rendering of the ONLY consideration required to make you a “citizen” or a “resident”, then the protection contract is unenforceable and technically, you can’t lawfully therefore call yourself a “citizen”.
3. Since you can’t be a member of a “state” without being a “citizen”, then technically, there is no de jure “state”, no de jure government that serves this “state”, and no “United States”. It’s just “US”, friends, cause there ain’t no “U.S.”!
4. The implication is that your government has legally abandoned you and you are an orphan, because they didn’t complete their half of the protection contract bargain. Without a government, God is back in charge. The Bible says He owns the earth anyway, which leaves us as “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners” in respect to any jurisdiction that claims to be a “government” because we know they’re lying.
5. The bible says of this “Raw Deal” the following: You’ve been HAD, folks!

For thus says the LORD: “ You have sold yourselves for nothing, And you shall be redeemed without money.”
[Isaiah 52:3, Bible, NKJV]

1 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that “allegiance” is completely incompatible with any system of “citizenship” in a
2 republican form of government, and that it is “repulsive”. Ironically, allegiance is exactly what we currently base our system
3 of citizenship on in this country. Apparently, this is yet one more symptom that our government has become corrupted.

4 “Yet, it is to be remembered, and that whether in its real origin, or in its artificial state, allegiance, as well as
5 fealty, rests upon lands, and it is due to persons. Not so, with respect to Citizenship, which has arisen from the 6 dissolution of the feudal system and is a substitute for allegiance, corresponding with the new order of things.
7 Allegiance and citizenship, differ, indeed, in almost every characteristic. Citizenship is the effect of compact
8 [CONTRACT!]; allegiance is the offspring of power and necessity. Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is 9 a territorial tenure. Citizenship is the charter of equality; allegiance is a badge of inferiority. Citizenship is 10 constitutional; allegiance is personal. Citizenship is freedom; allegiance is servitude. Citizenship is 11 communicable; allegiance is repulsive. Citizenship may be relinquished; allegiance is perpetual. With such 12 essential differences, the doctrine of allegiance is inapplicable to a system of citizenship; which it can neither
13 serve to controul, nor to elucidate. And yet, even among the nations, in which the law of allegiance is the most 14 firmly established, the law most pertinaciously enforced, there are striking deviations that demonstrate the 15 invincible power of truth, and the homage, which, under every modification of government, must be paid to the 16 inherent rights of man.... The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath
17 of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign....”
18 [Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795); From the syllabus but not the opinion; SOURCE:

21 Consequently, we must conclude that allegiance to anything but God is therefore to be avoided at all costs. Notice also that 22 they say that citizenship is the effect of “compact”, which is a type of contract. If “domicile” is the basis of citizenship, and
23 citizenship is the effect of “compact”, then “domicile” amounts to the equivalent of a “contract”. This leads us right back to 24 the conclusion that the voluntary choice of one’s “domicile” is a “contract” to procure man-made protection and fire God as 25 our protector:

26 “Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working
27 agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which 28 creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their
29 distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right
30 that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause;
31 Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty.”
32 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

33 The Bible is consistent with the Supreme Court above in its disdain for “allegiance”. It has a name for those expressing 34 “allegiance”: It is called an “oath”. When a person becomes a naturalized citizen of the United States, he must by law (see 8
35 U.S.C. §1448) take an “oath” of “allegiance” and be “sworn in”. When a person signs an income tax return, he must swear a
36 perjury oath. Jesus, on the other hand, commanded believers not to take “oaths” to anything but God, and especially not to 37 earthly Kings, and said that doing otherwise was essentially Satanic:

38 “Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, “You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform your oaths
39 to the Lord.” But I say to you, do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is God’s throne; nor by the earth,
40 for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. Nor shall you swear by your head,
41 because you cannot make one hair white or black. But let your “Yes” be “Yes,” and your “No,” “No.” For whatever
42 is more than these is from the evil one [Satan].”
43 [Matt. 5:33-37, Bible, NKJV]

44 God also commanded us to take oaths ONLY in His name and no others:

45 “You shall fear the LORD your God and serve [only] Him, and shall take oaths in His name.”
46 [Deut. 6:13, Bible, NKJV]

47 “If a man makes a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself by some agreement, he shall not break 48 his word; he shall do according to all that proceeds out of his mouth.”
49 [Numbers 30:2, Bible, NKJV]

50 Israel’s first King, Saul, in fact, distressed the people because one of his first official acts was to try to put the people under 51 oath to him instead of God.

52 “And the men of Israel were distressed that day, for Saul had placed the people under oath”
53 [1 Sam. 14:24, Bible, NKJV]

1 God's response to the Israelites electing a King/protector to whom they would owe "allegiance", in fact, was to say that they
2 sinned:

3 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, "Look, you are
4 old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER
5 them]".

6 But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
7 And the Lord said to Samuel, "Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
8 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
9 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
10 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
11 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
12 over them."

13 So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, "This will be the
14 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take [STEAL] your sons and appoint them for his own
15 chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his
16 thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to
17 make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take [STEAL] your daughters to be
18 perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take [STEAL] the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive
19 groves, and give them to his servants. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give
20 it to his officers and servants. And he will take [STEAL] your male servants, your female servants, your finest
21 young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work [as SLAVES]. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your
22 sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have
23 chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not hear you in that day."

24 Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, "No, but we will have a king over us,
25 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles."
26 [1 Sam. 8:4-20, Bible, NKJV]

27 Notice above the repeated words "He [the new King] will take...". God is really warning them here that the King they elect
28 will STEAL from them, which is exactly what our present day government does! Some things never change, do they?

29 Since God clearly states that it violates His law to have a king ABOVE you, then by implication, Christians are FORBIDDEN
30 by His sacred law from becoming a "subject" under any civil statutory law system that allows any government or civil ruler
31 to engage in any of the following types of anarchy, lawlessness, or superiority:

- 32 1. Are superior in any way to the people they govern UNDER THE LAW.
- 33 2. Are not directly accountable to the people or the law. They prohibit the PEOPLE from criminally prosecuting their 34 own crimes, reserving the right to prosecute to their own fellow criminals. Who polices the police? THE 35 CRIMINALS.
- 36 3. Enact laws that exempt themselves. This is a violation of the Constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal 37 treatment and constitutes an unconstitutional Title of Nobility in violation of Article 1, Section 9, Clause 8 of the 38 United States Constitution.
- 39 4. Only enforce the law against others and NOT themselves, as a way to protect their own criminal activities by 40 persecuting dissidents. This is called "selective enforcement". In the legal field it is also called "professional 41 courtesy". Never kill the goose that lays the STOLEN golden eggs.
- 42 5. Break the laws with impunity. This happens most frequently when corrupt people in government engage in "selective 43 enforcement", whereby they refuse to prosecute or interfere with the prosecution of anyone in government. The 44 Department of Justice (D.O.J.) or the District Attorney are the most frequent perpetrators of this type of crime.
- 45 6. Are able to choose which laws they want to be subject to, and thus refuse to enforce laws against themselves. The 46 most frequent method for this type of abuse is to assert sovereign, official, or judicial immunity as a defense in order to 47 protect the wrongdoers in government when they are acting outside their delegated authority, or outside what the 48 definitions in the statutes EXPRESSLY allow.
- 49 7. Impute to themselves more rights or methods of acquiring rights than the people themselves have. In other words, who
50 are the object of PAGAN IDOL WORSHIP because they possess "supernatural" powers. By "supernatural", we mean 51 that which is superior to the "natural", which is ordinary human beings.
- 52 8. Claim and protect their own sovereign immunity, but refuse to recognize the same EQUAL immunity of the people 53 from whom that power was delegated to begin with. Hypocrites.
- 54 9. Abuse sovereign immunity to exclude either the government or anyone working in the government from being subject
55 to the laws they pass to regulate everyone ELSE'S behavior. In other words, they can choose WHEN they want to be a statutory “person” who is subject, and when they aren’t. Anyone who has this kind of choice will ALWAYS corruptly exclude themselves and include everyone else, and thereby enforce and implement an unconstitutional “Title of Nobility” towards themself. On this subject, the U.S. Supreme Court has held the following:

“No man in this country [including legislators of the government as a legal person] is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our system of government, and every man who by accepting office participates in its functions is only the more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which it imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives,” 106 U.S., at 220. “Shall it be said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the Citizen has been deprived of his property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any lawful authority, without any process of law, and without any compensation, because the president has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the law of this country, it sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other government which has a just claim to well-regulated liberty and the protection of personal rights,” 106 U.S., at 220, 221.
[United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196, 1 S.Ct. 240 (1882)]

10. Have a monopoly on anything, INCLUDING “protection”, and who turn that monopoly into a mechanism to force EVERYONE illegally to be treated as uncompensated public officers in exchange for the “privilege” of being able to even exist or earn a living to support oneself.
11. Can tax and spend any amount or percentage of the people’s earnings over the OBJECTIONS of the people.
12. Can print, meaning illegally counterfeit, as much money as they want to fund their criminal enterprise, and thus to be completely free from accountability to the people.
13. Deceive and/or lie to the public with impunity by telling you that you can’t trust anything they say, but force YOU to sign everything under penalty of perjury when you want to talk to them. 26 U.S.C. §6065.

Jesus Himself agreed that we cannot allow civil rulers to be ABOVE us in any way, when He said:

“You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them. Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant. And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave— just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”
[Matt. 20: 25-28, Bible, NKJV. See also Mark 10:42-45]

Jesus’ words above are very descriptive of the RESULT of allowing rulers to be ABOVE those they serve:

1. He identifies his reference as referring to civil rulers.
2. “Authority over” refers to authority ABOVE that possessed by mere natural humans. In other words, the powers exercised are “supernatural”. “Super” means ABOVE and “natural” means above you, who are a natural human being.
3. The phrase “Lord it over” means that they in effect are “gods” who are OVER or ABOVE those who “worship” them by obeying their man-made STATUTES or CIVIL CODES. The source of law in any society is, in fact, the god of that society.

The nature and substance of any government that violates the above admonition of Jesus is described in the following:

Socialism: The New American Civil Religion, Form #05.016

ONLY when the people are in deed EQUAL in every way to those in the government can anyone be truly FREE in any sense of the word. The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this when it held:

“No duty rests more imperatively upon the courts than the enforcement of those constitutional provisions intended to secure that equality of rights which is the foundation of free government.”
[Gulf, C. & S.F.R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150 (1897)]

13.9 Choice of Domicile is a voluntary and SERIOUS choice

"The rights of the individual are not derived from governmental agencies, either municipal, state or federal, or even from the Constitution. They exist inherently in every man, by endowment of the Creator, and are merely reaffirmed in the Constitution, and restricted only to the extent that they have been voluntarily surrendered by the citizenship to the agencies of government. The people's rights are not derived from the government, but the government's authority comes from the people.*946 The Constitution but states again these rights already existing, and when legislative encroachment by the nation, state, or municipality invade these original and permanent rights, it is the duty of the courts to so declare, and to afford the necessary relief. The fewer restrictions that surround the individual liberties of the citizen, except those for the preservation of the public health, safety, and morals, the more contented the people and the more successful the democracy."
[City of Dallas v. Mitchell, 245 S.W. 944 (1922)]

The law and government that a person voluntarily consents or "intends" to be subject to determines where their "legal home" is under this concept. This choice must be completely voluntary and not subject to coercion or intimidation because all just powers of any free government derive from the "consent of the governed", as the Declaration of Independence indicates.

§ 143. Id. Actual Choice. - Third. There must be actual choice. In order to effect a change of domicil a person must not only be capable of forming the proper intention and free to do so, but he must actually form such intention.
[A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and Company, 1887, p. 208]

This form of consent is called "allegiance" in the legal field. A voluntary choice of allegiance to a place amounts to a choice to join or associate with a group of people called a "state" and to respect, be subject to, and obey all positive laws passed by the citizens who dwell there. The First Amendment guarantees us a right of free association, and therefore, only we can choose the group of people we wish to associate with and be protected by as a result of choosing a "domicile". The First Amendment also guarantees us a right of freedom from "compelled association", which is the act of forcing a person to join or be part of any group, including a "state".

Just as there is freedom to speak, to associate, and to believe, so also there is freedom not to speak, associate, or believe. "The right to speak and the right to refrain from speaking on a government tax return, and in violation of the [Fifth Amendment when coerced, for instance] are complementary components of the broader concept of 'individual freedom of mind.' [Wooley v. Maynard \[430 U.S. 703\] \(1977\)](#). Freedom of conscience dictates that no individual may be forced to espouse ideological causes with which he disagrees:

"[A]t the heart of the First Amendment is the notion that the individual should be free to believe as he will, and that in a free society one's beliefs should be shaped by his mind and by his conscience rather than coerced by the State [through illegal enforcement of the revenue laws]." [Abood v. Detroit Board of Education \[431 U.S. 209\] \(1977\)](#)

Freedom from compelled association is a vital component of freedom of expression. Indeed, freedom from compelled association illustrates the significance of the liberty or personal autonomy model of the First Amendment. As a general constitutional principle, it is for the individual and not for the state to choose one's associations and to define the persona which he holds out to the world.
[First Amendment Law, Barron-Dienes, West Publishing, ISBN 0-314-22677-X, pp. 266-267]

The California FTB Publication 1031, Guidelines for Determining Resident Status, Year 2013 confirms that the government CANNOT determine the status for you and that only you can determine the status:

"The FTB will not issue written opinions on whether you are a California resident for a particular period of time because residency is a question of fact, not law. The information included in this publication is provided to help you with this determination."
[Guidelines for Determining Resident Status, Publication 1031 (2013), p. 1, California Franchise Tax Board (FTB)]

Therefore, no government has lawful authority to compel us to choose a "domicile" that is within its legislative jurisdiction or to have allegiance towards it, because that would be compelled association. The right to choose what political group or country we wish to join and have allegiance to and protection from also implies that we can reject all the earthly options and simply elect to join God's followers and be subject ONLY to His laws. This type of government would be called a "theocracy". This, in fact, is the goal of this entire publication: Establishing an ecclesiastical state separate from the corrupted governments that plague our land. It is a stark reality that what you define as protection might amount to its opposite for someone else. Therefore, each person is free to:

1. Define what "protection" means to them.
- Choose to join a political group or country that agrees most with their definition of "protection". This makes them into "nationals" of that country who profess "allegiance" to the "state" and thereby merit its protection.
- Choose a "domicile" within that country or group, and thereby become subject to its laws and a benefactor of its protection.

The notion of freedom to choose one's allegiances and protectors is a natural consequence of the fact that a "state" can consist of any number of people, from one person to millions or even billions of people. The political landscape constantly changes precisely because people are constantly exercising their right to change their political associations. A single person is free to create his own "state" and pass his own laws, and to choose a domicile within that created state. The boundaries of that created "state" might include only himself, only his immediate family, or encompass an entire city, county, or district. He might do this because he regards the society in which he lives to be so corrupt that it's laws, morality, and norms are injurious rather than protective. Such a motive, in fact, is behind an effort called the "Free State Project", in which people are trying to get together to create a new and different type of state within the borders of our country. The U.S. Supreme Court, in fact, has ruled that when the laws of a society become more injurious than protective to us personally, then we cease to have any obligation to obey them and may lawfully choose other allegiances and domiciles that afford better protection. To wit:

"By the surrender, the inhabitants passed under a temporary allegiance to the British government and were bound by such laws and such only as it chose to recognize and impose. From the nature of the case, no other laws could be obligatory upon them, for where there is no protection or allegiance or sovereignty, there can be no claim to obedience."
[Hanauer v. Woodruff, 82 U.S. (15 Wall.) 439 (1872)]

If a person decides that the laws and the people of the area in which he lives are injurious of his life, liberty, and property, then he is perfectly entitled to withhold his allegiance and shift his domicile to a place where better protection is afforded. When a person has allegiance and domicile to a place or society other than where he lives, then he is considered "foreign" in that society and all people comprising that society become "foreigners" relative to him in such a case. He becomes a "transient foreigner" and the only laws that are obligatory upon him are the criminal laws and the common law and no other. Below is what the U.S. Supreme Court said about the right of people to choose to disassociate with such "foreigners" who can do them harm. Note that they say the United States government has the right to exclude foreigners who are injurious. This authority, it says, comes from the Constitution, which in turn was delegated by the Sovereign People. The People cannot delegate an authority they do not have, therefore they must individually ALSO have this authority within their own private lives of excluding injurious peoples from their legal and political life by changing their domicile and citizenship. This act of excluding such foreigners becomes what we call a "political divorce" and the result accomplishes the equivalent of "disconnecting from the government matrix":

"The government, possessing the powers which are to be exercised for protection and security, is clothed with authority to determine the occasion on which the powers shall be called forth; and its determinations, so far as the subjects affected are concerned, are necessarily conclusive upon all its departments and officers. If, therefore, the government of the United States, through its legislative department, considers the presence of foreigners of a different race in this country, who will not assimilate with us, to be dangerous to its peace and security, their exclusion is not to be stayed because at the time there are no actual hostilities with the nation of which the foreigners are subjects. The existence of war would render the necessity of the proceeding only more obvious and pressing. The same necessity, in a less pressing degree, may arise when war does not exist, and the same authority which adjudges the necessity in one case must also determine it in the other. In both cases its determination is conclusive upon the judiciary. If the government of the country of which the foreigners excluded are subjects is dissatisfied with this action, it can make complaint to the executive head of our government, or resort to any other measure which, in its judgment, its interests or dignity may demand; and there lies its only remedy.

The power of the government to exclude foreigners from the country whenever, in its judgment, the public interests require such exclusion, has been asserted in repeated instances, and never denied by the executive or legislative departments.

[. . .]

The power of exclusion of foreigners being an incident of sovereignty belonging to the government of the United States as a part of those sovereign powers delegated by the constitution, the right to its exercise at any time when, in the judgment of the government, the interests of the country require it, cannot be granted away or restrained on behalf of any one. The powers of government are delegated in trust to the United States, and are incapable of transfer to any other parties. They cannot be abandoned or surrendered. Nor can their exercise be hampered, when needed for the public good, by any considerations of private interest. The exercise of these public trusts is not the subject of barter or contract."

Notice above the phrase:

"If the government of the country of which the foreigners excluded are subjects is dissatisfied with this action, it can make complaint to the executive head of our government, or resort to any other measure which, in its judgment, its interests or dignity may demand; and there lies its only remedy."

The court is tacitly admitting that there is NO legal remedy in the case where a foreigner is expelled because the party expelling him has an absolute right to do so. This inalienable right to expel harmful foreigners is just as true of what happens on a person's private property as it is to what they want to do with their ENTIRE LIFE, property, and liberty. This same argument applies to us divorcing ourselves from the state where we live. There is absolutely no legal remedy in any court and no judge has any discretion to interfere with your absolute authority to divorce not only the state, but HIM! This is BIG, folks! You don't have to prove that a society is injurious in order to disassociate from it because your right to do so is absolute, but if you want or need a few very good reasons why our present political system is injurious that you can show to a judge or a court, read through chapters 2 and 6 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302

<http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

The following authority establishes that a change in domicile is a SERIOUS choice that can have drastic effects upon people:

"§ 124. A Change of Domicil a Serious Matter, and presumed against –

But in any case a change of domicil, whether domicil of origin or of choice, national or quasi-national, is a very serious matter, involving as it may, and as it frequently does, an entire change of personal [CIVIL] law. The validity and construction of a man's testamentary acts and title disposition of his personal property in case of intestacy; his legitimacy in some cases and, if illegitimate, his capacity for legitimation; the rights and (in the view of some jurists) the capacities of married women; jurisdiction to grant divorces, and, according to the more recent English view, capacity to contract marriage, all these and very many other legal questions depend for their solution upon the principle of domicil; I so that upon the determination of the question of domicil it may depend oftentimes whether a person is legitimate or illegitimate, married or single, testate or intestate, capable or incapable of doing a variety of acts and possessing a variety of rights. To the passage quoted .. in the last section Kindersley, V. C., adds: "In truth, to hold that a man has acquired a domicil in a foreign country is a most serious matter, involving as it does the consequence that the validity or invalidity of his testamentary acts and the disposition of his personal property are to be governed by the laws of that foreign country. No doubt the evidence may be so strong and conclusive as to render such a decision unavoidable. But the consequences of such a decision may be, and generally are, so serious and so injurious to the welfare of families, that it can only be justified by the clearest and most conclusive evidence."

[A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and Company, 1887, p. 186]

Lastly, we emphasize that there is no method OTHER than domicile available in which to consent to the civil laws of a specific place. None of the following conditions, for instance, may form a basis for a prima facie presumption that a specific human being consented to be civilly governed by a specific municipal government:

1. Simply being born and thereby becoming a statutory "national" (per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21)) of a specific country is NOT an exercise of personal discretion or an express act of consent.
2. Simply living in a physical place WITHOUT choosing a domicile there is NOT an exercise of personal discretion or an express act of consent.

13.10 Theological significance of Domicile

13.10.1 Domicile in the Bible

Throughout the Bible, the terms "dwell", "dwelling", "abode", or "refuge" are used as a synonym for the legal concept of CIVIL DOMICILE. Below are some examples:

1. Numbers 35:29: The "statutes" are God's law, meaning that God's law takes precedence over the local man-made laws wherever the Israelites went.

1 *'And these things shall be a statute of judgment to you throughout your generations in all your dwelling
2 [domiciles].
3 [Numbers 35:29, Bible, NKJV]

- 4 2. Deut. 12:5: The place God chooses is the Kingdom of Heaven, and we are to take THAT instead of a civil ruler as our 5 “dwelling” or “domicile”.

6 “But you shall seek the place where the Lord your God chooses, out of all your tribes, to put His name for His
7 dwelling place; and there you shall go.*
8 [Deut. 12:5, Bible, NKJV]

- 9 3. Nehemiah 1:6-11: When the people restore God’s law to its proper role above man’s law, God gathers them together
10 in ONE place and under ONE law. In a legal sense, this means that they all share the same civil domicile in the 11 Kingdom of Heaven. The below scripture describes the reestablishment of a theocracy that put God in charge and 12 King instead of a heathen King. Those who don’t have a domicile in God’s jurisdiction are not REQUIRED to keep 13 His laws or “fear him”, which this scripture describes as “acting corruptly”.

14 “Both my father’s house and I have sinned. 7 We have acted very corruptly against You, and have not kept the 15 commandments, the statutes, nor the ordinances which You commanded Your servant Moses. 8 Remember, I pray,
16 the word that You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the
17 nations; but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them, though some of you were cast out to 18 *the farthest part of the heavens, yet I will gather them from there, and bring them to the place which I have
19 chosen as a dwelling for My name.’ Now these are Your servants [officers] and Your people, whom You have* 20 redeemed by Your great power, and by Your strong hand. O Lord, I pray, please let Your ear be attentive to the 21 prayer of Your servant, and to the prayer of Your servants who desire to fear Your name; and let Your servant
22 prosper this day, I pray, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man.”
23 [Neh. 1:6-11, Bible, NKJV]

- 24 4. Job 8:22: The dwelling place (domicile) of the wicked will bring them shame. That dwelling place is under an earthly 25 King RATHER than under God. It is a SIN to have an Earthly King above:

26 “Those who hate you will be clothed with shame, And the dwelling place of the wicked will come to nothing.”
27 [Job 8:22, Bible, NKJV]

- 28 5. Psalms 33:13-15: God’s domicile is the Kingdom of Heaven:

29 The LORD looks from heaven:
30 He sees all the sons of men.
31 From the place of His dwelling He looks
32 On all the inhabitants of the earth;
33 He fashions their hearts individually;
34 He considers all their works.”
35 [Psalms 33:13-15, Bible, NKJV]

- 36 6. Joel 3:17: God “dwells” in a holy mountain. Mountains are symbol of political kingdoms in the bible.

37 “So you shall know that I am the Lord your God, Dwelling in Zion My holy mountain. Then Jerusalem shall be 38 holy, And no aliens shall ever pass through her again.”
39 [Joel 3:17, Bible, NKJV]

- 40 7. Jude 1:5-7: Those who abandon a domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven are cursed. An example would be those who 41 abandon a civil domicile in God’s kingdom in exchange for the protection of an earthly King:

42 Old and New Apostates

43 *But I want to remind you, though you once knew this, that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of 44 Egypt, afterward destroyed those who did not believe. And the angels who did not keep their proper domain,
45 but left their own abode, He has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness for the judgment of the great
46 day; as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves*
47 over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of 48 eternal fire.
49 [Jude 1:5-7, Bible, NKJV]

1 8. John 14: The phrase “in my Father” means being LEGALLY WITHIN God as a “person” and as His AGENT under
2 the laws of agency. In other words, Jesus is God’s representative, officer, and agent and are joined together
3 LEGALLY but not PHYSICALLY to be within one corporate body. That corporate body is called “The Kingdom of 4 Heaven”. “make our abode with him” in the following scripture means that God is LEGALLY PRESENT with you as 5 a protector when you obey His commandments.

6 At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.

7 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved
8 of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.

9 Judas saith unto him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

10 Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and 11 we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.
12 [John 14:20-23, Bible, KJV]

13 9. Psalms 90:1: Devout Christians make God their domicile and “dwelling place” throughout all time no matter where 14 they physically are:

15 “Lord, You have been our dwelling place in all generations.”
16 [Psalms 90:1, Bible, NKJV]

17 10. Psalms 91: To have Heaven as your domicile means you are “abiding in the shadow of the Almighty” and taking 18 “refuge” under the protection of his civil laws.

19 He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High
20 Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

21 [. . .]

22 Because you have made the LORD, who is my refuge,
23 Even the Most High, your dwelling place,
24 No evil shall befall you,
25 Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling;
26 For He shall give His angels charge over you,
27 To keep you in all your ways.
28 In their hands they shall bear you up,
29 Lest you dash your foot against a stone.
30 You shall tread upon the lion and the cobra,
31 The young lion and the serpent you shall trample underfoot.

32 “Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him;
33 I will set him on high, because he has known My name.
34 He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him;
35 I will be with him in trouble;
36 I will deliver him and honor him.
37 With long life I will satisfy him,
38 And show him My salvation.”
39 [Psalms 91:1-2, 9-16, Bible, NKJV]

40 Your DOMICILE is the “dwelling place” of your LEGAL NAME. That name in legal parlance is called “person”. Your 41 PROPERTY attaches legally to your birth name. Two things were created when you were born: 1. Your physical body; 2.
42 Your identity as a “person” under a system of laws:

43 “They have set fire to Your sanctuary; They have defiled the dwelling place of Your name to the ground.”
44 [Psalms 74:7, Bible, NKJV]

45 Since you can only have ONE civil domicile, then if your CIVIL domicile is in “The Kingdom of Heaven”, then it BY 46 DEFINITION IS NOT within any man-made government. Here is an example:

47 “For our citizenship [domicile] is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus
48 Christ, who will transform our lowly body that it may be conformed to His glorious body, according to the 49 working by which He is able even to subdue all things to Himself.”

[Phil. 3:20-21, Bible, NKJV]

Since John 14 above says our “dwelling” as Christians must be with the Lord in the Kingdom of Heaven, then it by definition CANNOT be in any man-made government or any earthly political entity. This is the essence of what it means to be “sanctified” as a Christian: We are not joined legally through consent or contract with any part of the corrupt governments of the world. That concept is the foundation of separation of church and state, in fact:

“Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world [and the governments and corruption of the world].”
[James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

“I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and I said, ‘I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract or franchise or agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.’ But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?”

“Therefore I also said, ‘I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.’”

So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voices and wept.
[Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

“You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a “resident” or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you.”
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

13.10.2 Biblical criteria for a civil domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven

It may surprise the reader to learn that there is a specific biblical criteria by which people may lawfully claim a civil domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven. Below is the scripture, which is one of our favorites. We include this scripture in our Statement of Faith, in fact.⁹⁴ We have boldfaced the important words to show the connection with domicile and a government or theological or political kingdom.

The Character of Those Who May Dwell with the Lord

*Lord, who may abide in Your tabernacle?
Who may dwell in Your holy hill?
He who walks uprightly,
And works righteousness,
And speaks the truth in his heart;
He who does not backbite with his tongue,
Nor does evil to his neighbor,
Nor does he take up a reproach against his friend;
In whose eyes a vile person is despised,
But he honors those who fear the Lord;
He who swears to his own hurt and does not change;
He who does not put out his money at usury,
Nor does he take a bribe against the innocent.
He who does these things shall never be moved.*
[Psalm 15, Bible, NKJV]

We established in the previous section that the word “dwell” means a civil domicile. The Kingdom of Heaven is represented by the phrases “Your tabernacle” and “holy hill”. The words “hill” or “mountain” in the bible are equated many times as a metaphor for a political kingdom. Below is an article on the subject of Mystery Babylon from our Pastor's Corner that shows us this:

Revelation 17:9 And here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth.

The concept of seven hills would be unmistakably identified as Rome by the seven churches. Identifying the seven hills as the city of Rome was a substantial fact known to all in the first century. The detail sounded a note of authenticity to John's readers. They knew from firsthand experience the cruelty of Rome. Rome was the center of world trade in that part of the globe. She was rich in merchandise. Everything you can imagine was bought, sold, or traded in the city of Rome. At the hub of the chariot wheel, Rome joined Europe, Asia, and the Middle East. From Rome came legislation and executive orders. The armies of the world took their marching orders from Rome. Rome's politics was the subject at every tavern and grill in the Mediterranean. Her mountains were known to the world.

Others interpret the "mountain" to refers to other nations. This concept of mountains as representing powers or kingdoms also has merit (Psalm 30:7; Jeremiah 51:25; and Daniel 2:35). It is easy to understand the seven hills to represent seven empires and the kings who ruled them. Possibly, John is referring to the great empires that threatened God's people in Biblical times before the arrival of Rome on the map of history.

Back in the time that Apostle John wrote Rev. 17:9, many governments were theocracies and there was no separation between church and state. Hence, "hills" and "mountains" were synonymous with either churches or governments or civil or papal rulers that presided over them.

The phrase "dwell in" is a term synonymous with JOINING or ASSOCIATING with. Obviously, "hill" does NOT mean a physical hill, because you can't realistically live inside a physical hill. This is the same symbology the present de facto government uses when they say you are "in this State" or are a "resident" within "this State". "resident" means a contractor or covenant member:

26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

[IMPORTANT NOTE!: Whether a "person" is a "resident" or "nonresident" has NOTHING to do with the nationality or residence, but with whether it is engaged in a "trade or business"]

6017.

"In this State" or "in the State" means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.

Now that we know what a "hill" or "mountain" is, we have a whole new perspective on the following statement by Jesus:

1 So Jesus answered and said to them, "Have faith in God. For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this
2 mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things
3 he says will be done, he will have whatever he says. Therefore I say to you, whatever things you ask when you
4 pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.
5 [Mark 11:22-24, Bible, NKJV]

7 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, "Why could we not cast it out?"

8 So Jesus said to them, "Because of your unbelief; for assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed,
9 you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for 10 you. However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting."
11 [Matt. 17:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

12 Jesus indirectly was referencing a prayer that would bring an evil political kingdom down and destroy it. Obviously, He 13 wasn't referring to a righteous government, because elsewhere in the Bible, we are told to submit ourselves ONLY to political 14 rulers WHO ARE OBEYING GOD'S LAWS. Those rulers or governments who are NOT obeying God's laws or who write 15 laws in CONFLICT with God's laws we are commanded to rebel against:

16 Submission to Government

17 Therefore submit yourselves to every ordinance of man [which is ONLY] for the Lord's sake, whether to the 18 king as supreme, or to governors, as to those who are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers and for the 19 praise of those who do good. For this is the will of God, that by doing good you may put to silence the ignorance
20 of foolish men—as free, yet not using liberty as a cloak for vice, but as bondservants of God. Honor all people.
21 Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.\
22 [1 Peter 2:13-17, Bible, NKJV]

23
24 Then the captain went with the officers and brought them without violence, for they feared the people, lest they
25 should be stoned. And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest asked
26 them, saying, "Did we not strictly command you not to teach in this name? And look, you have filled Jerusalem
27 with your doctrine, and intend to bring this Man's blood on us!"

28 But Peter and the other apostles answered and said: "We ought to obey God rather than men. The God of our 29 fathers raised up Jesus whom you murdered by hanging on a tree. Him God has exalted to His right hand to be 30 Prince and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. And we are His witnesses to these things,
31 and so also is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey Him."
32 [Acts 5:26-32, Bible, NKJV]

33 An example of the prayer Jesus is talking about in Mark 11:22-24 to punish an unrighteous government or civil ruler is 34 described in the following sermons:

43 To summarize the criteria for a civil domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven INSTEAD of in Caesar's kingdom, you must:

- 44 1. Walk uprightly. By this, we believe it means walk confidently and derive your confidence and trust from ONLY faith
45 in God.
46 2. Work righteousness.
47 3. Speak the truth in your heart. Brutally honest to yourself about everything.
48 4. Not backbite with your tongue. By this we believe it means you don't gossip or insult anyone.
49 5. Do no evil to your neighbor.
50 6. Not take up a reproach against your friend. In other words, do not seek revenge.

- 1 7. Despise vile or evil people.
- 2 8. Honor those who fear the Lord.
- 3 9. Swear to your own hurt and do not change.
- 4 10. Not put out your money at usury,
- 5 11. Take no bribe against the innocent.

6 13.10.3 Biblical mandate of equal treatment REQUIRES no civil statutes and only common law and criminal law

7 In his wonderful course on justice and mercy that we highly recommend, Pastor Tim Keller analyzes the elements that make 8 up “justice” from both a legal and a biblical perspective.

Doing Justice and Mercy, Pastor Tim Keller
<http://sedm.org/doing-justice-and-mercy-timothy-keller/>

9 At 19:00 he begins covering biblical justice and introduces the subject by quoting Lev. 24:22:

10 “You shall have the same law for the stranger and for one from your own country; for I am the LORD your God.”
11 [Lev. 24:22, Bible, NKJV]

12 The above scripture may seem innocuous at first until you consider what a biblical “stranger” is. In legal terms, it means a
13 “nonresident”. A “nonresident”, in turn, is a transient wanderer who is not domiciled in the physical place that he or she is 14 physically located. To have the SAME law for both nonresident and domiciliary means they are BOTH treated equally by 15 the government and the court. This scripture therefore advocates equality of protection and treatment between nonresidents
16 and domiciliaries. We cover the subject of equality of protection and treatment in:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

17 The legal implications of Lev. 24:22 is the following:

- 18 1. A biblical “stranger” is called a “nonresident” in the legal field.
- 19 2. A biblical stranger is therefore someone WITHOUT a civil domicile in the place he is physically located.
- 20 3. The Bible says in Lev. 24:22 that you must have the SAME “law” for both the stranger and the domiciliary.
- 21 4. The civil statutory code acquires the “force of law” only upon the consent of those who are subject to it. Hence, the 22 main difference between the nonresident and the domiciliary is consent.
- 23 5. The only type of “law” that is the SAME for both nonresidents and domiciliaries is the common law and the criminal 24 law, because:
 - 25 5.1. Neither one of these two types of law requires consent of those they are enforced against.
 - 26 5.2. Neither one requires a civil domicile to be enforceable. A mere physical or commercial presence is sufficient to 27 enforce EITHER.

28 The conclusion is therefore inescapable that the only way the nonresident and the domiciliary can be treated EXACTLY 29 equally in a biblical sense is if:

- 30 1. The only type of “law” God authorizes is the criminal law and the common law. This means that God Himself defines 31 “law” as NOT including the civil statutes or protection franchises.
- 32 2. Anything OTHER than the criminal law and common law is not “law” but merely a compact or contract enforceable
33 only against those who individually and expressly consent. Implicit in the idea of consent is the absence of duress,
34 coercion, or force of any kind. This means that the government offering civil statutes or “protection franchises”
35 MUST:
 - 36 2.1. NEVER call these statutes “law” but only an offer to contract with those who seek their “benefits”.
 - 37 2.2. Only offer an opportunity to consent to those who are legally capable of lawfully consenting. Those in states of 38 the Union whose rights are UNALIENABLE are legally incapable of consenting.
 - 39 2.3. RECOGNIZE WHERE consent is impossible, which means among those whose PRIVATE or NATURAL rights
40 are unalienable in states of the Union.
 - 41 2.4. RECOGNIZE those who refuse to consent.

- 2.5. Provide a way administratively to express and register their non-consent and be acknowledged with legally admissible evidence that their withdrawal of consent has been registered..
- 2.6. PROTECT those who refuse to consent from retribution for not “volunteering”.
3. The civil statutory code may NOT be created, enacted, enforced, or offered against ANYONE OTHER than those who LAWFULLY consented and had the legal capacity to consent because either abroad or on federal territory, both of which are not protected by the Constitution. Why? Because it is a “protection franchise” that DESTROYS equality of treatment of those who are subject to it. We cover this in Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030.
4. Everyone in states of the Union MUST be conclusively presumed to NOT consent to ANY civil domicile and therefore be EQUAL under ALL “laws” within the venue.
5. Both private people AND those in government, or even the entire government are on an equal footing with each other in court. NONE enjoys any special advantage, which means no one in government may assert sovereign, official, or judicial immunity UNLESS PRIVATE people can as well.
6. Anyone who tries to enact, offer, or enforce ANY civil statutory “codes” and especially franchises is attempting what the U.S. Supreme Court calls “class legislation” that leads inevitably to strife in society:

“The income tax law under consideration is marked by discriminating features which affect the whole law. It discriminates between those who receive an income of $4,000 and those who do not. It thus vitiates, in my judgment, by this arbitrary discrimination, the whole legislation. Hamilton says in one of his papers (the Continentalist): ‘The genius of liberty reprobates everything arbitrary or discretionary in taxation. It exacts that every man, by a definite and general rule, should know what proportion of his property the state demands; whatever liberty we may boast of in theory, it cannot exist in fact while [arbitrary] assessments continue.’ I Hamilton’s Works (Ed. 1885) 270. The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation. Whenever a distinction is made in the burdens a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by reason of their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses, and to general unrest and disturbance in society. It was hoped and believed that the great amendments to the constitution which followed the late Civil War had rendered such legislation impossible for all future time.” [Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan and Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429 (1895)]

7. Any attempt to refer to the civil code as “law” in a biblical sense by anyone in the legal profession is a deception and a heresy. They are LYING!
8. The only proper way to refer to the civil statutory code is as “PRIVATE LAW” or “SPECIAL LAW”, but not merely “law”. Any other description leads to deception.

“Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition, regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person upon whom the obligation is incident are private individuals. See also Private bill; Special law. Compare Public Law.” [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1196]

“special law. One relating to particular persons or things; one made for individual cases or for particular places or districts; one operating upon a selected class, rather than upon the public generally. A private law. A law is “special” when it is different from others of the same general kind or designed for a particular purpose, or limited in range or confined to a prescribed field of action or operation. A “special law” relates to either particular persons, places, or things or to persons, places, or things which, though not particularized, are separated by any method of selection from the whole class to which the law might, but not such legislation, be applied. Utah Farm Bureau Ins. Co. v. Utah Ins. Guaranty Ass’n, Utah, 564 P.2d. 751, 754. A special law applies only to an individual or a number of individuals out of a single class similarly situated and affected, or to a special locality. Board of County Com’rs of Lemhi County v. Swensen, Idaho, 80 Idaho 198, 327 P.2d. 361, 362. See also Private bill; Private law. Compare General law; Public law.” [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1397-1398]

9. Anyone who advocates creating, offering, or enforcing the civil statutory code in any society corrupts society, usually for the sake of the love of money. In effect, they seek to turn the civil temple of government into a WHOREHOUSE. Justice is only possible when those who administer it are impartial and have no financial conflict of interest. The purpose of all franchises is to raise government revenue, usually for the “benefit” mainly of those in the government, and not for anyone else.

QUESTION FOR DOUBTERS: If the analysis in this section is NOT accurate, then why did God say the following about either rejecting or disobeying His commandments and law or replacing them with man-made commandments and statutes, such as we have today?:

Israel Carried Captive to Assyria

5 Now the king of Assyria went throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. 6 In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and carried Israel away to Assyria, and placed them in Halah and by the Habor, the River of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For so it was that the children of Israel had sinned against the Lord their God, who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and they had feared other gods, 8 and had walked in the statutes of the nations whom the Lord had cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made. 9 Also the children of Israel secretly did against the Lord their God things that were not right, and they built for themselves high places in all their cities, from watchtower to fortified city. 10 They set up for themselves sacred pillars and wooden images[a] on every high hill and under every green tree. 11 There they burned incense on all the high places, like the nations whom the Lord had carried away before them; and they did wicked things to provoke the Lord to anger, 12 for they served idols, of which the Lord had said to them, "You shall not do this thing."

13 Yet the Lord testified against Israel and against Judah, by all of His prophets, every seer, saying, "Turn from your evil ways, and keep My commandments and My statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by My servants the prophets." 14 Nevertheless they would not hear, but stiffened their necks, like the necks of their fathers, who did not believe in the Lord their God. 15 And they rejected His statutes and His covenant that He had made with their fathers, and His testimonies which He had testified against them; they followed idols, became idolaters, and went after the nations who were all around them, concerning whom the Lord had charged them that they should not do like them. 16 So they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, made for themselves a molded image and two calves, made a wooden image and worshiped all the host of heaven, and served Baal. 17 And they caused their sons and daughters to pass through the fire, practiced witchcraft and soothsaying, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke Him to anger. 18 Therefore the Lord was very angry with Israel, and removed them from His sight; there was none left but the tribe of Judah alone.

19 Also Judah did not keep the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made. 20 And the Lord rejected all the descendants of Israel, afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of plunderers, until He had cast them from His sight. 21 For He tore Israel from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. Then Jeroboam drove Israel from following the Lord, and made them commit a great sin. 22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they did not depart from them, 23 until the Lord removed Israel out of His sight, as He had said by all His servants the prophets. So Israel was carried away from their own land to Assyria, as it is to this day.

[2 Kings 17:5-23, Bible, NKJV]

1 The above analysis is EXACTLY the approach we take in defining what "law" is in the following memorandum:

What is "law"?, Form #05.048
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2 13.10.4 It is idolatry for a Christian to have a domicile within a man-made government or anything other than
3 God's Kingdom

4 Note also the use of the word "permanent home" in the definition of "domicile". According to the Bible, "earth" is NOT
5 permanent, but instead is only temporary, and will eventually be destroyed and rebuilt as a new and different earth:

6 "But the heavens and the earth which are now preserved by the same word, are reserved for fire until the day of 7 judgment and perdition of ungodly men."
8 [2 Peter 3:7, Bible NKJV]

9 The legal definition of "permanent" also demonstrates that it can mean any length of time one wants it to mean:

10 8 U.S.C. §1101

11 (a) As used in this chapter—

(31) The term "permanent" means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from temporary, but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the instance either of the United States or of the individual, in accordance with law.

We believe what they are really describing above is the equivalent of a "protection contract" between you and the government, because the way it functions is that it is terminated when either you or the government insist, which means that while it is in force, your consent is inferred and legally "presumed". Below is how another author describes it, and note that the real meaning of "indefinitely" is "as long as he consents to a protector":

"One resides in one's domicile indefinitely, that is, with no definite end planned for the stay. While we hear 'permanently' mentioned, the better word is 'indefinitely'. This is best seen in the context of a change of domicile."
[Conflicts in a Nutshell, David D. Siegel and Patrick J. Borchers, ISBN 0-314-160669-3, 3rd Edition, West Group, p. 16]

Christians define "permanent" the same way God does. God is eternal so His concept of "permanent" means "eternal". Therefore, no place on earth can be "permanent" in the context of a Christian:

"Do not love [be a permanent inhabitant or resident of] the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world--the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life--is not of the Father but is of the world. And the world is passing away [not permanent], and the lust of it; but he who does the will of God abides forever."
[1 John 2:15, Bible, NKJV]

Christians are only allowed to be governed by God and His laws found in the Bible. Man's laws are simply a vain substitute, but God's laws are our only true and permanent source of protection, and the only type of protection we can consent to or intend to be subject to without violating our covenant and contract with God found in the Holy Bible.

"Away with you, Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him ONLY [NOT the government or man's vain laws or an atheistic democratic socialist "state"] you shall serve.'"
[Matt. 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

The main allegiance of Christians is exclusively to Him, and not to any man or earthly law or government. We are citizens of Heaven, and not earth. The most we can be while on earth is "nationals", because "nationals" are not subject to man's laws and only "citizens" are. See:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Publications/WhyANational/WhyANational.pdf>

Therefore, the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth can be our only "legal home" or "domicile" or "residence".

"For our citizenship is [not WAS or WILL BE, but PRESENTLY IS] in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ"
[Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them, embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth."
[Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

"Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims [temporarily occupying the world], abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul..."
[1 Peter 2:1, Bible, NKJV]

"Do you not know that friendship [and citizenship] with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend for "resident" of the world makes himself an enemy of God."
[James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

"And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God."
[Romans 12:2, Bible, NKJV]

The above scriptures say we are "sojourners and pilgrims", meaning we are perpetual travelers while temporarily here as God's ambassadors. Legal treatises on domicile also confirm that while a person is "in transitu", meaning travelling and sojourning temporarily, he cannot choose a domicile and that his domicile reverts to his "domicile of origin". The domicile of origin is the place you were created and existed before you came to Earth, which is Heaven:

§ 114. Id. Domicil of Origin adheres until another Domicil is acquired. –

But whether the doctrine of Udney v. Udney be or be not accepted, the law, as held in Great Britain and America, is beyond all doubt clear that domicile of origin clings and adheres to the subject of it until another domicile is acquired. This is a logical deduction from the postulate that "every person must have a domicile somewhere." For as a new domicile cannot be acquired except by actual residence cum animo manendi, it follows that the domicile of origin adheres while the subject of it is in transitu, or, if he has not yet determined upon a new place of abode, while he is in search of one,—“quarens quo se conferat atque ubi constituat.” Although this is a departure from the Roman law doctrine, yet it is held with entire unanimity by the British and American cases. It was first announced, though somewhat confusedly, by Lord Alvanley in Somerville v. Somerville: "The third rule I shall extract is that the original domicile . . . or the domicile of origin is to prevail until the party has not only acquired another, but has manifested and carried into execution an intention of abandoning his former domicile and taking another as his sole domicile." The same idea has been expressed by Lord Wensleydale in somewhat different phrase in Aikman v. Aikman: "Every man's domicile of origin must be presumed to continue until he has acquired another sole domicile by actual residence with the intention of abandoning his domicile of origin. This change must be animo et facto, and the burden of proof unquestionably lies upon him who asserts the change." Lord Cranworth observed in the same case: "It is a clear principle of law that the domicile of origin continues until another is acquired; i.e., until the person has made a new home for himself in lieu of the home of his birth." In America similar language has been used.

[Treatise on the Law of Domicil, Little, Brown, and Company, M.W. Jacobs, 1887, pp. 174-175;

Even the U.S. Supreme Court has held that while a person temporarily occupies a place and is "in transitu" or "in itinere", he or she is not subject to the civil laws of that place.

"It is generally agreed by writers upon international law, and the rule has been judicially applied in a great number of cases, that wherever any question may arise concerning the status of a person, it must be determined according to that law which has next previously rightfully operated on and fixed that status. And, further, that the laws of a country do not rightfully operate upon and fix the status of persons who are within its limits in itinere, or who are abiding there for definite temporary purposes, as for health, curiosity, or occasional business; that these laws, known to writers on public and private international law as personal statutes, operate only on the inhabitants of the country. Not that it is or can be denied that each independent nation may, if it thinks fit, apply them to all persons within their limits. But when this is done, not in conformity with the principles of international law, other States are not understood to be willing to recognize or allow effect to such applications of personal statutes."
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. (19 How.) 393, 595 (1856)]

To “consent” or “choose” to be governed by anything but God and His sacred Law is idolatry in violation of the first four Commandments of the Ten Commandments.

*"It is better to trust the Lord
Than to put confidence in man.
It is better to trust in the Lord
Than to put confidence in princes [or government, or the 'state']."*
[Psalm 118:8-9]

If you can't put confidence in “princes”, which we interpret to mean political rulers or governments, then we certainly can't have allegiance to them or put that allegiance above our allegiance to God. We can therefore have no "legal home" or "domicile" or “residence” anywhere on earth. Our only law is God's law and Common law, which is based on God's law. Below is an example of how the early Jews adopted this very attitude towards government from the Bible.

"Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people [the Jews, who today are the equivalent of Christians] scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; their laws are different from all other people's because they are [God's laws!], and they do not keep the [king's \[unjust\] laws](#). Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into the king's treasures."
[Esther 3:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

"Those people who are not governed [ONLY] by GOD and His laws will be ruled by tyrants."
[William Penn (after whom Pennsylvania was named)]

1 "A free people [claim] their rights as derived from the laws of nature [God and His laws], and not as the gift of
2 their chief magistrate [or any government law]."
3 [Thomas Jefferson: Rights of British America, 1774. ME 1:209, Papers 1:134]

4 Our acronym for the word BIBLE confirms the above conclusions:

5 B-Basic
6 I-Instructions
7 B-Before
8 L-Leaving
9 E-Earth

10 We are only temporarily here and Heaven is where we intend to return and live permanently. Legal domicile is based only
11 on intent, not on physical presence, and it is only "domicile" which establishes one's legal and tax "home". No one but us
12 can establish our "intent" and this is the express intent. Neither can we as Christians permit our "domicile" to be subject to 13 change under any circumstances, even when coerced. To admit that there is a "permanent home" or "place of abode"
14 anywhere on earth is to admit that there is no afterlife, no God, and that this earth is as good as it gets, which is a depressing
15 prospect indeed that conflicts with the Bible. The Bible says that while we are here, Satan is in control, so this is definitely 16 not a place we would want to call a permanent home or a domicile:

17 "We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies under the sway of the wicked one."
18 [1 John 5:19, Bible, NKJV]
19

20 "Again, the devil took Him [Jesus] up on an exceedingly high mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the 21 world and their glory. And he said to Him, "All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship
22 me. [Satan]"

23 Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and
24 Him only you shall serve.'"

25 "Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him."
26 [Matt. 4:8-11, Bible, NKJV]
27

28 "I [Jesus] will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world [Satan] is coming, and he has nothing
29 in Me. But that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father gave Me commandment, so I do.
30 Arise, let us go from here."
31 Jesus in [John 14:30-31, Bible, NKJV]

32 Satan could not have offered the kingdoms of the world to Jesus and tempted Him with them unless he controlled them to 33 begin with. Satan is in control while we are here. Only a fool or an atheist would intend to make a wicked earth controlled
34 by Satan into a "permanent place of abode".

35 "He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world [on earth] will keep it for eternal life."
36 [John 12:25, Bible, NKJV]

37 Only a person who hates this life and the earth as they are and who doesn't want to make it a "permanent place of abode" or 38 "domicile" can inherit eternal life.

39 "If you were of the world [had a permanent home here], the world would love its own. Yet because you
40 [Christians] are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you [who are a 41 "stranger" and a "foreigner"]."
42 [John 15:19, Bible, NKJV].

43 QUESTION: How can you be "chosen out of the world" as Jesus says and yet still have a domicile here?]

44 "Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, 45 and to keep oneself unspotted from the world [and the governments, laws, taxes, entanglements, and sin in the 46 world]."
47 [James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

1 *"So we are always confident, knowing that while we are at home in the body [the physical body] we are absent
2 from the Lord. For we walk by faith, not by sight. We are confident, yes, well pleased rather to be absent from
3 the body and to be present with the Lord [in the Kingdom of Heaven]."
4 [2 Cor. 5:6-8, Bible, NKJV]

5 Even Jesus Himself admitted that earth was not his "domicile" when He said:

6 Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go." And Jesus said to
7 him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."
8 [Matt. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

9 When we become believers, we, like Jesus Himself, become God's "ambassadors" on a foreign mission from the Kingdom
10 of Heaven according to 2 Cor. 5:20. Our house is a foreign embassy:

11 "Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ's 12 behalf, be reconciled to God."
13 [2 Cor. 5:20, Bible, NKJV]

14 The Corpus Juris Secundum Legal Encyclopedia says that ambassadors have the domicile of those who they represent, which 15 in the case of Christians is the Kingdom of Heaven.

25 Another interesting aspect of domicile explains why the Bible symbolically refers to believers as the "children of God".
26 Below are examples:

27 "But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His 28 name"
29 [John 1:2, Bible, NKJV]

30 "The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God"
31 [Romans 8:16, Bible, NKJV]

32 "That is, those who are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of the promise 33 are counted as the seed."
34 [Romans 9:8, Bible, NKJV]

35 "Behold what manner of love the Father has bestowed on us, that we should be called children of God! "
36 [1 John 3:1, Bible, NKJV]

37 "In this the children of God and the children of the devil are manifest: Whoever does not practice righteousness
38 is not of God, nor is he who does not love his brother."

40 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep His commandments."
41 [1 John 5:2, Bible, NKJV]

42 The Corpus Juris Secundum Legal Encyclopedia says that those who are children, dependents, minors, or of unsound mind
43 assume the domicile of the sovereign who is their "caretaker". As long as we are called "children of God" and are dependent
44 exclusively on Him, we assume His domicile, which is the Kingdom of God:

6 The Bible treats the government as God's steward for truth and justice under God's laws. The passage below proves this, and
7 it is not referring to ALL governments, but only those that are righteous, which are God's stewards, and who act in a way
8 that is completely consistent and not in conflict with God's holy laws.

9 Submit to [Righteous] Government [and rebel against Unrighteous Government]

10 "Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the 11 authorities that exist are appointed by God. Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God,
12 and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves. For [righteous] rulers are not a terror to good works,
13 but to evil. [However, unrighteous rulers ARE a terror to good works] Do you want to be unafraid of the 14 [righteous] authority? Do what is good, and you will have praise from the same. For he [ONLY the righteous,
15 not the unrighteous ruler] is God's minister to you for good. But if you do evil, be afraid; for he does not bear
16 the sword in vain; for he is God's minister, an avenger to execute wrath on him who practices evil. Therefore
17 you must be subject, not only because of wrath but also for conscience' sake. For because of this you also pay
18 taxes, for they [the righteous, and not unrighteous rulers] are God's ministers attending continually to this very 19 thing. Render therefore to all [those who are righteous and NOT unrighteous] their due: taxes to whom taxes
20 are due, customs to whom customs, fear to whom fear, honor to whom honor."
21 [Rom. 13:1-7, Bible, NKJV]

22 The term "governing authorities" is synonymous with "God's ministers". The Bible says that the government is on Jesus'
23 shoulders, and therefore God's shoulders, not any man:

24 "For God is the King of all the earth; Sing praises with understanding."
25 [Psalm 47:7, Bible, NKJV]
26

27 "For the LORD is our Judge, the LORD is our Lawgiver, the LORD is our King; He will save [and protect]
28 us."
29 [Isaiah 33:22, Bible, NKJV]
30

31 For unto us a Child is born,
32 Unto us a Son is given;
33 And the government will be upon His shoulder.
34 And His name will be called
35 Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God,
36 Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.
37 [Isaiah 9:6, Bible, NKJV]

38 The Lord cannot be King where Satan is allowed to rule, even temporarily. Those who are not God's ministers are NOT 39 "governing authorities" but usurpers and representatives of Satan, not God. They are "children of Satan", not God.

40 "They have corrupted themselves;
41 They are not His children,
42 Because of their blemish:
43 A perverse and crooked generation."
44 [Deut. 32:5, Bible, NKJV]

45 When government ceases to be a "minister of God's justice" and rather becomes a competitor for pagan idol worship and 46 obedience of the people, then God abandons the government and the result is the equivalent of a legal divorce. This is 47 revealed in the following scripture, which describes those who pursue pagan gods and pagan governments that act like god
48 as "playing the harlot". The phrase "invites you to eat of his sacrifice", in modern day terms, refers to those who receive
49 socialist welfare in any form, most of which is PLUNDER STOLEN from people who became a human sacrifice to the pagan
50 government:

51 The Covenant Renewed

52 And He said: "Behold, I make a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels such as have not been done
53 in all the earth, nor in any nation; and all the people among whom you are shall see the work of the LORD. For

1 it is an awesome thing that I will do with you. Observe what I command you this day. Behold, I am driving out
2 from before you the Amorite and the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Perizzite and the Hivite and the Jebusite.
3 Take heed to yourself, lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land where you are going, lest it
4 be a snare in your midst. But you shall destroy their altars, break their sacred pillars, and cut down their
5 wooden images (for you shall worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God),
6 lest you make a covenant [engage in a franchise, contract, or agreement] with the inhabitants of the land, and
7 they play the harlot with their gods and make sacrifice to their gods, and one of them invites you and you eat
8 of his sacrifice, and you take of his daughters for your sons, and his daughters play the harlot with their gods
9 and make your sons play the harlot with their gods.
10 [Exodus 34:10-16, Bible, NKJV]

11 "No outsider [person who has not taken the Mark of the Beast] shall eat the holy offering [revenues collected
12 from involuntary human sacrifices to the pagan cult by the IRS or the SSA]; one who dwells with the priest [judges
13 are the priests of the civil religion], or a hired servant [licensed attorneys, who are the deacons of the church
14 appointed by the chief priests at the Supreme Court], shall not eat the holy thing. But if the priest [the judge]
15 buys a person with his money [his court order to induct a new cult member by compelling participation in excise
16 taxable activities such as a "trade or business"], he may eat it; and one who is born in his [court] house [or is a
17 fellow "public officer" of the government engaged in a "trade or business"] may eat his food."
18 [Lev. 22:10-11, Bible, NKJV]

19 "He who sacrifices to any god, except to the LORD only, he shall be utterly destroyed."
20 [Exodus 22:20, Bible, NKJV]

21 "They shall no more offer their sacrifices to demons, after whom they have played the harlot. This shall be a 22 statute forever for them throughout their generations."
23 [Lev. 17:7, Bible, NKJV]

24 The result of the divorce of a righteous God from a Pagan government that has become a child of Satan and His competitor
25 for the worship of the people is that God "hides his face", as the Bible says:

26 And I will surely hide My face in that day because of all the evil which they have done, in that they have turned 27 to other gods.
28 [Deut. 31:18, Bible, NKJV]

29 "I will hide My face from them, I will see what their end will be, For they are a perverse generation, Children 30 in whom is no faith."
31 [Deut. 32:20, Bible, NKJV]

32 "Then My anger shall be aroused against them in that day, and I will forsake them, and I will hide My face from 33 them, and they shall be devoured. And many evils and troubles shall befall them, so that they will say in that day,
34 'Have not these evils come upon us because our God is not among us?'"
35 [Deut. 31:17, Bible, NKJV]

36 Below is a fascinating sermon about how and why God "hides his face" or "disappears":

The Disappearing God, Pastor John Weaver, 1 Sam. 3:21
<http://www.sermonaudio.com/sermoninfo.asp?SID=8121351932>

37 Those who follow pagan governments rather than God after the civil "divorce" become the children of Satan, not God and
38 are practicing idolatry. These people have misread Romans 13 and made government into a pagan substitute for God's 39 protection and adopt the government as their new caretaker, and thereby shift their effective domicile to the government as
40 its dependents and "children". This is especially true when the government becomes socialist, abuses its power to tax as a
41 means of wealth transfer, and pays any type of social welfare to the people. At that point, the people become "dependents"
42 and assume the domicile of their caretaker. One insightful congressman said the following of this dilemma during the debates
43 over the original Social Security Act:

44 Mr. Logan: "...Natural laws can not be created, repealed, or modified by legislation. Congress should know there
45 are many things which it can not do..."

46 "It is now proposed to make the Federal Government the guardian of its citizens. If that should be done, the 47 Nation soon must perish. There can only be a free nation when the people themselves are free and administer
48 the government which they have set up to protect their rights. Where the general government must provide 49 work, and incidentally food and clothing for its citizens, freedom and individuality will be destroyed and 50 eventually the citizens will become serfs to the general government..."

Any attempt to think about citizenship, domicile, and residence any way other than the way it is described here amounts to a devious and deceptive attempt by the Pharisees [lawyers] to use the "traditions of men" to entrap Christians and churches and put them under government laws, control, taxes, and regulation, thereby violating the separation of powers doctrine. The Separation of Powers Doctrine as well as the Bible itself both require churches and Christians to be totally separate from government, man's laws, and control, taxation, and regulation by government. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections 4.4.5 and 4.4.11 for further details on the competition between "church" and "state" for the love and affections and allegiances of the people, and why separation of these two powers is absolutely essential.

"Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage to the government or the income tax or the IRS or federal statutes that are not "[positive law" and do not have jurisdiction over us]."
[Galatians 5:1, Bible, NKJV]

13.10.5 "Domicile of origin" is in the Kingdom of Heaven and NOT on the present corrupted Earth

"Domicile of origin" is a legal term used to connote the FIRST domicile a civil "person" ever had at the time of birth. As a concept, it is often employed to resolve disputes about the domicile of a deceased party during probate. Below is an example from the Canadian Courts:

The applicable law [20] The law of domicile is well settled:

1. A person will always have one, and only one, domicile at any point in his or her life. A person begins with a "domicile of origin", which is generally the place where he or she was born.

2. A domicile of origin can be displaced by the acquisition of a "domicile of choice", a place where a person has acquired a residence in fact in a new place and has the intention to live there indefinitely. 2014 SKQB 64 (CanLII) - 6 -

3. A person abandons a domicile of choice by ceasing to reside there in fact and by ceasing to intend to reside there permanently or indefinitely.

4. A person can lose his or her domicile of choice by abandonment even though a new domicile of choice has not been acquired.

The questions here are whether or not Dr. Scott abandoned Saskatoon as his domicile of choice and, if he did, whether he acquired a new domicile of choice in British Columbia. Finally, if he abandoned Saskatoon but had not acquired a domicile of choice in British Columbia at the time of his death, where was his domicile?
[Vanston v. Scott, Q.B.S. No. 675 of 2012; SOURCE: <https://sedm.org/forums/topic/vanston-v-scott-q-b-s-no-675-of-2012/#post-17209>]

The above case ruled that:

[43] The law of domicile is clear. The evidence, though sparse, is clear – Dr. Scott was born in Calgary. The result, on the law and the evidence is that Dr. Scott 2014 SKQB 64 (CanLII) - 13 - was domiciled in Alberta [the place of his birth and his "domicile of origin"] at the time of his death. That, Ryan argues, makes little sense. After all: Dr. Scott had not lived in Alberta for at least the 25 years preceding his death; none of the estate assets are in Alberta; none of the interested parties lives in Alberta and neither of the parties wants the law of Alberta to apply. There was no evidence that Dr. Scott had any connection to Alberta other than being born there. Ryan's counsel invited the court to depart from the well-established law in order to avoid that which he termed to be an "absurd" result (a word used in Foote Estate, supra, at para 34). He did not, however (as requested in my October 8, 2013 fiat), articulate a test that might result in either Saskatchewan or British Columbia being designated as Dr. Scott's domicile.

The thing that most courts such as the above refuse to acknowledge is the biblical concept of “domicile of origin”. You existed in Heaven BEFORE you came to earth, so the effective “domicile of origin” is NO PLACE on earth. Therefore, God’s laws of probate apply and not man’s:

*“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you;
Before you were born I sanctified you;
I ordained you a prophet to the nations.”*
[Jeremiah 1:5, Bible, NKJV; SOURCE:
<https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Jeremiah+1:5&version=NKJV>]

*For You formed my inward parts;
You covered me in my mother’s womb.
¹⁴ I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made;
Marvelous are Your works,
And that my soul knows very well.
¹⁵ My frame was not hidden from You,
When I was made in secret,
And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.
¹⁶ Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed.
And in Your book they all were written,
The days fashioned for me,
When as yet there were none of them.*

[Psalm 139:13-16, Bible, NKJV;SOURCE:
<https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Psalm+139&version=NKJV%5D>]

Notice the phrase:

“¹⁵ My frame was not hidden from You, When I was made in secret, And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.”.

“Made in secret” implies that NO MAN was around at the time, INCLUDING the mother! “Lowest parts of the Earth” implies a place not on the SURFACE of the Earth.

The Bible calls Christians sojourners and pilgrims, which means they are temporarily away from their “domicile of origin” in Heaven or what the scriptures call “The New Jerusalem”. You can only be a “citizen” in the place of your domicile, and you can only have ONE domicile at a time, as the cite above affirms. If we are “citizens of heaven” according to the bible, then we are not ALLOWED to also be “citizens” under any statutes on earth:

“For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ”
[Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

“Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God.”
[Ephesians 2:19, Bible, NKJV]

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them, embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims [transient foreigners] on the earth.”
[Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

“Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul...”
[1 Peter 2:11, Bible, NKJV]

The real issue of the case is WHAT LAW applies in the place of the “domicile of origin”: 1. STATUTE law or 2. COMMON law?

The answer depends on the intention of the party as far as LEGALLY associating with the state and thereby becoming a state officer. If that association was not intended, and the party wishes to remain exclusively private, then the COMMON LAW and the CONSTITUTION and not STATUTE law would apply. The court didn’t address that issue, because taxation or licensing was not at issue. If it were at issue, then the their analysis would need to be much more detailed and on the level of our documents on the subject of franchises, Form #05.030.

We all have PUBLIC and PRIVATE identities, and therefore TWO “personas”, one subject to the common law (private) and one subject to STATUTE law (PUBLIC/officer).

“Quando duo juro concurrunt in und person, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.

When two rights concur in one person, it is the same as if they were in two separate persons. 4 Co. 118.”

[Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);

SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

It is clearly prejudicial and constitutes criminal identity theft to PRESUME in violation of due process that the party who died was ONLY PUBLIC and had no PRIVATE status or PRIVATE property.

Lastly, on the subject of probate, we apply the domicile concepts of this document to a specific real case of probate in the following document:

Affidavit of Domicile: Probate, Form #04.223

13.11 Domicile and civil jurisdiction

13.11.1 What’s so bad about the civil statutory law? Why care about avoiding it or pursuing common law or constitutional law to replace it?

Our investigation into the subject of domicile began with abuse by the family courts and the statutory codes that regulate and control it. This sort of legal abuse by what we now call “legislative franchise courts” such as the family court is what gets most people interested in the freedom subject and our website to begin with. Traffic court is another court that abuses people as well and it too is a “legislative franchise court”. At the time of the abuse, we couldn’t figure out exactly what it was about the process that was unjust or unfair, but we resolved to not only thoroughly document it, but to identify how to avoid it and exactly how to prosecute those who instituted the abuse for those who “un-volunteered”. That quest is what gave birth to our entire website and this document, in fact.

The basic principle of justice is to:

1. Govern and support your own life. In other words, ask for nothing from government.
2. Leave other people alone. Respect them and protect their right of self-ownership, choice, and self-government.
3. Only enforce against others against their consent AFTER they injure someone else.
4. Limit all government to recovering the cost of the injury, not government civil penalties on top of it.

So how does the civil code, or what we call the “civil protection franchise” undermine the above, we asked ourselves in studying this important subject?:

1. It grants a monopoly on protection to the government. All monopolies are evil because:
 - 1.1. There is no competition.
 - 1.2. All attempts to privatize selected services are penalized and prosecuted by hostile bureaucrats who want to “protect their turf” and their retirement check.
 - 1.3. The postal service, for instance, has a monopoly on mail but shouldn’t have. Lysander Spooner, the founder of libertarian thought and a lawyer, attempted to compete with the postal service and put them to shame, and he was prosecuted for it.
2. It creates and perpetuates an UNEQUAL relationship between the “government grantor” of the civil protection franchise and you.
 - 2.1. You become inferior and subservient to the grantor of the franchise. That is why they call those who are subject to it a “subject”.
 - 2.2. This results in idolatry in violation of the Bible.
3. It destroys ABSOLUTE ownership of PRIVATE property.
 - 3.1. The government becomes the ABSOLUTE owner and you become a CUSTODIAN over THEIR property.
 - 3.2. The PUBLIC OFFICE called “citizen” or “resident” is merely an employment position you fill as custodian over the GOVERNMENT’S property, meaning ALL property.

- 3.3. The use of government identifying number in association with the title to property becomes prima facie evidence that you are engaged in the franchise and that the property is “PRIVATE PROPERTY DONATED TO A PUBLIC USE TO PROCURE THE BENEFITS OF THE CIVIL PROTECTION FRANCHISE”.
4. It interferes with your right to contract:
- 4.1. The parties to every civil contract, when using government ID and associated license numbers, unknowingly insert the government into the relationship as an agent of the protection franchise, often without the knowledge of the parties.
- 4.2. Those who wish to contract the government OUT of the relationship by negotiating either binding arbitration or invoking the common law and not the statute law are interfered with by corrupt judges who want to pad their pocket by inserting themselves into the relationship not as coaches, but OWNERS of both participants who become “employees” or “officers” under the civil code.
5. The civil protection franchise is abused by politicians as a method to institute class warfare between the people:
- 5.1. The voting booth and the jury box become a battle ground used by the poor to steal from the rich.
- 5.2. The tax code is used as a vehicle to abuse the government’s taxing power to transfer wealth from the have-nots to the haves.
- 5.3. The tax code is abused essentially to punish success with taxes and reward failure with subsidies, thus destroying the economy and all incentive to be productive or responsible.
- 5.4. The promise of “benefits” by campaigning politicians become essentially a vehicle to ILLEGALLY and CRIMINALLY bribe voters with loot STOLEN through the illegal use of the government’s taxing powers.
6. It places NO limits on the PRICE you pay for the “benefit” of its “protection”. Politicians can and do impose any duty upon those who are subject to it because the premise is that you had to consent to be subject to it.
7. The administrators of the franchise REFUSE to recognize on the forms and processes administering the franchise:
- 7.1. Your right to NOT participate . . .OR
- 7.2. Your right to quit. . .OR
- 7.3. The right to document the existence of duress in signing up on the forms administering the franchise. Try walking into a Social Security office and ask for forms to quit the system as we have. You will be escorted out by an armed guard and be accused of being a terrorist if you refuse to cooperate!
8. You aren’t allowed to QUALIFY or LIMIT HOW MUCH you pay or what specific PRIVATE rights you are willing to give up or can be forced to give up in order to procure its “benefits”.
- 8.1. There is no opportunity to negotiate a better deal.
- 8.2. You can’t go to anyone else for the service to improve your bargaining position.
- 8.3. It therefore behaves as an “adhesion contract” that is unconscionable.
9. It results in a SURRENDER of ALL common law and natural rights.
- 9.1. The civil code is predicated on consent
- 9.2. Anything you consent to cannot form the basis of an injury under the common law or the Constitution.
10. When you sign up for one franchise under the civil statutory protection franchise, such as the vehicle code by getting a marriage license, you are COERCED and expected to be party to ANY and EVERY other government franchise.
- 10.1. They demand a Social Security Number, and therefore FORCE you to sign up for Social Security as well. The DMV does this.
- 10.2. This completely destroys your power of choice and your autonomy and self-government.
- 10.3. It makes it impossible to procure the protection of the vehicle code WITHOUT becoming a public officer who has to do ANYTHING and EVERYTHING congress can dream up to put in your “employment agreement” called the civil code.
11. People who do not want its benefits:
- 11.1. Are punished with civil penalties that don’t apply to them and can’t lawfully be enforced against them.
- 11.2. Are told they are crazy or stupid.
- 11.3. Are treated unfairly as “anarchists” or even violent or terrorists, as is being done with the “Sovereign Citizen Movement” at this time. This is an unjust and unfair and undeserved stereotype designed mainly and essentially to protect the governments at least perceived authority to essentially use the civil franchise as a way to justify its right to essentially STEAL from the average American.
12. In court, those who refuse to consent to the franchise and who become the illegal target of enforcement of the PROVISIONS of the franchise are maliciously interfered with in violation of the Bill of Rights by:
- 12.1. Refusing to recognize or protect their unalienable constitutional rights.
- 12.2. Refusing to recognize their right to invoke the common law against EVERYONE, INCLUDING the government, who at that point is on an EQUAL rather than INFERIOR relationship to them.
- 12.3. Forcing them into a franchise court such as family court, traffic court, or tax court that CANNOT lawfully hear a matter NOT involving a franchisee.

12.4. Telling them they are crazy, ignorant, or stupid when they try to invoke the common law or the constitution instead of the franchise in their defense.

Is it any surprise that the Roman Empire, which was the origin of the above system of usury under the Roman “jus civile”, failed and collapsed? Anyone that would build the security of private property upon such a frail and evil foundation is bound to fail quickly, and every government that has ever tried throughout history has failed for the same reason. Below is a description of HOW that failure happened:

Is there a better way? Absolutely. God’s law is the PERFECT law of liberty:

“But he who looks into the perfect law of liberty [God’s law] and continues in it, and is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this one will be blessed in what he does.”
[James 1:25, Bible, NKJV]

*“The Spirit of the Lord God is upon Me [Jesus],
Because the Lord has anointed Me
To preach good tidings to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the [government] captives [trapped like hunted animals within the civil franchise code],
And the opening of the prison to those who are bound [to a PUBLIC office called “citizen” or “resident”];*
[Isaiah 61:1, Bible, NKJV]

*“The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me,
Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are [government] oppressed;
To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord.”
[Luke 4:18-19, Bible, NKJV]

If you would like exhaustive coverage of God’s “perfect law of liberty”, read the following:

1. Laws of the Bible, Form #13.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
2. Bible Law Course, Form #12.015
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

By the way, “the perfect law of liberty” forbids those subject to it from consenting to or coming under the civil statutory jurisdiction of any other law system, or any ruler who grants or administers it, and says that doing so is IDOLATRY.

“You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a “resident” or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you.”*
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

*“Awake, awake, O Zion, clothe yourself with strength. Put on your garments of splendor, O Jerusalem, the holy city. The uncircumcised and defiled will not enter you again. Shake off your dust; rise up, sit enthroned, O Jerusalem [Christians]. Free yourself from the chains [contracts and franchises] on your neck, O captive Daughter of Zion. For this is what the LORD says: “You were sold for nothing [free government cheese worth a fraction of what you had to pay them to earn the right to “eat” it], and without money you will be redeemed.”

[Isaiah 52:1-3, Bible, NKJV]

"I [God] brought you up from Egypt [government slavery to a civil ruler called Pharaoh] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract or franchise or agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

"Therefore I also said, 'I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.'"

So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voices and wept.
[Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

NOW do you know why we began our search for something BETTER and more EQUAL and JUST than the civil protection franchise or statutory "code"? The amount of INJUSTICE evident in the above list of defects is truly mind-boggling almost to the point of making life not even worth living if called to endure it. That's what George Carlin said about the miserable existence we suffer under presently because of a defective legal system:

I'm divorced from it now, George Carlin
<https://youtu.be/MPA7VvuGBnw>

The video below describes the MASSIVE injustices of the present de facto civil franchise system as "The Matrix":

The Matrix, Stefan Molyneux
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P772Eb63qIY&>

Lastly, lest we be accused of being "narcissistic psychopathic anarchists", let us now emphasize what we DO NOT object to about the civil protection franchise. What we like about it is the opportunity it provides for remedy when an injury occurs between PRIVATE people one to another. That remedy is NOT exclusive, because you can abandon a domicile and instead invoke the common law. Outside of the sphere or remedy for PRIVATE injury, nothing but problems result that are easily remedied by God's "perfect law of liberty". The problems occur mainly when the GOVERNMENT is the party doing the injuring, which happens far more frequently than PRIVATE injury. Like any mafia, the government only protects itself and uses the law as an excuse to persecute political dissidents. This we call "selective enforcement" and it happens all the time, and ESPECIALLY with the IRS. The abuse of discretion to target of conservative groups by the IRS and the scandal that ensued in 2015 comes to mind. That mafia is described in the following funny video:

The Government Mafia, Clint Richardson
<https://sedm.org/government-mafia/>

The fact that government essentially is allowed to behave literally as a criminal mafia under the auspices of the civil statutory protection franchise is how the original Roman Empire grew so large to begin with. Look at how the Romans treated Jesus in crucifying Him, and you understand why they were unjust. He refused to pay His "protection money" so they broke His knee caps, even though they could find no legal fault in Him.

"Then the whole multitude of them arose and led Him to Pilate. And they began to accuse Him, saying, "We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar [TAX PROTESTER], saying that He Himself is Christ, a King [SOVEREIGN]."
[Luke 23:2, Bible, NKJV]

13.11.2 History of our system of civil statutory law

Our system of civil statutory law was inherited from the Roman statutory law, which was called “jus civile”.

Chapter II: The Civil and the Common Law

29. In the original civil law, jus civile, was exclusively for Roman citizens; it was not applied in controversies between foreigners. But as the number of foreigners increased in Rome it became necessary to find some law for deciding disputes among them. For this the Roman courts hit upon a very singular expedient. Observing that all the surrounding peoples with whom they were acquainted had certain principles of law in common, they took those common principles as rules of decision for such cases, and to the body of law thus obtained they gave the name of Jus gentium. The point on which the jus gentium differed most noticeably from the Jus civile was its simplicity and disregard of forms. All archaic law is full of forms, ceremonies and what to a modern mind seem useless and absurd technicalities. This was true of the [civil] law of old Rome. In many cases a sale, for instance, could be made only by the observance of a certain elaborate set of forms known as mancipation; if any one of these was omitted the transaction was void. And doubtless the laws of the surrounding peoples had each its own peculiar requirements. But in all of them the consent of the parties to transfer the ownership for a price was required. The Roman courts therefore in constructing their system of Jus gentium fixed upon this common characteristic and disregarded the local forms, so that a sale became the simplest affair possible.

30. After the conquest of Greece, the Greek philosophy made its way to Rome, and stoicism in particular obtained a great vogue among the lawyers. With it came the conception of natural law (Jus naturale) or the law of nature (jus naturae); to live according to nature was the main tenet of the stoic morality. The idea was of some simple principle or principles from which, if they could be discovered, a complete, systematic and equitable set of rules of conduct could be deduced, and the unfortunate departure from which by mankind generally was the source of the confusion and injustice that prevailed in human affairs. To bring their own law into conformity with the law of nature became the aim of the Roman jurists, and the praetor's edict and the responses were the instruments which they used to accomplish this. Simplicity and universality they regarded as marks of natural law, and since these were exactly the qualities which belonged to the jus gentium, it was no more than natural that the two should to a considerable extent be identified. The result was that under the name of natural law principles largely the same as those which the Roman courts had for a long time been administering between foreigners permeated and transformed the whole Roman law.

The way in which this was at first done was by recognizing two kinds of rights, rights by the civil law and rights by natural law, and practically subordinating the former to the latter. Thus if Caius was the owner of a thing by the civil law and Titius by natural law, the courts would not indeed deny up and down the right of Caius. They admitted that he was owner; but they would not permit him to exercise his legal right to the prejudice of Titius, to whom on the other hand they accorded the practical benefits of ownership; and so by taking away the legal owner's remedies they practically nullified his right. Afterwards the two kinds of laws were more completely consolidated, the older civil law giving way to the law of nature when the two conflicted. This double system of rights in the Roman law is of importance to the student of the English law, because a very similar dualism arose and still exists in the latter, whose origin is no doubt traceable in part to the influence of Roman ideas.

[An Elementary Treatise on the Common Law for the Use of Students, Henry T. Terry, The Maruzen-Kabushiki-Kaisha, 1906, pp. 18-20]

Roman law recognized only TWO classes of persons: statutory “citizens” and “foreigners”. Only those who consented to become statutory “citizens” could become the lawful subject of the jus civile, which was the statutory civil law. Those who were not statutory “citizens” under the Roman Law, which today means those with NO civil domicile within the territory of the author and grantor of the civil law, were regarded as:

1. “foreigners”
2. Not subject to the jus civile or statutory Roman Law.
3. Subject only to the common law, which was called jus gentium.

Note also that the above treatise characterizes TWO classes of rights: Civil rights and Natural rights. Today, these rights are called PUBLIC rights and PRIVATE rights by the courts in order to distinguish them. Public rights, in turn, are granted only to statutory “citizens” who consented to become citizens under the civil statutory law. The civil statutory law, or jus civile, therefore functions in essence as a franchise contract or compact that creates and grants ONLY public rights. Those who do not join the social compact by consenting to become statutory “citizens” therefore are relegated to being protected by natural law and common law, which is much more just and equitable.

Note the emphasis in the above upon the concept that everything exchanged must be paid for:

“And doubtless the laws of the surrounding peoples had each its own peculiar requirements. But in all of them the consent of the parties to transfer the ownership for a price was required.”

The concept we emphasize in the above cite is that the PUBLIC rights attached to the status of “citizen” under the Roman jus civile or statutory law constituted property that could not be STOLEN from those who did not consent to become “citizens” or to accept the “benefits” or “privileges” of statutory citizenship. Such a THEFT by government of otherwise PRIVATE or NATURAL rights would amount to an unconstitutional eminent domain by the government by converting PRIVATE rights into PUBLIC rights without the consent of the owner and without compensation.

13.11.3 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17 establishes that civil law is a voluntary franchise

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17 establishes the basis for litigating in all CIVIL courts under ONLY the STATUTORY law.

IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.

Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

(1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

(2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized; and

(3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

(A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and

(B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.

[SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

Conspicuously absent from the above federal civil rule are the two MOST important sources of law:

1. The USA Constitution.
2. The common law. The common law includes natural rights.

Why are these two sources of law NOT explicitly or expressly mentioned in the above civil rule as a source of jurisdiction or standing to sue in a federal CIVIL statutory court? Because these sources of law come from the constitution and are NOT “granted” or “created” by the government. Anything not CREATED by the government cannot be limited, regulated, or taxed. PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property, for instance, are NOT “created” by government and instead are created and endowed by God, according to the Declaration of Independence:

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,

[Declaration of Independence, 1776]

*“Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;’ and to ‘secure,’ not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property for income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public “benefit”]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation.”

[Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

The Constitution or the common law therefore may be cited by ANYONE, including those not domiciled within the civil statutory jurisdiction of the civil court, so long as they were physically present on land protected by the Constitution within the district served by the court at the time they received an injury. Recall that the Constitution attaches to LAND, and not to your status as a statutory “citizen” or “resident”:

1 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
2 and not the status of the people who live in it."
3 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

4 13.11.4 Two contexts for legal terms: CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY

5 "When words lose their meaning [or their CONTEXT WHICH ESTABLISHES THEIR MEANING], people lose
6 their freedom."
7 [Confucius (551 BCE - 479 BCE) Chinese thinker and social philosopher]

8 It is absolutely crucial to understand that there are TWO contexts in which all legal statuses such as "citizen", "resident", and 9 "alien" can be used:

10 1. Constitutional.

11 1.1. Relates to one's POLITICAL status.

12 1.2. Relates to NATIONALITY and NOT DOMICILE.

13 1.3. A CONSTITUTIONAL status is established ONLY by being either born or naturalized within the jurisdiction of 14 the specific NATIONAL government that wrote the statute.

15 2. Statutory.

16 2.1. Relates to ones' CIVIL or LEGAL status.

17 2.2. Relates to DOMICILE and NOT NATIONALITY.

18 2.3. A STATUTORY status is established ONLY by voluntarily choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of the 19 specific government that wrote the statute.

20 It is CRUCIAL in EVERY interaction with any government to establish WHICH of these two contexts that every term they 21 are using relates to, and ESPECIALLY on government forms. A failure to understand the status can literally mean the 22 difference between SLAVERY and FREEDOM.

23 One can, for instance, be a "citizen" under CONSTITUTION and yet be an "non-resident non-person" under STATUTORY
24 law in relation to the federal government. This is the status of those who are born in states of the Union and who are domiciled
25 within the exclusive jurisdiction of a CONSTITUTIONAL state of the Union.

26 The purpose of providing a statutory definition of a legal "term" is to supersede and not enlarge the ordinary, common law,
27 constitutional, or common meaning of a term. Geographical words of art include:

- 28 1. "State"
- 29 2. "United States"
- 30 3. "alien"
- 31 4. "citizen"
- 32 5. "resident"
- 33 6. "U.S. person"

34 The terms "State" and "United States" within the Constitution implies the constitutional states of the Union and excludes
35 federal territory, statutory "States" (federal territories), or the statutory "United States" (the collection of all federal territory).
36 This is an outcome of the separation of powers doctrine. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

37 The U.S. Constitution creates a public trust which is the delegation of authority order that the U.S. Government uses to 38 manage federal territory and property. That property includes franchises, such as the "trade or business" franchise. All
39 statutory civil law it creates can and does regulate only THAT property and not the constitutional States, which are foreign,
40 sovereign, and statutory "non-resident non-persons" (Form #05.020) for the purposes of federal legislative jurisdiction.

41 It is very important to realize the consequences of this constitutional separation of powers between the states and national 42 government. Some of these consequences include the following:

- 43 1. Statutory "States" as indicated in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and "States" in nearly all federal statutes are in fact federal territories and the definition does NOT include constitutional states of the Union.

2. The statutory "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) includes federal territory and excludes any land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union.
3. Terms on government forms assume the statutory context and NOT the constitutional context.
4. Domicile is the origin of civil legislative jurisdiction over human beings. This jurisdiction is called "in personam jurisdiction".
5. Since the separation of powers doctrine creates two separate jurisdictions that are legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other, then there are TWO types of political communities, two types of "citizens", and two types of jurisdictions exercised by the national government.

"It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?"

[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

6. A human being domiciled in a Constitutional state and born or naturalized anywhere in the Union. These are:
 - 6.1. A state national pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101\(a\)\(21\)
 - 6.2. A statutory "non-resident non-person" if exclusively PRIVATE and not engaged in a public office.
 - 6.3. A statutory "nonresident alien" (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government if they lawfully serve in a public office.
7. You can be a statutory "nonresident alien" pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) and a constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment "Citizen" AT THE SAME TIME. Why? Because the Supreme Court ruled in Hooen and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945), that there are THREE different and mutually exclusive "United States", and therefore THREE types of "citizens of the United States". Here is an example:

"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the United States[] except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District of Columbia or in the territories [STATUTORY citizens], though within the United States[], were not [CONSTITUTIONAL] citizens."*

[Slaughter-House Cases, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 36, 21 L.Ed. 394 (1873)]

The "citizen of the United States*" mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is a constitutional "citizen of the United States*", and the term "United States" in that context includes states of the Union and excludes federal territory. Hence, you would NOT be a "citizen of the United States*" within any federal statute, because all such statutes define "United States*" to mean federal territory and EXCLUDE states of the Union. For more details, see:

Why You are a Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. Your job, if you say you are a "citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" on a government form (a VERY DANGEROUS undertaking!) is to understand that all government forms presume the statutory and not constitutional context, and to ensure that you define precisely WHICH one of the three "United States" you are a "citizen" of, and do so in a way that excludes you from the civil jurisdiction of the national government because domiciled in a "foreign state". Both foreign countries and states of the Union are legislatively "foreign" and therefore "foreign states" in relation to the national government of the United States. The following form does that very carefully:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9. Even the IRS says you CANNOT trust or rely on ANYTHING on any of their forms and publications. We cover this in our Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007. Hence, if you are compelled to fill out a government form, you have an OBLIGATION to ensure that you define all "words of art" used on the form in such a way that there is no room for presumption, no judicial or government discretion to "interpret" the form to their benefit, and no injury to your rights or status by filling out the government form. This includes attaching the following forms to all tax forms you submit:

- 9.1. Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 9.2. Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201

The following cite from U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark helps clarify the distinctions between the STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL contexts by admitting that there are TWO components that determine one's "citizenship" status: NATIONALITY and DOMICILE.

In Udney v. Udney (1869) L. R. 1 H.L.Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the question whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British subject. Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: 'The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that of domicile.' Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by saying: 'The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status; another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.' And then, while maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which 'the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy—must depend,' he yet distinctly recognized that a man's political status, his country (patria), and his 'nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,'—may depend on different laws in different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British dominion are natural-born subjects.

So:

1. The Constitution is a POLITICAL and not a LEGAL document. It therefore determines your POLITICAL status rather than your LEGAL/STATUTORY status.
2. Nationality determines your POLITICAL STATUS and whether you are a "subject" of the country.
3. DOMICILE determines your CIVIL and LEGAL and STATUTORY status. It DOES NOT determine your POLITICAL status or nationality.
4. Being a constitutional "citizen" per the Fourteenth Amendment is associated with nationality, not domicile.
5. Allegiance is associated with nationality, not domicile. Allegiance is what makes one a "subject" of a country.
6. Your personal and municipal rights, meaning CONSTITUTIONAL rights, associate with your choice of legal domicile, not your nationality or what country you are a subject of or have allegiance to.
7. Being a statutory "citizen" is associated with domicile, not nationality, because it is associated with being an inhabitant RATHER than a "subject".
8. A statutory "alien" under most acts of Congress is a person with a foreign DOMICILE, not a foreign NATIONALITY. By "foreign", we mean:
 - 8.1. Nationality context: OUTSIDE of COUNTRY United States.
 - 8.2. Domicile context: OUTSIDE of federal territory and the exclusive federal jurisdiction, and NOT outside the Constitutional United States (states of the Union).

For an example of the above, see the following cite referencing territorial citizens in relation to the CONSTITUTIONAL states. Note that it calls them "foreigners". Notice also that these areas are the ONLY place the I.R.C. Subtitle A income tax applies, per the definition of "United States" found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10), which is why if a state national files an income tax return, they file the 1040 tax as a statutory "individual". All statutory "individuals" are legally defined as "aliens" for the purposes of income tax under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).¹⁰¹

"Constitutionally, only those born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens. Const.Amdt. XIV. The power to fix and determine the rules of naturalization is vested in the Congress. Const.Art. I, sec. 8, cl. 4. Since all persons born outside of the [CONSTITUTIONAL] United States, are "foreigners,"[1] and not subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, the statutes, such as § 1993 and 8 U.S.C.A. §601 [currently 8 U.S.C. §1401], derive their validity from the naturalization power of the Congress. Elk v. Wilkins, 1884, 112 U.S. 94, 101, 5

[Ly Shew v. Acheson, 110 F.Supp. 50 (N.D. Cal., 1953)]

Understanding the distinction between nationality and domicile, in turn is absolutely critical.

1. Nationality:

- 1.1. Is a political status.
- 1.2. Is defined by the Constitution, which is a political document.
- 1.3. Is synonymous with being a “national” within statutory law.
- 1.4. Is associated with a specific COUNTRY.

2. Domicile:

- 2.1. Is a civil status.
- 2.2. Is not even addressed in the constitution.
- 2.3. Is defined by civil statutory law RATHER than the constitution.
- 2.4. Is in NO WAY connected with one’s nationality.
- 2.5. Is usually connected with the word “person”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” in statutory law.
- 2.6. Is associated with a specific COUNTY and a STATE rather than a COUNTRY.
- 2.7. Implies one is a “SUBJECT” of a SPECIFIC MUNICIPAL but not NATIONAL government.

Nationality and domicile, TOGETHER determine the POLITICAL AND CIVIL/LEGAL status of a human being respectively. These important distinctions are recognized in Black’s Law Dictionary:

“nationality – That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state. Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while domicile determines his civil [statutory] status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary (6th ed. 1990), p. 1025]

The U.S. Supreme Court also confirmed the above when they held the following. Note the key phrase “political jurisdiction”, which is NOT the same as legislative/statutory jurisdiction. One can have a political status of “citizen” under the constitution while NOT being a “citizen” under federal statutory law because not domiciled on federal territory. To have the status of “citizen” under federal statutory law, one must have a domicile on federal territory:

“This section [Fourteenth Amendment, Section 1] contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,- birth and naturalization. The persons declared to be citizens are ‘all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.’ The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”
[U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456; 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

“This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects, his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
[Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

Notice in the last quote above that they referred to a foreign national born in another country as a “citizen”. THIS is the REAL “citizen” that judges and even tax withholding documents are really talking about, rather than the “national” described in the constitution. And also notice that they say in relation to DOMICILE/STATUTORY status the following “He owes the same obedience to the CIVIL laws”, thus establishing that CIVIL law does not apply to those WITHOUT a DOMICILE.

Domicile and NOT nationality is what imputes a status under the tax code and a liability for tax. Tax liability is a civil liability that attaches to civil statutory law, which in turn attaches to the person through their choice of domicile. When you CHOOSE a domicile, you elect or nominate a protector, which in turn gives rise to an obligation to pay for the civil protection demanded. The method of providing that protection is the civil laws of the municipal (as in COUNTY) jurisdiction that you chose a domicile within.

"domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

Later versions of Black's Law Dictionary attempt to cloud this important distinction between nationality and domicile in order to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand federal power into the states of the Union and to give federal judges unnecessary and unwarranted discretion to kidnap people into their jurisdiction using false presumptions. They do this by trying to make you believe that domicile and nationality are equivalent, when they are EMPHATICALLY NOT. Here is an example:

"nationality – The relationship between a citizen of a nation and the nation itself, customarily involving allegiance by the citizen and protection by the state; membership in a nation. This term is often used synonymously with citizenship."
[Black's Law Dictionary (8th ed. 2004)]

Federal courts regard the term "citizenship" as equivalent to domicile, meaning domicile on federal territory.

"The words "citizen" and citizenship," however, usually include the idea of domicile, Delaware, L.&W.R.Co. v. Petrowsky, C.C.A.N.Y., 250 F. 554, 557;"
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 310]

Hence:

1. The term "citizenship" is being stealthily used by government officials as a magic word that allows them to hide their presumptions about your status. Sometimes they use it to mean NATIONALITY, and sometimes they use it to mean DOMICILE.
2. The use of the word "citizenship" should therefore be AVOIDED when dealing with the government because its meaning is unclear and leaves too much discretion to judges and prosecutors.
3. When someone from any government uses the word "citizenship", you should:
 - 3.1. Tell them NOT to use the word, and instead to use "nationality" or "domicile".
 - 3.2. Ask them whether they mean "nationality" or "domicile".
 - 3.3. Ask them WHICH political subdivision they imply a domicile within: federal territory or a constitutional state of the Union.

WARNING: A failure to either understand or correctly apply the above concepts can literally mean the difference between being a government pet in a legal cage called a franchise, and being a free and sovereign man or woman.

13.11.5 Changing your domicile changes your relationship from foreign to domestic and changes POLITICAL speech to LEGAL speech in court

We said earlier in section 13.1 that domicile is an EXTREMELY important subject to learn because it defines and circumscribes:

1. The boundary between what is legislatively "foreign" and legislatively "domestic" in relation to a specific jurisdiction. Everyone domiciled OUTSIDE a specific jurisdiction is legislatively and statutorily "foreign" in relation to that civil jurisdiction. Note that you can be DOMESTIC from a CONSTITUTIONAL perspective and yet ALSO be FOREIGN from a legislative jurisdiction AT THE SAME TIME. This is true of the relationship of most Americans with the national government.

- 1 2. The boundary between what is POLITICAL speech and LEGAL speech. For everyone not domiciled in a specific
2 jurisdiction, the civil law of that jurisdiction is POLITICAL and unenforceable. Since real constitutional courts cannot 3 entertain political questions, then they cannot act in a political capacity against nonresidents.

4 This section will prove these assertions.

5 Throughout our website, we refer to:

- 6 1. The entire Bible as a book about politics and government.
7 1.1. The term “mountain” is synonymous with a “kingdom” or country. It can literally refer to a specific landform, but
8 more often it refers to the location of a political system: Daniel 2:35; Amos 4:1; 6:1; Micah 4:2; Matthew 4:8.
9 That is why Moses had to go to the top of Mount Sinai (a mountain, which was symbolic of God’s political 10 kingdom) to receive the Ten Commandments in Exodus 19.
11 1.2. The term “hill” is synonymous with city or temple. Psalm 15, 1 Sam. 10:5. This is the same “hill” or “tower of 12 babel” that the first king, Nimrod, built, and which God tried to tear down in Genesis 10.
13 2. The “Lawgiver” of any society as literally the “god” of that society:
14

Why All Law is Religious in Nature , Family Guardian Fellowship http://famguardian.org/Subjects/LawAndGovt/ChurchVState/WhyAllManmadeLawRelig.htm

15 3. The Bible as a covenant or contract between Christians and God.
16 4. The Bible as a trust indenture. All trusts are special kinds of contracts.
17 5. The Heaven and the Earth as the corpus of the trust.
18 6. God as the Grantor and the Beneficiary of the Bible trust indenture.
19 7. Believers as “trustees” under the Bible trust indenture.
20 8. “Worship” as an act of obedience to the trust indenture and within the authorities delegated by the Trust.
21 9. Believers as having a “fiduciary relationship” and exercising agency or “office” on behalf of the Beneficiary, who is 22 God, while on Earth.
23 10. The blessings found in Deut. 28:1-14 as the periodic and current compensation of trustees under the trust indenture.
24 11. Our time on Earth as a proving and testing ground to determine who is faithful to and therefore belongs to God. All
25 those who don’t belong to God by definition belong to Satan.
26 12. The “blessings of Heaven” as the “deferred compensation” (retirement plan) of trustees under the trust indenture. The 27 Heaven, and the “House of Many Mansions” mentioned by Jesus in John 14:2 is the “retirement home” for believers after they leave Earth. On this subject, we often jokingly say:

28 “My boss is a Jewish carpenter and His benefits program is OUT OF THIS WORLD!”

- 29 13. Jesus as the “Protector” of the trust indenture. He recruits (calls or hires), qualifies (using His law), and disqualifies
30 (fires) trustees. Those who have not faithfully executed their duties as trustees will not receive the ongoing “benefits”
31 (blessings) or the deferred (retirement) compensation of the trust.
32 14. Those who do things that are forbidden by the trust or refuse to do things that are commanded as:
33 14.1. “sinners”: This is what Jesus calls them in Matt. 9. In Spanish, “sin” means “without”, and the thing people are 34 “without” when they sin is God and His laws.
35 14.2. “lawless”: This is what Jesus called them in Matt. 7:23, Matt. 13:41, Matt. 23:28, and Matt. 24:12.

36 The above metaphor is exhaustively proven using the Bible as evidence in the following:

37 Anyone who does not “worship” (serve ANYONE or ANYTHING ABOVE them, and who in turn possesses superior or 38 supernatural powers) is an atheist. Those who worship the wrong god are called “idolaters”. Even those who THINK they 39 are “atheists” often in fact DO worship (obey and serve) a religion without knowing it. The thing they worship is the thing
40 they put higher in importance than God. This could be SELF, any law system OTHER than God’s, money, sex, power, etc.
41 The idolatry practiced by atheists is described in:

1 The Bible shows how the transition from FOREIGN to DOMESTIC and POLITICAL to LEGAL happens in relation to God
 2 in the following passage:

3 *2 That at that time ye were without (separated from) Christ, being aliens (shut out) from the commonwealth
 4 (Politeo, polis) of Israel, and strangers (xenos or alien) from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and
 5 without God (atheist) in the world (cosmos):

6 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

7 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 8 fence) between us;

9 15 Having abolished in his flesh the enmity (hostility), even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in
 10 ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;

11 16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain (killed) the enmity thereby:

12 17 And came and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were nigh.

13 18 For through him we both have access (freedom or right to enter) by one Spirit unto the Father.

14 19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers (xenos or foreigner or alien) and foreigners (one who lives in a place
 15 without citizenship), but fellow citizens (sumpolitai: from polis) with the saints, and of the household (domestic,
 16 blood kindred) of God;
 17 [Eph. 2:2-19, Bible, KJV (amplified)]

18 Translations of the words and phrases found above into contemporary legal language:

19 Table 20: Biblical v. Legal use of terms within the Bible relating to domicile

#	Bible term	Legal meaning within secular law
1	“Christ Jesus”	Our political ruler. In secular terms, civil rulers are “kings” under the civil law.
2	“aliens”	Those with a foreign domicile regardless of the geographical place of birth.
3	“commonwealth”	political entity or state.
4	“covenants of promise”	Social Compact. The Social Compact is implemented by the civil statutory law. Criminal law does not require consent to lawfully enforce, so it technically is not a covenant or agreement.
5	“strangers from the covenants”	Not consenting members of the body politic or the “social compact”. Not protected by the civil statutory law.
6	“having no hope”	fearful because outside the protection and benefit of your king or ruler.
7	“without God”	Without a government civil protector.
8	“middle wall of partition”	Legal boundary between what is just and unjust. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from the CONSENT of the governed. It would be unjust and an act of terrorism to interfere with or even protect the property or rights of those who didn’t consent to RECEIVE the protection.
9	“the enmity (hostility)”	The jealous insistence of self-government and self-ownership and one’s PRIVATE rather than PUBLIC status. Also, the status of being a criminal under God’s law who has not yet been arrested or incarcerated. Under God’s laws, we are all criminals and deserve death, eternal separation from God, prison, and isolation. That’s the story of the Garden of Eden. Adam and Eve had to be kicked out of the Garden after they sinned.
10	“abolished in his flesh . . . even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;”	Christ abolished the enmity and separation between God and us by becoming a living sacrifice and paying the penalty for our sin demanded by God’s commandments. Hence, we can safely leave the slavery and isolation of our sin and return to fellowship with God. Prisons do the same thing. Criminals must be separated from society by being put in jail. They must fulfill their sentence before they can return to society and fellowship as an equal member once again.

1 Before we become Christians, we are legally separated from God and outside of the protection and “benefit” (blessing) of 2 His laws:

- 3 1. God’s criminal laws “protect” us. His criminal laws protect us even if we don’t consent to the protection. They attach 4 to the LAND we stand on and therefore are called the “law of the land”. Sin has the effect of “uprooting us” from the 5 “protections” of this “law of the land”:

6 “For the upright will dwell in the land,
7 And the blameless will remain in it;
8 But the wicked will be cut off from the earth,
9 And the unfaithful will be uprooted from it.”
10 [Prov. 2:21-22, Bible, NKJV]

- 11 2. God’s civil statutory laws “benefit” or “bless” us. We must consent to become the proper subject of His CIVIL laws, 12 and hence, we must be a party to a COVENANT to receive their “benefits”. Anything that conveys “benefits” or 13 “blessings” is a franchise in legal terminology. Legal evidence of the existence of our covenant with God is the act of 14 baptism. Beyond baptism, our acts of obedience and professed faith also constitutes such legal evidence. James 2.

15 Being “outside” of the protection of a specific system of law as described below is called being “foreign”, a “stranger”,
16 “stateless”, or a “nonresident” in secular legal terms.

17 2 That at that time ye were without (separated from) Christ, being aliens (shut out) from the commonwealth
18 (Politeo, polis) of Israel, and strangers (xenos or alien) from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and
19 without God (atheist) in the world (cosmos):

20 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

21 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 22 fence) between us;

23 While we are “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, and a “nonresident” in relation to God and His laws, we are usually 24 “domestic”, a statutory “person”, and a “subject” in relation to a political ruler. The Apostle Paul refers to the shedding of 25 this legal identity as “putting on the new man”:

26 The New Man

27 This I say, therefore, and testify in the Lord, that you should no longer walk as the rest of the Gentiles walk, in
28 *the futility of their mind, having their understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God, because of 29 the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart; who, being past feeling, have given
30 themselves over to lewdness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.

31 But you have not so learned Christ, if indeed you have heard Him and have been taught by Him, as the truth is in
32 *Jesus: that you put off, concerning your former conduct, the old man which grows corrupt according to the 33 deceitful lusts, and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and that you put on the new man which was created
34 according to God, in true righteousness and holiness.
35 [Eph. 4:17-24, Bible, NKJV]

36 After we have shed Caesar’s/Satan’s authority over us, we are no longer under Caesar’s protection:

37 “But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.”

38 [. . .]

39 “But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-
40 control. Against such there is no law.”
41 [Galatians 5:18, Bible, NKJV]

42 The “new man” referred to above is actually a TRUSTEE POSITION or “office” within the Bible trust indenture, just like
43 all of man’s civil law. The believer then becomes a “foreigner” in relation to Caesar’s civil statutory franchise codes and no
44 longer an AGENT of Caesar, but rather of God. You can only have ONE King and ONE domicile and ONE allegiance at a 45 time, or you have a conflict of interest:

1 "All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
2 *carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
3 with [private] individuals."
4 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

5 To redeem us from the corruption of this pagan system of secular law that enslaves us to worshipping false idols called civil
6 rulers, Christ shed His blood for us. When we accept His free gift of salvation through faith, we become "domestic" in 7 relation to God and "foreign" in relation to the world:

8 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

9 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 10 fence) between us;

11 15 Having abolished in his flesh the enmity (hostility), even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in
12 ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;

13 16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain (killed) the enmity thereby:

14 17 And came and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were nigh.

15 18 For through him we both have access (freedom or right to enter) by one Spirit unto the Father.

16 19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers (xenos or foreigner or alien) and foreigners (one who lives in a place
17 without citizenship), but fellow citizens (sumpolitai: from polis) with the saints, and of the household (domestic,
18 blood kindred) of God;

19 The Biblical political model for government was based on city states rather than "states". Ancient cities had walls around
20 them and a gate controlling entry and exit. To enter the city, you had to be a STATUTORY "citizen", "resident", or "member"
21 of the city, and swear allegiance to the ruler.

22 Blessed are those who do [OBEY] His commandments [LAWS], that they may have the right to the tree of life,
23 and may enter through the gates into the city. But outside [the city and its protection] are dogs and sorcerers
24 and sexually immoral and murderers and idolaters, and whoever loves and practices a lie.
25 [Rev. 22:14-15, Bible, NKJV]

26 The only way to avoid committing idolatry is to ensure that God is the King of the city you want to be a member of. The 27 Bible book of Nehemiah describes how such a city can be and was built. It describes the rebuilding of the wall around 28 Jerusalem and the restoration of God as the King of the Israelites. To do this, all the people in the new city had to:

29 1. Study God's law.

30 Now all the people gathered together as one man in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate; and they
31 told Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded Israel. So Ezra the 32 priest brought the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding on the 33 first day of the seventh month. Then he read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate from 34 morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people
35 were attentive to the Book of the Law.

36 So Ezra the scribe stood on a platform of wood which they had made for the purpose; and beside him, at his right
37 hand, stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Urijah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; and at his left hand Pedaiah, Mishael, 38 Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the 39 people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. And Ezra
40 blessed the LORD, the great God.

41 Then all the people answered, "Amen, Amen!" while lifting up their hands. And they bowed their heads and 42 worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.
43 [Nehemiah 8:1-6, Bible, NKJV]

- 44 2. Restore the authority of God's law by SEPARATING themselves from everyone OUTSIDE, meaning the "foreigners", 45 "strangers", and "nonresidents" and confessing their sins. Being SEPARATE and being "sanctified" are equivalent in 46 the context of the Bible. "Sanctified" means "set aside for a purpose", and that purpose is God's purpose.
47 Sanctification means obedience to Him and His divine law.

1 The People Confess Their Sins

2 Now on the twenty-fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, in sackcloth, and
3 with dust on their heads. Then those of Israelite lineage separated themselves from all foreigners; and they stood
4 and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. And they stood up in their place and read from the
5 Book of the Law of the Lord their God for one-fourth of the day; and for another fourth they confessed and
6 worshiped the Lord their God.
7 [Nehemiah 9:1-3, Bible, NKJV]
8

9 The Whole Duty of Man

10 And moreover, because the Preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yes, he pondered and sought
11 out and set in order many proverbs. The Preacher sought to find acceptable words; and what was written was 12 *upright—words of truth. The words of the wise are like goads, and the words of scholars are like well-driven
13 nails, given by one Shepherd. And further, my son, be admonished by these. Of making many books there is no*
14 end, and much study is wearisome to the flesh.

15 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter:

16 Fear God and keep His commandments,
17 For this is man's all.
18 For God will bring every work into judgment,
19 Including every secret thing,
20 Whether good or evil.
21 [Eccl. 12:9-14, Bible, NKJV]

22 On that last item above, now deceased U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia boldly stated at a legal gathering that 23 socialism “deprives Christians of sanctification”. By this he clearly can only mean that it INTERFERES with obeying God’s 24 laws, since sanctification is effected only through obedience to God’s laws. He should know about Christianity because after 25 all, his son is a Catholic Priest and presided over his own funeral:

26 The basis for our ministry is, in fact, the rebuilding of this wall of separation between church, which is believers as individual
27 humans, and the secular pagan state, which is the heathens around us. See the following discussion about Nehemiah in:

28 SEDM About Us Page, Section 2: Mission Statement
29 <http://sedm.org/Ministry/AboutUs.htm>

28 The Heaven we enter after the final judgment called “The New Jerusalem” is described as such a great city. You can’t enter
29 this walled city without allegiance to its King, who is Jesus, and without obedience to the laws that make it a safe and pleasant
30 place for EVERYONE. If Jesus is your Savior but NOT your Sovereign Lord and KING, then you can’t enter this city!

31 The New Jerusalem

32 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls filled with the seven last plagues came to me and talked
33 with me, saying, “Come, I will show you the bride, the Lamb’s wife.” And he carried me away in the Spirit to a
34 great and high mountain, and showed me the great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,
35 having the glory of God. Her light was like a most precious stone, like a jasper stone, clear as crystal. Also she 36 had a great and high wall with twelve gates, and twelve angels at the gates, and names written on them, which 37 are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel: three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three 38 gates on the south, and three gates on the west.

39 Now the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them were the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
40 And he who talked with me had a gold reed to measure the city, its gates, and its wall. The city is laid out as a
41 square; its length is as great as its breadth. And he measured the city with the reed: twelve thousand furlongs. Its 42 length, breadth, and height are equal. Then he measured its wall: one hundred and forty-four cubits, according 43 to the measure of a man, that is, of an angel. The construction of its wall was of jasper; and the city was pure
44 gold, like clear glass. The foundations of the wall of the city were adorned with all kinds of precious stones: the 45 first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald, the fifth sardonyx, the 46 sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth,

1 and the twelfth amethyst. The twelve gates were twelve pearls: each individual gate was of one pearl. And the
2 street of the city was pure gold, like transparent glass.
3 [Rev. 21:9-21, Bible, NKJV]

4 The wall keeps the sinners, disobedient, and anarchists (in relation to God's laws) OUT of the city. These people are NOT
5 subject to the laws applicable WITHIN the city, but instead are "foreign", a "stranger", "stateless", or a "nonresident" in
6 relation to the civil laws of that place. All laws are prima facie territorial, meaning that they DO NOT apply to people not 7 ON that land or at least domiciled there.

8 The foregoing considerations would lead, in case of doubt, to a construction of any statute as intended to be
9 confined in its operation and effect to the territorial limits over which the lawmaker has general and legitimate
10 power. 'All legislation is prima facie territorial.' Ex parte Blain, L. R. 12 Ch. Div. 522, 528; State v. Carter, 27
11 N.J.L. 499; People v. Merrill, 2 Park. Crim. Rep. 590, 596. Words having universal scope, such as 'every 12 contract in restraint of trade,' 'every person who shall monopolize,' etc., will be taken, as a matter of course,
13 to mean only everyone subject to such legislation, not all that the legislator subsequently may be able to catch.
14 In the case of the present statute, the improbability of the United States attempting to make acts done in Panama
15 or Costa Rica criminal is obvious, yet the law begins by making criminal the acts for which it gives a right to sue.
16 We think it entirely plain that what the defendant did in Panama or Costa Rica is not within the scope of the 17 statute so far as the present suit is concerned. Other objections of a serious nature are urged, but need not be 18 discussed.
19 [American Banana Co. v. U.S. Fruit, 213 U.S. 347 at 357-358]

20 "The canon of construction which teaches that legislation of Congress, unless a contrary intent appears, is meant
21 to apply only within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, Blackmer v. United States, supra, at 437, is a
22 valid approach whereby unexpressed congressional intent may be ascertained. It is based on the assumption that 23 Congress is primarily concerned with domestic conditions."
24 [Foley Brothers, Inc. v. Filardo, 336 U.S. 281 (1949)]

25 "The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [outside of Constitutionally delegated powers] do not extend
26 into the territorial limits of the states, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are
27 within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government."
28 [Caha v. U.S., 152 U.S. 211 (1894)]

29 "There is a canon of legislative construction which teaches Congress that, unless a contrary intent appears
30 [legislation] is meant to apply only within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States."
31 [U.S. v. Spelar, 338 U.S. 217 at 222.]

32 In the case of the civil statutory "codes" or protection franchise, you must not only be ON that land, but must CONSENT to 33 be protected by them by consensually choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of the "state" that civilly protects that land.
34 If you don't choose such a domicile on the land in which you have injured someone, then:

- 35 1. The party you injured and you are both protected only by the Constitution and the Common law.
- 36 2. You are a "foreign", a "stranger", "stateless", or a "nonresident" in relation to the civil statutory codes of that place.
- 37 3. Those who attempt to enforce the civil statutory "codes" against a non-resident are guilty of compelling you to contract 38 under the terms of the "social compact", meaning the civil statutory protection franchise codes.
- 39 4. Any case law that is quoted against you is merely "political speech" and propaganda designed to deceive you into 40 obedience to franchise codes that don't apply to you. All case law that is quoted in court must derive from parties
41 "similarly situated", meaning those who are "nonresidents" under the civil statutory franchise codes. This rule is 42 maliciously violated all the time by corrupt judges intent on usurping authority and committing TREASON.
- 43 5. If you are a Christian and Jesus is your only King and therefore lawgiver, then you are an agent of a foreign state called 44 "Heaven" and a public officer of the Kingdom of Heaven. You are from the city of "New Jerusalem".

45 TITLE 28 > PART IV > CHAPTER 97 > Sec. 1603.
46 Sec. 1603. - Definitions

47 For purposes of this chapter -

48 (a) A "foreign state", except as used in section 1608 of this title, includes a political subdivision of a foreign state
49 or an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state as defined in subsection (b).

50 (b) An "agency or instrumentality of a foreign state" means any entity -

51 (1) which is a separate legal person, corporate or otherwise, and

(2) which is an organ of a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, or a majority of whose shares or other ownership interest is owned by a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, and

(3) which is neither a citizen of a State of the United States as defined in section 1332 (c) and (d) of this title, nor created under the laws of any third country.

As a public officer, agent, and trustee of God under the Bible trust indenture and someone who is “domestic” in relation to Heaven and “foreign” in relation to Caesar, you are an “ambassador” of God who is subject ONLY to the CIVIL lawgiver you represent.

“Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ’s behalf, be reconciled to God. For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.”
[2 Cor. 5:20-21, Bible, NKJV]

“Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God; praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints—and for me, that utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly to make known the mystery of the gospel, for which I am an ambassador in chains; that in it I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.”
[Eph. 6:14-20, Bible, NKJV]

PARTICULAR PERSONS

4. Public Officials and Employees; Members of the Armed Services

§31 Public Officials and Employees

Ambassadors, consuls, and other public officials residing abroad in governmental service do not generally acquire a domicile in the country where their official duties are performed, but retain their original domicile, although such officials may acquire a domicile at their official residence, if they engage in business or commerce inconsistent with, or extraneous to, their public or diplomatic character.
[Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Domicile, §31 (2003);

Jesus even described how we became “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, or a “nonresident”:

“If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of [domiciled within] the world, but I [Jesus] chose you [believers] out of the world, therefore the world hates you. Remember the word that I said to you, ‘A [public] servant is not greater than his [Sovereign] master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also [as trustees of the public trust]. But all these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him [God] who sent Me.”
[Jesus in John 15:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

The phrase “do not know Him who sent Me” is equivalent to someone who has no commercial or legal relationship with God by virtue of not accepting or nominating Him as their CIVIL protector. These people are domiciled on Earth within Caesar’s jurisdiction rather than in Heaven under God’s civil protection. They are therefore practicing idolatry and are under the control of the “wicked one” as Jesus called Him in Matt. 13, 1 John 2, and 1 John 3. They are “worshipping” a false idol called “Caesar” because they have nominated HIM as their pagan civil lawgiver instead of God. The source of law in any society is the GOD of that society and if Caesar’s law deviates from God’s law, then Caesar is the new pagan god:

Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, “Look, you are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER them].”

But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign over them.”
[1 Sam. 8:4-9, Bible, NKJV]

1 The Bible even describes Jesus as NOT having an Earthly domicile:

2 Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go." And Jesus said to
3 him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."
4 [Matt. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

5 Consistent with the above analysis, states of the Union:

6 1 Are considered legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other.

7 "For all national purposes embraced by the Federal Constitution, the States and the citizens thereof are one,
8 united under the same sovereign authority, and governed by the same laws. In all other respects the States are 9 necessarily foreign and independent of each other."
10 [Buckner v. Finley, 2 Pet. 586 (1829)]

11 Foreign Laws: "The laws of a foreign country or sister state. In conflicts of law, the legal principles of 12 jurisprudence which are part of the law of a sister state or nation. Foreign laws are additions to our own laws,
13 and in that respect are called 'jus receptum'."
14 [Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition, p. 647]

15 2 Are called "foreign states" in relation to the national government.

16 Foreign States: "Nations outside of the United States...Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister state.
17 The term 'foreign nations', ...should be construed to mean all nations and states other than that in which the 18 action is brought; and hence, one state of the Union is foreign to another, in that sense."
19 [Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition, p. 648]

20 3 Are called "sovereign" because they are legislatively foreign.

21 "Generally, the states of the Union sustain toward each other the relationship of independent sovereigns or
22 independent foreign states, except in so far as the United States is paramount as the dominating government, and
23 in so far as the states are bound to recognize the fraternity among sovereignties established by the federal

47 The same distinctions apply to the PEOPLE within those states in relation to their own state government and even the national 48 government, at least from a CIVIL statutory perspective.

49 "The United States Government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state." [N.Y. v. re Merriam, 36 N.E.

51 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §884 (2003)]

Why is the national government a “foreign corporation” in respect to a CONSTITUTIONAL state? Because their first and MAIN job is to leave you alone, which means treat you as “foreign”, “stateless”, a “nonresident”, and a “stranger” unless and until you SPECIFICALLY CONSENT, demand, and ask to be civilly protected by selecting a civil domicile. As we have just proven, you are an IDIOT and an idolater if you ask Caesar to do this, according to God.

"Justice is the end of government. It is the end of civil society. It ever has been, and ever will be pursued, until it be obtained, or until liberty be lost in the pursuit."
[James Madison, The Federalist No. 51 (1788)]

PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

"Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others." This virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights, to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right. [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

"The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized men."
[Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting); see also Washington v. Harper, 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

"Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
[Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

"With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities."
[Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

You have to SURRENDER your right to be left alone, fire God as your civil protector, and agree to commit idolatry by asking Caesar for civil protection. Once you ask, he will make you into a public officer working WITHIN his corporation and therefore “domestic”. Nearly all statutory “persons” are public officers, as we exhaustively prove in:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

If you are not serving WITHIN the above “foreign corporation” of Caesar as a public officer, then you remain “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, or a “nonresident” in relation to that corporation. While serving WITHIN that corporation as its agent and officer, your effective domicile is the domicile of the corporation, which is the District of Columbia under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), as we established earlier in section 13.8. If you want to REMAIN “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, or a “nonresident”, then you MUST ensure that you NEVER contract, meaning “fornicate” with The Beast Government (Rev. 19:19) for EITHER civil “protection” or civil “benefits”. In other words, you should NEVER consent to surrender your sovereignty or sovereign immunity to become a statutory “person”, “citizen”, or “resident” under the CIVIL statutory franchise codes:

"Again, the devil took Him [Jesus] up on an exceedingly high [civil/legal status above all other humans] mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. And he said to Him, "All these things [BENEFITS] I will give You if You will fall down [BELOW Satan but ABOVE other humans] and worship [serve as a PUBLIC OFFICER] me."

Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.'"

Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him."

"I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract or franchise or agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

"Therefore I also said, 'I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.'"

So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voices and wept.
[Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

"You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a "resident" or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you."
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

'For among My [God's] people are found wicked [covetous public servant] men; They lie in wait as one who sets snares; They set a trap; They catch men. As a cage is full of birds, So their houses are full of deceit. Therefore they have become great and grown rich. They have grown fat, they are sleek; Yes, they surpass the deeds of the wicked; They do not plead the cause, The cause of the fatherless [or the innocent, widows, or the nontaxpayer]; Yet they prosper, And the right of the needy they do not defend. Shall I not punish them for these things?' says the Lord. 'Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?'

"An astonishing and horrible thing Has been committed in the land: The prophets prophesy falsely, And the priests [judges in franchise courts that worship government as a pagan deity] rule by their own power; And My people love to have it so. But what will you do in the end?"

4 “The Lord is well pleased for His righteousness’ sake; He will exalt the law and make it honorable. But this is
5 a people robbed and plundered! All of them are snared in [legal] holes [by the sophistry of greedy government
6 lawyers], and they are hidden in prison houses; they are for prey, and no one delivers; for plunder, and no one
7 says, “Restore!”.”

8 Who among you will give ear to this? Who will listen and hear for the time to come? Who gave Jacob for 9 plunder, and Israel to the robbers? Was it not the Lord, He against whom we have sinned? For they would
10 not walk in His ways, nor were they obedient to His law, therefore He has poured on him the fury of His anger
11 and the strength of battle; it has set him on fire all around, yet he did not know; and it burned him, yet he did not 12 take it to heart.”
13 [Isaiah 42:21-25, Bible, NKJV]

14 If we don’t obey the above commandments, then here is the process of corruption that happens in which we will be 15 DESTROYED. This process of corruption is summarized in an ancient maxim of law:

16 “Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
17 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.”
18 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856)]

19 The above maxim of law is described in 1 Sam. 8:19-20:

20 Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, “No, but we will have a king over us,
21 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles
22 [PROTECT us].”
23 [1 Sam. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

24 The result of trusting Egypt/Babylon/District of Columbia for protection, franchises, or privileges is the following:

25 Israel Demands a King

26 So Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, “This will be the 27 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take your sons and appoint them for his own chariots
28 and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his thousands 29 and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to make his 30 weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers.
31 And he will take the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves, and give them to his servants.
32 He will take a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give it to his officers and servants. 16 And he will take 33 your male servants, your female servants, your finest young men,[a] and your donkeys, and put them to his 34 work. He will take a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because 35 of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the Lord will not hear you in that day.”

38 Futile Confidence in Egypt [Babylon]

39 “Woe to the rebellious children,” says the Lord,
40 “Who take counsel [legal advice], but not of Me,
41 And who devise plans, but not of My Spirit,
42 That they may add sin to sin;
43 Who walk to go down to Egypt [Babylon],
44 And have not asked My advice [God’s laws and holy spirit],
45 To strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh [District of Columbia],
46 And to trust in the shadow [franchises] of Egypt!
47 Therefore the strength of Pharaoh
48 Shall be your shame,
49 And trust in the shadow of Egypt
50 Shall be your humiliation.
51 For his princes were at Zoan,
52 And his ambassadors came to Hanes.
53 They were all ashamed of a people who could not benefit [franchises] them,
54 Or be help or benefit,

1 But a shame and also a reproach.”
2 [Isaiah 30:1-5, Bible, NKJV]

3 Notice the language “no help or benefit” in the last quote above. God is describing an UNFAIR or UNEQUAL trade wrought
4 out of desperation and which produces “USURY”. We describe this as “the raw deal” scam, which is a euphemism for
5 franchises and the FDR “New Deal”. The Bible reiterates this criticism of the government’s “raw deal scam” in the following:

6 For thus says the LORD: “ You have sold yourselves for nothing, And you shall be redeemed without money.”
7 [Isaiah 52:3, Bible, NKJV]

8 The same unequal sale for nothing happened during the famine in Egypt, and also in the first city Babylon between Nimrod
9 and his “victims”, where he used the PLUNDER to build his tower to celebrate his vanity. Do you see a pattern here? It’s 10 about USURY. For more on the “raw deal scam” and its origin with “protection”, see section 13.8 of this document.

11 The only remedy for the usury is:

- 12 1. Love. God is love. He who does not love His neighbor does not know God.
- 13 2. Empathy.
- 14 3. Equality between the governors and the governed from a civil perspective, so that idolatry toward government is
- 15 IMPOSSIBLE.
- 16 4. Requirement for consent of the governed in any and every interaction between the governed and the governors. See
- 17 Form #05.003.
- 18 5. Contentment, which is the opposite of covetousness.
- 19 6. “Meekness”, which is a synonym for all the above.

31 13.11.6 “Domicile” and “residence” compared

32 We know from earlier discussion that one can have only ONE domicile but as many residences as they want. The reason is 33 that:

- 34 1. DOMICILE is associated with PERSONS and implies physical presence and allegiance, which must be undivided.
35 You can only be in one physical place at a time and have undivided allegiance to only one government at a time.
- 36 2. RESIDENCE is associated with CONTRACTS and the statuses they create. Residence is usually a consequence of the 37 exercise of your right to contract with those usually OUTSIDE the place of your domicile. It is a product of the 38 Minimum Contacts Doctrine. Since your right to contract is unlimited, then you can have more than one residence.
39 Each “residence” can, in turn, dictate a different choice of law or government protector.

40 “Locus contractus regit actum. The place of the contract governs the act.”
41 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);
42 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

Black's Law Dictionary helps define the distinctions between residence and domicile:

RESIDENCE. A factual place of abode. Living in a particular locality. Reese v. Reese, 179 Misc. 665, 40 N.Y.S.2d. 468, 472; Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 175 Or. 585, 155 P.2d. 293, 295. It requires only bodily presence as an inhabitant of a place. In re Campbell's Guardianship, 216 Minn. 113, 11 N.W.2d. 786, 789.

As "domicile" and "residence" are usually in the same place, they are frequently used as if they had the same meaning, but they are not identical terms, for a person may have two places of residence, as in the city and country, but only one domicile. Residence means living in a particular locality, but domicile means living in that locality with intent to make it a fixed and permanent home. Residence simply requires bodily presence as an inhabitant in a given place, while domicile requires bodily presence in that place and also an intention to make it one's domicile. In re Riley's Will, 266 N.Y.S. 209, 148 Misc. 588.

"Residence" demands less intimate local ties than "domicile, but "domicile" allows absence for indefinite period if intent to return remains. Immigration Act 1917, §3, 8 U.S.C.A. .§136 (e, p). Transatlantica Italiana v. Elting, C.C.A.N.Y., 74 F.2d. 732, 733. But see, Ward v. Ward, 115 W.Va. 429. 176 S.E. 708. 709; Southwestern Greyhound Lines v. Craig, 182 Okl. 610, 80 P.2d. 221, 224; holding that residence and domicile are synonymous terms. "Residence" has a meaning dependent on context and purpose of statute. In re Jones, 341 Pa. 329, 19 A.2d. 280. 282. Words "residence" and "domicile". may have an identical or variable meaning depending on subject-matter and context of statute. Kemp v. Kemp, 16 N.Y.S.2d. 26, 34, 172 Misc. 738. [Black's Law Dictionary, Revised Fourth Edition, p. 1473]

The above definition deliberately clouds the issue of:

1. Whether residence has consent as a prerequisite or not. We know based on previous analysis that domicile does.
2. What citizenship, domicile, and nationality status are associated with "residence" in each context.

When we look up the definitions for "abode" and "inhabitant" as used in the definition of "residence", they all connect back to domicile and therefore also have consent as a prerequisite.

1. Definition "inhabitant":

"Inhabitant. One who resides actually and permanently in a given place, and has his domicile there. Ex parte Shaw, 145 U.S. 444, 12 S.Ct. 935, 36 L.Ed. 768. The words "inhabitant," "citizen," and "resident," as employed in different constitutions to define the qualifications of electors, means substantially the same thing; and, in general, one is an inhabitant, resident, or citizen at the place where he has his domicile or home. But the terms "resident" and "inhabitant" have also been held not synonymous, the latter implying a more fixed and permanent abode than the former, and importing privileges and duties to which a mere resident would not be subject. A corporation can be an inhabitant only in the state of its incorporation. Sperry Products v. Association of American Railroads, C.C.A.N.Y., 132 F.2d. 408, 411. See also Domicile; Residence."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 782]

2. Definition of "abode":

"Abode. One's home; habitation; place of dwelling; or residence. Ordinarily means "domicile." Living place impermanent in character. Fowler v. Fowler, 156 Fla. 316, 22 So.2d. 817, 818. The place where a person dwells. In re Erickson, 18 N.J.Misc. 5, 10 A.2d. 142, 146. Residence of a legal voter. Pope v. Board of Election Com'rs, 370 Ill. 196, 18 N.E.2d. 214, 216. Fixed place of residence for the time being. Augustus Co., for Use of Bourgeois v. Manzella, 19 N.J.Misc. 29, 17 A.2d. 68, 70. For service of process, one's fixed place of residence for the time being; his "usual place of abode." Fed.R. Civil P.4. Kurilla v. Roth, 132 N.J.L. 213, 38 A.2d. 862,864.

See Domicile; Residence. General abode. See Residence."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 7]

So to say that a "residence" is "A factual place of abode" in the definition of "residence" means one's CHOSEN place of domicile. And to say that "It requires only bodily presence as an inhabitant of a place" in the definition of "residence" ALSO implies domicile and therefore requires consent, because an "inhabitant" is someone who is "domiciled" in a place.

The following authorities clarify that "residence", and especially in taxing statutes, is usually associated with CONSTITUTIONAL but not STATUTORY alienage or "alien" status and excludes those who are nationals of the country. Those who are non-residents of a country by virtue of a domicile OUTSIDE the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government are STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL aliens in relation to that national government:

The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found' were stated as follows: When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are "nations" under the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade, it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him, nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7 Cranch, 144.

In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants, for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S., 16 Wall. 147, 155 (1872); Radich v. Hutchins (1877) 95 U.S. 210; Wildenhus' Case, 120 U.S. 1, 7 Sup.Ct. 385 (1887); Chae Chan Ping v. U.S. (1889) 130 U.S. 581, 603, 604, 9 Sup.Ct. 623. [United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456, 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

"Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the country. Being bound to the society by reason of their dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizens. They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children." [The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book 1, Chapter 19, Section 213, p. 87]

We wish to clarify that those who are domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of a CONSTITUTIONAL but not STATUTORY "State" relative to federal law and who were born somewhere within the country where the "State" is located are all the following in relation to the national government. This status, by the way, is the status of the AVERAGE American:

1. "Domiciled" but not "resident" within federal STATUTORY law.
2. Have no "residence" under federal STATUTORY law. Only statutory "aliens" can have a "residence".
3. STATUTORY "nationals" per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).
4. STATUTORY "non-resident non-persons".
5. STATUTORY but not Constitutional "foreign nationals".
6. Not STATUTORY:
 - 6.1. "nationals and citizens of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401
 - 6.2. "citizens of the United States" per 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c), and 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) or any other federal law.

It therefore appears to us that the only occasion where "domicile" or "residence" are NOT equivalent is in the case of those who are constitutional but not statutory aliens of the place they are in. Otherwise, they are equivalent. The implication is that constitutional aliens do not need to consent to the civil laws of the place they are in because they are "privileged", where as nationals born there do. This appears to violate the notion of equal protection, which may explain why the legal dictionary was so terse in their definition of residence: because they don't want to admit that courts routinely treat people unequally and in violation of the requirement for equal protection.

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART I—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§ 1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.

(b) Residence defined.

An alien actually present in the United States who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with regard to

1 the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another country is
2 not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention as to his
3 stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may be 4 promptly accomplished is a transient; but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be
5 necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States,
6 he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the
7 purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is 8 limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of 9 this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

10 The phrase "definite purpose" is important in the definition of "residence" above. Those who have a definite purpose because
11 of their eternal covenant with God and their contractual relationship to Him described in the Bible and who know they are 12 only here temporarily can only be classified as "transients" above. This explains why our rulers in government want to get
13 God out of the schools and out of public life: so that the sheep will have no purpose in life other than to serve them and waste
14 themselves away in vain and sinful material pursuits.

15 "Then I hated all my labor in which I had toiled under the sun, because I must leave it to the man who will come
16 after me. And who knows whether he will be wise or a fool? Yet he will rule over all my labor in which I toiled
17 and in which I have shown myself wise under the sun. This also is vanity. Therefore I turned my heart and
18 despaired of all the labor in which I had toiled under the sun. For there is a man whose labor is with wisdom,
19 knowledge, and skill; yet he must leave his heritage to a man who has not labored for it. This also is vanity and
20 a great evil. For what has man for all his labor, and for the striving of his heart with which he has toiled under 21 the sun? For all his days are sorrowful, and his work burdensome; even in the night his heart takes no rest. This 22 also is vanity."
23 [Eccl. 2:18-23, Bible, NKJV]

24 Only you, the Sovereign, can determine your "intention" in the context of "residence". Notice the words "definite purpose",
25 "transient" and "temporary" in the definition of "residence" above are nowhere defined in the law, which means that you,
26 and not your public servants, define them. If you do not intend to remain in the "United States", which is defined as federal
27 territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and not expanded elsewhere in Subtitle A to include any 28 other place, then you can't be counted as a "resident", even if you are in fact an "alien". The government cannot determine 29 your intention for you. An intention that is not voluntary is not an intention, but simply a reaction to unjust external authority.
30 This is the basis for why the Supreme Court said:

31 "The citizen cannot complain [about the laws or the tax system], because he has voluntarily submitted himself
32 to such a form of government. He owes allegiance to the two departments, so to speak, and within their respective 33 spheres must pay the penalties which each exacts for disobedience to its laws. In return, he can demand protection 34 from each within its own jurisdiction."
35 [United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542 (1875), emphasis added]

36 The California Election Code, Section 349 further clarifies the distinctions between "domicile" and "residence" as follows:

37 California Election Code, section 349:

38 349. (a) "Residence" for voting purposes means a person's domicile.

39 (b) The domicile of a person is that place in which his or her habitation is fixed, wherein the person has the 40 intention of remaining, and to which, whenever he or she is absent, the person has the intention of returning. At 41 a given time, a person may have only one domicile.

42 (c) The residence of a person is that place in which the person's habitation is fixed for some period of time,
43 but wherein he or she does not have the intention of remaining. At a given time, a person may have more than 44 one residence.

45 The above definition is consistent with the analysis earlier in this section, but don't make the false assumption that the above
46 definitions apply within income tax codes, because they DON'T. Only statutory "citizens" who have a domicile within the 47 forum can be the subject of the above statute relating to voting and elections, while the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A
48 applies exclusively to privileged aliens who have a domicile or tax home on federal territory: two COMPLETELY different
49 audiences of people, for which the terms are NOT interchangeable. A "residence" in the I.R.C. is the temporary abode of a
50 privileged alien, while a "residence" in the election code is the temporary abode of a non-privileged Sovereign American
51 National. The worst mistake that you can make as a person born in your country is to believe or think that laws written only
52 for "aliens" or "resident aliens" apply to you. The only types of persons the federal government can write laws for in a state
53 of the Union, in fact, are Constitutional but not statutory aliens and not those born there:

In accord with ancient principles of the international law of nation-states, the Court in The Chinese Exclusion Case, 130 U.S. 581, 609 (1889), and in Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893), held broadly, as the Government describes it, Brief for Appellants 20, that the power to exclude aliens is "inherent in sovereignty, necessary for maintaining normal international relations and defending the country against foreign encroachments and dangers - a power to be exercised exclusively by the political branches of government" Since that time, the Court's general reaffirmations of this principle have [408 U.S. 753, 766] been legion. 6 The Court without exception has sustained Congress' "plenary power to make rules for the admission of aliens and to exclude those who possess those characteristics which Congress has forbidden." Boutilier v. Immigration and Naturalization Service, 387 U.S. 118, 123 (1967). "[O]ver no conceivable subject is the legislative power of Congress more complete than it is over" the admission of aliens. Oceanic Navigation Co. v. Stranahan, 214 U.S. 320, 339 (1909). [Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753 (1972)]

If you are born in a state of the Union and have a domicile there and not on federal territory, federal laws CANNOT and DO NOT apply to you. The only exception is if you contract away those rights by pursuing a federal government benefit, such as Social Security, Medicare, federal employment, etc. Otherwise, We the People are Sovereign over their public servants:

"The ultimate authority ... resides in the people alone."
[James Madison, The Federalist, No. 46.]

"Whatever these Constitutions and laws validly determine to be property, it is the duty of the Federal Government, through the domain of jurisdiction merely Federal, to recognize to be property.

"And this principle follows from the structure of the respective Governments, State and Federal, and their reciprocal relations. They are different agents and trustees of the people of the several States, appointed with different powers and with distinct purposes, but whose acts, within the scope of their respective jurisdictions, are mutually obligatory."
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 (1856)]

"While sovereign powers are delegated to ... the government, sovereignty itself remains with the people."
[Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

"There is no such thing as a power of inherent sovereignty in the government of the United States In this country sovereignty resides in the people, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution entrusted to it: All else is withheld."
[Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

"In the United States, sovereignty resides in the people who act through the organs established by the Constitution. [cites omitted] The Congress as the instrumentality of sovereignty is endowed with certain powers to be exerted on behalf of the people in the manner and with the effect the Constitution ordains. The Congress cannot invoke the sovereign power of the people to override their will as thus declared."
[Perry v. United States, 294 U.S. 330, 353 (1935)]

13.11.7 "Domiciliary" v. "Resident"

The most instructive case that describes WHEN one has a domicile in a specific place and which distinguishes "domiciliary" from "resident" is District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941). Recall that the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A income tax is upon STATUTORY "residents", including American born parties who are "resident" in foreign countries. The tax is NOT upon their domicile but their "residence", which means the temporary abode or "tax home" (26 U.S.C. §911) of a STATUTORY "alien". All of the "persons" mentioned in 26 U.S.C. §911 are ALIENS, including the "citizens" therein mentioned, because such "citizens" are in fact "aliens" in relation to the foreign country they are in and interface to the Internal Revenue Code through a tax treaty WITH that foreign country. That tax treaty, in fact, constitutes an excise taxable "benefit" for those STATUTORY "citizens" born in the federal zone and travelling abroad while domiciled in the federal zone. See 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7 for proof. Layered on top of the "national" income tax (not "federal", but "national", meaning federal zone) enforced upon "residents" of the federal zone is the income tax imposed MUNICIPALLY upon those DOMICILED rather than "RESIDENT" locally. This case shows how these two factors work together to determine I.R.C. tax liability and MUNICIPAL tax liability.

District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941) involved TWO parties in opposite circumstances:

1. Respondent 58 came to the District of Columbia in 1935 to work as an economist in the Treasury Department. He maintained a domicile in the state of Michigan throughout his time in D.C. and continued to be a registered voter. He owned no property in Michigan or D.C. but had the intention of remaining.
2. Respondent 59 lived in the District of Columbia 26 years after coming from Pennsylvania to accept a clerical position of indefinite tenure under the Civil Service in the Patent Office. Shortly after marriage the couple purchased as a home, premises at 1426 Massachusetts Avenue, S.E., in the District of Columbia, in which respondent still lived. In about 1925, he purchased a lot at "Selby on the Bay" in nearby Maryland, and before his wife's death he bought a building lot in the District of Columbia, acting on his wife's pleas for a summer place and a better residence. He agreed with his wife that, on his retirement, six months would be spent at Selby. He testified that he never desired to purchase the lot in the District of Columbia, but did so at the insistence of his wife. He put a "For Sale" sign on it when she died, and both lots, which he still owns, are up for sale. He has deposits in three Washington financial institutions and owns first trust notes on property located in Maryland and Virginia. Respondent had resided in Pennsylvania from birth until he left for Washington. He claimed as his "legal residence" the residence of his parents in Harrisburg, where they still keep intact his room in which are kept some of his clothes and childhood toys. Though paying nothing as rent or for lodging, he has from time to time made presents of money to his parents. He has visited his parents' home in Harrisburg over week ends at least eight times a year, and has been there annually between Christmas and the New Year. A registered voter in Pennsylvania, he has voted in all its general elections since he became of age. He paid the Pennsylvania poll tax until it was superseded by an occupational tax, which he has also paid. Payment of such taxes was a prerequisite to voting. He owns jointly with his father a note secured by a mortgage on Pennsylvania real estate. Respondent testified that he expected to retire from Civil Service in four years and intended then to sell his house and "leave Washington."

The Board found "as a fact" that, at the end of one year after he came to the District in 1914, respondent "had an intention to remain and make his home in the District of Columbia for an indefinite period of time and that intention remained with him, at least until the death of his wife." As in No. 58, it considered itself bound by the Sweeney case, supra,¹⁰² and accordingly held "as a matter of law" that the petitioner was not domiciled in the District on December 31, 1939, and never had been.

The decisions in both cases were affirmed on review by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. 73 App.D.C. 345, 347, 119 F.2d. 449, 451. The cases were brought here on writs of certiorari because of the importance of the questions involved. 313 U.S. 556.

Although the District of Columbia Income Tax Act made "domicile" the fulcrum of the income tax, the first ever imposed in the District, it set forth no definition of that word. To ascertain its meaning we therefore consider the Congressional history of the Act, the situation with reference to which it was enacted, and the existing judicial precedents, with which Congress may be taken to have been familiar in at least a general way. United States v. Dickerson, 310 U.S. 554, 562.

Below is how Congress explained the applicability of the income tax in dispute:

The conference agreement was presented to the Senate by Senator Overton, chairman of the Senate conferees, with the following explanation: "Mr. President, I now call attention to the fact that the individual income tax is imposed only on those domiciled in the District of Columbia. It, therefore, necessarily excludes from its imposition all Senators and Members of the House of Representatives, the President of the United States, all Cabinet officers, and Federal employees who have been brought into the District from the various States of the Union to serve their country in the National Capital, provided such employees have not of their volition surrendered their domiciles in the States and have voluntarily acquired domiciles within the District of Columbia." 84 Cong. Rec. 8824. Senator Overton also stated: "I took the position before the District of Columbia Committee and in conference that I would not support any legislation which would exempt Senators and Members of the House of Representatives and their official force from an income tax in the District of Columbia but would impose it on all others. I then took the position in conference that if we imposed an income tax only on those domiciled within the District, then we would be imposing it only on those who of their own volition had abandoned their domiciles in the States of their origin and had elected to make their permanent home or domicile here in the District of Columbia. Such persons, it may be justly contended, have no cause to complain against an income tax that is imposed upon them only because they have chosen to establish within the District of Columbia their permanent¹⁰³ places of abode and to abandon their domiciles within the States." 84 Cong. Rec. 8825.

¹⁰² Sweeney v. District of Columbia, 72 App. D.C. 30, 113 F.2d. 25, certiorari denied, 310 U.S. 631.

¹⁰³ We do not understand "permanent" to have been used in a literal sense. Of course it cannot be known without the gift of prophecy whether a given abode is "permanent" in the strictest sense. But beyond this, it is frequently used in the authorities on domicile to describe that which is not merely

1 In the House, Representative Nichols, chairman of the House conferees, and also chairman of the House District
2 Committee in charge of fiscal affairs, submitted the conference report and stated: "Since the question of the effect
3 of the word 'domicile' in this act has been raised, I think the House would probably like to have the legal definition
4 read: 'Domicile is the place where one has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment and
5 to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and where he exercises his political rights.¹⁰⁴
6 ... There must exist in combination the fact of residence and animus manendi — 'which means residence and
7 his intention to return [sic]; so that under this definition he could certainly live in the District of Columbia and 8 have his legal domicile in any other State in the United States." 84 Cong. Rec. 8974.

9 Representative Bates, another of the House conferees, stated in response to a question regarding the possibility
10 of triple taxation, "We raised that particular point [in conference] because we are much concerned about how 11 those who come from our States would be affected by the income-tax provisions of the new law, and it was 12 distinctly ⁴⁵²*⁴⁵² understood that in this bill there should be no triple taxation" 84 Cong. Rec. 8973.

13 The unusual character of the National Capital, making the income tax a "very explosive and controversial
14 item,"¹⁰⁵ was vividly before the Congress, and must also be considered in construing the statute imposing the tax.

15 The District of Columbia is an exceptional community. It is not a local municipal authority, but was established
16 under the Constitution as the seat of the National Government. Those in Government service here are not engaged
17 in local enterprise, although their service may be localized. Their work is that of the Nation, and their pay comes 18 not from local sources but from the whole country. Because of its character as a Federal City, there is no local 19 political constituency with whose activities those living in it may identify themselves as a symbol of their 20 acceptance of a local domicile.

21 Not all who flock here are birds of a feather. Some enter the Civil Service, finding tenure and pay there more
22 secure than in private enterprise. Political ties are of no consequence in obtaining or maintaining their positions.
23 At the other extreme are those who hold appointive office at the pleasure of the appointing officer. These latter,
24 as well as appointive officers with definite but unprotected tenure, and all elective officers, usually owe their
25 presence here to the intimate and influential part they have played in community life in one of the States.

26 Relatively few persons here in any branch of the Government service can truthfully and accurately lay claim to 27 an intention to sever themselves from the service on any exact date. Persons in all branches usually desire, quite 28 naturally and properly, to continue family life and to have the comforts of a domestic establishment for whatever
29 may be the term of their stay here. This is true of ⁴⁵³*⁴⁵³ many Senators and Congressmen, cited by Senator
30 Overton as typical of those whom the limitation of the statute to persons "domiciled" here "necessarily excludes."

31 Turning to the judicial precedents for further guidance in construing "domicile" as used in the statute, we find it
32 generally recognized that one who comes to Washington to enter the Government service and to live here for its 33 duration does not thereby acquire a new domicile. More than a century ago, Justice Parker of New Hampshire
34 observed that "It has generally been considered that persons appointed to public office under the authority of the 35 United States, and taking up their residence in Washington for the purpose of executing the duties of such office,
36 do not thereby, while engaged in the service of the government, lose their domicile in the place where they before
37 resided, unless they intend on removing there to make Washington their permanent"¹⁰⁶ residence." See Atherton v.
38 Thornton, 8 N.H. 178, 180. By and large, subsequent cases have taken a like view.¹⁰⁷ It should also be observed
39 ⁴⁵⁴*⁴⁵⁴ that a policy against loss of domicile by sojourn in Washington is expressed in the constitutions and
40 statutes of many States.¹⁰⁸ Of course, no individual case, constitution, or statute is controlling, but the general
41 trend of these authorities is a significant recognition that the distinctive character of Washington habitation for 42 federal service is meaningful to those who are served as well as to those in the service.

43 From these various data on Congressional intent, it is apparent that the present cases are not governed by the 44 tests usually employed in cases where the element of Federal service in the Federal City is not present.¹⁰⁹ We

"temporary," or to describe a dwelling for the time being which there is no presently existing intent to give up. And further, compare a statement by Representative Dirksen on the floor of the House, 84 Cong. Rec. 8973.

¹⁰⁴ Exercise of political rights elsewhere cannot be considered as meant to be conclusive on the issue of taxability in the District. See statement by Representative Dirksen on the floor of the House. Ibid.

1 hold that a man does not acquire a domicile in the District simply by coming here to live for an indefinite period
2 of time while in the Government service. A contrary decision would disregard the statements made on the floor
3 of Congress as to the meaning of the statute, fail to give proper weight to the trend of judicial decisions, with 4 which Congress should be taken to have been cognizant, and result in a wholesale finding of domicile on the part
5 of Government servants quite obviously at variance with Congressional policy. Further, Congress did not intend
6 that one living here indefinitely while in the Government service be held domiciled here simply because he does
7 not maintain a domestic establishment at the place he hails from. Such a rule would result in taxing those unable
8 to maintain two establishments, and exempting those able to meet such a burden — thus reversing the usual
9 philosophy of income tax as one based on ability to pay.

10 On the other hand, we hold that persons are domiciled here who live here and have no fixed and definite intent
11 to return and make their homes where they were formerly ~~455~~*455 domiciled.¹¹⁰ A decision that the statute lays 12 a tax only on those with an affirmative intent to remain here the rest of their days would be at odds with the 13 prevailing concept of domicile, and would give the statute scope far narrower than Congress must have intended.

14 Cases falling clearly within such broad rules aside, the question of domicile is a difficult one of fact to be settled
15 only by a realistic and conscientious review of the many relevant (and frequently conflicting) indicia of where a 16 man's home¹¹¹ is and according to the established modes of proof.
17 [District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441, 450-451 (1941)]

18 From this case, we learn that:

- 19 1. One does not acquire a domicile in the District of Columbia, within the meaning of the District of Columbia Income 20 Tax Act, merely by coming to the District to live for an indefinite period while in the Government service. P. 453.
- 21 2. The Act does not intend that one living in the District of Columbia indefinitely, while in the Government service, shall 22 be held domiciled there simply because he does not maintain a domestic establishment at the place from which he 23 came. P. 454.
- 24 3. Persons are domiciled in the District of Columbia, within the meaning of the Act, who live there and have no fixed and 25 definite intent to return to their former domiciles and make their homes there. P. 454.
- 26 4. The place where a man lives is, prima facie, his domicile. P. 455.
- 27 5. The taxing authority is warranted in treating as prima facie taxable any person quartered in the District of Columbia on 28 tax day whose status it deems doubtful. P. 455.
- 29 6. In applying this Act, the taxing authority need not find the exact time when the attitude and relationship of person to 30 place which constitute domicile were formed. It is enough that they were formed before the tax day. P. 455.
- 31 7. If one has at any time become domiciled in the District of Columbia, it is his burden to establish any change of status 32 upon which he relies to escape the tax. P. 456.
- 33 8. In order to retain his former domicile, one who comes to the District to perform Government service must always have 34 a fixed and definite intent to return and to take up his home there when separated from the service. A mere sentimental 35 attachment will not hold the old domicile. P. 456.
- 36 9. Whether or not one votes where he claims domicile is highly relevant but not controlling. P. 456.
- 37 10. Of great significance to the question of domicile in the District of Columbia is the nature of the position which brings 38 one to or keeps him in the service of the Government. P. 457.
- 39 11. Manner of living in the District and many other considerations touching relationships, social connections and activities
40 of the person concerned, are suggested in the opinion as among the considerations which are relevant to a
41 determination of the question of domicile. P. 457. 73 App.D.C. 345, 347, 119 F.2d 449, 451, reversed.

42 First, the Murphy case exemplified the importance of the necessary facts, personal knowledge and actual establishment of an 43 individual's domicile as respects the DC income tax act. If the targeted individuals were domiciled in DC on the last day of 44 the taxable year, those individuals were liable to the tax, as the tax was imposed on the taxable income of any individual
45 domiciled in DC on "tax day". It is that simple.

¹¹⁰ This is not inconsistent with our holding that domicile here does not follow from mere indefiniteness of the period of one's stay. While the intention to return must be fixed, the date need not be; while the intention to return must be unconditional, the time may be, and in most cases of necessity is, contingent. The intention must not waver before the uncertainties of time, but one may not be visited with unwelcome domicile for lacking the gift of prophecy.

¹¹¹ Of course, this term does not have the magic qualities of a divining rod in locating domicile. In fact, the search for the domicile of any person capable of acquiring a domicile of choice is but a search for his "home." See Beale, Social Justice and Business Costs, 49 Harv. L. Rev. 593, 596; 1 Beale, Conflict of Laws, §19.1.

Since Congress has exclusive legislative jurisdiction over the "District" (see Art. 1 Sec. 8 Cl. 17) it certainly had the "power" to enact such a tax on citizens domiciled in the District. In fact, the constitutionality of the tax was not ever put in issue. The issue in the case turned on whether Mr. Murphy was resident in DC or domiciled there for purposes of that DC ("federal") income tax act. His domicile was held to be in Pennsylvania by the Supreme Court, thus exempting him from the DC Income Tax.

Moreover, there are two fairly instructive Revenue Rules spot on the topic of "wherever resident". See Rev.Rul. 489 and Rev.Rul. 357 as follows:

No provision of the Internal Revenue Code or the regulations thereunder holds that a citizen of the United States is a resident of the United States for purposes of its tax. Several sections of the Code provide Federal income tax relief or benefits to citizens of the United States who are residents without the United States for some specified period. See sections 911, 934, and 981. These sections give recognition to the fact that not all the citizens of the United States are residents of the United States.
[Rev.Rul. 75-489, p. 511]

As regards additional support, see Rev.Rul. 75-357 at p. 5, as follows:

Sections 1.1-1(b) and 1.871-1 of the Income Tax Regulations provide that all citizens of the United States, wherever resident, and all resident alien individuals are liable to the income taxes imposed by the Internal Revenue Code whether the income is received from sources within or without the United States. See, however, section 911 of the Code. (Emphasis added.)
[Rev.Rul. 75-357, p. 5]

Being that Rev.Rul. 75-357 quotes 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1(b) directly, and duly informs every reader to see, 26 U.S.C. §911, I believe we should visit 26 U.S.C. §911 and its regulations to locate the appropriate application of the wherever resident feature in that section of federal law. See 26 U.S.C. § 911(d)(1)(A) as follows:

(d) Definitions and special rules — For purposes of this section —

(1) Qualified individual — The term "qualified individual" means an individual whose tax home is in a foreign country and who is —

(A) a citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona fide resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year.
[26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1)(A)]

Additionally, as we know, 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(b) states,

"All citizens of the United States, wherever resident, are liable to the income taxes imposed by the Internal Revenue Code whether the income is received from sources within or without the United States."
[26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(b)]

The regulations to section 911 make the distinction between where income is received as opposed to where services are performed. See:

26 C.F.R. §1.911-3 Determination of amount of foreign earned income to be excluded.

(a) Definition of foreign earned income.

For purposes of section 911 and the regulations thereunder, the term "foreign earned income" means earned income (as defined in paragraph (b) of this section) from sources within a foreign country (as defined in §1.911-2(h)) that is earned during a period for which the individual qualifies under §1.911-2(a) to make an election. Earned income is from sources within a foreign country if it is attributable to services performed by an individual in a foreign country or countries. The place of receipt of earned income is immaterial in determining whether earned income is attributable to services performed in a foreign country or countries.

The Murphy case also points out the utter arrogance, conceit, and hypocrisy of the federal courts because:

1. Choosing a civil domicile is how we nominate a protector and become a "customer" of government CIVIL protection.
2. We don't become a "citizen" or "resident" under the civil statutes of a specific government UNTIL we VOLUNTEER to become such a "customer".

3. If in fact the government is one of delegated powers, WE, and not the GOVERNMENT who serves us, have a right to choose NOT be a “customer”. This right derives from:
- 3.1. Your First Amendment right to associate or not associate.
 - 3.2. Your right to contract or not contract. The civil statutes are what the U.S. Supreme court calls a “social compact”, meaning a “contract” to procure CIVIL protection. You have a right NOT to be party to this CIVIL contract or compact.
4. Those who are NOT party to this contract and not a “customer” of civil statutory protection are:
- 4.1. STATUTORY “non-resident non-persons” from a civil perspective.
 - 4.2. “stateless” from the civil statutory perspective in relation to the government they are party to.
 - 4.3. NOT “represented” by any elected official, because they are NOT even eligible to vote. DOMICILE is a prerequisite to eligibility to vote.
 - 4.4. Not statutory “taxpayers” and may not be taxed, because taxation without representation is the reason for the American Revolution in 1776.

“If money is wanted by rulers who have in any manner oppressed the People, they may retain it until their grievances are redressed, and thus peaceably procure relief, without trusting to despised petitions or disturbing the public tranquility.”
[“Continental Congress To The Inhabitants Of The Province Of Quebec.” Journals of the Continental Congress. 1774 -1789. Journals 1: 105-13.]

5. The court implies the right to decide whether someone is such a “customer” WITHOUT the need to provide express evidence of their consent in proving the domicile of the party. Recall from the Declaration of Independence that ALL “just” powers of government derive the CONSENT of the people.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE, 1776

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.”
[\[Declaration of Independence, 1776\]](#)

Anything that does not derive from EXPRESS WRITTEN CONSENT is therefore inherently UNJUST. Therefore, every assertion of CIVIL authority requires express evidence of written consent on the record of the proceeding. The government imposes the same burden upon those who are suing it civilly and assert official, judicial, and sovereign immunity if such consent is NOT demonstrated. Therefore, under the concept of equal protection and equal treatment, the GOVERNMENT has the SAME burden of proof. For details, see:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6. The court not once mentioned how such consent can be or is procured, and without doing so, the public are deprived of the constitutional requirement for HOW consent is procured and whether EXPRESS NON-CONSENT can trump IMPLIED CONSENT. All of the factors they mention in determining civil domicile of the party do NOT derive DIRECTLY from consent and therefore are IRRELEVANT in proving the SAME kind of EXPRESS WRITTEN CONSENT the government demands when you are suing them.
7. If the court will not enforce YOUR sovereign immunity as indicated above, any attempt to enforce THEIRS is hypocritical, suspect, and violates the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment as explained in:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

If you would like to know more about why state nationals are not “residents” and therefore NOT statutory “taxpayers” under the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A, See:

13.11.8 “Subject to THE jurisdiction” in the Fourteenth Amendment

The phrase “Subject to THE jurisdiction” is found in the Fourteenth Amendment:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers
Copyright Family Guardian Fellowship , <http://famguardian.org/>
Ver. 2.12

U.S. Constitution:
Fourteenth Amendment

Section. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States[] and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States[] and of the State wherein they reside.

The phrase “subject to THE jurisdiction” in the context of ONLY the Fourteenth Amendment:

1. Means “subject to the POLITICAL and not LEGISLATIVE jurisdiction”.

“This section contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,—birth and naturalization. The persons declared to be citizens are ‘all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.’ The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”

2. Requires domicile, which is voluntary, in order to be subject ALSO to the civil LEGISLATIVE jurisdiction of the municipality one is in. Civil status always has domicile as a prerequisite.

In Udny v. Udny (1869), L.R., 1 H.L.Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the question whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British subject. Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: ‘The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that of domicile.’ Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by saying: ‘The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status; another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.’ And then, while maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which ‘the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy—must depend,’ he yet distinctly recognized that a man’s political status, his country (patria), and his ‘nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,—‘may depend on different laws in different countries.’ Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word ‘citizen,’ not as equivalent to ‘subject,’ but rather to ‘inhabitant’; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British dominion are natural-born subjects.

3. Is a POLITICAL status that does not carry with it any civil status to which PUBLIC rights or franchises can attach. Therefore, the term “citizen” as used in Title 26 is NOT this type of citizen, since it imposes civil obligations. All tax obligations are civil in nature and depend on DOMICILE, not NATIONALITY. See District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941) and:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 11.7
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. Is a product of PERMANENT ALLEGIANCE that is associated with the political status of “nationals” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). The only thing that can or does establish a political status is such allegiance.

8 U.S.C. §1101: Definitions

(a) As used in this chapter—

(21) The term “national” means a person owing permanent allegiance to a state.

“Allegiance and protection [by the government from harm] are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The one is a compensation for the other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance.”
Minor v. Happersett, [88 U.S. \(21 Wall.\) 162, 166-168 (1874)]

5. Is NOT a product of TEMPORARY allegiance owed by aliens who are sojourners temporarily in the United States and subject to the laws but do not have PERMANENT allegiance. Note the phrase “temporary and local allegiance” in the ruling below:

The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found' were stated as follows: 'When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are "nations" under the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade, it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him, nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7 Cranch, 144.

In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants, for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S., 16 Wall. 147, 155 (1872); Radich v. Hutchins (1877) 95 U.S. 210; Wildenhus' Case, 120 U.S. 1, 7 Sup.Ct. 385 (1887); Chae Chan Ping v. U.S. (1889) 130 U.S. 581, 603, 604, 9 Sup.Ct. 623. [United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456, 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside."

The first observation we have to make on this clause is, that it puts at rest both the questions which we stated to have been the subject of differences of opinion. It declares that persons may be citizens of the United States without regard to their citizenship of a particular State, and it overturns the Dred Scott decision by making all persons born within the United States and subject to its jurisdiction citizens of the United States. That its main purpose was to establish the citizenship of the negro can admit of no doubt. The phrase, "subject to its jurisdiction" was intended to exclude from its operation children of ministers, consuls, and citizens or subjects of foreign States born within the United States. [Slaughterhouse Cases, 83 U.S. 36 (1873)]

6. Relates only to the time of birth or naturalization and not to one's CIVIL status at any time AFTER birth or naturalization.
7. Is a codification of the following similar phrase found in the Civil Rights Act of 1866, 14 Stat. 27-30.

Civil Right Act of 1866, 14 Stat. 27

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all persons born in the United States and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States; and such citizens, of every race and color, without regard to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall have the same right, in every State and Territory in the United States, to make and enforce contracts, to sue, be parties, and give evidence, to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold, and convey real and personal property, and to full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property, as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishment, pains, and penalties, and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding. [SOURCE: <http://teachingamericanhistory.org/library/document/the-civil-rights-act-of-1866/>]

The only way one could be “not subject to any foreign power” as indicated above is to not owe ALLEGIANCE to a foreign power and to be a CONSTITUTIONAL “citizen of the United States”.

8. Does NOT apply to people in unincorporated territories such as Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, etc.

"The Naturalization Clause [of the Fourteenth Amendment] has a geographic limitation: it applies "throughout the United States." The federal courts have repeatedly construed similar and even identical

1 language in other clauses to include states and incorporated territories, but not unincorporated territories. In
2 Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 21 S.Ct. 770, 45 L.Ed. 1088 (1901), one of the Insular Cases, the Supreme
3 Court held that the Revenue Clause's identical explicit geographic limitation, "throughout the United States,"
4 did not include the unincorporated territory of Puerto Rico, which for purposes of that Clause was "not part
5 of the United States." Id. at 287, 21 S.Ct. 770. The Court reached this sensible result because unincorporated
6 territories are not on a path to statehood. See Boumediene v. Bush, 553 U.S. 723, 757–58, 128 S.Ct. 2229, 171
7 L.Ed.2d. 41 (2008) (citing Downes, 182 U.S. at 293, 21 S.Ct. 770). In Rabang v. I.N.S., 35 F.3d. 1449 (9th
8 Cir.1994), this court held that the Fourteenth Amendment's limitation of birthright citizenship to those "born
9 ... in the United States" did not extend citizenship to those born in the Philippines during the period when it
10 was an unincorporated territory. U.S. Const., 14th Amend., cl. 1; see Rabang, 35 F.3d. at 1451. Every court to 11 have construed that clause's geographic limitation has agreed. See Valmonte v. I.N.S., 136 F.3d. 914, 920–21
12 (2d Cir.1998); Lacap v. I.N.S., 138 F.3d. 518, 519 (3d Cir.1998); Licudine v. Winter, 603 F.Supp.2d. 129, 134
13 (D.D.C.2009).

14 Like the constitutional clauses at issue in Rabang and Downes, the Naturalization Clause is expressly limited
15 to the "United States." This limitation "prevents its extension to every place over which the government
16 exercises its sovereignty." Rabang, 35 F.3d. at 1453. Because the Naturalization Clause did not follow the flag
17 to the CNMI when Congress approved the Covenant, the Clause does not require us to apply federal immigration
18 law to the CNMI prior to the CNRA's transition date.

36 Lastly, the subject of this section is such an important and pervasive one in the freedom community that we have prepared
37 an entire presentation on the subject matter which we highly recommend that you view, if any questions at all remain about 38 the meaning of the phrase "subject to the jurisdiction" in the Fourteenth Amendment:

Why the Fourteenth Amendment is Not a Threat to Your Freedom, Form #08.015
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

39 13.11.9 "non-resident non-persons" as used in this document are neither PHYSICALLY on federal territory nor 40 LEGALLY present within the United States government as a "person" and office

41 Throughout this document, we use the term "non-resident non-person" to describe those who are neither PHYSICALLY nor 42 LEGALLY present in either the United States GOVERNMENT or the federal territory that it owns and controls. Hence,
43 "non-resident non-persons" are completely outside the legislative jurisdiction of Congress and hence, cannot even be 44 DEFINED by Congress in any statute. No matter what term we invented to describe such a status, Congress could not and
45 would not ever even recognize the existence of such an entity or "person" or "human", because it would not be in their best
46 interest to do so if they want to STEAL from you. Such an entity would, in fact be a "non-customer" to their protection racket
47 and they don't want to even recognize the fact that you have a RIGHT not to be a customer of theirs.

Some people object to the use of this “term” by stating that the terms “non-resident” and “non-resident non-person” are not used in the Internal Revenue Code and therefore can’t be a correct usage. We respond to this objection by saying that:

1. "non-resident" is a legal word, because that is what the U.S. Supreme Court uses to describe it. If the U.S. Supreme Court can use it, then so can we since we are all equal. Notice that they also call "nonresident aliens" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) "non-resident aliens" so that is why WE do it too.

*"Neff was then a non-resident of Oregon."
[Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714, 24 L.Ed. 565 (1877)]*

*"When the contract is 'produced' by a non-resident broker the 'servicing' function is normally performed by the company exclusively."
[Osborn v. Ozlin, 310 U.S. 53, 60 S.Ct. 758, 84 L.Ed. 1074 (1940)]*

*"The court below held that the act did not include a non-resident alien, and directed a verdict and judgment for the whole amount of interest."
[Railroad Company v. Jackson, 74 U.S. 262, 19 L.Ed. 88, 7 Wall. 262 (1868)]*

2. We use the term to avoid the statutory language as much as possible and to emphasize that it implies BOTH the absence of a domicile and the absence of a legal presence under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97.
3. We wish to avoid being confused with anything in the Internal Revenue Code (I.R.C.), since the term "non-resident" is not used there but "resident" is.
4. The Statutes at Large from which the Internal Revenue Code was written originally in 1939 also use the phrase "non-resident" rather than "nonresident", so we are therefore insisting on the historical rather than present use.
5. The Department of State has told us and our members in correspondence received by them that they don’t use the term “nonresident” or “nonresident alien” either. But they DO understand the term “non-resident”. Therefore, we use the term “non-resident non-person” to avoid confusing them also.

13.11.10 “resident”

The Treasury Regulations define the meaning of “resident” and “residence” as follows:

*Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.*

(B) Residence defined.

An alien actually present in the United States] who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with regard to the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another country is not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention as to his stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may be promptly accomplished is a transient but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States, he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

One therefore may only be a “resident” and file resident tax forms such as IRS Form 1040 if they are “present in the United States”, and by “present” can mean EITHER:

1. PHYSICALLY present: meaning within the geographical “United States” as defined by STATUTE and as NOT commonly understood. This would be the United States, which we also call the federal zone. Furthermore:
 - 1.1. Only physical “persons” can physically be ANYWHERE.
 - 1.2. Artificial entities, legal fictions, or other “juristic persons” such as corporations and public offices are NOT physical things, and therefore cannot be physically present ANYWHERE.
2. LEGALLY present: meaning that:
 - 2.1. You have CONSENSUALLY contracted with the government as an otherwise NONRESIDENT party to acquire an office within the government as a public officer and a legal fiction. This can ONLY lawfully occur by availing oneself of 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) , which allows NONRESIDENTS to “elect” to be treated as RESIDENT ALIENS, even though not physically present in the “United States”, IF and ONLY IF they are married to a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL “U.S. citizen” per 8 U.S.C. §1401, 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). If you are married to a CONSTITUTIONAL citizen who is NOT a STATUTORY citizen, this option is NOT available. Consequently, most of the IRS Form 1040 returns the IRS receives are FRAUDULENT in this regard and a criminal offense under 26 U.S.C. §§7206 and 7207.

- 2.2. The OFFICE is legally present within the “United States” as a legal fiction and a corporation. It is NOT physically present. Anyone representing said office is an extension of the “United States” as a legal person.

For all purposes other than those above, a nonresident cannot lawfully acquire any of the following “statuses” under the civil provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C because: 1. Domiciled OUTSIDE of the forum in a legislatively foreign state such as either a state of the Union or a foreign country; AND 2. Protected by the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97.

1. “person”.
2. “individual”.
3. “taxpayer”.
4. “resident”.
5. “citizen”.

For more details on the relationship between STATUTORY civil statuses such as those above and one’s civil domicile, see:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 11
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.11.11 Physically present

As far as being PHYSICALLY present, the “United States” is geographically defined as:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. [Internal Revenue Code]
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(9) United States

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

(10) State

The term "State" shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

TITLE 4 - FLAG AND SEAL, SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, AND THE STATES
*CHAPTER 4 - THE STATES
Sec. 110. Same; definitions

(d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

Anything OUTSIDE of the GEOGRAPHICAL “United States” as defined above is “foreign” and therefore legislatively “alien”. Included within that legislatively “foreign” and “alien” area are both the constitutional states of the Union AND foreign countries. Anyone domiciled in a legislatively “foreign” or “alien” jurisdiction, REGARDLESS OF THEIR NATIONALITY, is a “nonresident” for the purposes of income taxation. If they are a public officer, they are also a “nonresident alien”. Another important thing about the above definition is that:

1. It relates ONLY to the GEOGRAPHICAL CONTEXT of the word.
2. Not every use of the term “United States” implies the GEOGRAPHIC context.
3. The ONLY way to verify which context is implied in each case is if they EXPRESSLY identify whether they mean “United States*” the legal person or “United States” federal territory in each case. All other contexts are NOT expressly invoked in the Internal Revenue Code and therefore PURPOSEFULLY EXCLUDED per the rules of statutory construction. The DEFAULT context in the absence of expressly invoking the GEOGRAPHIC context is “United States*” the legal person and NOT a geographic place. This is how they do it in the case of the phrase “sources within the United States”.

13.11.12 Legally but not physically present

One can be “legally present” within a jurisdiction WITHOUT being PHYSICALLY present. For example, you can be regarded as a “resident” within the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C without ever being physically present on the only place it applies, which is federal territory not part of any state of the Union. Earlier versions of the Internal Revenue regulations demonstrate how this happens:

26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

*A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

The corporations and partnerships mentioned above represent the ONLY “persons” who are “taxpayers” in the Internal Revenue Code, because they are the only entities expressly mentioned in the definition of “person” found at 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343. It is a rule of statutory construction that any thing or class of thing not EXPRESSLY appearing in a definition is purposefully excluded by implication:

*“Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.”*
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

“The United States Supreme Court cannot supply what Congress has studiously omitted in a statute.”
[Federal Trade Com. v. Simplicity Pattern Co., 360 U.S. 55, p. 55, 475042/56451 (1959)]

These same artificial “persons” and therefore public offices within 26 U.S.C. §§6671(b) and 7343, are also NOT mentioned in the constitution either. All constitutional “persons” or “people” are human beings, and therefore the tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C and even the revenue clauses within the United States Constitution itself at 1:8:1 and 1:8:3 can and do relate ONLY to human beings and not artificial “persons” or corporations:

“Citizens of the United States within the meaning of this Amendment must be natural and not artificial persons; a corporate body is not a citizen of the United States.”¹⁴

¹⁴ Insurance Co. v. New Orleans, 13 Fed.Cas. 67 (C.C.D.La. 1870). Not being citizens of the United States, corporations accordingly have been declared unable “to claim the protection of that clause of the Fourteenth Amendment which secures the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States against abridgment or impairment by the law of a State.” Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557, 561 (1869). This conclusion was in

1 harmony with the earlier holding in Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. (8 Wall.) 168 (1869), to the effect that corporations
2 were not within the scope of the privileges and immunities clause of state citizenship set out in Article IV, Sec. 2.

8 One is therefore ONLY regarded as a “resident” within the Internal Revenue Code if and ONLY if they are engaged in the 9 “trade or business” activity, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as “the functions of a public office”. This mechanism
10 for acquiring jurisdiction is documented in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) . Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17\(b\)
11 says that when we are representing a federal and not state corporation as “officers” or statutory “employees” per 5 U.S.C.
12 §2105(a) , the civil laws which apply are the place of formation and domicile of the corporation, which in the case of the 13 government of “U.S. Inc.” is ONLY the District of Columbia:

16 (b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

17 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

18 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

19 (2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized; and

20 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

21 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or

25 or be sued in a United States court.

26 [Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17\(b\)]

27 Please note the following very important facts:

- 28 1. The “person” which IS physically present on federal territory in the context of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b)(2)
29 scenario is the PUBLIC OFFICE, rather than the OFFICER who is CONSENSUALLY and LAWFULLY filling said
30 office.
31 2. The PUBLIC OFFICE is the statutory “taxpayer” per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14), and not the human being filling said
32 office.
33 3. The OFFICE is the thing the government created and can therefore regulate and tax. They can ONLY tax and regulate 34 that which they created.¹¹² The public office has a domicile in the District of Columbia per 4 U.S.C. §72, which is the 35 same domicile as that of its CORPORATION parent.
36 4. Because the parent government corporation of the office is a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL “U.S.
37 citizen”, then the public office itself is ALSO a statutory citizen per 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). All creations of a government
38 have the same civil status as their creator and the creation cannot be greater than the creator:

39 “A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was 40 created, and of that state or country only.”
41 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

- 42 5. An oath of office is the ONLY lawful method by which a specific otherwise PRIVATE person can be connected to a 43 specific PUBLIC office.

44 “It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact [contract] to be
45 answerable to the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of 46 office, he would unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But 47 because one man, by his own act, renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man,

13 Absent proof on the record of such an oath in any legal proceeding, any enforcement proceeding against a "taxpayer"
14 public officer must be dismissed. The oath of public office:

15 5.1. Makes the OFFICER into legal surety for the PUBLIC OFFICE.

16 5.2. Creates a partnership between the otherwise private officer and the government. That is the ONLY partnership
17 within the statutory meaning of "person" found in 26 U.S.C. §7343 and 26 U.S.C. §6671(b).

- 18 6. The reason that "United States" is defined as expressly including ONLY the District of Columbia in 26 U.S.C.
19 §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) is because that is the ONLY place that "public officers" can lawfully serve, per 4 U.S.C. §72:

20 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72

21 Sec. 72. - Public offices; at seat of Government

22 All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere,
23 except as otherwise expressly provided by law

- 24 7. Even within privileged federal corporations, not all workers are "officers" and therefore "public officers". Only the 25 officers of the corporation identified in the corporate filings, in fact, are officers and public officers. Every other
26 worker in the corporation is EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and NOT a statutory "taxpayer".
- 27 8. The authority for instituting the "trade or business" franchise tax upon public officers in the District of Columbia
28 derives from the following U.S. Supreme Court cite:

29 "Loughborough v. Blake, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass or, as appears by the original
30 record, replevin, brought in the circuit court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a
31 direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. at L. 216, chap. 60. It was insisted that Congress could
32 act in a double capacity: in one as legislating [182 U.S. 244, 260] for the states; in the other as a local legislature
33 for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might 34 be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could
35 not legislate for the District under art. 1, 8, giving to Congress the power 'to lay and collect taxes, imposts, and
36 excises,' which 'shall be uniform throughout the United States,' inasmuch as the District was no part of the 37 United States [described in the Constitution]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without
38 limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it
39 extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that Art. 1, 2, declares 40 that 'representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states . . . according to their
41 respective numbers' furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned, but not to exempt any part of the 42 country from their operation. 'The words used do not mean that direct taxes shall be imposed on states only which 43 are represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to states,
44 shall be apportioned to numbers.' That art. 1, 9, 4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the 45 census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, 'and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal
46 share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective states. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is 47 within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to.' It was 48 further held that the words of the 9th section did not 'in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when
49 resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the 2d section require that it shall be extended to
50 all the states. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be 51 taxed, without imposing the necessity of taxing them.'"

52 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

- 53 9. Since the first four commandments of the Ten Commandments prohibit Christians from worshipping or serving other
54 gods, then they also forbid Christians from being public officers in their private life if the government has superior or 55 supernatural powers, immunities, or privileges above everyone else, which is the chief characteristic of any god. The 56 word "serve" in the scripture below includes serving as a public officer. The essence of religious "worship" is, in fact,
57 obedience to the dictates of a SUPERIOR or SUPERNATURAL being. You as a human being are the "natural" in the 58 phrase "supernatural", so if any government or civil ruler has any more power than you as a human being, then they are 59 a god in the context of the following scripture.

1 "You shall have no other gods [including governments or civil rulers] before Me. You shall not make for
2 yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or
3 that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down or serve them. For I, the Lord your God, am a
4 jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generations of those who
5 hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My commandments.
6 [Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKVJ]

- 7 10. Any attempt to compel you to occupy or accept the obligations of a public office without your consent represents 8 several crimes, including:
9 10.1. Theft of all the property and rights to property acquired by associating you with the status of "taxpayer".
10 10.2. Impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
11 10.3. Involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
12 10.4. Identity theft, because it connects your legal identity to obligations that you don't consent to, all of which are 13 associated with the statutory status of "taxpayer".
14 10.5. Peonage, if the status of "taxpayer" is surety for public debts, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1581. Peonage is slavery
15 in connection with a debt, even if that debt is the PUBLIC debt.

16 Usually false and fraudulent information returns are the method of connecting otherwise alien and nonresident parties to the 17 "trade or business" franchise, and thus, they are being criminally abused as the equivalent of federal election devices to 18 fraudulently "elect" otherwise PRIVATE and nonresident parties to be liable for the obligations of a public office. 26 U.S.C.
19 §6041(a) establishes that information returns which impute statutory "income" may ONLY lawfully be filed against this 20 lawfully engaged in a "trade or business". This is covered in:

21 13.11.13 "reside" in the Fourteenth Amendment

22 "reside" in the Fourteenth Amendment means DOMICILE, not mere physical presence.

23 That newly arrived citizens "have two political capacities, one state and one federal," adds special force to their
24 claim that they have the same rights as others who share their citizenship.¹⁷ Neither mere rationality nor some 25 intermediate standard of review should be used to judge the constitutionality of a state rule that discriminates
26 against some of its citizens because they have been domiciled in the State for less than a year. The appropriate
27 standard may be more categorical than that articulated in Shapiro, see supra, at 8 9, but it is surely no less strict.

28 [. . .]

29 A bona fide residence requirement simply requires that the person does establish residence before demanding
30 the services that are restricted to residents." The Martinez Court explained that "residence" requires "both 31 physical presence and an intention to remain [domicile]." see id., at 330, and approved a Texas law that 32 restricted eligibility for tuition-free education to families who met this minimum definition of residence, id., at 33 332 333.

34 While the physical presence element of a bona fide residence is easy to police, the subjective intent element is 35 not. It is simply unworkable and futile to require States to inquire into each new resident's subjective intent to 36 remain. Hence, States employ objective criteria such as durational residence requirements to test a new resident's
37 resolve to remain before these new citizens can enjoy certain in-state benefits. Recognizing the practical appeal
38 of such criteria, this Court has repeatedly sanctioned the State's use of durational residence requirements before

43 students who are not, in fact, bona fide residents of the State, but have come there solely for educational purposes,
44 cannot take advantage of the in-state rates." See Vlandis v. Kline, 412 U.S. 441, 453 454 (1973). The Court has

46 Sosna v. Iowa, 419 U.S. 393, 406 409 (1975), and in upholding political party registration restrictions that

51 What makes a person a citizen of a state? The fourteenth amendment to the Constitution provides that: "All
52 persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside." United States Const. amend. XIV, § 1. However, "reside" has been interpreted to mean more than to be temporarily living in the state; it means to be "domiciled" there. Thus, to be a citizen of a state within the meaning of the diversity provision, a natural person must be both (1) a citizen of the United States, and (2) a domiciliary of that state. Federal common law, not the law of any state, determines whether a person is a citizen of a particular state for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. 1 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice, § 0.74[1] (1996); e.g., Mas v. Perry, 489 F.2d 1396, 1399 (5th Cir.) cert. denied, 419 U.S. 842, 95 S.Ct. 74, 42 L.Ed.2d 70 (1974). [Corry v. Prot, 85 F.3d. 244 (1996)]

The implications of the above are that:

1. The point of reference is the HUMAN and not any offices, agencies, or statuses he or she fills such as "taxpayer", "spouse", etc. under civil franchises. The U.S. Supreme Court held that the only "citizens" mentioned in the Constitution are HUMAN BEINGS and not artificial entities.

"Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent [PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social, political, and moral obligations. It is in this acceptance only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of the Constitution, can be received and understood. When distributing the judicial power, that article extends it to controversies between 'citizens' of different states. This must mean the natural physical beings composing those separate communities, and can by no violence of interpretation be made to signify artificial, incorporeal, theoretical, and invisible creations. A corporation, therefore, being not a natural person, but a mere creature of the mind, invisible and intangible, cannot be a citizen of a state, or of the United States, and cannot fall within the terms or the power of the above mentioned article, and can therefore neither plead nor be impleaded in the courts of the United States."

[Rundle v. Delaware & Raritan Canal Company, 55 U.S. 80, 99 (1852) from dissenting opinion by Justice Daniel]

2. Any offices or civil statuses filled by the human being in the previous step have a domicile quite independent of the officer or agent filling them as men or women. The PUBLIC OFFICE or PUBLIC AGENCY they fill through consent should always be distinguished separately from the OFFICER filling said office or agency. This gives rise to the PUBLIC "person" and the PRIVATE person respectively.
3. Since DOMICILE is voluntary, even CONSTITUTIONAL nationality and state citizenship is voluntary.
4. It also implies that one can be BORN in a place without being a STATUTORY "citizen" there, if one does not have a domicile there. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

13.11.14 The TWO types of "residents": FOREIGN NATIONAL under the common law or GOVERNMENT CONTRACTOR/PUBLIC OFFICER under a franchise

13.11.14.1 Introduction

As we pointed out earlier in section 13.11.4:

1. CONTEXT is extremely important in the legal field.
2. There are TWO main contexts in which legal terms can be used:
 - 2.1. CONSTITUTIONAL or common law: This law protects exclusively PRIVATE rights.
 - 2.2. STATUTORY: This law protects primarily PUBLIC rights and franchises.

CONTEXT therefore has a HUGE impact upon the meaning of the legal term "resident". Because there are two main contexts in which "resident" can be used, then there are TWO possible meanings for the term.

1. CONSTITUTIONAL or COMMON LAW meaning: A foreign national domiciled within the jurisdiction of the municipal government to which the term "resident" relates. One can be a "resident" under constitutional state law and a "nonresident" in relation to the national government because their civil domicile is FOREIGN in relation to that government. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine.
2. STATUTORY meaning: Means a man or woman who consented to a voluntary government civil franchise and by virtue of volunteering, REPRESENTS a public office exercised within and on behalf of the franchise. While on official duty on behalf of the government grantor of the franchise, they assume the effective domicile of the public office they are representing, which is the domicile of the government grantor, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). For instance, the effective domicile of a state franchisee is within the granting state and the domicile of a federal franchisee is within federal territory.

Most of the civil law passed by state and federal governments are civil franchises, such as Medicare, Social Security, driver licensing, marriage licensing, professional licensing, etc. All such franchises are actually administered as FEDERAL franchises, even by the state governments. Men and women domiciled within a constitutional state have a legislatively foreign domicile outside of federal territory and they are therefore treated as statutory “non-resident non-persons” in relation to the national government. Once they volunteer for a franchise, they consent to represent a public office within that civil franchise and their civil statutory status changes from being a “non-resident non-person” to being a statutory “domiciled citizen” in relation to federal territory and the national government under the specific franchise they signed up for. The operation of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) is what makes them a “domiciled citizen” because the office they occupy or represent is domiciled on federal territory in the District of Columbia per 4 U.S.C. §72.

The legal definition of “resident” within Black’s Law Dictionary tries to hint at the above complexities with the following deliberately confusing language:

Resident. “Any person who occupies a dwelling within the State, has a present intent to remain within the State for a period of time, and manifests the genuineness of that intent by establishing an ongoing physical presence within the State together with indicia that his presence within the State is something other than merely transitory in nature. The word “resident” when used as a noun means a dweller, habitant or occupant; one who resides or dwells in a place for a period of more, or less, duration; it signifies one having a residence, or one who resides or abides. Hanson v. P.A. Peterson Home Ass’n, 35 Ill.App.2d. 134, 182 N.E.2d. 237, 240.

Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1309]

Note the following critical statement in the above, admitting that sleight of hand is involved:

“Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]”

Within the above definition, the term “the State” can mean one of TWO things:

1. A PHYSICAL or GEOGRAPHICAL place. This is the meaning that ignorant people with no legal training would naturally PRESUME that it means.
2. A LEGAL place, meaning a LEGAL PRESENCE as a “person” within a legal fiction called a corporation. For instance, an OFFICER of a federal corporation becomes a “RESIDENT” within the corporation at the moment he or she volunteers for the position and thereby REPRESENTS the corporation. Once they volunteer, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) says they become “residents” of the government grantor of the corporation, but only while REPRESENTING said corporation:

IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

- (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
(2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized; and
(3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:
(A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and
(B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.
[SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

All federal corporations are “created” and “organized” under federal law and therefore are considered “residents” and “domestic” in relation to the national government.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(4) Domestic

The term “domestic” when applied to a corporation or partnership means created or organized in the United States or under the law of the United States or of any State unless, in the case of a partnership, the Secretary provides otherwise by regulations.

It is also important to emphasize that ALL governments are corporations as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

“Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes ‘all persons,’ ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst. 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. ‘No man shall be taken,’ ‘no man shall be disseised,’ without due process of law, is a principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal government, by the amendments to the constitution.”
[Proprietors of Charles River Bridge v. Proprietors of Warren Bridge, 36 U.S. 420 (1837)]

Consequently, when one volunteers to become a public officer within a government corporation, then they acquire a “LEGAL PRESENCE” in the LEGAL AND NOT PHYSICAL PLACE called “United States” as an officer of the corporation. In effect, they are “assimilated” into the corporation as a legal “person” as its representative.

Earlier versions of the Treasury Regulations reveal the operation of the SECOND method for creating “residents”, which is that of converting statutory aliens into statutory residents using government franchises:

26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

The key statement in the above is that the status of “resident” does NOT derive from either nationality or domicile, but rather from whether one is “purposefully and consensually” engaged in the FRANCHISE ACTIVITY called a “trade or business”. This is consistent with the Minimum Contacts Doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court, which requires “purposeful availment” in order to waive sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97:

A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

Incidentally, we were the first people we know of who discovered the above mechanisms and as soon as we exposed them on this website, the above regulation was quickly replaced with a temporary regulation to hide the truth. Scum bags!

The deliberately confusing and evasive definition of “resident” in Black’s Law Dictionary is trying to obfuscate or cover up the above process by inventing new terms called “the State”, which they then refuse to define because if they did, they would probably start the second American revolution and destroy the profitability of the government franchise scam that subsidizes the authors within the legal profession! They are like Judas: Selling the truth for 20 pieces of silver.

What we want to emphasize in this section is that:

1. The word “resident” within most government civil law and ALL franchises actually means a government contractor, and has nothing to do with the domicile or nationality of the parties.
2. The “residence” of the franchisee is that of the OFFICE he or she occupies as a statutory but not constitutional alien, and not his or her personal or physical location.

Finally, if you would like to know more about how VOLUNTARY participation in government franchises makes one a “resident”, see:

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Sections 9.4, 10, and 13.5.2
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.11.14.2 “Resident” in the Internal Revenue Code “trade or business” civil franchise

The only type of “resident” defined in the Internal Revenue Code is a “resident alien”, as demonstrated below:

26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) Resident alien

(b) Definition of resident alien and nonresident alien

(1) In general

For purposes of this title (other than subtitle B) -

(A) Resident alien

An alien individual shall be treated as a resident of the United States with respect to any calendar year if (and only if) such individual meets the requirements of clause (i), (ii), or (iii):

(i) Lawfully admitted for permanent residence

Such individual is a lawful permanent resident of the United States at any time during such calendar year.

(ii) Substantial presence test

Such individual meets the substantial presence test of paragraph (3).

(iii) First year election

Such individual makes the election provided in paragraph (4).

Therefore, the terms “resident”, “alien”, and “resident alien” are all synonymous terms within the Internal Revenue Code. Most state income taxation statutes also use the same definition of “resident”, and therefore the same definition applies for state income taxes as well.

QUESTION FOR DOUBTERS: If you believe we are wrong, then please show us a definition of the term “resident” within either the Internal Revenue Code or the implementing regulations that includes “citizens of the United States” as defined under 8 U.S.C. §1401. There simply isn’t one! You are not free to “presume” or “assume” that “citizens of the United States” are also “residents” without the authority of a positive law that authorizes it. We’ll also give you the hint, that even the Internal Revenue Code is neither “positive law” nor does it have the “force of law” for most people, so you can’t use it as legally evidence of anything. Presumptions are NOT legal evidence and violate due process of law when they become evidence without at least your consent in some form. To make this or any other assumption in a court of law would violate our right to “due process or law”, because “presumption” or “assumption” of anything in the legal realm is a violation of due process. Everything must be proven with evidence, and that which is neither law nor which is explicitly stated cannot be presumed.

The only way you can come under the jurisdiction of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is to meet one or more of the following criterias below:

1. A “person” domiciled within the “federal zone” as defined under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1). This statutory “person” is technically either an “alien” or a federal corporation only. A corporation can also be an “alien” if it was incorporated outside of federal jurisdiction but has a presence inside the federal zone. Under 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1, these are the only entities who are required to provide any kind of identifying number on their tax return! That regulation requires the furnishing of a “Taxpayer Identification Number” for these legal “persons”, but 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(d)(3) says that Social Security Numbers are not to be treated as “Taxpayer Identification Numbers”. Consequently, natural persons with a Social Security Number do not have to provide any kind of identifying number on their return because they aren’t the proper subject of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.17 for further details on this scandal.
2. A “nonresident alien” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) who has income “effectively connected with a trade or business”, which means a political office in the United States government under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26). See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii).

Under item 1 above, the term “person” is used in describing an “individual”, but that “person” is technically only a federal corporation or an office WITHIN that corporation, as confirmed by the following:

1. The legal encyclopedia, Corpus Juris Secundum confirms that corporations are treated in law as “citizens of the United States”:

“A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was created, and of that state or country only.”
[19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

2. The definition of “income” as including only “corporate profit” under our Constitution limits the entire Internal Revenue Code to corporations only. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.5 for complete details on this subject.

Natural persons (people) who are “citizens of the United States” under the provisions of 8 U.S.C. §1401 are born only in the District of Columbia or federal territories or possessions. Federal territories and possessions are the only “States” within the Internal Revenue Code as confirmed by 4 U.S.C. §110(d). These statutory “citizens of the United States” cannot legally be classified as “residents”/“aliens” under the Internal Revenue Code and are not authorized by the code to “elect” to be treated as one either. The reason is because the purpose of law is to protect, and a person cannot elect to lose their constitutional rights and protection, even if they want to! However, by filing an IRS form 1040 or 1040A, they in effect make this illegal election anyway, and the IRS looks the other way and does not prosecute such unintentional deceit because they benefit financially from it. The pronouncements of the U.S. Supreme Court also identify this kind of constructive fraud on the part of the IRS as an invalid election if this unwitting choice did not involve fully informed consent. Did you know that you were agreeing to be treated as an “alien” by the IRS when you signed and sent in your first Form 1040 or 1040A?:

“Waivers of Constitutional rights not only must be voluntary, but must be knowing, intelligent acts done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences.”
[Brady v. U.S., 397 U.S. 742 (1970)]

The reason Constitutional rights are being waived is because people who are “residents”/“aliens” within the federal zone have no constitutional rights in law. The only way to avoid this involuntary election is to instead either file nothing or to file a 1040NR form with the IRS instead of a 1040 or 1040A form. You will learn starting in the next section that people who are born in states of the Union are not “nationals and citizens of the United States at birth” under 8 U.S.C. §1401, but are instead the equivalent of “nationals” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). They are also “nonresident aliens” under the Internal Revenue Code if serving in a public office and non-resident non-persons if not serving in a public office in the national government. “nonresident aliens” file only the 1040NR form if they file anything with the IRS. The rules for electing to be treated as a “resident” or “resident alien” are found in IRS Publication 54: Tax Guide for U.S. citizens and Resident Aliens Abroad. See the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections 5.5.2, 5.5.3, and 5.4.12 for amplification on this subject.

IMPORTANT: If you were born in a state of the Union, NEVER, EVER file a 1040, 1040A, or 1040EZ form unless you want to throw your Constitutional rights in the toilet! If you determine that you must file a tax form with the IRS, then only send in a 1040NR form in order to preserve your status as a “national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) and “non-resident non-person” who is outside of federal jurisdiction! Nonresident aliens cannot be penalized under the Internal Revenue Code because they don’t reside there! When you send in the 1040NR form, make sure to change the perjury statement at the end to put yourself outside of federal jurisdiction as follows:

“I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America in accordance with 28 U.S.C. §1746(1) that the foregoing facts are true, correct, and complete to the best of my knowledge and ability, but only when litigated with a jury in a court of a state of the Union and not a federal court.”

You will learn later in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.5 that the IRS has no legal authority to institute penalties against natural persons because of the prohibition against Bills of Attainder found in Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution, but they will try to illegally do it anyway. Since IRS likes to try to illegally penalize people for changing the “jurat” or perjury statement at the end of the 1040NR form, then you can accomplish the equivalent of physically modifying the words in the perjury statement by redefining the words in the statement or redefining the whole statement in its entirety in an attached letter. Physically changing the words in the statement is the only thing IRS incorrectly “thinks” they can penalize for, and especially if the return was completed and submitted outside of federal jurisdiction in a state of the Union and the perjury statement accurately reflects that fact. Remember that crimes can only be punished based on where they are committed, and if your perjury statement reflects the fact that you are outside of federal jurisdiction, then IRS can’t penalize you no matter how hard they try or how many threats they make.

So being a “resident of the State” under federal statutes above makes you a nonresident alien in your own state and an “alien” under federal jurisdiction who is the proper subject of both state and federal income taxes codes! Because as a “resident of the State” you are presumed to reside inside the federal zone, you don’t have any constitutional rights according to the U.S. supreme Court. Listen to the dissenting opinion from Justice Harlan in the case of Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901) which ruled that the federal zone doesn’t have constitutional protections:

“I take leave to say that, if the principles thus announced should ever receive the sanction of a majority of this court, a radical and mischievous change in our system of government will result. We will, in that event, pass from the era of constitutional liberty guarded and protected by a written constitution into an era of legislative absolutism..”

“The idea prevails with some, indeed it has found expression in arguments at the bar, that we have in this country substantially two national governments; one to be maintained under the Constitution, with all of its restrictions; the other to be maintained by Congress outside the independently of that instrument, by exercising such powers [of absolutism] as other nations of the earth are accustomed to..

[...]

It will be an evil day for American liberty if the theory of a government outside the supreme law of the land finds lodgment in our constitutional jurisprudence. No higher duty rests upon this court than to exert its full authority to prevent all violation of the principles of the Constitution.”

Downes v. Bidwell, [182 U.S. 244 (1901), Justice Harlan, Dissenting]

When you accept the false notion that you are “liable” for federal income taxes under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code and subsequently file a 1040 tax return (bad idea!), you are admitting under penalty of perjury that you are an alien “individual” of your own country (not a “national” or “citizen”) who lives in the federal zone. The only definitions of “individual” found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) confirm that the only people who are “individuals” in the context of federal income taxes are “aliens”/“residents” residing in the federal “United States”. That lie or mistake on the tax return you never should have submitted to begin with caused you to become the equivalent of a “virtual inhabitant” of the federal zone in law and from that point on you are treated as such by both the federal government and the state government, even if you don’t want to be and never intended to do this! Here is more proof showing that even if you weren't located in the federal zone when you submitted the false 1040 return, you gave your tacit permission to be treated as a resident of the District of Columbia:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. – Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(39) Persons residing outside [the federal] United States

If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing in the District of Columbia for purposes of any provision of this title relating to -

*(A) jurisdiction of courts, or
(B) enforcement of summons.*

What the above means is that if you filed a 1040 or 1040A form, you are telling the federal government that you are an “alien”/“resident” who lives in the federal zone and consequently, the courts will treat you like you have a domicile in the District of Columbia, which we call the District of Criminals. A similar provision appears under 26 U.S.C. §7408\(d\):

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter A > § 7408
§7408. Action to enjoin promoters of abusive tax shelters, etc.

(d) Citizens and residents outside the United States If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.

Here is what the 2003 IRS Published Products Catalog says about the proper use of the form 1040A on page F-15, and notice is says it is only for “citizens” and “residents”, neither of which describe those born in and inhabiting states of the Union on land not under federal ownership:

Those who file that false 1040 form are admitting that they are living in the King's Castle and from that point on, they better bow down to the king as slaves by paying “tribute” with all their earnings! Important about the above is the fact that “nationals” and “nonresident aliens” are not included in the phrase “citizens or residents”, because they are outside the jurisdiction of the federal courts! One more big reason why we don't want to be a “U.S. citizen” in the context of federal statutes such as 8 U.S.C. §1401! That false 1040 tax return they submitted, which said “U.S. individual” at the top, became a contract with criminals from the “District of Criminals” (the “D.C.” in “Washington D.C.”) to take themselves out of the Constitutional Republic and out of the protections of the Bill of Rights. They united with or “married” Babylon the Great Harlot mentioned in Rev. 17 and 18 and they live where she lives: inside of a totalitarian socialist democracy devoid of constitutional rights and predicated solely on the love of money and luxury. They declared themselves to be an “employee” of the Harlot, and the false W-4 form they submitted proves that, because the upper left corner says “employee”, and the only people who are statutory “employees” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401(c) work for the federal government. It is repugnant to the constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court and therefore they can only be referring to PUBLIC “employees”. They have therefore joined the “Matrix” and become a socialist federal serf. Welcome, comrade!”

“You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men [and remember that government is made up of men].”
[1 Cor. 7:23, Bible, NKJV]

Who says we don’t live in a police state, and not many people even know about this because we have been so deceived by our public “dis-servants”. Can you see how insidious this lawyer deception is? The American people and our media are asleep at the wheel folks!...and it’s going to take a lot more to fix than blind and ignorant patriotism and putting an idiotic flag or bumper sticker on your car. That’s right: if you are a “resident of the United States” or of “the State”, then you’re a federal serf and a ward of the socialist government who is nonresident to his own state! You better to do what you’re told, pay your taxes, and shut up, BOY, or we’ll confiscate all your property, give you 40 lashes and send you to bed without dinner or a blanket. Watch out!

To summarize the preceding discussion of “resident”, for the purposes of taxation, one establishes that they are a “resident” of the federal zone by any of the following techniques:

1. Filing a form 1040 or 1040a or 1040EZ
2. Filling out a W-4 form, which is only for use by federal statutory “employees”, all of whom work only in the federal zone.
3. Claiming to be “U.S. citizen”, “U.S. resident”, or “U.S. person” on any federal form.

If you never did any of the above, then it can’t be said that you ever consented to participate in the federal income tax system and the federal government has no jurisdiction or proof of jurisdiction over you for the purposes of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. If they wrongfully proceed at that point over your objections by attempting unlawful collection and/or assessment actions against you in violation of 26 U.S.C. §6020(b) or the Constitution, then they:

1. Are involved in identity theft because they moved your legal identity under the I.R.C. to a physical place where you neither intend to live or actually live, which is the District of Columbia.
2. Are involved in:
 - 2.1. Racketeering in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1951.
 - 2.2. Extortion in violation of 18 U.S.C. §872.
 - 2.3. Conspiracy against rights in violation of, 18 U.S.C. §241.
3. Can and should be prosecuted individually for fraud in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1001, kidnapping in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1201, and all of the above crimes under both state and federal law.

13.11.14.3 “resident”=government employee, contractor, or agent

The discussion in the preceding section brings out a very subtle point we would like to further expound upon, which is that “residence” is created ONLY through the operation of private law and your right to contract. We allege that the term “permanent” found in the definition of “domicile” in the previous section really means “consent” to the jurisdiction of the government. Below is the proof, right from the definitions within Title 8 of the U.S. Code, which is entitled “Aliens and Nationality”:

TITLE 8 > CHAPTER 12 > SUBCHAPTER I > § 1101
§ 1101. Definitions

(a) As used in this chapter—

(31) The term “permanent” means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from temporary, but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the instance either of the United States or of the individual, in accordance with law.

Note that the term “permanent” as used above has no relationship as to time, but instead can exist only in the presence of your voluntary consent. This is one of the implications of the Declaration of Independence, which states that “to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their JUST powers from the CONSENT of the governed.” What they are pointing out above is that what really makes the relationship “permanent” is your voluntary consent. This consent, the courts call “allegiance”. Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes the practical effect of choosing or consenting to a “domicile” within the jurisdiction of a specific “state”:

"Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a [STATUTORY] citizen of the state wherein he resides [IS DOMICILED], the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties [e.g. CONTRACTUAL DUTIES!!] of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."
Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

The only legitimate purpose of all law and government is “protection”. A person who selects or consents to have a “domicile” or “residence” has effectively contracted to procure “protection” of the “sovereign” or “state” within its jurisdiction. In exchange for the promise of protection by the “state”, they are legally obligated to give their allegiance and support. All allegiance must be voluntary and any consequences arising from compelled allegiance may not be enforced in a court of law. When you revoke your voluntary consent to the government’s jurisdiction and the “domicile” or “residence” contract, you change your status from that of a “domiciliary” or “resident” or “inhabitant” or “U.S. person” to that of a “transient foreigner”. Transient foreigner is then defined below:

"Transient foreigner. One who visits the country, without the intention of remaining."
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1498]

Note again the language within the definition of “domicile” from Black’s Law Dictionary found in the previous section relating to the word “transient”, which confirms that what makes your stay “permanent” is consent to the jurisdiction of the “state” located in that place:

"Domicile. [. . .] The established, fixed, permanent, or ordinary dwellingplace or place of residence of a person, as distinguished from his temporary and transient, though actual, place of residence. It is his legal residence, as distinguished from his temporary place of abode; or his home, as distinguished from a place to which business or pleasure may temporarily call him. See also Abode; Residence."
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

Since your Constitutional right to contract is unlimited, then you can have as many “residences” as you like, but you can have only one legal “domicile”, because your allegiance must be undivided or you will have a conflict of interest and allegiance.

"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."
[Matt. 6:24, Bible, NKJV]

Remember, “resident” is a combination of two word roots: “res”, which is legally defined as a “thing”, and “ident”, which stands for “identified”.

Res. Lat. The subject matter of a trust or will. In the civil law, a thing; an object. As a term of the law, this word has a very wide and extensive signification, including not only things which are objects of property, but also such as are not capable of individual ownership. And in old English law it is said to have a general import, comprehending both corporeal and incorporeal things of whatever kind, nature, or species. By "res," according to the modern civilians, is meant everything that may form an object of rights, in opposition to "persona," which is regarded as a subject of rights. "Res," therefore, in its general meaning, comprises actions of all kinds; while in its restricted sense it comprehends every object of right, except actions. This has reference to the fundamental division of the Institutes that all law relates either to persons, to things, or to actions.*

Res is everything that may form an object of rights and includes an object, subject-matter or status. In re Riggle's Will, 11 A.D.2d 51 205 N.Y.S.2d. 19, 21, 22. The term is particularly applied to an object, subject-matter, or status, considered as the defendant in an action, or as an object against which, directly, proceedings are taken. Thus, in a prize case, the captured vessel is "the res"; and proceedings of this character are said to be in rem. (See In personam; In Rem.) "Res" may also denote the action or proceeding, as when a cause, which is not between adversary parties, is entitled "In re _____".
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1304-1306]

When you become a “resident” in the eyes of the government, you become a “thing” that is now “identified” and which is within their legislative jurisdiction and completely subject to it. Notice that a “res” is defined as the object of a trust above. That trust is the “public trust” created by the Constitution and all laws passed pursuant to it.

"Section 101. Principles of Ethical Conduct. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each Federal employee shall respect and adhere to the fundamental principles of ethical service as implemented in regulations promulgated under sections 201 and 301 of this order:

"(a) Public service is a public trust, requiring employees to place loyalty to the Constitution, the laws, and ethical principles above private gain.

TITLE 5--ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL
CHAPTER XVI--OFFICE OF GOVERNMENT ETHICS
PART 2635--STANDARDS OF ETHICAL CONDUCT FOR EMPLOYEES OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH--Table of Contents
Subpart A--General Provisions
Sec. 2635.101 Basic obligation of public service.

(a) Public service is a public trust. Each employee has a responsibility to the United States Government and its citizens to place loyalty to the Constitution, laws and ethical principles above private gain. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each employee shall respect and adhere to the principles of ethical conduct set forth in this section, as well as the implementing standards contained in this part and in supplemental agency regulations.

All those who swear an oath as "public officers" are also identified as "trustees" of the "public trust":

"As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.¹¹³ Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts.¹¹⁴ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves.¹¹⁵ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.¹¹⁶ It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.¹¹⁷ Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.¹¹⁸"
[63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

A person who is "subject" to government jurisdiction cannot be a "sovereign", because a sovereign is not subject to the law, but the AUTHOR of the law. Only citizens are the authors of the law because only "citizens" can vote.

"Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author and source of law; but in our system, while sovereign powers are delegated to the agencies of government, sovereignty itself remains with the people, by whom and for whom all government exists and acts. And the law is the definition and limitation of power."
[Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

The implication is that you cannot be sovereign if you have a "domicile" or "residence" in any earthly place or in any place other than Heaven or the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. If you choose a "domicile" or "residence" any place on earth, then

1 you become a “subject” in relation to that place and voluntarily forfeit your sovereignty. This is NOT the status you want to
2 have! A “resident” by definition MUST therefore be within the legislative jurisdiction of the government, because the
3 government cannot lawfully write laws that will allow them to recognize or act upon anything that is NOT within their
4 legislative jurisdiction. All law is territorial in nature, and can act only upon the territory under the exclusive control of the 5 government or upon its franchises and contracts, which are “property” under its management and control. The only lawful
6 way that government laws can reach beyond the territory of the sovereign who controls them is through explicit, informed,
7 mutual consent of the individual parties involved, and this field of law is called “private law”.

8 "Judge Story, in his treatise on the Conflicts of Laws, lays down, as the basis upon which all reasonings on the 9 law of comity must necessarily rest, the following maxims: First 'that every nation possesses an exclusive
10 sovereignty and jurisdiction within its own territory'; secondly, 'that no state or nation can by its laws directly
11 affect or bind property out of its own territory, or bind persons not resident therein, whether they are natural
12 born subjects or others.' The learned judge then adds: 'From these two maxims or propositions there follows a 13 third, and that is that whatever force and obligation the laws of one country have in another depend solely upon
14 the laws and municipal regulation of the latter; that is to say, upon its own proper jurisdiction and polity, and

17 The very same principles as government operates under with respect to “resident” also apply to Christianity as well. When 18 we become Christians, we consent to the contract or covenant with God called the Bible. That covenant requires us to accept 19 Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior. This makes us a “resident” of Heaven and “pilgrims and sojourners” (transient 20 foreigners) on earth:

21 "For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ"

23 "Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of 24 the household of God."

26 "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,
27 embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims [transient foreigners] on the earth."

29 "Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul..."
30 [1 Peter 2:11, Bible, NKJV]

31 For those who consent to the Bible covenant with God the Father, Jesus becomes our protector, spokesperson, Counselor,
32 and Advocate before the Father. We become a Member of His family!

33 Jesus' Mother and Brothers Send for Him

34 While He was still talking to the multitudes, behold, His mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with 35 Him. Then one said to Him, "Look, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with 36 You."

37 But He answered and said to the one who told Him, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?" 49 And He 38 stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, "Here are My mother and My brothers! For whoever does

40 [Matt. 12:46-50, Bible, NKJV]

41 By doing God's will on earth and accepting His covenant or private contract with us, which is the Bible, He becomes our 42 Father and we become His children. The law of domicile says that children assume the same domicile as their parents and 43 are legally dependent on them:

A person acquires a domicile of origin at birth.¹¹⁹ The law attributes to every individual a domicile of origin,¹²⁰ which is the domicile of his parents,¹²¹ or of the father,¹²² or of the head of his family;¹²³ or of the person on whom he is legally dependent,¹²⁴ at the time of his birth. While the domicile of origin is generally the place where one is born¹²⁵ or reared,¹²⁶ may be elsewhere.¹²⁷ The domicile of origin has also been defined as the primary domicile of every person subject to the common law.¹²⁸

The legal dependence they are talking about is God's Law, which then becomes our main source of protection and dependence on God. We as believers then recognize Jesus' existence as a "thing" we "identify" in our daily life and in return, He recognizes our existence before the Father. Here is what He said on this subject as proof:

Confess Christ Before Men

*"Therefore whoever confesses Me [recognizes My legal existence under God's law, the Bible, and acknowledges My sovereignty] before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven. But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven."
[Matt. 10:32-33, Bible, NKJV]*

Let's use a simple example to illustrate our point in relation to the world. You want to open a checking account at a bank. You go to the bank to open the account. The clerk presents you with an agreement that you must sign before you open the account. If you won't sign the agreement, then the clerk will tell you that they can't open an account for you. Before you sign the account agreement, the bank doesn't know anything about you and you don't have an account there, so you are the equivalent of an "alien". An "alien" is someone the bank will not recognize or interact with or help. They can only lawfully help "customers", not "aliens". After you exercise your right to contract by signing the bank account agreement, then you now become a "resident" of the bank. You are a "resident" because:

1. You are a "thing" that they can now "identify" in their computer system and their records because you have an "account" there. They now know your name and "account number" and will recognize you when you walk in the door to ask for help.
2. They issued you an ATM card and a PIN so you can control and manage your "account". These things that they issued you are the "privileges" associated with being party to the account agreement. No one who is not party to such an agreement can avail themselves of such "privileges".
3. The account agreement gives you the "privilege" to demand "services" from the bank of one kind or another. The legal requirement for the bank to perform these "services" creates the legal equivalent of "agency" on their part in doing what you want them to do. In effect, you have "hired" them to perform a "service" that you want and need.
4. The account agreement gives the bank the legal right to demand certain behaviors out of you of one kind or another. For instance, you must pay all account fees and not overdraw your account and maintain a certain minimum balance. The legal requirement to perform these behaviors creates the legal equivalent of "agency" on your part in respect to the bank.
5. The legal obligations created by the account agreement give the two parties to it legal jurisdiction over each other defined by the agreement or contract itself. The contract fixes the legal relations between the parties. If either party violates the agreement, then the other party has legal recourse to sue for exceeding the bounds of the "contractual agency" created by the agreement. Any litigation that results must be undertaken consistent with what the agreement authorizes and in a mode or "forum" (e.g. court) that the agreement specifies.

The government does things exactly the same way. The only difference is the product they deliver. The bank delivers financial services, and the government delivers “protection” and “social” services. The account number is the social security number. You can’t have or use a social security number and avail yourself of its benefits without consenting to the jurisdiction of the “contract” that authorized its’ issuance, which is the Social Security Act found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE
DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS
PART 2. CONTRACTS
CHAPTER 3. CONSENT
Section 1589

1589. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a [government benefit] transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations [and legal liabilities] arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to the person accepting.

Therefore, you can’t avail yourself of the “privileges” associated with the Social Security account agreement without also being a “resident” of the “United States”, which means an alien who has signed a contract to procure services from the government. That contract can be explicit, which means a contract in writing, or implicit, meaning that it is created through your behavior. For instance, if you drive on the roads within a state, that act implied your consent to be bound by the vehicle code of that state. In that sense, driving a car became a voluntary exercise of your right to contract.

A mere innocent act can imply or trigger “constructive consent” to a legal contract, and in many cases, you may not even be aware that you are exercising your right to contract. Watch out! For instance, the criminal code in your state behaves like a contract. The “police” are simply there to enforce the contract. As a matter of fact, their job was created by that contract. This is called the “police power” of the state. If you do not commit any of the acts in the criminal or penal code, then you are not subject to it and it is “foreign” to you. You become the equivalent of a “resident” within the criminal code and subject to the legislative jurisdiction of that code ONLY by committing a “crime” identified within it. That “crime” triggers “constructive consent” to the terms of the contract and all the obligations that flow from it, including prison time and a court trial. This analysis helps to establish that in a free society, all law is a contract of one form or another, because it can only be passed by the consent of the majority of those who will be subject to it. The people who will be subject to the laws of a “state” are those with a “domicile” or “residence” within the jurisdiction of that “state”. Those who don’t have such a “domicile” or “residence” and who are therefore not subject to the civil laws of that state are called “transient foreigners”. This concept is built extensively upon in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections 5.4 through 5.4.4.5. This is a very interesting subject that we find most people are simply fascinated with, because it helps to emphasize the “voluntary nature” of all law.

13.11.14.4 Why was the statutory “resident” under civil franchises created instead of using a classical constitutional “citizen” or “resident” as its basis?

After looking at the “resident” government contractor franchise scam, we wondered why they had to do this instead of simply using a classical constitutional “citizen” or “resident” with a domicile within the territory protected by a specific government as the basis for franchises. After careful thought and research, we found that there are many reasons they had to do this:

1. The Constitution forbids what is called “class legislation” relating to constitutional “citizens” or “residents”. The reason is that it violates the requirement for equal protection and equal treatment that is at the heart of the Constitution. Governments are NOT allowed to treat any subset of constitutional citizens or residents differently, or confer or grant “benefits”, and by implication “franchises”, to any SUBSET of them. If participation is in fact voluntary, there is no way they could even offer franchises to constitutional citizens without favoring one group over another and thereby creating an unconstitutional “title of nobility”. Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court described this violation after the first income tax was enacted and declared UNCONSTITUTIONAL by the U.S. Supreme Court:

“The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger and more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing intensity and bitterness. ‘If the court sanctions the power of discriminating taxation, and nullifies the uniformity mandate of the constitution,’ as said by one who has been all his life a student of our institutions, ‘it will mark the hour when the sure decadence of our present government will commence.’

The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation. Whenever a distinction is made in the burdens a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by reason of their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses, and to general unrest and disturbance in society.”
[Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan and Trust, 157 U.S. 429 (1895)]

2. It has always been unconstitutional to abuse the government’s taxing power to pay private individuals. Classical constitutional citizens and residents are inherently PRIVATE individuals.

“His [the individual’s] rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he does not trespass upon their rights.”
[Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906)]

Hence, the government cannot lawfully create any franchise “benefit” offered to PRIVATE constitutional citizens or residents that could be used to redistribute wealth between different groups of otherwise private individuals. For instance, they cannot tax the rich to give to the poor, as the U.S. Supreme Court indicated above and hence, cannot offer franchises to constitutional citizens or residents, or tie eligibility for the franchise to the status of constitutional citizen or resident.

“A tax, in the general understanding of the term and as used in the constitution, signifies an exaction for the support of the government. The word has never thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another.”
[U.S. v. Butler, 297 U.S. 1 (1936)]

“To lay with one hand the power of government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it on favored individuals.. is none the less robbery because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms.”
[Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

“The king establishes the land by justice, But he who receives bribes [socialist handouts, government “benefits”, or PLUNDER stolen from nontaxpayers] overthrows it.”
[Prov. 29:4, Bible, NKJV]

3. It has been repeatedly held as unconstitutional for governments to establish a “poll tax”. Poll taxes are fees required to be paid before one may vote in any election. Voting, in turn, is described as a “franchise”. Eligibility to vote is established by the coincidence of both nationality and domicile. If domicile instead of “residence” under a franchise were used as the criteria for income tax obligation, then indirectly the income tax would act for all intents and purposes as a “poll tax” and thereby quickly be declared as unconstitutional.

We conclude that a State violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an electoral standard. Voter qualifications have no relation to wealth nor to paying or not paying this or any other tax.¹²⁹ Our cases demonstrate that the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment restrains the States from fixing voter qualifications which invidiously discriminate. Thus without questioning the power of a State to impose reasonable residence restrictions on the availability of the ballot (see Pope v. Williams, 193 U.S. 621, 24 S.Ct. 573, 48 L.Ed. 817), we held in Carrington v. Rash, 380 U.S. 89, 85 S.Ct. 775, 13 L.Ed.2d. 675, that a State may not deny the opportunity to vote to a bona fide resident merely because he is a member of the armed services. 'By forbidding a soldier ever to controvert the presumption of non-residence, the Texas Constitution imposes an invidious discrimination in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.' Id., at 96, 85 S.Ct. at 780. And see Louisiana v. United States, 380 U.S. 145, 85 S.Ct. 817. Previously we had said that neither homesite nor occupation 'affords a permissible basis for distinguishing between qualified voters within the State.' Gray v. Sanders, 372 U.S. 368, 380, 83 S.Ct. 801, 808, 9 L.Ed.2d. 821. We think the same must be true of requirements of wealth or affluence or payment of a fee.

Long ago in Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, 370, 6 S.Ct. 1064, 1071, 30 L.Ed. 220 the Court referred to 'the political franchise of voting' as a 'fundamental political right, because preservative of all rights.' Recently in Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. 533, 561—562, 84 S.Ct. 1362, 1381, 12 L.Ed.2d. 506, we said, 'Undoubtedly, the right of suffrage is a fundamental matter in a free and democratic society. Especially since the right to exercise the franchise in a free and unimpaired manner is preservative of other basic civil and political rights, any alleged infringement of the right of citizens to vote must be carefully and meticulously scrutinized.' There we were considering charges that voters in one part of the State had greater representation per person in the State Legislature than voters in another part of the State. We concluded:

¹²⁹ Only a handful of States today condition the franchise on the payment of a poll tax. Alabama (Ala. Const., §§ 178, 194, and Amendments 96 and 207; Ala. Code Tit. 17, § 12) and Texas (Tex. Const., Art. 6, § 2; Vernon's Ann. Stat., Election Code, Arts. 5.02, 5.09) each impose a poll tax of $1.50. Mississippi (Miss. Const., §§ 241, 243; Miss. Code §§ 3130, 3160, 3235) has a poll tax of $2. Vermont has recently eliminated the requirement that poll taxes be paid in order to vote. Act of Feb. 23, 1966, amending Vt. Stat. Ann. Tit. 24, § 701.

A citizen, a qualified voter, is no more nor no less so because he lives in the city or on the farm. This is the clear and strong command of our Constitution's Equal Protection Clause. This is an essential part of the concept of a government of laws and not men. This is at the heart of Lincoln's vision of 'government of the people, by the people, (and) for the people.' The Equal Protection Clause demands no less than substantially equal state legislative representation for all citizens, of all places as well as of all races.' Id., at 568, 84 S.Ct. at 1385.

We say the same whether the citizen, otherwise qualified to vote, has $1.50 in his pocket or nothing at all, pays the fee or fails to pay it. The principle that denies the State the right to dilute a citizen's vote on account of his economic status or other such factors by analogy bars a system which excludes those unable to pay a fee to vote or who fail to pay.

4. Corrupt politicians through abuse of legal “words of art” had to make franchise participation at least “LOOK” like it was somehow connected to citizenship, even though technically it is not, in order to fool people into thinking that participation was mandatory by virtue of their nationality or domicile, even though in fact it is NOT. Therefore they confused the word “resident” and “residence” with a statutory status of a constitutional or classical “alien”, even though they are NOT the same.
5. Since you can only have a domicile in one place at a time, then if income taxes were based on domicile alone, you could only pay the tax to ONE municipal government at a time. Hence, you could NOT simultaneously owe both STATE and FEDERAL income tax at the same time. The only way to reconcile the conflict under such circumstances is to pay it to the state government only. On the other hand, if taxes are based on “residence” you could owe it to more than one government at a time if you had multiple “residences”. Therefore, they HAD to based the tax upon “residence” and not “domicile” and to make “residence” a product of your consent to contract with a specific government for services or protection under a specific franchise.

13.11.14.5 How the TWO types of “RESIDENTS” are deliberately confused

As we pointed out in the previous section, there is a vested financial interest in covetous governments deliberately confusing FOREIGN NATIONALS under the common law with CONTRACTORS under government franchises. Great pains have been taken over time to confuse these two because of these strong motivations to recruit more government franchisee contractors and thus increase revenues. We will discuss these mechanisms in this section.

The first technique was already pointed out earlier in section 13.11.5, where we showed that “residence” is deliberately confused with “domicile”, even though they are NOT equivalent and mutually exclusive under franchise statutes. “Residence” under the Internal Revenue Code “trade or business” franchise, for instance, means the abode of a statutory “alien” and DOES NOT include either statutory “citizens” or even statutory “nonresident aliens”.

The second technique is to confuse the word “reside” with “residence” or “domicile”. Reside simply means where one sleeps at night and has NOTHING to do with either their domicile OR their residence:

“RESIDE. Live, dwell, abide, sojourn, stay, remain, lodge. Western-Knapp Engine.”
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1473]

You can RESIDE somewhere WITHOUT having EITHER a domicile or a residence there. Here is an example:

*There are no cases in California deciding whether a foreign corporation can "reside" in a county within the meaning of the recordation sections of the Code. There are cases, however, on the question whether a foreign corporation doing business in California can acquire a county residence within the state for the purpose of venue. The early cases held that such residence could not be acquired.¹ These cases were explained in Bohn v. Better Biscuits, Inc., 26 Cal.App.2d. 61, 78 P.2d. 1177,2 wherein it was finally established that a foreign corporation doing business in California, having designated its principal office pursuant to Section 405 of the California Civil Code provision (passed in 1929), could acquire a county residence in the state for the purpose of venue. The court in that case construed the venue provision of Section 395 of the Code of Civil Procedure which reads as follows: "In all other cases, * * * the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action, is the proper county for the trial of the action. * * * If none of the defendants resides in the State, * * * the action may be tried in any county which the plaintiff may designate in his complaint."*

In relation to this section, the court held: "The plaintiff stresses the word 'reside.' It then contends that as the defendant is a foreign corporation having its principal place of business at Grand Rapids, Mich., that place is its residence and it may not be heard to claim that it resides at any other place. If by the use of the word 'reside' one means 'domicil' that contention would be sound. * * * It is not claimed that there is anything in the context showing the word 'reside' was intended to mean 'domicil.' By approved usage of the language 'reside' means: 'Live, dwell, abide, sojourn, stay, remain, lodge.' * * * By a long line of decisions it has been held that a domestic corporation resides at the place where its principal place of business is located. Walker v. Wells Fargo Bank, etc., Co., 8 Cal.2d. 447, 65 P.2d. 1299. The designation of the principal place of business of a domestic corporation is contained in its articles. Civ.Code, § 290 * * * The designation of the principal place of business of a foreign corporation in this state is contained in the statement which it is required to file in the office of the secretary of state before it may legally transact business in this state. Civ.Code, § 405 * * *. Prior to the enactment of sections 405-406a * * * a foreign corporation had no locus in this state. No statute required it to designate, by a written statement duly filed in the office of the secretary of state, the location of its principal place of business in the state. After the enactment of said sections, the principal place of business of foreign corporations as well as domestic corporations was fixed by law. When the reason is the same, the rule should be the same. Civ.Code, § 3511. It follows * * * by reason of the enactment of section 405 et seq. of the Civil Code * * * said section 395 of the Code of Civil Procedure * * * applies to persons both natural and artificial and whether the corporation is a domestic or a foreign corporation." Bohn v. Better Biscuits, Inc., 26 Cal.App.2d. 61, 64, 65, 78 P.2d. 1177, 1179, 80 P.2d. 484.

[Western-Knapp Engineering Co. v. Gilbank, 129 F.2d. 135 (9th Cir., 1942)]

Keep in mind the following important facts about the above case:

1. "Reside" is where the corporation physically does business, not the place of its civil domicile.
2. One can "do business" in a geographic region without having a civil domicile there.
3. The corporation is a creation of and therefore component LEGALLY WITHIN the government that granted it, regardless of where it is physically located or where it does business. This is reflected in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
4. Those "doing business" in a specific geographical region are "deemed to be LEGALLY present" within the forum or civil laws they are doing business in, regardless of whether they have offices in that region under:
 - 4.1. The Minimum Contacts Doctrine in International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945).
 - 4.2. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97.
5. The fact that one "does business" within a specific region does not necessarily mean that you are "purposefully availing yourself" under the laws of that region, and especially if the parties doing business have a contract between them REMOVING the government and its protections from their CIVIL relationship. How might this be done? They could have a "binding arbitration" agreement or contract that relegates all disputes to a private third party, for instance.
6. The civil statutory laws of a place are a social compact, and it would constitute eminent domain without compensation over those who have neither a "domicile" nor a "residence" in the region to impose or enforce these laws against them. That is the foundation of the Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court itself, in fact.
7. One can be legally present UNDER THE COMMON LAW while being NOT PRESENT under civil statutory law. That would be the condition of a nonresident foreign corporation such as the one in the case above.
8. "Residing" somewhere implies an effective legal "residence" under the Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court ONLY if one is ALSO "doing business", and ONLY for that specific transaction and for NO other purpose or franchise.

13.11.14.6 PRACTICAL EXAMPLE 1: Opening a bank account

Let us give you a practical business example of this phenomenon in action whereby a person becomes a "resident" from a legal perspective by exercising their right to contract. You want to open a checking account at a bank. You go to the bank to open the account. The clerk presents you with an agreement that you must sign before you open the account. If you won't sign the agreement, then the clerk will tell you that they can't open an account for you. Before you sign the account agreement, the bank doesn't know anything about you and you don't have an account there, so you are the equivalent of an "alien". An "alien" is someone the bank will not recognize or interact with or help. They can only lawfully help "customers", not "aliens". After you exercise your right to contract by signing the bank account agreement, then you now become a "resident" of the bank. You are a "resident" because:

1. You are a "thing" that they can now "identify" in their computer system and their records because you have an "account" there. A "res" is legally defined as a "thing". They now know your name and "account number" and will recognize you when you walk in the door to ask for help. Hence "res-ident".
2. You are the "person" described in their account agreement. Before you signed it, you were a "foreigner" not subject to it.

3. They issued you an ATM card and a PIN so you can control and manage your “account”. These things that they issued you are the “privileges” associated with being party to the account agreement. No one who is not party to such an agreement can avail themselves of such “privileges”.
4. The account agreement gives you the “privilege” to demand “services” from the bank of one kind or another. The legal requirement for the bank to perform these “services” creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on their part in doing what you want them to do. In effect, you have “hired” them to perform a “service” that you want and need.
5. The account agreement gives the bank the legal right to demand certain behaviors out of you of one kind or another. For instance, you must pay all account fees and not overdraw your account and maintain a certain minimum balance. The legal requirement to perform these behaviors creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on your part in respect to the bank.
6. The legal obligations created by the account agreement give the two parties to it legal jurisdiction over each other defined by the agreement or contract itself. The contract fixes the legal relations between the parties. If either party violates the agreement, then the other party has legal recourse to sue for exceeding the bounds of the “contractual agency” created by the agreement. Any litigation that results must be undertaken consistent with what the agreement authorizes and in a mode or “forum” (e.g. court) that the agreement specifies.

13.11.14.7 PRACTICAL EXAMPLE 2: Creation of the “resident” under a government civil franchise

When two parties execute a franchise agreement or contract between them, they are engaging in “commerce”. The practical consequences of the franchise agreement are the following:

1. The main source of jurisdiction for the government is over commerce.
2. The mutual consideration passing between the parties provides the nexus for government jurisdiction over the transaction.
3. If the exchange involves a government franchise offered by the national government:
 - 3.1. An “alienation” of private rights has occurred. This alienation:
 - 3.1.1. Turns formerly private rights into public rights.
 - 3.1.2. Accomplishes the equivalent of a “donation” of private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office in order to procure the “benefits” of the franchise by the former owner of the property.
 - 3.2. Parties to the franchise agreement cannot engage in a franchise without implicitly surrendering governance over disputes to the government granting the franchise. In that sense, their effective domicile shifts to the location of the seat of the government granting the franchise.
 - 3.3. The parties to the franchise agreement mutually and implicitly surrender their sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. §1605(a)(2), which says that commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the “United States” constitutes constructive consent to be sued in the courts of the United States. This is discussed in more detail in the previous section.

Another surprising result of engaging in franchises and public “benefits” that most people overlook is that the commerce it represents, in fact, can have the practical effect of making an “alien” or “nonresident” party into a “resident” for the purposes of statutory jurisdiction. Here is the proof:

In International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), the Supreme Court held that a court may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant consistent with due process only if he or she has "certain minimum contacts" with the relevant forum "such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend 'traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.' " Id. at 316 (quoting Milliken v. Meyer, 311 U.S. 457, 463 (1940)). Unless a defendant's contacts with a forum are so substantial, continuous, and systematic that the defendant can be deemed to be "present" in that forum for all purposes, a forum may exercise only "specific" jurisdiction - that is, jurisdiction based on the relationship between the defendant's forum contacts and the plaintiff's claim. The parties agree that only specific jurisdiction is at issue in this case.

In this circuit, we analyze specific jurisdiction according to a three-prong test:

- (1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;
- (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and
- (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e. it must be reasonable.

Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d. 797, 802 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d. 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987)). The first prong is determinative in this case. We have sometimes referred to it, in shorthand fashion, as the "purposeful availment" prong. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. Despite its label, this prong includes both purposeful availment and purposeful direction. It may be satisfied by purposeful availment of the privilege of doing business in the forum; by purposeful direction of activities at the forum; or by some combination thereof.

We have typically treated "purposeful availment" somewhat differently in tort and contract cases. In tort cases, we typically inquire whether a defendant "purposefully direct[s] his activities" at the forum state, applying an "effects" test that focuses on the forum in which the defendant's actions were felt, whether or not the actions themselves occurred within the forum. See Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 803 (citing Calder v. Jones, 465 U.S. 783, 789-90 (1984)). By contrast, in contract cases, we typically inquire whether a defendant "purposefully avails itself of the privilege of conducting activities" or "consummate[s] [a] transaction" in the forum, focusing on activities such as delivering goods or executing a contract. See Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. However, this case is neither a tort nor a contract case. Rather, it is a case in which Yahoo! argues, based on the First Amendment, that the French court's interim orders are unenforceable by an American court. [Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d. 1199 (9th Cir. 01/12/2006)]

Legal treatises on domicile also confirm that those who are "wards" or "dependents" of the state or the government assume the same domicile or "residence" as their care giver. The practical effect of this is that by participating in government franchises, we become "wards" of the government in receipt of welfare payments such as Social Security, Medicare, etc. As "wards" under "guardianship" of the government, we assume the same domicile as the government who is paying us the "benefits", which means the District of Columbia. Our domicile is whatever the government, meaning the "court" wants it to be for their convenience:

PARTICULAR PERSONS
§ 24. Wards

While it appears that an infant ward's domicile or residence ordinarily follows that of the guardian it does not necessarily do so,¹³⁰ as so a guardian has been held to have no power to control an infant's domicile as against her mother.¹³¹ Where a guardian is permitted to remove the child to a new location, the child will not be held to have acquired a new domicile if the guardian's authority does not extend to fixing the child's domicile. Domicile of a child who is a ward of the court is the location of the court.¹³²

Since a ward is not sui juris, he cannot change his domicile by removal,¹³³ nor or does the removal of the ward to another state or county by relatives or friends, affect his domicile.¹³⁴ Absent an express indication by the court, the authority of one having temporary control of a child to fix the child's domicile is ascertained by interpreting the court's orders.¹³⁵

This change in domicile of those who participate in government franchises and thereby become "wards" of the government is also consistent with the U.S. Supreme Court's view of the government's relationship to those who participate in government franchises. It calls the government a "parens patriae" in relation to them!:

"The proposition is that the United States, as the grantor of the franchises of the company [a corporation, in this case], the author of its charter, and the donor of lands, rights, and privileges of immense value, and as parens patriae, is a trustee, invested with power to enforce the proper use of the property and franchises granted for the benefit of the public."

One Congressman during the debates over the proposal of the Social Security Act in 1933 criticized the very adverse affects of the franchise upon people's rights, including that upon the domicile of those who participate, when he said:

Mr. Logan: "...Natural laws cannot be created, repealed, or modified by legislation. Congress should know there are many things which it cannot do..."

"It is now proposed to make the Federal Government the guardian of its citizens. If that should be done, the Nation soon must perish. There can only be a free nation when the people themselves are free and administer the government which they have set up to protect their rights. Where the general government must provide work, and incidentally food and clothing for its citizens, freedom and individuality will be destroyed and eventually the citizens will become serfs to the general government..."

The Internal Revenue Code franchise agreement itself contains provisions which recognize this change in effective domicile to the District of Columbia within 26 U.S.C. §7408(d) and 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39).

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
§ 7701. Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(39) Persons residing outside United States

If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing ["domiciled"] in the District of Columbia for purposes of any provision of this title relating to—

*(A) jurisdiction of courts, or
(B) enforcement of summons.*

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter A > § 7408
§7408. Action to enjoin promoters of abusive tax shelters, etc.

(d) Citizens and residents outside the United States If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.

Since your Constitutional right to contract is unlimited, then you can have as many temporary and transient “residences” as you like, but you can have only one legal “domicile”, because your allegiance must be undivided or you will have a conflict of interest and allegiance.

“No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.”
[Matt. 6:23-25, Bible, NKJV]

Now do you understand the reasoning behind the following maxim of law? You become a “subject” and a “resident” under the jurisdiction of a government's civil law by demanding its protection! If you want to “fire” the government as your “protector”, you MUST quit demanding anything from it by filling out government forms or participating in its franchises:

Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.
[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

Remember, “resident” is a combination of two word roots: “res”, which is legally defined as a “thing”, and “ident”, which stands for “identified”.

Res. Lat. The subject matter of a trust or will. In the civil law, a thing; an object. As a term of the law, this word has a very wide and extensive signification, including not only things which are objects of property, but also such as are not capable of individual ownership. And in old English law it is said to have a general import, comprehending both corporeal and incorporeal things of whatever kind, nature, or species. By "res," according to the modern civilians, is meant everything that may form an object of rights, in opposition to "persona," which is regarded as a subject of rights. "Res," therefore, in its general meaning, comprises actions of all kinds; while in its restricted sense it comprehends every object of right, except actions. This has reference to the fundamental division of the Institutes that all law relates either to persons, to things, or to actions.

Res is everything that may form an object of rights and includes an object, subject-matter or status. In re Riggle's Will, 11 A.D.2d. 51 205 N.Y.S.2d. 19, 21, 22. The term is particularly applied to an object, subject-matter, or status, considered as the defendant in an action, or as an object against which, directly, proceedings are taken. Thus, in a prize case, the captured vessel is "the res"; and proceedings of this character are said to be in rem. (See In personam; In Rem.) "Res" may also denote the action or proceeding, as when a cause, which is not between adversary parties, is entitled "In re _____".
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1304-1306]

The "object, subject matter, or status" they are talking about above is the ALL CAPS incarnation of your legal birth name and the government-issued number, usually an SSN, that is associated with it. Those two things constitute the "straw man" or "trust" or "res" which you implicitly agree to represent at the time you sign up for any franchise, benefit, or "public right". When the government attacks someone for a tax liability or a debt, they don't attack you as a private person, but rather the collection of rights that attach to the ALL CAPS trust name and associated Social Security Number trust. They start by placing a lien on the number, which actually is THEIR number and not YOURS. That number associates PRIVATE property with PUBLIC TRUST property. Merriam-Webster's Dictionary definition 5(b) for "Trust" is "office":

" Trust: 5 a (1) : a charge or duty imposed in faith or confidence or as a condition of some relationship (2) : something committed or entrusted to one to be used or cared for in the interest of another b : responsible charge or office c : CARE, CUSTODY <the child committed to her trust.>"
[Merriam-Webster's 11th Collegiate Dictionary]

20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) says the number is THEIR property. They can lien their property, which is public property in your temporary use and custody as a "trustee" of the "public trust". Everything that number is connected to acts as private property donated temporarily to a public use to procure the "benefits" of the franchise. It is otherwise illegal to mix public property, such as the Social Security Number, with private property, because that would constitute illegal and criminal embezzlement in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.

"Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that USE; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation."

Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes the practical effect of creating the trust and placing its "residence" or "domicile" within the jurisdiction of the specific government or "state" granting the franchise:

"Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties [e.g. CONTRACTUAL DUTIES!!] of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."
Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

The implication is that you cannot be sovereign if either you or the entities you voluntarily represent have a "domicile" or "residence" in any man-made government or in any place other than Heaven or the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. If you choose a "domicile" or "residence" any place on earth, then you become a "subject" in relation to that place and voluntarily forfeit your sovereignty. This is NOT the status you want to have! A "resident" by definition MUST therefore be within the legislative jurisdiction of the government, because the government cannot lawfully write laws that will allow them to recognize or act upon anything that is NOT within their legislative jurisdiction.

All law is prima facie territorial in nature, and can act only upon the territory under the exclusive control of the government or upon its franchises, contracts, and real and chattel property, which are "property" under its management and control pursuant to Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution. The only lawful way that government laws can reach beyond the territory of the sovereign who controls them is through explicit, informed, mutual consent of the individual parties involved, and this field of law is called “private law”.

"Judge Story, in his treatise on the Conflicts of Laws, lays down, as the basis upon which all reasonings on the law of comity must necessarily rest, the following maxims: First 'that every nation possesses an exclusive sovereignty and jurisdiction within its own territory'; secondly, 'that no state or nation can by its laws directly affect or bind property out of its own territory, or bind persons not resident therein, whether they are natural born subjects or others.' The learned judge then adds: 'From these two maxims or propositions there follows a third, and that is that whatever force and obligation the laws of one country have in another depend solely upon the laws and municipal regulation of the latter; that is to say, upon its own proper jurisdiction and polity, and upon its own express or tacit consent.'" Story on Conflict of Laws §23."

13.11.15 Legal presumptions about domicile

It is important also to recognize that state and federal law often establishes certain rebuttable “presumptions” about one’s “residence” as an “alien”/ “resident”. Below is an example from the Arizona Revised Statutes:

*Arizona Revised Statutes
Title 43: Taxation of Income
Section 43-104 Definitions*

19. "Resident" includes:

(a) Every individual who is in this state for other than a temporary or transitory purpose.

(b) Every individual who is domiciled in this state and who is outside the state for a temporary or transitory purpose. Any individual who is a resident of this state continues to be a resident even though temporarily absent from the state.

*(c) Every individual who spends in the aggregate more than nine months of the taxable year within this state shall be presumed to be a resident. The presumption may be overcome by competent evidence that the individual is in the state for a temporary or transitory purpose.

The above presumption is rebuttable, and the way to rebut it is to make our intentions known:

"This right of domicile, he continues, is not established unless the person makes sufficiently known his intention of fixing there, either tacitly or by an express declaration. Vatt. Law Nat. pp. 92, 93."
[Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

How do we make our “intentions” known to the protector we are nominating?:

1. By sending the following form according to the instructions:

Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

2. By sending the state a written notification of domicile, or a Department of Motor Vehicles change of address form. Most change of address forms have a block for indicating one’s “residence”. Line out the word “residence” and replace it with “domicile” or else you will establish yourself as a privileged alien.
3. Whenever we write a physical address on any especially government or financial institution form, next to the address we should write "This is NOT my domicile." This is a VERY important habit to get into that will avoid all false presumptions about your legal domicile.
4. By revoking our voter registration.

We can also encourage other false presumptions by the government relating to our legal domicile based on the words we use to describe ourselves. For instance, if we describe ourselves as either a “citizen” or a “resident” or “inhabitant” on any government form, then we are declaring ourselves to be a “domiciliary” in respect to the government who is accepting the form. Otherwise, we would be a “transient foreigner” outside of the jurisdiction of that government. This is further explained in the following two articles:

1. You're Not a STATUTORY "citizen" under the Internal Revenue Code, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Citizenship/NotACitizenUnderIRC.htm>
2. You're Not a STATUTORY "resident" under the Internal Revenue Code, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Citizenship/Resident.htm>

Within federal law, persons who are "citizens", "residents", or "inhabitants" are described as:

- a. "Individuals". See 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(2) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).

5 U.S.C. §552a\(2\) Records maintained on individuals

(2) the term "individual" means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence "[resident"];

- b. "U.S. persons". See 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30).

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(30) United States person

The term "United States person" means -

(A) a citizen or resident of the United States,

(B) a domestic partnership,

(C) a domestic corporation,

(D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

(E) any trust if -

(i) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust, and

(ii) one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

- c. "domestic". Both "domicile" and "domestic" have the root "dom" as their source. Both imply the same thing. Within the Internal Revenue Code, "domestic" is defined as follows:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(4) Domestic

The term "domestic" when applied to a corporation or partnership means created or organized in the United States or under the law of the United States or of any State unless, in the case of a partnership, the Secretary provides otherwise by regulations.

Therefore, "domestic" means subject to the laws of the United States". Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), you cannot be "subject" to the laws without having a domicile in the territory where those laws apply.

Those who are "non-resident non-persons", "nontaxpayers" and "transient foreigners" therefore cannot declare themselves as being either "citizens", "residents", "inhabitants", "U.S. persons", "individuals", or "domestic" on any federal government form, or they forfeit their status and become "taxpayers", "domiciliaries", and "subjects" and tenants living on the king's land. For an important example of how the above concept applies, examine the IRS Form W-8BEN:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormW8ben.pdf>

Block 3 is used by the applicant to declare both the entity type AND their legal domicile as well. The declaration of “domicile” is “hidden” in the word “individual”. Notice there is no block on the form for either “human being” or “transient foreigner”. The only block a human being can fill out is “individual”. 5 U.S.C. §552\(a\)\(2\) identifies a statutory “individual” as either a statutory “citizen” or a statutory “resident”, and a person who is a “nonresident alien” cannot be either. Therefore, the form essentially coerces the applicant into committing perjury by not providing an option to accurately describe themselves, such as a box for “transient foreigner” or “human being”. This defect is remedied in the amended version of the form available below, which adds to Block 3 an option called “transient foreigner”:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormW8BENAmendeds.pdf>

The regulations relating to "aliens" also establish the following presumptions:

1. All “aliens” are presumed to be “nonresident aliens” but this may be overcome upon presentation of proof:

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§ 1.871-4 Proof of residence of aliens.

(a) Rules of evidence. The following rules of evidence shall govern in determining whether or not an alien within the United States has acquired residence therein for purposes of the income tax.

(b) Nonresidence presumed. An alien by reason of his alienage, is presumed to be a nonresident alien.

(c) Presumption rebutted—

(1) Departing alien.

In the case of an alien who presents himself for determination of tax liability before departure from the United States, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof--

2. An “alien” who has acquired permanent residence retains that residence until he physically departs from the “United States”, which is defined as federal territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and \(a\)\(10\) and 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and is not expressly expanded anywhere else in the I.R.C. to include any other place. The purpose for this presumption is to perpetuate the jurisdiction to tax aliens:

Title 26: Internal Revenue
PART 1—INCOME TAXES
nonresident alien individuals
§1.871-5 Loss of residence by an alien.

An alien who has acquired residence in the United States retains his status as a resident until he abandons the same and actually departs from the United States. An intention to change his residence does not change his status as a resident alien to that of a nonresident alien. Thus, an alien who has acquired a residence in the United States is taxable as a resident for the remainder of his stay in the United States.

If you are state domiciled state national and a “non-resident non-person”, don’t let the above concern you, because you are not an “alien” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), but rather an “non-resident non-person” if not engaged in a public office or a “nonresident alien” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(B\) if engaged in a public office.

13.11.16 Effect of domicile on citizenship and synonyms for domicile

Now let’s summarize what we have just learned so far to show graphically the effect that one’s choice of domicile has on their citizenship status. Below are some authorities upon which we will base our summary and analysis.

“Domicile and citizen are synonymous in federal courts, Earley v. Hershey Transit Co., D.C. Pa., 55 F.Supp. 981, 982; inhabitant, resident and citizen are synonymous, Standard Stoker Co. v. Lower, D.C.Md., 46 F.2d. 678, 683.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 311]

1 "The term 'citizen', as used in the Judiciary Act with reference to the jurisdiction of the federal courts, is

LAWFULLY engage in a public office in the national government. See sections 4.12.8 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for details.

4. Temporary domicile in the middle column on the right must meet the requirements of the “Presence test” documented in IRS publications.
5. FEDERAL ZONE: District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the territories and insular possessions of the United States in the above table.

Based on the above table, we can see that when a person within any government identifies you as a “citizen”, they presuppose that you maintain a “domicile” within their jurisdiction. The same thing goes for the term “inhabitant”, which also describes a person with a domicile within the jurisdiction of the local government where he lives. Note the use of the phrase “reside actually and permanently in a given place and has a domicile there” in the definition of inhabitant:

“Inhabitant. One who reside actually and permanently in a given place, and has his domicile there. Ex parte Shaw, 145 U.S. 444, 12 S.Ct. 935, 36 L.Ed. 768.

The words “inhabitant,” “citizen,” and “resident,” as employed in different constitutions to define the qualifications of electors, means substantially the same thing; and, in general, one is an inhabitant, resident, or citizen at the place where he has his domicile or home. But the terms “resident” and “inhabitant” have also been held not synonymous, the latter implying a more fixed and permanent abode than the former, and importing privileges and duties to which a mere resident would not be subject. A corporation can be an inhabitant only in the state of its incorporation. Sperry Products v. Association of American Railroads, C.C.A.N.Y., 132 F.2d. 408, 411. See also Domicile; Residence.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 782]

The legal dictionary is careful to disguise the requirement for “domicile” in their definition of “resident”. To admit that domicile was a prerequisite for being a “resident”, they would open the door for a mass exodus of the tax system by most people, so they beat around the bush. For instance, here is the definition of “resident” from Black’s Law Dictionary:

Resident. “Any person who occupies a dwelling within the State, has a present intent to remain within the State for a period of time, and manifests the genuineness of that intent by establishing an ongoing physical presence within the State together with indicia that his presence within the State is something other than merely transitory in nature. The word “resident” when used as a noun means a dweller, habitant or occupant; one who resides or dwells in a place for a period of more, or less, duration; it signifies one having a residence, or one who resides or abides. [Hanson v. P.A. Peterson Home Ass’n, 35 Ill.App.2d. 134, 182 N.E.2d. 237, 240] [Underlines added]

Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1309]

The Law of Nations, which is mentioned in Article 1, Section 8 of our Constitution and was used by the Founding Fathers to write the Constitution, is much more clear in its definition of “resident”, and does essentially admit a requirement for “domicile” in order for an “alien” to be classified as a “resident”:

“Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the country. Being bound to the society by reason of their [intention of] dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizenship. They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children.”
[The Law of Nations, p. 87, E. De Vattel, Volume Three, 1758, Carnegie Institution of Washington; emphasis added.]

If you want to read more about this “resident” scam, consult section 4.10 of the free Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302.

Since the only definition of “resident” found anywhere in the Internal Revenue Code or the Treasury Regulations is that of a “resident alien”, found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A), then we:

1. Are not “residents” because we are not “aliens” and do not have a “domicile” in the “United States” (federal territory). Therefore, we do not have a “residence”.
2. Do not have a “residence”, because only “aliens” can have a “residence” under 26 C.F.R. §1.871-2(a). “nonresident aliens” are NOT a subset of statutory “residents” but a SUPERSET.
3. Are “non-resident non-persons” if not engaged in a public office and “nonresident aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) if engaged in a public office.
4. Are “nationals” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) but not statutory “citizens” under 8 U.S.C. §1401.
5. Are “transient foreigners”:

“Transient foreigner. One who visits the country, without the intention of remaining.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1498]

13.11.17 Civil Status

The term “civil status” describes the process by which human beings become “persons” under civil statutory law. It is what the courts call a “res” which gives them civil control over you under one of three different systems of civil law. Civil status is VERY important, because it is the source of civil statutory jurisdiction of courts over you and their right to “personal jurisdiction” over you. It also describes how your actions affect “choice of law” and your “status” in any court cases you bring. This article summarizes the major aspects of this important subject.

Human beings who are “sovereign” in fact:

1. Have no “civil status” under statutory law.
2. Only have a “civil status” under the constitution and the common law.
3. Are governed mainly by the “civil laws” found in the Holy Bible. This is a protected First Amendment right to practice their religion. Laws of the Bible, Litigation Tool #09.001.

You cannot have a “civil status” under the laws of a place WITHOUT:

1. A physical presence in that place. The status would be under the COMMON law.
2. CONSENSUALLY doing business in that place. The status would be under the common law.
3. A domicile in that place. This would be a status under the civil statutes of that place.
4. CONSENSUALLY representing an artificial entity (a legal fiction) that has a domicile in that place. This would be a status under the civil statutes of that place.

If any of the above rules are violated, you are a victim of criminal identity theft:

13.11.17.1 Basis for your EXCLUSIVE right to declare and establish your civil status¹³⁶

¹³⁶ Source: Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008, Section 2; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

The right to declare and establish your civil and statutory status is tied to the legal definition of “property” itself. “Property” as legally defined is that which you EXCLUSIVELY own and control, and can deprive all others of using or benefitting from:

*Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.*

*The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

*Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership. or whether beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo., 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.*

*Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.*

*Goodwill is property, Howell v. Bowden, TexCiv. App., 368 S.W.2d. 842, &18; as is an insurance policy and rights incident thereto, including a right to the proceeds, Harris v. Harris, 83 N.M. 441,493 P.2d. 407, 408.*

Criminal code. "Property" means anything of value. including real estate, tangible and intangible personal property, contract rights, choses-in-action and other interests in or claims to wealth, admission or transportation tickets, captured or domestic animals, food and drink, electric or other power. Model Penal Code. Q 223.0. See also Property of another, infra. Dusts. Under definition in Restatement, Second, Trusts, Q 2(c), it denotes interest in things and not the things themselves. [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

Note that YOUR BODY, your labor, and all that you own at least STARTS OUT as exclusively your property, and by EXCLUSIVELY we mean that it is PRIVATE property beyond the civil control or regulation of any government. Only by donating it or some portion of it to a “public use”, “public purpose”, or “public office” can its use be civilly regulated by any government.

“Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will ...” [The Antelope, 23 U.S. 66, 10 Wheat 66, 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825)]

*“We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, “the right to exclude [others is] one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.” Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 433 (1982), quoting Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164, 176 (1979). “ [Nollan v. California Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987)]*

“In this case, we hold that the “right to exclude,” so universally held to be a fundamental element of the property right,¹³⁷ falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without compensation.” [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

¹³⁷ See, e. g., United States v. Pueblo of San Ildefonso, 206 Ct.Cl. 649, 669-670, 513 F.2d. 1383, 1394 (1975); United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, “[a]n essential element of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it.” International News Service v. Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

The only time a government can take away your property without compensation in return and without your consent is when you have hurt someone with it, and that deprivation can only occur AFTER the injury, not BEFORE. Any deprivation BEFORE the injury must involve your express consent to donate the property or some interest in the property to a “public use”, “public purpose”, and/or “public office”. These rules were identified by the U.S. Supreme Court as follows:

“Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, - 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;' and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public “benefit”]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation.”
Budd v. People of State of New York, [143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

The only way one can rationally disagree with the conclusions of this section is to advocate one of the following positions, all of which corrupt and destroy the notion of private property that is behind any and every great republic:

1. That there is no PRIVATE property and that EVERYTHING is PUBLIC property owned by the government.
2. That the government is the LEGAL owner of EVERYTHING and that they only LOAN it to you.
3. That “taxes” are the “rent” you pay to use GOVERNMENT property. If you don’t pay the taxes, they can take it away from you and thereby EXCLUDE you from using or benefitting from it.

All the above premises are the foundation of socialism, in which the government either completely owns or at least CONTROLS ALL property.

“socialism n (1839) 1: any of various economic and political theories advocating collective or governmental ownership and administration of the means of production and distribution of goods 2 a: a system of society or group living in which there is no private property b: a system or condition of society in which the means of production are owned and controlled by the state 3: a stage of society in Marxist theory transitional between capitalism and communism and distinguished by unequal distribution of goods and pay according to work done.”
[Webster’s Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary, 1983, ISBN 0-87779-510-X, p. 1118]

Lastly, we emphasize that the purpose for which ALL governments are established, is to protect PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property, according to our Declaration of Independence. Anyone who argues with this section indirectly is advocating that we DO NOT have a “government” as defined by our founding documents:

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.”
[Declaration of Independence]

Furthermore, anyone who takes the position that there is no PRIVATE property and that the GOVERNMENT owns EVERYTHING, indirectly must advocate atheism and is a THIEF, because the Bible itself says that GOD owns THE WHOLE EARTH AND THE HEAVENS. Caesar cannot own or even control that which does not belong to him:

“Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD’s thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is.”
[Deuteronomy 10:12-14, Bible, NKJV]

“The heavens are Yours, the earth also is Yours; The world and all its fullness, You have founded them.”
[Psalm 89:11, Bible, NKJV]

13.11.17.2 What do we mean by “civil status”?¹³⁸

¹³⁸ Source: Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008, Section 3; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

A civil status is a term defined or described in the either the constitution or statutes or the common law to which either obligations or rights attach. Example “civil statuses” would be “person” (under a civil statute), “taxpayer” (under the tax code), “driver” (under the vehicle code), “individual”, etc. Every obligation gives rise to a corresponding right on the part of the entity or person to whom the obligation is owed. An obligation, in turn, could include the requirement to perform a specific service, or it could include some measure of control over property in your custody or control. Obligations are always enforceable through some type of legal penalty or administrative or judicial enforcement for non-performance.

California Civil Code - CIV
DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS [1427 - 3272.9]
(Heading of Division 3 amended by Stats. 1988, Ch. 160, Sec. 14.)
PART 1. OBLIGATIONS IN GENERAL [1427 - 1543] (Part 1 enacted 1872.)
TITLE 1. DEFINITION OF OBLIGATIONS [1427 - [1428.]] (Title 1 enacted 1872.)

1427. An obligation is a legal duty, by which a person is bound to do or not to do a certain thing.

(Enacted 1872.)

The ONLY method for lawfully creating obligations is either through your consent in the form of a contract or “operation of law”. “Operation of law” involves a case where your actions or inactions have injured the equal rights of someone else. That injury violates the concept of “justice” itself, which is the “right to be let alone”.¹³⁹

California Civil Code – CIV
DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS [1427 - 3272.9]
(Heading of Division 3 amended by Stats. 1988, Ch. 160, Sec. 14.)
PART 1. OBLIGATIONS IN GENERAL [1427 - 1543] (Part 1 enacted 1872.)
TITLE 1. DEFINITION OF OBLIGATIONS [1427 - [1428.]] (Title 1 enacted 1872.)
[1428.] Section Fourteen Hundred and Twenty-eight.

An obligation arises either from:

One — The contract of the parties; or,

Two — The operation of law. An obligation arising from operation of law may be enforced in the manner provided by law, or by civil action or proceeding.

(Amended by Code Amendments 1873-74, Ch. 612.)

A violation of the above rules for creating obligations constitutes one of the following:

1. Unconstitutional taking of private property under the Fifth Amendment or equivalent state constitution.
2. Involuntary servitude, in the case of the Thirteenth Amendment, if the thing compelled is some kind of service or physical performance.

For a detailed study of obligations owed to governments or citizens protected by government statutes generally, see:

1. Lawfully Avoiding Government Obligations Course, Form #12.040

2. Proof of Claim: Your Main Defense Against Government Greed and Corruption, Form #09.073
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The use of the term “status” in this memorandum:

1. Is associated with the domicile of the party in question. Before one may have any kind of civil status, one must:
 - 1.1. CONSENSUALLY have a domicile or residence within the forum or jurisdiction in question.
 - 1.2. Have legal evidence of said domicile admissible in court to prove the domicile they claim.
 - 1.3. Acquire statutory “citizen” or “resident” status under the civil laws of the place by virtue of choosing a domicile within that place.

¹³⁹ See What is “Justice”?, Form #05.050 for an exhaustive definition of “justice”; SOURCE: <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

2. Relates exclusively to the civil status of a party under the CIVIL STATUTORY laws of a specific jurisdiction.
- 2.1. Civil statutory laws only pertain to those consensually domiciled within the forum or jurisdiction.
- 2.2. They may not be enforced against non-residents or those not domiciled within the forum or jurisdiction unless the non-resident satisfies the “Minimum Contacts Doctrine” spoken of by the U.S. Supreme Court in International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945).
3. Does NOT relate to the CRIMINAL laws. Criminal laws do not attach to the status of the parties or to their consent in any way. Instead, they attach at the point when a harmful act is committed against a specific party on the territory to which said law attaches.

A well-known book on domicile explains the origin of “civil status” as follows:

§ 29. Status.¹⁴⁰ It may be laid down that the status-or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction to political status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicile. The older jurists, whose opinions are fully collected by Story¹⁴¹ and Burge¹⁴² maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity of status, conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in *Udny v. Udny*¹⁴³ thus states the doctrine broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicile, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis, that the personal rights of the party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of *Ross v. Ross*¹⁴⁴ speaking with special reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person, the relation in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take" certain rights in that other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicile; and that this status and capacity are to be recognized and upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."

But great difficulty in the discussion of this subject has arisen by reason of the loose and varying use of the term status and the want of any clear definition of what is meant by it. Savigny¹⁴⁵ understood it to mean "capacity to have rights and to act;" and this undoubtedly was the sense in which it was understood by the older jurists. In Niboyet v. Niboyet,¹⁴⁶ Brett, L. J., gives this definition: "The status of an individual, used as a legal term, means the legal position of the individual in or with regard to the rest of a community." But whatever may be the definition of the term, or whatever rules applicable to status in general may be looked upon as having received general acceptance, there are certain prominent states or conditions of persons, which have been treated of by writers and considered by the courts, and these it will be well to examine separately, with a view to ascertain how far they are affected by domicile.

[Treatise on the Law of Domicil, M.W. Jacobs, 1887; Little Brown and Company, §29, pp. 38-39]

Below is an example of the above, from the U.S. Supreme Court. The “status” spoken in this case of is that of being “married” under the laws of a specific state:

“To prevent any misapplication of the views expressed in this opinion, it is proper to observe that we do not mean to assert, by any thing we have said, that a State may not authorize proceedings to determine the status of one of its citizens towards a non-resident, which would be binding within the State, though made without service of process or personal notice to the non-resident. The jurisdiction which every State possesses to determine the civil status and capacities of all its inhabitants involves authority to prescribe the conditions on which proceedings affecting them may be commenced and carried on within its territory. The State, for example, has absolute right to prescribe the conditions upon which the marriage relation between its own citizens shall be created, and the causes for which it may be dissolved. One of the parties guilty of acts for which, by the

J., in the case above cited, thus distinguishes the two phases of capacity which go to make up status: “The capacity or qualification to inherit or succeed to property, which is an incident of the status or condition, requiring no action to give it effect, is to be distinguished from the capacity or competency to enter into contracts that confer rights upon others. A capacity to take and have differs from a capacity to do and contract; in short, a capacity of holding from a capacity to act.” Ross v. Ross, ubi supra.

7 “Domicile” and “Nationality” are distinguished in the following U.S. Supreme Court case:

8 In Udny v. Udny (1869) L. R. 1 H.L.Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the question
9 whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British subject.
10 Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: 'The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that of 11 domicile.' Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by 12 saying: 'The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two
13 distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some 14 particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status;
15 another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as
16 such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the
17 civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.' And then, while 18 maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the 19 criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which 20 'the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his 21 marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy— must depend,' he yet distinctly recognized that a man's political
22 status, his country (patria), and his 'nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,—'may depend on different laws in 23 different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather 24 to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British 25 dominion are natural-born subjects.

28 In law, all rights are property. Hence, “civil rights” attach to the CIVIL STATUTORY STATUS of a “person”:

29 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict
30 legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat
31 & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
32 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
33 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.
34 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
35 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
36 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
37 way depends on another man's courtesy.

38 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
39 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
40 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real

44 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership. or whether
45 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only
46 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,

49 as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230
50 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.

Those who do not have a domicile in a specific municipal jurisdiction are regarded as “non-residents”, and hence, they have no “civil status” or “status” under the “civil laws” of the jurisdiction they are non-resident in relation to. An example of this phenomenon is found in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), in which jurisdiction is described as follows:

IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

(1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
(2) for a corporation [the “United States”, in this case, or its officers on official duty representing the corporation], by the law under which it was organized [laws of the District of Columbia]; and
(3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:
(A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and
(B) 28 U.S.C. §§754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.

A human being with no domicile within federal territory, based on the above:

1. Has no capacity to sue or be sued in federal court under the CIVIL statutes of the national government.
2. Has no “status” or “civil status” under any federal civil statute, including:
 - 2.1. “person”.
 - 2.2. “individual”.
3. Is not a statutory “citizen” under federal law such as 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c), but rather a statutory “non-resident non-person”. If they are ALSO a public officer in the national government, they are also a statutory “individual” and “nonresident alien” (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government.
4. May STILL sue under the constitution and the common law because both of these sources of law attach to the TERRITORY rather than the “civil status” of the physical people ON that physical territory. This is, in part, because the CONSTITUTION is “self-executing” and needs no statutes to enforce:¹⁴⁷:

“It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure, and not the status of the people who live in it.”
[Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

We must emphasize at this point that the ABSENCE of a STATUTORY “civil status” is ALSO a “civil status”, but under a DIFFERENT system of law, which is that of the ORGANIC law rather than the STATUTORY law. As an extension of your right to associate/disassociate and contract/not contract under the First Amendment, you can choose to be a ¹⁴⁷ On the subject of the “self-executing” nature of the Constitution, the U.S. Supreme Court has held:

*The design of the Fourteenth Amendment has proved significant also in maintaining the traditional separation of powers 524*524 between Congress and the Judiciary. The first eight Amendments to the Constitution set forth self-executing prohibitions on governmental action, and this Court has had primary authority to interpret those prohibitions. The Bingham draft, some thought, departed from that tradition by vesting in Congress primary power to interpret and elaborate on the meaning of the new Amendment through legislation. Under it, “Congress, and not the courts, was to judge whether or not any of the privileges or immunities were not secured to citizens in the several States.” Flack, supra, at 64. While this separation-of-powers aspect did not occasion the widespread resistance which was caused by the proposal's threat to the federal balance, it nonetheless attracted the attention of various Members. See Cong. Globe, 39th Cong., 1st Sess., at 1064 (statement of Rep. Hale) (noting that Bill of Rights, unlike the Bingham proposal, “provide[s] safeguards to be enforced by the courts, and not to be exercised by the Legislature”); id., at App. 133 (statement of Rep. Rogers) (prior to Bingham proposal it “was left entirely for the courts . . . to enforce the privileges and immunities of the citizens”). As enacted, the Fourteenth Amendment confers substantive rights against the States which, like the provisions of the Bill of Rights, are self-executing. Cf. South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S., at 325 (discussing Fifteenth Amendment). The power to interpret the Constitution in a case or controversy remains in the Judiciary.*
[City of Boerne v. Flores, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

1 CONSTITUTIONAL “PERSON” WITHOUT being a STATUTORY “PERSON”. The state in such a case STILL has a duty
2 to protect THAT LACK OF STATUS under the CIVIL STATUTORY LAW and to protect the right to ONLY have a “civil
3 status” under the CONSTITUTION or the COMMON LAW:

4 “In all domestic concerns each state of the Union is to be deemed an independent sovereignty. As such, it is its
5 province and its duty to forbid interference by another state as well as by any foreign power with the status of 6 its own citizens. Unless at least one of the spouses is a resident thereof in good faith, the courts of such sister
7 state or of such foreign power cannot acquire jurisdiction to dissolve the marriage of those who have an 8 established domicile in the state which resents such interference with matters which disturb its social serenity or 9 affect the morals of its inhabitants.”

12 If, in fact, “consent makes the law” per the maxims of the common law, then “consent” of the PARTY claiming OR NOT
13 CLAIMING the “civil status” makes the CIVIL STATUTORY “PERSON” as well:

14 Consensus facit legem. Consent makes the law. A contract is a law between the parties, which can acquire force
15 only by consent.
16 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law, 1856;
17 <https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviertsMaxims.htm>]

18 An example of a “status” that one not domiciled on federal territory cannot lawfully have is that of statutory “taxpayer” as 19 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) . All tax liability is a CIVIL liability which attaches to a CIVIL statutory status:

20 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
21 § 7701. Definitions

22 (a)When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
23 thereof—

24 (14) Taxpayer

25 The term “taxpayer” means any person subject to any internal revenue tax.

26 In a sense then, all civil statutory law acts as the equivalent of a “protection franchise” that you have to consent to before you
27 become party to. “Privileges” under the protection franchise attach to the status of “citizen”. Those who are non-residents
28 are not parties to the franchise contract and are not bound by the franchise contract:

29 There is but one law which, from its nature, needs unanimous consent. This is the social compact; for civil
30 association is the most voluntary of all acts. Every man being born free and his own master, no one, under any
31 pretext whatsoever, can make any man subject without his consent. To decide that the son of a slave is born a 32 slave is to decide that he is not born a man.

33 If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract,
34 but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is 35 instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.^[1]

36 Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest. This follows from the 37 contract itself. But it is asked how a man can be both free and forced to conform to wills that are not his own.
38 How are the opponents at once free and subject to laws they have not agreed to?

39 I retort that the question is wrongly put. The citizen gives his consent to all the laws, including those which are
40 passed in spite of his opposition, and even those which punish him when he dares to break any of them. The 41 constant will of all the members of the State is the general will; by virtue of it they are citizens and free^[2]. When 42 in the popular assembly a law is proposed, what the people is asked is not exactly whether it approves or rejects
43 the proposal, but whether it is in conformity with the general will, which is their will. Each man, in giving his 44 vote, states his opinion on that point; and the general will is found by counting votes. When therefore the opinion
45 that is contrary to my own prevails, this proves neither more nor less than that I was mistaken, and that what I
46 thought to be the general will was not so. If my particular opinion had carried the day I should have achieved the 47 opposite of what was my will; and it is in that case that I should not have been free.

48 This presupposes, indeed, that all the qualities of the general will still reside in the majority; when they cease
49 to do so, whatever side a man may take, liberty is no longer possible.

In my earlier demonstration of how particular wills are substituted for the general will in public deliberation, I have adequately pointed out the practicable methods of avoiding this abuse; and I shall have more to say of them later on. I have also given the principles for determining the proportional number of votes for declaring that will. A difference of one vote destroys equality; a single opponent destroys unanimity; but between equality and unanimity, there are several grades of unequal division, at each of which this proportion may be fixed in accordance with the condition and the needs of the body politic.

There are two general rules that may serve to regulate this relation. First, the more grave and important the questions discussed, the nearer should the opinion that is to prevail approach unanimity. Secondly, the more the matter in hand calls for speed, the smaller the prescribed difference in the numbers of votes may be allowed to become: where an instant decision has to be reached, a majority of one vote should be enough. The first of these two rules seems more in harmony with the laws, and the second with practical affairs. In any case, it is the combination of them that gives the best proportions for determining the majority necessary.

[The Social Contract or Principles of Political Right, Jean Jacques Rousseau, 1762, Book IV, Chapter 2]

There is one last very important point we wish to make. That point is that the civil statutory laws and the domicile they attach to are not the ONLY method of civilly protecting one's rights. Some types of civil protection do not require consent of party. For instance, the U.S. Constitution is an example of a limitation upon government that does NOT require the express consent of those who are protected by it.

1. The USA Constitution is a "compact" or contract.
2. It establishes a public trust, which is an artificial "person" in which:
 - 2.1. The corpus of the trust is all public rights and public property.
 - 2.2. The trustees of the trust are people working in the government.
 - 2.3. All constitutional but not statutory citizens are the "beneficiaries".
3. The parties who established this public trust are the States of the Union and the government they created. Individual human beings are NOT party to it or trustees under it:
4. The Bill of Rights portion of the constitution attaches to LAND protected by the constitution, and NOT the civil status of people ON the land:

"It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure, and not the status of the people who live in it."
[Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

5. The Bill of Rights is a "self-executing" restraint upon all government officers and agents upon all those physically present but not necessarily domiciled on the land it attaches to. Because the rights it covers are "self-executing", no statutory civil law is needed to give them "the force of law" against any officer of the government in relation to a person physically present upon land protected by the constitution.

The design of the Fourteenth Amendment has proved significant also in maintaining the traditional separation of powers 524*524 between Congress and the Judiciary. The first eight Amendments to the Constitution set forth self-executing prohibitions on governmental action, and this Court has had primary authority to interpret those prohibitions. The Bingham draft, some thought, departed from that tradition by vesting in Congress primary power to interpret and elaborate on the meaning of the new Amendment through legislation. Under it, "Congress, and not the courts, was to judge whether or not any of the privileges or immunities were not secured to citizens in the several States." Flack, supra, at 64. While this separation-of-powers aspect did not occasion the widespread resistance which was caused by the proposal's threat to the federal balance, it nonetheless attracted the attention of various Members. See Cong. Globe, 39th Cong., 1st Sess., at 1064 (statement of Rep. Hale) (noting that Bill of Rights, unlike the Bingham proposal, "provide[s] safeguards to be enforced by the courts, and not to be exercised by the Legislature"); id., at App. 133 (statement of Rep. Rogers) (prior to Bingham proposal it "was left entirely for the courts . . . to enforce the privileges and immunities of the citizens"). As enacted, the Fourteenth Amendment confers substantive rights against the States which, like the provisions of the Bill of Rights, are self-executing. Cf. South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S., at 325 (discussing Fifteenth Amendment). The power to interpret the Constitution in a case or controversy remains in the Judiciary.
[City of Boerne v. Flores, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

Those injured by the actions of the government, whether civilly domiciled there and therefore a "citizen" there OR NOT, are protected by the Bill of Rights and have standing to sue in ANY state or federal court for a violation of that right.

In confirmation of this section, examine the content of 1 U.S.C. §8:

1 U.S. Code § 8 - "Person", "human being", "child", and "individual" as including born-alive infant

(a) In determining the meaning of any Act of Congress, or of any ruling, regulation, or interpretation of the various administrative bureaus and agencies of the United States, the words "person", "human being", "child", and "individual", shall include every infant member of the species homo sapiens who is born alive at any stage of development.

(b) As used in this section, the term "born alive", with respect to a member of the species homo sapiens, means the complete expulsion or extraction from his or her mother of that member, at any stage of development, who after such expulsion or extraction breathes or has a beating heart, pulsation of the umbilical cord, or definite movement of voluntary muscles, regardless of whether the umbilical cord has been cut, and regardless of whether the expulsion or extraction occurs as a result of natural or induced labor, cesarean section, or induced abortion.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affirm, deny, expand, or contract any legal status or legal right applicable to any member of the species homo sapiens at any point prior to being "born alive" as defined in this section.

13.11.17.3 Effect of domicile on CIVIL STATUTORY "status"

The law of domicile is almost exclusively the means of determining one's "civil status" under the civil statutory laws of a given territory:

§ 29. Status

It may be laid down that the, status- or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction to political status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicil. The older jurists, whose opinions are fully collected by Story I and Burge, maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity of status, conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in Udny v. Udny, thus states the doctrine broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicil, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis that the personal rights of the party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of Ross v. Ross, speaking with special reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person, the relation in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take certain rights in that other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicil; and that this status and capacity are to be recognized and upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."

[A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and Company, 1887, p. 89]

We have already established that civil law attaches to one's VOLUNTARY choice of civil domicile. Civil law, in turn, enforces and thereby delivers certain "privileges" against those who are subject to it. In that sense, the civil law acts as a voluntary franchise or "protection franchise" that is only enforceable against those who voluntarily consent to avail themselves of its "benefits" or "protections". Those who voluntarily and consensually avail themselves of such "benefits" and who are therefore SUBJECT to the "protection franchise" called domicile, in turn, are treated as public officers within the government under federal law, as is exhaustively established in the following memorandum:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The key thing to understand about all franchises is that the Congressionally created privileges or "public rights" they enforce attach to specific STATUSES under them. An example of such statuses include:

1. "Person" or "individual".
2. "Alien"
3. "Nonresident alien"
4. "Driver" under the vehicle code of your state.
5. "Spouse" under the family code of your state.
6. "Taxpayer" under the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14).
7. "Citizen", "resident", or "inhabitant" under the civil laws of your state.

The above civil statutory statuses:

1 Are contingent for their existence on a DOMICILE in the geographical place or territory that the law applies to.
2 Hence, a "nonresident alien" or even "alien" civil status within the Internal Revenue Code, for instance, only applies if
3 one is PHYSICALLY PRESENT on federal territory or consensually domiciled there. If you are not physically on 4 federal territory and not domiciled there and not representing a public office domiciled there, you CANNOT be
5 ANYTHING under the Internal Revenue Code.
6 2 Are TEMPORARY, because your domicile can change.
7 3 Extinguish when you terminate your domicile and/or your presence in that place.
8 4 Are the very SAME "statuses" you find on ALL government forms and applications, such as voter registrations,
9 drivers' license applications, marriage license applications, etc. The purpose of filling out all such applications is to
10 CONTRACT to PROCURE the status indicated on the form and have it RECOGNIZED by the government grantor
11 who created the privileges you are pursuing under the civil law franchises that implement the form or application.

12 The ONLY way to AVOID contracting into the civil franchise if you are FORCED to fill out government forms is to:

- 13 1. Define all terms on the form in a MANDATORY attachment so as to EXCLUDE those found in any government law.
14 Write above your signature the following:

15 "Not valid, false, fraudulent, and perjurious unless accompanied by the SIGNED attachment entitled 16 _____, consisting of ___ pages."

- 17 2. Indicate "All rights reserved, U.C.C. §1-308" near the signature line on the application.
18 3. Indicate "Non assumpsit" on the application, or scribble it as your signature.
19 4. Indicate "duress" on the form.
20 5. Resubmit the form after the fact either in person or by mail fixing the application to indicate duress and withdraw your 21 consent.
22 6. Ask the government accepting the application to indicate that you are not qualified because you do not consent and 23 consent is mandatory. Then show that denial to the person who is trying to FORCE you to apply.
24 7. Submit a criminal complaint against the party instituting the duress to get you to apply.
25 8. Notify the person instituting the unlawful duress that they are violating your rights and demand that they retract their 26 demand for you to apply for something.

27 Below is an authority proving this phenomenon as explained by the U.S. Supreme Court:

45 depend on different laws in different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the 46 word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the 47 established rule that all persons born under British dominion are natural-born subjects.

50 The protections of the Constitution and the common law, on the other hand, attach NOT to your STATUTORY status, but to 51 the LAND you stand on at the time you receive an injury from either the GOVERNMENT or a PRIVATE human being,
52 respectively:

1 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
2 and not the status of the people who live in it."
3 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

4 The thing that we wish to emphasize about this important subject are the following VERY IMPORTANT facts:

- 5 1. Your STATUS under the civil STATUTORY law is exclusively determined by the exercise of your PRIVATE,
6 UNALIENABLE right to both contract and associate, which are protected by the First Amendment to the United States
7 Constitution.
- 8 2. The highest exercise of your right to sovereignty is the right to determine and enforce the STATUS you have 9 CONSENSUALLY and VOLUNTARILY acquired under the civil laws of the community you are in.
- 10 3. Anyone who tries to associate a CIVIL statutory status with you absent your DEMONSTRATED, EXPRESS, 11 WRITTEN consent is:
 - 12 3.1. Violating due process of law.
 - 13 3.2. STEALING property or rights to property from you. The "rights" or "public rights" that attach to the status are 14 the measure of WHAT is being "stolen".
 - 15 3.3. Exercising eminent domain without compensation against otherwise PRIVATE property in violation of the state
16 constitution. The property subject to the eminent domain are all the rights that attach to the status they are 17 FORCING upon you. YOU and ONLY YOU have the right to determine the compensation you are willing to 18 accept in exchange for your private rights and private property.
 - 19 3.4. Compelling you to contract with the government that created the franchise status, because all franchises are 20 contracts.
 - 21 3.5. Kidnapping your legal identity and moving it to a foreign state, if the STATUS they impute to you arises under 22 the laws of a foreign state. This, in turn is an act of INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM in criminal violation of 18
23 U.S.C. §2331(1)(B)(iii).
- 24 4. All de jure government civil law is TERRITORIAL in nature and attaches ONLY to the territory upon which they have 25 EXCLUSIVE or GENERAL jurisdiction. It does NOT attach and CANNOT attach to places where they have only 26 SUBJECT matter jurisdiction, such as in states of the Union.

27 "It is a well established principle of law that all federal regulation applies only within the territorial jurisdiction
28 of the United States unless a contrary intent appears."
29 [Foley Brothers, Inc. v. Filardo, 336 U.S. 281 (1949)]

30 "The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [outside of Constitutionally delegated powers] do not extend
31 into the territorial limits of the states, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are
32 within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government."
33 [Caha v. U.S., 152 U.S. 211 (1894)]

34 "There is a canon of legislative construction which teaches Congress that, unless a contrary intent appears
35 [legislation] is meant to apply only within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States."
36 [U.S. v. Spelar, 338 U.S. 217 at 222.]

- 37 5. The prerequisite to having ANY statutory STATUS under the civil law of any de jure government is a DOMICILE
38 within the EXCLUSIVE jurisdiction of the that specific government that enacted the statute.
- 39 6. You CANNOT lawfully acquire a statutory STATUS under the CIVIL laws of a foreign jurisdiction if you have:
 - 40 6.1. Never physically been present within the exclusive jurisdiction of the foreign jurisdiction.
 - 41 6.2. Never EXPRESSLY consented to be treated as a "citizen", "resident", or "inhabitant" within that jurisdiction, 42 even IF physically present there.
 - 43 6.3. NOT been physically present in the foreign jurisdiction LONG ENOUGH to satisfy the residency requirements of 44 that jurisdiction.
- 45 7. Any government that tries to REMOVE the domicile prerequisite from any of the franchises it offers by any of the 46 following means is acting in a purely private, commercial capacity using PRIVATE and not PUBLIC LAW and the 47 statutes then devolve essentially into an act of PRIVATE contracting. Methods of acting in such a capacity include,
48 but are not limited to the following devious methods by dishonest and criminal and treasonous public servants:
 - 49 7.1. Treating EVERYONE as "persons" or "individuals" under the franchise statutes, INCLUDING those outside of 50 their territory.
 - 51 7.2. Saying that EVERYONE is eligible for the franchise, no matter where they PHYSICALLY are, including in 52 places OUTSIDE of their exclusive or general jurisdiction.

- 7.3. Waiving the domicile prerequisite as a matter of policy, even though the statutes describing it require that those who participate must be “citizens”, “residents”, or “inhabitants” in order to participate. The Social Security does this by unconstitutional FIAT, in order to illegally recruit more “taxpayers”.
8. When any so-called “government” waives the domicile prerequisite by the means described in the previous step, the following consequences are inevitable and MANDATORY:
- 8.1. The statutes they seek to enforce are “PRIVATE LAW”.
- 8.2. It is FRAUD to call the statutes “PUBLIC LAW” that applies equally to EVERYONE.

“Municipal law, thus understood, is properly defined to be "a rule of civil conduct prescribed by the supreme power in a state, commanding what is right and prohibiting what is wrong."

It is also called a rule to distinguish it from a compact or agreement; for a compact is a promise proceeding from us, law is a command directed to us. The language of a compact is, "I will, or will not, do this"; that of a law is, "thou shalt, or shalt not, do it." It is true there is an obligation which a compact carries with it, equal in point of conscience to that of a law; but then the original of the obligation is different. In compacts we ourselves determine and promise what shall be done, before we are obliged to do it; in laws, we are obliged to act without ourselves determining or promising anything at all. Upon these accounts law is defined to be "a rule."

[Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 4]

- 8.3. They agree to be treated on an equal footing with every other PRIVATE business.
- 8.4. Their franchises are on an EQUAL footing to every other type of private franchise such as McDonalds franchise agreements.
- 8.5. They implicitly waive sovereign immunity and agree to be sued in the courts within the extraterritorial jurisdiction they are illegally operating under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97. Sovereign immunity is ONLY available as a defense against DE JURE government activity in the PUBLIC interest that applies EQUALLY to any and every citizen.
- 8.6. They may not enforce federal civil law against the party in the foreign jurisdiction that they are illegally offering the franchise in.
- 8.7. If the foreign jurisdiction they are illegally enforcing the franchise within is subject to the constraint that the members of said community MUST be treated equally under the requirements of their constitution, then the franchise cannot make them UNEQUAL in ANY respect. This would be discrimination and violate the fundamental law.

Consistent with the above, below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes attempts to enforce income taxes against NONRESIDENT parties domiciled in a legislatively foreign state, such as either a state of the Union or a foreign country:

"The power of taxation, indispensable to the existence of every civilized government, is exercised upon the assumption of an equivalent rendered to the taxpayer in the protection of his person and property, in adding to the value of such property, or in the creation and maintenance of public conveniences in which he shares -- such, for instance, as roads, bridges, sidewalks, pavements, and schools for the education of his children. If the taxing power be in no position to render these services, or otherwise to benefit the person or property taxed, and such property be wholly within the taxing power of another state, to which it may be said to owe an allegiance, and to which it looks for protection, the taxation of such property within the domicil of the owner partakes rather of the nature of an extortion than a tax, and has been repeatedly held by this Court to be beyond the power of the legislature, and a taking of property without due process of law. Railroad Company v. Jackson, 7 Wall. 262; State Tax on Foreign-Held Bonds, 15 Wall. 300; Tappan v. Merchants' National Bank, 19 Wall. 490, 499; Delaware &c. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania, 198 U.S. 341, 358. In Chicago &c. R. Co. v. Chicago, 166 U.S. 226, it was held, after full consideration, that the taking of private property [199 U.S. 203] without compensation was a denial of due process within the Fourteenth Amendment. See also Davidson v. New Orleans, 96 U.S. 97, 102; Missouri Pacific Railway v. Nebraska, 164 U.S. 403, 417; Mt. Hope Cemetery v. Boston, 158 Mass. 509, 519."

[Union Refrigerator Transit Company v. Kentucky, 199 U.S. 194 (1905)]

An example of how the government cannot assign the statutory status of “taxpayer” upon you per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) is found in 28 U.S.C. §2201(a), which reads:

*United States Code
TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE
PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS
CHAPTER 151 - DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS*

(a) In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction, except with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, a proceeding under section 505 or 1146 of title 11, or in any civil action involving an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding regarding a class or kind of merchandise of a free trade area country (as defined in section 516A(f)(10) of the Tariff Act of 1930), as determined by the administering authority, any court of the United States, upon the filing of an appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought. Any such declaration shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decree and shall be reviewable as such.

Consistent with the federal Declaratory Judgments Act, 28 U.S.C. §2201, federal courts who have been petitioned to declare a litigant to be a “taxpayer” have declined to do so and have cited the above act as authority:

Specifically, Rowen seeks a declaratory judgment against the United States of America with respect to “whether or not the plaintiff is a taxpayer pursuant to, and/or under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) .” (See Compl. at 2.) This Court lacks jurisdiction to issue a declaratory judgment “with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986,” a code section that is not at issue in the instant action. See 28 U.S.C. §2201; see also Hughes v. United States, 953 F.2d. 531, 536-537 (9th Cir. 1991) (affirming dismissal of claim for declaratory relief under § 2201 where claim concerned question of tax liability). Accordingly, defendant’s motion to dismiss is hereby GRANTED, and the instant action is hereby DISMISSED. [Rowen v. U.S., 05-3766MMC, (N.D.Cal. 11/02/2005)]

The implications of the above are that:

1. The federal courts have no lawful delegated authority to determine or declare whether you are a “taxpayer”.
2. If federal courts cannot directly declare you a “taxpayer”, then they also cannot do it indirectly by, for instance:
 - 2.1. Presuming that you are a “taxpayer”. This is a violation of due process of law that renders a void judgment. Presumptions are not evidence and may not serve as a SUBSTITUTE for evidence.
 - 2.2. Calling you a “taxpayer” before you have called yourself one.
 - 2.3. Arguing with or penalizing you if you rebut others from calling you a “taxpayer”.
 - 2.4. Quoting case law as authority relating to "taxpayers" against a "nontaxpayer". That’s FRAUD and it also violates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 2.5. Quoting case law from a franchise court in the Executive rather than Judicial branch such as the U.S. Tax Court against those who are not franchisees called "taxpayers".
 - 2.6. Treating you as a “taxpayer” if you provide evidence to the contrary by enforcing any provision of the I.R.C. Subtitle A “taxpayer” franchise agreement against you as a “nontaxpayer”.

“Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [instrumentalities, officers, employees, and elected officials of the national Government] and not to non-taxpayers [non-resident non-persons domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of a state of the Union and not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the national Government]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
[Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

Authorities supporting the above include the following:

“It is almost unnecessary to say, that what the legislature cannot do directly, it cannot do indirectly. The stream can mount no higher than its source. The legislature cannot create corporations with illegal powers, nor grant unconstitutional powers to those already granted.”
[Gelpcke v. City of Dubuque, 68 U.S. 175, 1863 W.L. 6638 (1863)]

“Congress cannot do indirectly what the Constitution prohibits directly.”
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 1856 W.L. 8721 (1856)]

“In essence, the district court used attorney’s fees in this case as an alternative to, or substitute for, punitive damages (which were not available). The district court cannot do indirectly what it is prohibited from doing directly.”
[Simpson v. Sheahan, 104 F.3d. 998, C.A.7 (Ill.) (1997)]

"It is axiomatic that the government cannot do indirectly (i.e. through funding decisions) what it cannot do directly."
[Com. of Mass. v. Secretary of Health and Human Services, 899 F.2d. 53, C.A.1 (Mass.) (1990)]

"Almost half a century ago, this Court made clear that the government "may not enact a regulation providing that no Republican ... shall be appointed to federal office." Public Workers v. Mitchell, 330 U.S. 75, 100, 67 S.Ct. 556, 569, 91 L.Ed. 754 (1947). What the *78 First Amendment precludes the government2739 from commanding directly, it also precludes the government from accomplishing indirectly. See Perry, 408 U.S., at 597, 92 S.Ct., at 2697 (citing Speiser v. Randall, 357 U.S. 513, 526, 78 S.Ct. 1332, 1342, 2 L.Ed.2d. 1460 (1958)); see supra, at 2735."
[Rutan v. Republican Party of Illinois, 497 U.S. 62, 110 S.Ct. 2729, U.S. Ill. (1990)]

"Similarly, numerous cases have held that governmental entities cannot do indirectly that which they cannot do directly. See *841 Board of County Comm'rs v. Umbehr, 518 U.S. 668, 674, 116 S.Ct. 2342, 135 L.Ed.2d. 843 (1996) (holding that the First Amendment protects an independent contractor from termination or prevention of the automatic renewal of his at-will government contract in retaliation for exercising his freedom of speech); El Dia, Inc. v. Rossello, 165 F.3d. 106, 109 (1st Cir.1999) (holding that a government could not withdraw advertising from a newspaper which published articles critical of that administration because it violated clearly established First Amendment law prohibiting retaliation for the exercising of freedom of speech); North Mississippi Communications v. Jones, 792 F.2d. 1330, 1337 (5th Cir.1986) (same). The defendants violated clearly established Due Process and First Amendment law by boycotting the plaintiffs' business in an effort to get them removed from the college."
[Kinney v. Weaver, 111 F.Supp.2d. 831, E.D.Tex. (2000)]

If you would like further evidence proving that it is a violation of your constitutional rights for the government to associate any civil status against you without your consent, see:

13.11.17.4 Four methods of acquiring a civil status¹⁴⁸

There are four methods of lawfully acquiring a civil status:

1. Physical presence in the venue without a domicile. This triggers common law jurisdiction. If the venue is protected by the constitution, it also triggers constitutional jurisdiction.
2. Physical presence WITH a consensual domicile. This triggers civil statutory jurisdiction. If the venue is protected by the constitution, it also triggers constitutional jurisdiction.
3. Not physically present in the venue but purposefully and consensually doing business in the venue. This triggers common law jurisdiction. This ordinarily does NOT trigger constitutional jurisdiction, even if the venue is protected by the constitution.
4. Not physically present in the venue but domiciled in the venue. This triggers statutory jurisdiction. This ordinarily does NOT trigger constitutional jurisdiction, even if the venue is protected by the constitution.

Those who don't fit any of the criteria must be considered by the civil courts to be:

1. "nonresidents".
2. "transient foreigners".
3. "stateless" but not civil statutory "persons".
4. "in transitu".
5. "transient".
6. "sojourner".
7. "civilly dead".

Below is a table summarizing the above:

¹⁴⁸ Source: Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008, Section 5; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

Table 22: Four method of acquiring civil status

#	Physically present in venue?	Civil Domicile?	Common law jurisdiction?	Constitutional protections?	Civil statutory jurisdiction?	Consent implied?
1	Yes	No	Yes	Yes	No	No
2	Yes	Yes	No	Yes	Yes	Yes (domicile)
3	No	No	Yes	No	No	No
4	No	Yes	No	No	Yes	Yes (domicile)

NOTES:

- Constitutional protection attaches to land and not to the civil status of the people physically ON that land.

"It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure, and not the status of the people who live in it."

[Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

- Common law jurisdiction is the default law system applying equally to all in the absence of express or implied consent of the party. See:

Wikipedia: Civil Law (legal system)

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Civil_law_\(legal_system\))

- Domicile and civil statutory protection are synonymous. See Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
- Domicile and common law jurisdiction are mutually exclusive and cannot exist in the same place at the same time. This is because domicile is consensual and anything you consent to cannot form the basis for a common law injury:

"Volunt non fit injuria.

He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

Consensus tollit errorem.

Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo concentire.

It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.

One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145."

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law, 1856;

SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- Accepting a "benefit" or claiming the "benefit" of a civil statute while physically outside the venue but domiciled there causes a waiver of constitutional rights in the context of ONLY the statutes administering the "benefit", if the granting authority is not physically located on land protected by the Constitution. The District of Columbia, by the way, IS protected by the constitution. See Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 251, 21 S.Ct. 770, 773, 45 L.Ed. 1088 \(1901\).

The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all the constitutional questions pressed upon it for decision. They are:

[. . .]

6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself of its benefits. FN7 Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 411, 412, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis Malleable Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.

FOOTNOTES:

[Ashwander v. Tennessee Valley Authority, 297 U.S. 288, 56 S.Ct. 466 (1936)]

6. You CANNOT accept a statutory “benefit” without a domicile in the location granting the benefit.
- 6.1. This is because you cannot claim the benefit without a civil status there and you can’t have a civil status WITHOUT a domicile:

“There are certain general principles which control the disposition of this case. They are, in the main, well settled; the difficulty lies in their application to the particular facts of the case in hand. It is elementary that every state has an undoubted right to determine the status, or domestic and social condition, of the persons domiciled within its territory, except in so far as the powers of the states in this respect are restrained, or duties and obligations imposed upon them by the constitution of the United States.” Strader v. Graham, 10 How. 93. Again, the civil status is governed universally by one single principle, namely, that of domicile, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining the civil status; for it is on this basis that the personal rights of a party, — that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy, — must depend. Udny v. Udny, L.R., 1 H.L.Sc. 457. [Woodward v. Woodward, 11 S.W. 892, 87 Tenn. 644 (Tenn., 1889)]

“domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges.” [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

- 6.2. A government that offers or enforces a “benefit” to nonresidents with no domicile is a DE FACTO government as described in:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.043

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

7. You have a common law right to NOT receive or pay for a “benefit” or to terminate eligibility of a “benefit” you previously consented to at any time. You also have a right to define HOW you consent to receive the benefit and can specify how that consent is procured.

Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum.
He who receives the benefit should also bear the disadvantage.

Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus.
He who derives a benefit from a thing, ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433.

Hominum caus jus constitutum est.
Law is established for the benefit of man.

Injuria propria non cadet in beneficium facientis.
One's own wrong shall not benefit the person doing it.

Privatum incommodum publico bono peusatur.
Private inconvenience is made up for by public benefit.

“Invito beneficium non datur.
No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

Non videtur consensum retinuisse si quis ex praescripto minantis aliquid immutavit.
He does not appear to have retained his consent, if he have changed anything through the means of a party threatening. Bacon's Max. Reg. 33.”

1 13.11.18 Jesus refused a domicile, refused to participate in all human franchises, benefits, and privileges, and refused
2 the “civil status” that made them possible¹⁴⁹

3 Jesus definitely participated in God’s franchise, being a member of the Holy Trinity. However, he refused to participate in
4 human franchises. It may interest the reader to learn that Jesus had NO civil status under man’s law and refused to participate
5 in any government “benefit”, franchise, or privilege:

6 The Humbled and Exalted Christ

7 “Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery
8 to be equal with God, but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the 9 likeness of men. And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the 10 point of death, even the death of the cross. Therefore God also has highly exalted Him and given Him the name
11 which is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on 12 earth, and of those under the earth, and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory
13 of God the Father.”

14 [Phil 2:5-11, Bible, NKJV]

15 Below is a famous Bible commentary on the above passage:

16 “Think of yourselves the way Christ Jesus thought of himself. He had equal status with God but didn’t think so
17 much of himself that he had to cling to the advantages of that status no matter what. Not at all. When the time
18 came, he set aside the privileges of deity and took on the status of a slave, became human! Having become
19 human, he stayed human. It was an incredibly humbling process. He didn’t claim special privileges. Instead,
20 he lived a selfless, obedient life and then died a selfless, obedient death—and the worst kind of death at that—
21 a crucifixion.”

22 “Because of that obedience, God lifted him high and honored him far beyond anyone or anything, ever, so that
23 all created beings in heaven and on earth—even those long ago dead and buried—will bow in worship before
24 this Jesus Christ, and call out in praise that he is the Master of all, to the glorious honor of God the Father.”

25 [Peterson, E. H. (2005). The Message: the Bible in contemporary language (Php 2:5–11). Colorado Springs, CO:
26 NavPress]

27 Below is a summary of lessons learned from the above amplified version of the same passage, put into the context of 28 privileges, civil status, and franchises:

- 29 1. Jesus forsook having a civil status and the privileges and franchises of the Kingdom of Heaven franchise that made that 30 status possible.
- 31 2. He instead chose a civil status lower for Himself than other mere humans below him in status.
- 32 3. BECAUSE He forsook the “benefits”, privileges, and franchises associated with the civil status of “God” while here on 33 earth, he was blessed beyond all measure by God.

34 Moral of the Story: We can only be blessed by God if we do not seek to use benefits, privileges, and franchises to elevate 35 ourself above anyone else or to pursue a civil status above others.

36 “Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and
37 to keep oneself unspotted [“foreign”, “sovereign”, and/or “alien”] from the world [and the corrupt BEAST
38 governments and rulers of the world].”

39 [James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

40 One cannot be “unspotted from the world” without surrendering and not pursuing any and all HUMAN civil statuses,
41 franchises, or benefits. Those who are Christians, however, cannot avoid the privileged status and office of “Christian” under 42 God’s laws.

43 The OPPOSITE of being “unspotted from the world” is the following. The pursuit of government “benefits” or the civil 44 status that makes them possible is synonymous with the phrase “your desire for pleasure” in the following passage.

45 “Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure [unearned
46 money or “benefits”, privileges, or franchises, from the government] that war in your members [and your

11 The personification of those who did the OPPOSITE of Jesus and pursued civil status, rewards, benefits, privileges, and 12 franchises were the Pharisees, and these people were the ONLY people Jesus got mad at. Here's what He said about them in 13 one of his very few angry tirades. Back then, they had a theocracy and the Bible was their law book, so the term "religion 14 scholars" meant the lawyers of that time, not the pastors of today's time.

15 I've had it with you! You're hopeless, you religion scholars, you Pharisees! Frauds! Your lives are roadblocks to 16 God's kingdom. You refuse to enter, and won't let anyone else in either.

17 "You're hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You go halfway around the world to make a 18 convert, but once you get him you make him into a replica of yourselves, double-damned.

19 "You're hopeless! What arrogant stupidity! You say, 'If someone makes a promise with his fingers crossed, that's 20 nothing; but if he swears with his hand on the Bible, that's serious.' What ignorance! Does the leather on the 21 Bible carry more weight than the skin on your hands? And what about this piece of trivia: 'If you shake hands on 22 a promise, that's nothing; but if you raise your hand that God is your witness, that's serious'? What ridiculous
23 hairsplitting! What difference does it make whether you shake hands or raise hands? A promise is a promise.
24 What difference does it make if you make your promise inside or outside a house of worship? A promise is a
25 promise. God is present, watching and holding you to account regardless.

26 "You're hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You keep meticulous account books, tithing on 27 every nickel and dime you get, but on the meat of God's Law, things like fairness and compassion and
28 commitment—the absolute basics!—you carelessly take it or leave it. Careful bookkeeping is commendable, but 29 the basics are required. Do you have any idea how silly you look, writing a life story that's wrong from start to 30 finish, nitpicking over commas and semicolons?

31 "You're hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You burnish the surface of your cups and bowls
32 so they sparkle in the sun, while the insides are maggoty with your greed and gluttony. Stupid Pharisee! Scour 33 the insides, and then the gleaming surface will mean something.

34 "You're hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You're like manicured grave plots, grass clipped
35 and the flowers bright, but six feet down it's all rotting bones and worm-eaten flesh. People look at you and think 36 you're saints, but beneath the skin you're total frauds.

37 "You're hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You build granite tombs for your prophets and 38 marble monuments for your saints. And you say that if you had lived in the days of your ancestors, no blood would 39 have been on your hands. You protest too much! You're cut from the same cloth as those murderers, and daily
40 add to the death count.

41 "Snakes! Reptilian sneaks! Do you think you can worm your way out of this? Never have to pay the piper? It's 42 on account of people like you that I send prophets and wise guides and scholars generation after generation—
43 and generation after generation you treat them like dirt, greeting them with lynch mobs, hounding them with 44 abuse.

45 "You can't squirm out of this: Every drop of righteous blood ever spilled on this earth, beginning with the blood
46 of that good man Abel right down to the blood of Zechariah, Barachiah's son, whom you murdered at his prayers,
47 is on your head. All this, I'm telling you, is coming down on you, on your generation.

48 "Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Murderer of prophets! Killer of the ones who brought you God's news! How often I've
49 ached to embrace your children, the way a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, and you wouldn't let me. And
50 now you're so desolate, nothing but a ghost town. What is there left to say? Only this: I'm out of here soon. The 51 next time you see me you'll say, 'Oh, God has blessed him! He's come, bringing God's rule!'"

54 Keep in mind that the term "hypocrite" is defined in the following passages as "trusting in privileges", meaning franchises:
55 Jer 7:4; Mt 3:9.

1 It is also VERY interesting that when Satan wanted to tempt Jesus, He took him up to a high mountain above everyone else
2 and tempted him with a civil status ABOVE everyone else but BELOW Satan, thus making Satan an object of idolatry and
3 worship in violation of the First Commandment within the Ten Commandments.

4 *"Again, the devil took Him [Jesus] up on an exceedingly high [civil/legal status above all other humans]
5 mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. And he said to Him, "All these things
6 [\[“BENEFITS”\] I will give You if You will fall down \[BELOW Satan but ABOVE other humans\] and worship](#)
7 [\[serve as a PUBLIC OFFICER\] me.](#)"*

8 *Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the LORD your God, and
9 Him only you shall serve."*

10 Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him."
11 [Matt. 4:8-11, Bible, NKJV]

12 As we described earlier in Section 13.10.1 through 13.10.2 the "mountain" mentioned above is symbolic of a political 13 kingdom in competition with God's kingdom. The preposition "exceedingly high" indicates that Satan wanted his political 14 kingdom to be ABOVE everyone else. The preposition "fall down" indicates that Satan wanted Christ to "worship" and 15 "serve" His political kingdom and to place the importance of God's kingdom BELOW Satan in his priority list. This would 16 cause Christ to commit idolatry. Idolatry, after all, is nothing more than disordered priorities that knock God out of first 17 place. That is why the Bible often refers to God as "The Most High":

18 "You shall have no other gods before Me.

19 *"You shall not make for yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in
20 the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down to them nor serve them. For I,
21 the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth
22 generations of those who hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My
23 commandments."
24 *[Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKJV]

25 The phrase "bow down" indicates that you cannot place anything other than God higher than yourself, meaning that God is 26 ALWAYS your first priority as a human being. This, in turn, forbids any civil ruler to be above you and forbids any civil 27 ruler from having superior or supernatural powers in relation to any human beings. Jesus was keenly aware that God and
28 Government are ALWAYS in competition with each other for the affection, obedience, allegiance, and sponsorship of the 29 people.¹⁵⁰ Instead, God's design for government is to serve from below rather than to rule from above. Below is Jesus' most 30 important command on the subject of government:

31 *"You know that the rulers of the Gentiles [unbelievers] lord it over them [govern from ABOVE as pagan idols] ,
32 and those who are great exercise authority over them [supernatural powers that are the object of idol worship].
33 Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant [serve
34 the sovereign people from BELOW rather than rule from above]. And whoever desires to be first among you, let 35 him be your slave—just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom 36 for many."
37 *[Matt. 20:25-28, Bible, NKJV]

38 Jesus kept Himself unspotted from the world by not choosing a domicile there. The phrase "nowhere to lay His head" in the 39 following passage is synonymous with a legal home or domicile.

40 The Cost of Discipleship

41 And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side. Then a certain 42 scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go."

43 And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to 44 lay His head."
45 [Matt. 8:18-20, Bible, NKJV]

2 but I [Jesus] chose you [believers] out of the world, therefore the world hates you. Remember the word that I*
3 said to you, 'A [public] servant is not greater than his [Sovereign] master.' If they persecuted Me, they will also
4 persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also [as trustees of the public trust]. But all these
5 things they will do to you for My name's sake, because they do not know Him [God] who sent Me."

8 13.11.19 Satan's greatest sin was abusing "privileges" and "franchises" to make himself equal to or above God¹⁵¹

9 In the previous section, we showed how Christ refused privileges, benefits, and franchises and insisted on equality towards
10 every other human. In this chapter, we compare that approach to Satan's approach. It should interest the Christian reader to 11 know that Satan's greatest sin in the Bible was to abuse the "privileges" and therefore franchises bestowed by God to try to 12 elevate himself to an equal or superior relation to God. By doing so, he insisted on being above every other creation of God,
13 including humans. He did this out of pride, vanity, conceit, and covetousness.

14 Satan abused the "benefits" of the Bible franchise to try to become superior rather than remain equal to all other humans or 15 believers. Below is what one commentary amazingly says on the subject:

16 WHAT WAS SATAN'S SIN?

17 Satan's sin was done from a privileged position. He was not a deprived creature who had not drunk deeply of 18 the blessings of God before he sinned. Indeed, Ezekiel 28:11-15 declares some astounding things about the 19 privileged position in which he sinned. That this passage has Satan in view seems most likely if one eliminates* 20 the idea that it is a mythical tale of heathen origin and if one takes the language at all plainly and not merely as
21 filled with Oriental exaggerations. Ezekiel "saw the work and activity of Satan, whom the king of Tyre was 22 emulating in so many ways." Satan's privileges included (1) full measure of wisdom (v. 12), (2) perfection in*
23 beauty (v. 12), (3) dazzling appearance (v. 13), (4) a place of special prominence as the anointed cherub that
24 covered God's throne (v. 14). Verse 15 (ASV) says all that the Bible says about the origin of sin—"till*
25 unrighteousness was found in thee." It is clear, however, that Satan was not created as an evil being, for the verse
26 clearly declares he was perfect when created. Furthermore, God did not make him sin; he sinned of his own
27 volition and assumed full responsibility for that sin; and because of his great privileges, it is obvious that Satan
28 sinned with full knowledge.

29 Satan's sin was pride (1 Ti 3:6). The specific details of how that pride erupted are given in Isaiah 14:13-14 and* 30 are summarized in the assertion, "I will be like the most High" (v. 14).
31 [Ryrie, C. C. (1972). A survey of Bible doctrine. Chicago: Moody Press]

32 Christ's greatest glory, on the other hand, was to do the OPPOSITE of Satan in this regard:

- 33 1. Jesus made his own desires and flesh "invisible" and became an agent and fiduciary of God 24 hours a day, 7 days a 34 week:

35 "Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent 36 Me. For he who is least among you all will be great."
37 [Luke 9:48, Bible, NKJV]

38 "Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Yours, be done."
39 [Luke 22:42, Bible, NKJV]

40 "And the Father Himself, who sent Me, has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, nor 41 seen His form."
42 [John 5:37, Bible, NKJV]

43 "For I have come down from heaven, not to do My own will, but the will of Him who sent Me."
44 [John 6:38, Bible, NKJV]

¹⁵¹ Source: Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Section 2.18; ; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 “Then Jesus cried out and said, “He who believes in Me, believes not in Me but in Him who sent Me.”
2 [John 12:44, Bible, NKJV]

- 3 2. Jesus did NOT abuse the “privileges”, “franchises”, or “benefits” of God to elevate himself in importance or “rights”
4 either above any other human or above God:

5 *“Think of yourselves the way Christ Jesus thought of himself. He had equal status with God but didn’t think so
6 much of himself that he had to cling to the advantages of that status no matter what. Not at all. When the time
7 came, he set aside the privileges of deity and took on the status of a slave, became human! Having become
8 human, he stayed human. It was an incredibly humbling process. He didn’t claim special privileges. Instead,
9 he lived a selfless, obedient life and then died a selfless, obedient death—and the worst kind of death at that—
10 a crucifixion.”

11 “Because of that obedience, God lifted him high and honored him far beyond anyone or anything, ever, so that
12 all created beings in heaven and on earth—even those long ago dead and buried—will bow in worship before
13 this Jesus Christ, and call out in praise that he is the Master of all, to the glorious honor of God the Father.”
14 [Peterson, E. H. (2005). The Message: the Bible in contemporary language (Php 2:5–11). Colorado Springs, CO:
15 NavPress]

16 Basically, Jesus had a servant’s heart and required the same heart of all those who intend to lead others in government:

17 “But you, do not be called ‘Rabbi’; for One is your Teacher, the Christ, and you are all brethren. Do not call
18 anyone on earth your father; for One is your Father, He who is in heaven. And do not be called teachers; for One
19 *is your Teacher, the Christ. But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whoever exalts 20 himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted”.
21 [Jesus in Matt. 23:8-12, Bible, NKJV]

22 But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers over the 23 Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. Yet it shall not be so among you;
24 *but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant. And whoever of you desires to be first
25 shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a* 26 ransom for many.”
27 [Mark 10:42–45, Bible, NKJV. See also Matt. 20:25-28]

28 Those in government who follow the above admonition in fact are implementing what the U.S. Supreme Court called “a 29 society of law and not men” in Marbury v. Madison. The law is the will of the people in written form. Those who put that 30 law above their own self-interest and execute it faithfully are:

- 31 1. Agents and/or officers of We the People.
32 2. “Trustees” and managers over God’s property. The entire Earth belongs to the Lord, according to the Bible.¹⁵²
33 3. Acting in a fiduciary duty towards those who have entrusted them with power.

34 “As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
35 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.”¹⁵³
36 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
37 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
38 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
39 from a discharge of their trusts.¹⁵⁴ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political

14 You shall not rule over him with rigor, but you shall fear your God.
15 [Lev. 25:35-43, Bible, NKJV]

16 Note above that it says that people who are poor or desperate should be treated not as slaves, but as “sojourners”, which today
17 means “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners”. This is exactly the condition that our members are required to have.

18 The most famous example in the Bible of the violation of the above prohibition against usury was how Pharaoh used a famine
19 to enslave his entire country, including the Israelites. See Gen. 47:13-26:

20 Joseph Deals with the Famine

21 ¹³ Now there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very severe, so that the land of Egypt and the land
22 of Canaan languished because of the famine. ¹⁴ And Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land
23 of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, for the grain which they bought; and Joseph brought the money into 24 Pharaoh's house.

25 ¹⁵ So when the money failed in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and 26 said, “Give us bread, for why should we die in your presence? For the money has failed.”

27 ¹⁶ Then Joseph said, “Give your livestock, and I will give you bread for your livestock, if the money is gone.” ¹⁷
28 So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for the horses, the flocks, the 29 cattle of the herds, and for the donkeys. Thus he fed them with bread in exchange for all their livestock that year.

30 ¹⁸ When that year had ended, they came to him the next year and said to him, “We will not hide from my lord that 31 our money is gone; my lord also has our herds of livestock. There is nothing left in the sight of my lord but our 32 bodies and our lands. ¹⁹ Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for 33 bread, and we and our land will be servants of Pharaoh; give us seed, that we may live and not die, that the land
34 may not be desolate.”

35 ²⁰ Then Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for every man of the Egyptians sold his field, because 36 the famine was severe upon them. So the land became Pharaoh's. ²¹ And as for the people, he moved them into 37 the cities, from one end of the borders of Egypt to the other end. ²² Only the land of the priests he did not buy; for 38 the priests had rations allotted to them by Pharaoh, and they ate their rations which Pharaoh gave them; therefore 39 they did not sell their lands.

40 ²³ Then Joseph said to the people, “Indeed I have bought you and your land this day for Pharaoh. Look, here is 41 seed for you, and you shall sow the land. ²⁴ And it shall come to pass in the harvest that you shall give one-fifth
42 to Pharaoh. Four-fifths shall be your own, as seed for the field and for your food, for those of your households 43 and as food for your little ones.”

44 ²⁵ So they said, “You have saved our lives; let us find favor in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's
45 servants.” ²⁶ And Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt to this day, that Pharaoh should have one-fifth,
46 except for the land of the priests only, which did not become Pharaoh's.

Eventually, God liberated the Israelites in the famous story of Moses' exodus out of Egypt, but not before he brought a series of curses on Pharaoh for his usury in Exodus 4. Another similar source of usury was the Canaanites in the Bible, if you wish to investigate further. We talk about this subject in Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Section 22.4. It is very interesting that the above history of usury occurred in the land of Canaan for that very reason.

It is interesting to note that the main political objection that most Muslim countries have to the United States is related to usury created by the abuse of commerce. The Koran forbids lending money at interest. Libya and Iraq both became the target of war and intervention because they wanted to abandon the Federal Reserve fiat currency system and implement gold instead of paper money. Muslims refer to this usury as "imperialism" and literally hate it. Iran's own leader calls for "death to America" and usury is the main reason he does so. There is no question that the abuse of commerce to create inequality, servitude, and usury is satanic because the Bible says this was the essence of Satan's greatest sin. The Muslims are correct to PEACEFULLY protest it and oppose it.

*"You were the seal of perfection,
Full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.
¹³ You were in Eden, the garden of God;
Every precious stone was your covering:
The sardius, topaz, and diamond,
Beryl, onyx, and jasper,
Sapphire, turquoise, and emerald with gold.
The workmanship of your timbrels and pipes
Was prepared for you on the day you were created.*

*¹⁴ "You were the anointed cherub who covers;
I established you;
You were on the holy mountain of God;
You walked back and forth in the midst of fiery stones.
¹⁵ You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created,
Till iniquity was found in you.*

*¹⁶ "By the abundance of your trading
You became filled with violence within,
And you sinned;
Therefore I cast you as a profane thing
Out of the mountain of God;
And I destroyed you, O covering cherub,
From the midst of the fiery stones.

*¹⁷ "Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty;
You corrupted your wisdom for the sake of your splendor;
I cast you to the ground,
I laid you before kings,
That they might gaze at you.*

*¹⁸ "You defiled your sanctuaries
By the multitude of your iniquities,
By the iniquity of your trading;
Therefore I brought fire from your midst;
It devoured you,
And I turned you to ashes upon the earth
In the sight of all who saw you.
¹⁹ All who knew you among the peoples are astonished at you;
You have become a horror,
And shall be no more forever. "'''
[Ezekiel 28:13-19, Bible, NKJV]*

That is not to say that we condone the use of violence or terrorism to oppose usury, however. More peaceful means are available, and especially that of withdrawing our domicile and sponsorship of usurious governments and becoming non-resident non-persons. We talk about this approach in:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent , Form #05.002 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

We conclude in the above document that the only way that changing domicile and thereby removing funding and civil jurisdiction from the government can result in violence is if the government actively interferes with you receiving the “benefits” of doing so. When they do that, violence, revolution, anarchy, and even war is inevitable eventually.

We refer to the systematic implementation of usury as the greatest sin of our present government because it was Satan’s greatest sin. The Federal Reserve counterfeiting franchise is its foundation. We describe the government as an economic terrorist, the District of Columbia as the District of Criminals, and politicians as criminals because of it. It’s all based on “the love of money”:

“For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.”
[1 Tim. 6:10, Bible, NKJV]

It is our sincere belief that if we as a country had stuck to the requirements of Lev. 25:35-43 earlier in our external relations, the problems we have with terrorism from foreign nations could be significantly reduced. The United States commits usury and economic terrorism against foreign countries, so they reciprocate with violent terrorism, but both types of terrorism are equally evil. The economic interventionism and the coercion that the usury leads to is a direct violation of the requirements of justice itself. “Justice” is legally defined as the right to be left alone. If we want to be “left alone” by the terrorists and treated with respect, then we have to quit meddling in their affairs, invading and bombing their countries mainly for economic reasons, or using our economic might to coerce them with sanctions. You will always reap what you sow.

The United States as a country sows economic violence so we reap physical violence. This is the inevitable consequence of the fact that we are all equal and any attempt to make us unequal inevitably produces wars, violence, anarchy, and political instability:

“Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.”
[Matt. 7:12, Bible, NKJV]

The U.S. Supreme Court stated the above slightly differently, when they declared the first income tax unconstitutional, which was implemented as a franchise tax that discriminated against one class of people at the expense of another and therefore, produced INEQUALITY:

“The income tax law under consideration is marked by discriminating features which affect the whole law. It discriminates between those who receive an income of four thousand dollars and those who do not. It thus vitiates, in my judgment, by this arbitrary discrimination, the whole legislation. Hamilton says in one of his papers, (the Continentalist,) “the genius of liberty reprobates everything arbitrary or discretionary in taxation. It exacts that every man, by a definite and general rule, should know what proportion of his property the State demands; whatever liberty we may boast of in theory, it cannot exist in fact while [arbitrary] assessments continue.” I Hamilton’s Works (Ed. 1885) 270. The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation. Whenever a distinction is made in the burdens a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by reason of their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses, and to general unrest and disturbance in society [e.g. wars, political conflict, violence, anarchy]. It was hoped and believed that the great amendments to the Constitution which followed the late civil war had rendered such legislation impossible for all future time. But the objectionable legislation reappears in the act under consideration. It is the same in essential character as that of the English income statute of 1691, which taxed Protestants at a certain rate, Catholics, as a class, at double the rate of Protestants, and Jews at another and separate rate. Under wise and constitutional legislation every citizen should contribute his proportion, however small the sum, to the support of the government, and it is no kindness to urge any of our citizens to escape from that obligation. If he contributes the smallest mite of his earnings to that purpose he will have a greater regard for the government and more self-respect 597*597 for himself feeling that though he is poor in fact, he is not a pauper of his government. And it is to be hoped that, whatever woes and embarrassments may betide our people, they may never lose their manliness and self-respect. Those qualities preserved, they will ultimately triumph over all reverses of fortune.”

[. . .]

“Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that go down to the very foundation of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution can be set aside by an act of Congress, where is the course of usurpation to end? The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping-stone to others, larger and more sweeping, till our political contests will become a war of the poor against the rich; a war constantly growing in intensity and bitterness.”

“If the court sanctions the power of discriminating taxation, and nullifies the uniformity mandate of the Constitution,” as said by one who has been all his life a student of our institutions, “it will mark the hour when

1 the sure decadence of our present government will commence. If the purely arbitrary limitation of $4000 in
2 the present law can be sustained, none having less than that amount of income being assessed or taxed for the
3 support of the government, the limitation of future Congresses may be fixed at a much larger sum, at five or ten
4 or twenty thousand dollars, parties possessing an income of that amount alone being bound to bear the burdens
5 of government; or the limitation may be designated at such an amount as a board of "walking delegates" may 6 deem necessary. There is no safety in allowing the limitation to be adjusted except in strict compliance with the 7 mandates of the Constitution which require its taxation, if imposed by direct taxes, to be apportioned among the
8 States according to their representation, and if imposed by indirect taxes, to be uniform in operation and, so far
9 as practicable, in proportion to their property, equal upon all citizens. Unless the rule of the Constitution
10 governs, a majority may fix the limitation at such rate as will not include any of their own number.

12 We talk about our opposition to usurious commerce that produces inequality in our Disclaimer, Section 9:

13 SEDM Disclaimer

14 9. APPROACH TOWARDS "HATE SPEECH" AND HATE CRIME

15 This website does not engage in, condone, or support hate speech or hate crimes, violent thoughts, deeds or 16 actions against any particular person(s), group, entity, government, mob, paramilitary force, intelligence agency,
17 overpaid politician, head of state, queen, dignitary, ambassador, spy, spook, soldier, bowl cook, security flunky,
18 contractor, dog, cat or mouse, Wal-Mart employee, amphibian, reptile, and or deceased entity without a PB
19 (Physical Body). By "hate speech" and "hate crime", we mean in the context of religious members of this site
20 trying to practice their faith:

21 1. Compelling members to violate any aspect of the Laws of the Bible, Form #13.001. This includes commanding
22 them to do things God forbids or preventing or punishing them from doing God commands.

23 2. Persecution or "selective enforcement" directed against those whose religious beliefs forbid them from 24 contracting with, doing business with, or acquiring any civil status in relation to any and all governments. These 25 people must be "left alone" by law and are protected in doing so by the First Amendment and the right to NOT
26 contract protected by the Constitution. The group they refuse to associate with is civil statutory "persons". We 27 call these people "non-resident non-persons" on this site as described in Form #05.020. See Proof That There Is
28 a "Straw Man", Form #05.042 for a description of the civil "person" scam.

29 3. Engaging in legal "injustice" \(Form #05.050\). By "justice" we mean absolutely owned private property \(Form
30 #10.002\), and equality of TREATMENT and OPPORTUNITY \(Form #05.033\) under REAL LAW \(Form #05.048\).
31 "Justice" is defined here as God defines it in Form #05.050.

32 4. Any attempt to treat anyone unequally under REAL "law". This includes punishing or preventing actions by 33 members to enforce against governments under their own franchise \(Form #06.027\) the same way governments
34 enforce against them. See What is "law"? , Form #05.048.

35 5. Offering, implementing, or enforcing any civil franchise \(Form #05.030\). This enforces superior powers on 36 the part of the government as a form of inequality, results in religious idolatry, and violates the First 37 Commandment of the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20). This includes:

38 5.1 Making justice \(Form #05.050\) into a civil public privilege

39 5.2 Turning CONSTITUTIONAL PRIVATE citizens into STATUTORY PUBLIC citizens engaged in a public 40 office and a franchise.

41 5.3 Any attempt to impose equality of OUTCOME by law, such as by abusing taxing powers to redistribute
42 wealth. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302.

43 Franchises are the main method of introducing UNEQUAL treatment by the government. See Why You are a
44 Political Citizen but Civil Non-Citizen, National, and Nonresident Alien, Form #05.006.

45 6. Any attempt to outlaw or refuse to recognize or enforce absolutely owned private property
46 (Form #12.025). This makes everyone into slaves of the government, which then ultimately owns ALL
47 property and can place unlimited conditions upon the use of their property. It also violates the last six
48 commandments of the Ten Commandments, which are the main religious laws that protect PRIVATE property
49 and prevent it from being shared with any government. This includes:

50 6.1 Refusing to provide civil statuses on government forms that recognize those who are exclusively private and 51 their right to be left alone.

6.2 Refusing to provide government forms that recognize those who are exclusively private such as "nontaxpayers" or "non-resident non-persons" and their right to be left alone.

The result of the above forms of omission are hate, discrimination, and selective enforcement against those who refuse to become "customers" or franchisees (Form #05.030) of government. See Avoiding Traps in Government Forms Course, Form #12.023.

7. Any attempt by government to use judicial process or administrative enforcement to enforce any civil obligation derived from any source OTHER than express written consent or to an injury against the equal rights of others demonstrated with court admissible evidence. See Lawfully Avoiding Government Obligations Course, Form #12.040.

There is no practical difference between discriminating against or targeting people because of the groups they claim membership in and punishing them for refusing to consent to join a group subject to legal disability, such as those participating in government franchises. Members of such DISABILITY groups include civil statutory "persons", "taxpayers", "individuals" (under the tax code), "drivers" (under the vehicle code), "spouses" (under the family code). Both approaches lead to the same result: discrimination and selective enforcement. The government claims an exemption from being a statutory "person", and since it is a government of delegated powers, the people who gave it that power must ALSO be similarly exempt:

"The sovereignty of a state does not reside in the persons who fill the different departments of its government, but in the People, from whom the government emanated; and they may change it at their discretion. Sovereignty, then in this country, abides with the constituency, and not with the agent; and this remark is true, both in reference to the federal and state government."
[Spooner v. McConnell, 22 F. 939 @ 943]

"In common usage, the term 'person' does not include the sovereign, and statutes employing the word are ordinarily construed to exclude it."
[Wilson v. Omaha Indian Tribe 442 U.S. 653, 667 (1979)]

"Since in common usage the term 'person' does not include the sovereign, statutes employing that term are ordinarily construed to exclude it."
[U.S. v. Cooper, 312 U.S. 600,604, 61 S.Ct. 742 (1941)]

"In common usage, the term 'person' does not include the sovereign and statutes employing it will ordinarily not be construed to do so."
[U.S. v. Cooper, 312 U.S. 600,604, 61 S.Ct. 742 (1941)]

"There is no such thing as a power of inherent sovereignty in the government of the United States In this country sovereignty resides in the people, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution entrusted to it: All else is withheld."
[Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

The foundation of the religious beliefs and practices underlying this website is a refusal to contract with or engage in commerce with any and every government. Black's Law Dictionary defines "commerce" as "intercourse".

"Commerce. ... Intercourse by way of trade and traffic [money instead of semen] between different peoples or states and the citizens or inhabitants thereof, including not only the purchase, sale, and exchange of commodities, but also the instrumentalities [governments] and agencies by which it is promoted and the means and appliances by which it is carried on..."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 269]

Hence this website advocates a religious refusal to engage in sex or intercourse or commerce with any government. In fact, the Bible even describes people who VIOLATE this prohibition as "playing the harlot" (Ezekiel 16:41) and personifies that harlot as "Babylon the Great Harlot" (Rev. 17:5), which is fornicating with the Beast, which it defines as governments (Rev. 19:19).

I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract or franchise or agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

"Therefore I also said, 'I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.'"

So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voices and wept.
[Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

"Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend ["citizen", "resident", "taxpayer", "inhabitant", or "subject" under a king or political ruler] of the world [for any man-made kingdom other than God's Kingdom] makes himself an enemy of God. "
[James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

"You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a "resident" in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you."
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

"Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world [the obligations and concerns of the world]. "
[James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

"You shall have no other gods [including political rulers, governments, or Earthly laws] before Me [or My commandments]."
[Exodus 20:3, Bible, NKJV]

"Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel [the priest in a Theocracy] at Ramah, and said to him, 'Look, you [the priest within a theocracy] are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king [for political ruler] to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER them]'.
